More State Aid Needed To Hold Tax Rate Line

A warning that Newton faces substantial rises in its tax rate in future years unless it gets increased State assistance is sounded by Mayor Monte G. Basbas in a letter being sent to the city's property-owners with their 1966 real estate tax bills.

The Mayor makes plain his concern over school department estimates that school costs will increase at least $1 million a year for the next four or five years.

He asserted that in an effort to soften the impact of the inevitable climb in school expenses he is engaging in a vigorous program to encourage the development of new tax-producing property which would broaden the city's tax base.

A message from the Mayor and Board of Assessors accompanying the tax bills shows a breakdown of where the tax dollar comes from in Newton and where it goes.

Mayor Basbas also pointed out yesterday that he and the Board of Aldermen have no control over 64.7 per cent of the money which will be paid out by the city.

He said the city this year will spend $11,443,382.39 over which he and the Aldermen have control but will pay out $20,957,397.09 over which he and the Aldermen have no control.

In his letter to Newton property owners, Mayor Basbas observed that more than 68 per cent of the money spent by the city is raised from the levy on real estate.

He said that the city's tax rate could well have jumped $5 instead of $1.80 this year except for the anticipated revenue the city will receive as its share of the sales tax receipts.

"Hopefully, the assistance received through sales tax revenue will be increased next year and in future years when the sales tax, or some adequate substitute therefor, can be effective for an entire year," the Mayor stated.

"Without increased State assistance, we can look ahead to future substantial increases in real estate taxes. For example, the increase in the school operating budget for 1966 over 1965 was $1,168,288, which represents roughly $3.50 of your 1966 tax rate.

The School Department indicates that we should anticipate increases in its operating costs of a minimum of $1 million dollars per year for at least the next 4 to 5 years. This does not reflect the impact of the extensive School building program which the City has planned over the same period," Mayor Basbas continued.

"Our School Department has a fine reputation, and I am committed to do everything I can to permit our school system to operate with the highest possible degree of excellence, but, as Mayor, I must be concerned with other aspects of the City as well, not the least of which is the burdened taxpayers. Neither I as Mayor nor the Board of Aldermen have any power to control or limit School Department operating expenses," he said.

"To minimize the inevitable rising costs of our schools, I have engaged in a vigorous program to build new tax revenue by encouraging the development of revenue producing property in a manner consistent with our zoning laws and philosophy and consistent with maintaining the character of our villages.

For example, the development of the Toll Road air rights in Newton Corner

10,000 YANKS DRIVE ON 8,000 REDS

MORE THAN 10,000 American troops, flown into battle, today battled three crack North Vietnamese regiments in the historic Ia Drang area where there have been nine major conflicts in two days.

The "multi-brigade" force of U.S. 1st Air Calvary Division troops returned to the scene where the unit scored its greatest triumph of the war last fall in a battle with North Vietnamese troops.

Intelligence reports indicated they were facing the same highly rated regular North Vietnamese regiments, whose strength was estimated at up to 8,000 men.

FORCED AIR STRIKE ARBITRATION KILLED

THE SENATE Wednesday rejected a compulsory arbitration plan, and continued to try to find a way for Congress and the President to share responsibility for ordering an end to the 27-day-old airlines strike.

A proposal by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, that would provide for compulsory arbitration of the complex contract dispute if special mediation efforts had failed to produce a settlement after 180 days met defeat by a vote of 81 to 6.

Under the Lausche plan, the President would have been able to appoint a five-member arbitration board, at the request of the machinists union or the five struck airlines, if the strike had not been settled in 180 days. The board then would have had 60 days to make a "final and conclusive" finding.

HIGH BUILDINGS LURED MASS KILLER

MASS KILLER Charles J. Whitman apparently visited the top of the tallest building in Dallas four days before he shot and killed 13 persons from the University of Texas tower in Austin. Police also said he may have visited the university tower six days before that with two companions.

The visitors' register of the 50 story First National Bank at Dallas carried the notation for last Thursday "Chas. Whitman, Texas University Campus, Austin." And the University registry for July 22 carried the names: "John Whitman, Charles Whitman and Jim Bland." Charles' brother, John, 18, and a friend had visited Charles in late July.

Meanwhile, the bodies of Whitman and his mother were flown to Lake Worth, Fla., for services and burial.

LUCI, PAT HOLD SEPARATE PARTIES

LUCI JOHNSON and her fiance Pat Nugent parted briefly in Washington Wednesday night while she gave a buffet supper for her bridesmaids, and he gave a party — with soft drinks — for his friends.

On his last fling with the boys before he marries the President's daughter Saturday, Nugent held what the White House described as "a casual affair with hamburgers, hot dogs and soft drinks" at an undisclosed location. Then Nugent took his wedding attendants to a footbal game between the Washington Redskins and the Baltimore Colts.

Luci gave a farewell tea in the Blue Room for 60 members of the White House staff. Later she joined her sister Lynda and the 11 bridesmaids in third-floor White House solarium for a buffet at which the bride-to-be distributed personalized charm bracelets.

TWO MORE STEEL FIRMS LIFT PRICES

TWO MORE steel manufacturers joined Inland Steel Co. Wednesday in announcing planned price increases despite apparent White House efforts to keep prices down. Jones & Laughlin Steel, following Inland's lead said they intended to raise the price of sheet and strip steel, widely used in consummer products, by $2 to $3 a ton.

DR. KING PRESSES CHICAGO DRIVE

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING Wednesday pledged more demonstrations against alleged housing discrimination in troubled Chicago and indicated he will lead the march himself.

Negro members of King's Chicago civil rights drive spent Wednesday morning visiting real estate offices asking to be shown houses and apartments, in preparation for another demonstration.

NURSES CANCEL WALKOUT

NURSES AT 31 San Francisco area hospitals cancelled a mass walkout Wednesday and agreed to withdraw proposed resignations. Nevertheless many of the 1930 nurses were unhappy over a decision to submit a pay raise issue to a three man board. This panel, to be named by the governor and two others, will make non-binding recommendations before Dec. 1. Until then the nurses get a $60 monthly pay boost.

STOCKS GAIN ON INFLATION NEWS

FEAR OF INFLATION touched off by three steel firms' price increases and news of a large consumer debt in June sent the stock market upward Wednesday. The Dow Jones industrial index closed at 841.70, up 9.13. A total of 829 issues advanced while 326 declined in moderate trading. Most steel stocks made good gains.

NEWTON ATTY. NAMED TO BENCH

GOV. VOLPE Wednesday nominated Joseph S. Mitchell, Jr., 41, of Newton to become the state's second Negro associate justice on the Superior Court bench.

If Mitchell's nomination is approved by the Executive Council, he will replace Judge Edward O. Gourdin of Quincy, who was the first Negro justice in the Superior Court. Judge Gourdin died last month.

MORE STATE TROOPERS SOUGHT

THE HOUSE WAYS and Means Committee will soon recommend an increase in the number of State Police troopers.

The number of new troopers to be recommended has not yet been determined. Gov. Volpe asked for 140 additional troopers when he filed his fiscal 1967 budget message Jan. 26.

HOUSE BACKS JFK LIBRARY STEP

THE PROPOSED John F. Kennedy memorial library at Cambridge received support Wednesday when the U.S. House passed and sent to the Senate a measure to let the U.S. Government accept title to the library.

N. E. OPENINGS FOR 4065 COLLEGE FRESHMEN

SEVENTY-SEVEN New England colleges still have vacancies for freshmen for the fall semester, the N. E. Board of Higher Education said Wednesday.

The board said the region's colleges and universities are 95.5 per cent full but can still absorb an additional 4,065 freshmen in September, 3,165 of them commuters.

Of the 77 institutions reporting vacancies in the board's annual mid-summer survey, 55 are accredited either by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or by professional organizations. The rest are not accredited.

HUB HOSPITALS NEED BLOOD

THE METROPOLITAN Red Cross Chapter of Boston made a major appeal Wednesday for blood donations to replenish supplies that are seriously depleted at most Massachusetts hospitals.

The Red Cross said elective surgery was being postponed and emergency reserves were described as "dangerously low" particularly in Boston hospitals.

The shortage of donors was attributed to hot and humid ather, plant shutdowns and vacations.

Family Gets Hero Son's Viet Medal

A bereaved Newton couple received the Purple Heart Friday on behalf of their only son, who was killed in Marine Corps action in Vietnam. The ceremony was at the Marine corps Barracks in Boston.

Marine Sgt. Enrico Pagnano, Jr., 26, was killed last March while on his second tour of duty. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Pagnano live at 227 Adams st., Newton.

The parents received a letter from their son last March 18 which said that he was all right. Later that day, a Marine officer called to notify them that their son was dead, killed in action against the Viet Cong.

Pagnano had one of the most dangerous jobs in the Corps. He was assigned to a reconnaissance unit attached to Headquarters, 3rd Marines. His job was to detect and defuse land mines around the giant Da Nang airfield. He was killed when he stepped on a mine.

The Marine attended Our Lady (Help) of Christians grammar school in Newton, and one year at the high He transferred to Newton high school, graduating in 1960. While there he played football and baseball.

Following his graduation he joined the Corps, taking his basic training at Parris Island, S.C., and advanced training, Camp Lejeune, N.C. He served at stations on the east coast, west coast and in the Pacific, re-enlisting in 1964 for another four-year hitch.

While serving at Camp Lejeune, he met the daughter of a sergeant serving at the base. After a short romance, Pagnano become engaged to Linda Plonowski, 20, daughter of Master Sgt. and Mrs.

EDWARD H. PENDERGAST

Pendergast Is Candidate For Seat In House

Edward H. Pendergast, Jr., 32, of 18 Copley st., Newton, this week announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as State Representative in the Fifth Middlesex District.

He is a Certified Public Accountant and an instructor of accounting at Boston University.

"Professional training must be brought to bear on our efforts to improve our Commonwealth" he said in announcing his candidacy. "My training and experience in fiscal matters together with a lengthy association with community activities can bring about better representation of the people of Wards 5, 6, 7 and 8, who make up the Fifth Middlesex District."

A lifelong resident of Newton, Pendergast graduated from Bentley College of Accounting and also attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Boston College. He attended Newton High School and graduated from St. Sebastian's Country Day School.

He is married to the former Carol Ann Kenyon of Fall River. They have eight children.

Pendergast is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, a Fellow of the Massa-

150 Mothers Offer "Homes" For Pupils

More than 150 Newton mothers have volunteered to provide "second homes" for 50 Negro children from Boston who will attend elementary schools in Newton starting next month.

Mrs. Thomas A. Morris of 99 Kirkstall Rd., Newtonville, chairman of the Newton Friends of METCO, has sifted through the offgers of help and cooperation from parents of children in the seven schools the Negro youngsters will attend.

A social worker, Mrs. Morris has worked with School Superintendent Charles E. Brown and members of his staff in selecting the Newton families which will provide "second homes" for the Negro children.

"We have had enough parents respond to provide not only a second home for each child but two backups as well," she reported.

However, she stressed that only one family will have the responsibility for providing lunch for the Negro pupils on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays throughout the year and will be available to be called in the event medical problems or other emergencies arise.

She said the back-up homes will be used only in cases of unexpected emergencies.

"We insisted that the parents make a year-long commitment and that they be at home at lunch time to feed children," she asserted.

Mrs. Morris disclosed that she received "marvelous responses" from persons she had to turn down either because they reside outside the school districts or are not themselves parents of children attending the schools.

Project Over Toll Road Is Near Reality

A proposed $13-$15 million development over the toll road at Newton Corner moved a step closer to reality last week with the designation of the Urban Development Corporation of Needham as builder of the 6½ acre project.

Chairman John T. Driscoll of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority said his agency had signed an agreement with Mark J. Waltch, of 20 Orient ave., Needham, president of the Urban Development Corp.

Newton officials, including Mayor Monte G. Basbas, were present at a meeting in the MTA Boston office when the agreement was signed. Driscoll said his agency is "deeply interested in helping Newton, Brookline and Boston, and air rights over the toll

More Crime Booklets Here

The publication and distribution of Newton's Crime Prevention booklet, "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare" has been enthusiastically received here.

An original supply of 25,000 of the booklets already has been distributed city-wide.

Hundreds of requests have been received for additional booklets from local residents who did not receive one of the originals.

An additional 5,000 of the informative little books was necessary. They are here now and are in the process of being distributed by Newton police.

Mayor Basbas, who originated and planned this unusual effort, stated, "Our office and the Police Department have received many acknowledgements and expressions of appreciation regarding our activities in this protective community effort and I have been advised by Chief Purcell that the suggestions, information and instructions outlined in the booklet are producing tangible results.

4 Dem. Convention Winners Could Be Upset In Primary

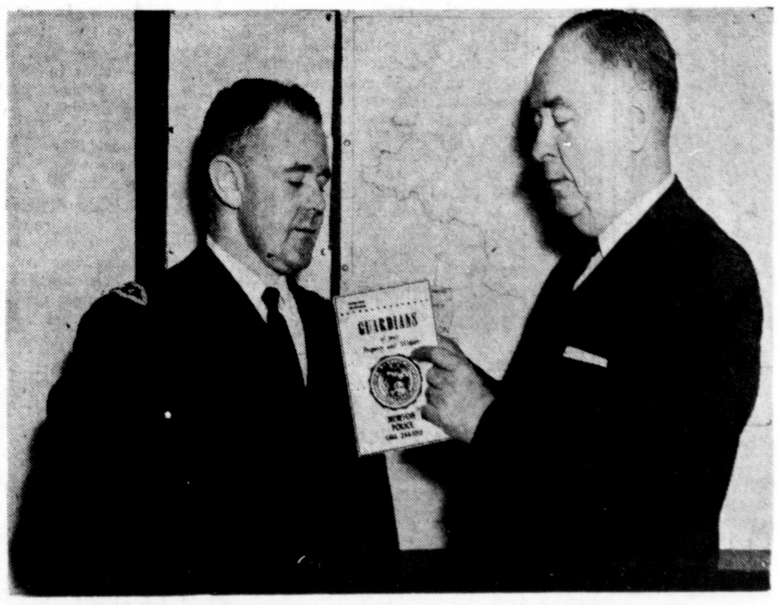

It's conceivable that as many as four candidates who were endorsed by the Democratic State Convention could be defeated in the September primary.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins is mounting a tremendous campaign against ex-Governor Endicott Peabody who captured the convention endorsement for U. S. Senator.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, who gained the convention nod for Attorney General, is being challenged by ex-Governor Foster Furcolo and former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo.

Deadline Is Aug. 13 For Registering

Only a little more than a week remains in which persons planning to register as voters may do so in order to qualify to cast ballots in the Sept. 13 primary.

Young men and women who are not yet 21 years of age but who will be 21 on or before Sept. 13 may enroll now as voters.

The voting rolls for the September primary will be closed at 10 p. m. on Saturday night of next week (Aug. 13).

The election department in City Hall is open daily from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p.m. Those desiring to do so may register as voters between those hours on any business day.

The election offices also will be open from noon until 10 p. m. on Saturday of next week (Aug. 13) to handle those who put off the matter of enrolling as voters until the last day.

Dear Tom:

Your statement of July 26th will, I believe, be long remembered. It not only tells the truth, but it tells it without weasling and hedging and fudging.

I am astounded.

Do you mean to say that you think that the voters of Massachusttts are capable of listening to the unvarnished truth, that their stomachs are strong enough and their hearts are stout enough to accept, even to like, being talked to by their politicians as honest men talk privately to honest men?

What a Commonwealth, that it can produce men who act like free men, that is to say are unafraid.

If they elect you, the voters of Massachusetts will honor themselves and they will serve not only Massachusetts, but the Nation.

Good luck to you.

Aldermen Formally Accept Resignation Of Colleague

The resignation of Harry H. Ham Jr., as Ward 4 Alderman-at-large was formally accepted Monday night by unanimous vote of the Board. Ham resigned verbally on July 11.

The vote was on a motion of the ward's other Alderman-at-large, Warren A. Sutherland, that the resignation be accepted with regret, and that a resolution be drafted and sent to Ham expressing the Board's appreciation of his long, dedicated service, much of it as chairman of the Claims and Rules Committee.

Wendell R. Bauckman, president of the Board, reminded the members that Ham had spent hundreds of hours as chairman of Claims and Rules — an arduous job. He added that his leaving was a "personal loss to me, and I am sure it is to you Aldermen. His 13 years of service has left a mark.'"

The president then appointed the two remaining War 4 Aldermen, Sutherland and William P. Matthews, as a committee to bring in a name or names for the position as Ham's successor.

Bauckman appointed Franklin N. Flaschner as permanent chairman of Claims and Rules. Since Ham's change of address from Newton to Sherborn, Flaschner had served as the committee's acting chairman.

Ham's successor on the Board of Aldermen may be chosen at the next meeting of the Aldermanic Board August 22.

Cabot Playground, in conjunction with the other playgrounds in the Newton community, held Carnival Day, Friday, July 29, to provide an opportunity for youngsters to raise money for the Jimmy Fund, while at the same time allowing the children to enjoy themselves in the process.

Stands offering food, games, and prizes were set up and supervised by the Playground children themselves, under the direction of Nancy Wilbar, Mary Ann Totaro, Dick Maloney, and Mike Bucuvalas, Playground instructors. The activities included stands by Ricky Bove, Robert Davidson, Candy Champagne, Nancy Lunny, Billy Bertrand, George Mansure, Bob Lord, Arthur Gove.

The highlight of the activities was the "Haunted House" operated by Joe Lernerd ,Steve Thompson, Kevin Carson ,Donny Keefe, Peter and Bud Connelly. The food and prizes were donated by parents and local merchants.

As the festivities were concluded, a total of $45.00 was registered, which served as Cabot Park's contribution to the Jimmy Fund.

Mayor Basbas commented: "This agreement re-establishes an essential part of our city as an important economic factor, and we are grateful to the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority and the Urban Development Corporation for finding a way to bring this about.

"The project will bridge the turnpike through Newton Corner and will, according to the preliminary plans, make crossing by pedestrians north and south of the pike as simple as it used to be.

"I hope that the necessary details and planning can be worked out to the complete satisfaction of all our city officials who are involved."

Mrs. Arafe devotes a great deal of time and energy to working for retarded children and is a life member of the Fernald League for Retarded Children. She has served for the past three years on its board of directors and also was a building representative.

In addition, she worked as ad book chairman for the Friends of Fernald annual dinner and presently is publicity chairman for the Fernald League.

A graduate of the Boston school system, Mrs. Arafe attended Mount Ida Junior College in Newton and Northeastern University. While in school, several of her articles were published in the Atlantic Monthly. During the past several winters she has attended Newton's adult education classes in Creative Writing and in Law.

Mrs. Arafe has been active in many community endeavors, including the Countryside School PTA as a room mother and as a Halloween committee member. For many years she worked for Cerebral Palsy at its Christmas parties and summer fund raising drives.

She is a member of the Newton Centre Improvement Association and the Newton Free Library and was previously a hostess for Aid for Cancer Research and a member of Friends of BARC.

Mrs. Arafe announced that she "will campaign vigorously from now until election day and will contact every family in the district either in person or by telephone."

"I have been active in government since the beginning days of the New Boston Committee and feel I can bring honest, active and able representation to the people of my district," she declared.

"I have lived in the district many years and daily move about the area, coming in contact with the many constituents, thus becoming familiar with the many problems and issues which I feel I can help resolve if elected," Mrs. Arafe concluded.

Brigham's Gold Key To Manager In Auburndale

Michael Fenerjian, manager of the Brigham's store at Auburndale was a recent recipient of the Gold Key Award presented during a dinner held at Jimmy's Harborside in Boston. At this time he was also inducted into the distinctive Key Club of the company. Present at the reception were Mr. Bernard Cullen, District Manager, and Mrs. Agnes Missirian, the company's Courtesy Ambassadress.

The Gold Key symbolizes official recognition of the fast, friendly service offered the customer at the individual store under the winner's direction. The contest is a division of the Operation Friendliness program sponsored by all the Brigham's stores.

Mr. Fenerjian served with the Signal Army Corps and was also a select member of the Juior Epicurean Club of Boston. He has been assistant manager at the Belmont store and manager of the Brigham's at the Lynn Turnstyle and Redstone Shopping Plaza. Mr. Fenerjian is a resident of Watertown.

Local Glee Club In N.H. Concert Sunday, Aug. 14

The Highland Glee Club, Newton's oldest musical organization, will sing at the Cathedral of the Pines in Rindge, N. H., at the three o'clock service on Sunday August 14th. This will be the twentieth consecutive yearly appearance of the club at the Cathedral.

In recognition of this event the Rev. Robert J. Harding, minister of the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville, and the Rev. Daniel Bliss, associated with the Second Church Congregational in West Newton, both members of the glee club, will conduct the worship service. The club will be led by Robert C. Prince, its music director.

Following this service, at five o'clock, the Highland Glee Club will join with the other six members of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs to provide music at the Sunday vespers.

Rehearsal for the Highland Glee Club program will be held at seven o'clock Friday evening August 12 in the Methodist Church, Newton Centre, followed at eight-thirty by a rehearsal for the New England Federation clubs under the direction of Wendell Worthington, director of the Mystic Glee Club of Winchester, Mass.

Advancement For Hospital's Asst. Director

Robert C. Boardman of Waban, assistant director of Newton - Wellesley Hospital, will be advanced to membership status in the American College of Hospital Administrators on Sunday afternoon, August 28, in Chicago.

Announcement was made by ACHA President Boone Powell, Administrator of the Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas, who will preside at the ceremony.

Mr. Boardman came to Newton-Wellesley Hospital in 1957, to complete requirements for a Masters Degree in Hospital Administration, awarded by the University of Michigan. In January, 1959, he became assistant director at the 260-bed teaching hospital, affiliated with Tufts University School of Medicine, and presently celebrating its 80th year of patient care.

The ACHA is a professional society of men and women whose life's work is in the field of hospital administration. The membership comprises 6,900 administrators, assistant administrators and administrative assistants of hospitals in the United States and Canada.

The honor will be accorded at the College's 32nd annual Convocation ceremony to be held in the Arie Crown Theatre, McCormick Place. The Convocation preceeds the annual meeting of the College, held in conjunction with the convention of the American Hospital Association.

Mr. Boardman is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John J. Boardman of Hanover, New Hampshire and a 1954 graduate of Middlebury College in Middlebury, Vermont.

and the development of the so-called Sylvania land," the Mayor stated.

"I have urged, and shall continue to urge, the School Committee and other departments to carefully scrutinize all expenditures in an effort to eliminate any items not essential to maintain the high standards of service which the citizens desire. We shall continue to make every possible effort to minimize the increase in cost of government, but we must also be realistic and appreciate the inevitability of increased costs if we are to maintain excellence in our schools and other City services," Mayor Basbas asserted.

A table sent out by Mayor Basbas and the Assessors shows that of the $32,403,712 the city will raise this year in revenue, $22,353,993 will come from real estate taxes and $1,310,393 from the personal property tax.

The city also will receive $4,392,792.98 from the State, $2,600,000 from the auto excise tax, $678,489 in municipal revenue and $368,043 in school income. (The remaining $700,000 needed was taken from the city's own surplus fund.)

Mayor Basbas, in citing that he and the Board of Aldermen have control of only 35.3 per cent of the expenditures the city will make this year listed the following expenses as beyond their control: schools $13,573,174 (41.89 per cent of the total amount spent); debt service charges $2,201,757; state and county assessments $2,340,784; pensions $1,145,285; veterans and welfare aid $854,329; statutory exemptions $550,000; and insurance $295,000.

Appropriations made this year which did come under the control of the Mayor and Aldermen were public works $4,979,934; public safety (police, fire, weights and measures and civil defense) $3,492,164; general government (executive, accounting, assessing, purchasing, treasury, law, city clerk, election and planning departments) $714,593; health $347,713; veteran's aid (administration only) $21,339; welfare (general relief only) $33,000; library $417,897; recreation $496,253; overlay and miscellaneous $119,087; budget reserve $150,000.

Carita shouted at the jury, "Big bag job. I hope your conscience bothers you."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Lawrence Cameron and Lt. Salvatore Ingenere of the homicide division of the district attorney's office, drew from Fondanova:

Lynch, the oldest of the group, remained silent. All four men refused to stand for sentencing.

The lawyers for Fondanova and Carita appealed immediately after sentencing. Counsel for the other two men were also expected to file an appeal.

Relatives of Yanes were present in the courtroom as the verdict was announced. They showed no emotion.

The Newton man was shot down after four men robbed his store on Columbia rd., Dorchester, of $11 and a bottle of liquor. He pursued the bandits and was killed in a gun battle.

Senator Meets Youth

Political Highlights

Joseph E. McGuire of Worcester, convention endorsee for Lieutenant Governor, is being opposed by automobile dealer Herbert L. Connolly who probably is better known throughout the Greater Boston area than is McGuire.

It is improbable that Peabody, Bellotti, Buczko and McGuire will all be toppled in the primary, but it is not impossible.

If it should happen, it probably would mean the end of the pre-primary convention system in Massachusetts which many political observers believe would be a happy development.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, who is being challenged by former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is not included in the list of convention-endorsed candidates considered at this time to be in any jeopardy in the primary.

Checks of public sentiment which have been made show that McCormack is running well ahead of O'Donnell, that O'Donnell so far has not made any real impact upon the Democratic voters and that the popularty of the late President Kennedy has not rubbed off on him.

O'Donnell may be able to narrow or even close the gap in the final weeks of the primary campaign. But McCormack, who has stumped across the State in four primary runs and three election fights, presently appears to have a safe lead.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White and State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane have free rides in the primary. White, incidentally, is the only Democratic candidate for state-wide office already regarded as certain of achieving election.

However, Adams has no chance of either winning the nomination or finishing any better than third, and the contest will come down to a two-man race between Collins and Peabody.

But there will be great interest in the size of the vote Adams receives because of his sharp criticism of President Johnson's policies in Vietnam.

Adams, who is the "dove" candidate in the Senate contest, declares that a vote for him will be "a vote of no confidence" in the Johnson administration.

That assertion alone will cause political pundits throughout the nation to watch closely the vote Adams polls.

Mayor Collins' big problem in his present campaign is to make himself, his record and his achievements known to the Democratic voters in cities and towns far removed from Greater Boston.

Collins has made one previous state-wide campaign. That was 12 years ago in 1954 when he was the Democratic nominee for Attorney General.

He lost to the late George Fingold in a close race after giving Fingold, then at the height of his political power, the hardest election battle of his career.

Peabody, on the other hand, waged state-wide primary campaigns in 1958, 1960, 1962 and 1964 and an election campaign in 1962.

To be sure, he lost his primary fights in 1958, 1960 and 1964 and managed only one primary victory over former Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement A. Riley in 1962.

But Peabody gained exposure and became known in his losing primary clashes and, of course, he also served two years as Governor.

One thing the Collins camp is hoping is that the Democratic voters haven't forgotten Peabody's record as Governor during the 19 months since he left office and that they remember the issues raised by Francis X. Bellotti in the 1964 primary contest which caused the rejection of Peabody by the voters of his own party.

To try to refresh the memory of the Democratic voters, Collins has been asking them whether the Peabody running today for the U. S. Senate is any different from the Peabody who was characterized as a bungler and bumbler two years ago when he stood for renomination for a second term as Governor — a renomination which was denied him.

Collins, whose political technique is to time his campaigns carefully and to make a strong, blazing finish, is trying to devote a part of his time to those distant areas of the State where the voters don't know much about him or his record as Mayor of Boston.

Out in the Berkshires, for example, one group of Democratic voters were amazed to learn, when Collins was introduced, that he had been awarded an honorary degree by Harvard University in recognition of his accomplishments as Mayor of Boston and that he is the only person ever to be so honored.

Unlike Peabody, who can spend his entire time campaigning and buttonholing voters, Collins must devote much of his energy and attention to his duties as Mayor and do his campaigning at night and on weekends.

A suspicion exists in some quarters that certain of Collins' political foes have been trying to create a few additional problems for him in an effort to keep him extra busy and reduce the amount of time he can spend on the campaign trails.

While Francis X. Bellotti is listed with the convention-endorsed candidates who might conceivably be defeated in the primary, he is presently rated as a rather solid favorite to win the nomination for Attorney General over ex-Governor Fostor Furcolo and former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo.

A defeat for Bellotti would be classified as an upset. But ex-Governor Furcolo thinks he's just the man who can produce such an upset.

Even though Furcolo was the victim of an upset when he was defeated for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator by a political unknown in 1960, his political credentials are far too impressive to write him out of a contest such as this.

An able and resourceful campaigner, Furcolo was twice elected to the Governorship and won one election as State Treasurer. He had made an extremely strong run against Saltonstall in 1954 and lost only because of a division within the Democratic party.

DeGiacomo is an underdog in the struggle for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General but a pretty lively one.

His great problem is that he is not well known to the rank and file of Democratic voters throughout the Commonwealth.

He is likely to have a difficult time overcoming that handicap unless he is able to engage in some headline-making dramatics during his campaign.

Some television station could assure itself of a big watching audience by sponsoring a three-way debate between Bellotti, Furcolo and DeGiacomo. That would be an extremely interesting confrontation.

State Auditor Buczko is an unknown quantity in a Democratic primary. He was handed the Democratic nomination on a platter following the sudden death of the late Auditor Thomas J. Buckley in 1964, and there was no opportunity for anyone to oppose him.

Representative James H. Kelly is giving up a secure seat in the House of Representatives to gamble that he can best Buczko in a primary and then go on to win the election. The Buczko-Kelly fight is a difficult one to figure.

Kelly, incidentally, bypassed the Democratic State Convention entirely and carried his drive directly into the primary.

Joseph McGuire, who won the convention endorsement for Lieutenant Governor, is not as well known as Herbert L. Connolly and may have a difficult time beating back Connolly's challenge.

With the clashes for the Democratic nominations for U. S. Senator, Governor and Attorney General drawing the political spotlight, the fights for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor and State Auditor will get comparatively little attention.

Both former Attorney General McCormack and ex-Governor Furcolo are employing the technique of running against the Republican candidates they hope to oppose in the fall election campaign.

McCormack has made Governor Volpe the target of his campaign attacks, while Furcolo created a stir by holding a press conference outside the office of Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson and hitting out at Richardson.

The strategy seems to be sound for McCormack and risky for Furcolo. McCormack, a heavy favorite over O'Donnell, can afford to look beyond the primary at this stage. Furcolo, an underdog, can't afford to do so.

McCormack's thrust at Volpe have had no telling effect so far. At this point, however, McCormack apparently is trying to avoid causing any rifts or arousing any feeling in the Democratic party which would injure his chances in the November election.

There is considerable speculation as to why Mrs. Toni Peabody, wife of ex-Governor Peabody, has not been taking as prominent a part in his present campaign as she did in all his previous election contests.

She was regarded as her husband's greatest political asset in his past runs for public office.

Harvard Medical Promotes Seven Local Doctors

Seven residents of Newton who are members of the staff of Harvard Medical School have been promoted to the rank of Associate in the Faculty of Medicine at Harvard, according to an announcement by the Medical School Dean.

The promotions were as follows:

Dr. Thomas P. Ashford, 63 Garland road, Newton Centre, to Associate in Pathology with offices in Beth Israel Hospital.

Dr. Arthur A. Like, 11 Park lane, Newton Centre, to Associate in Pathology. He is also Associate in Pathology at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Dr. Chaim I. Mayman, 11 Turner terrace, Newtonville, to Associate in Neurology with offices and laboratories at Beth Israel Hospital.

Dr. A. Michael Rossi of Newton, to Associate in Psychology in the Department of Psychiatry.

Dr. Seymour N. Sabesin of 53 Vaughan avenue, Newton Highlands, to Associate in Medicine with offices and laboratories at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Dr. Stewart F. Schlossman, 787 Saw Mill Brook parkway, Newton Centre, to Associate in Medicine with offices and laboratories in Beth Israel Hospital.

New Pastor For Tremont Temple

H. Elmore Blanton, 26 Blithedale Rd., Newtonville, moderator of Tremont Temple Baptist Church in Boston and chairman of its New Pastor Committee, has announced that the Rev. Arthur Paterson Lee, pastor of Calvary Church (Baptist), Toronto, Canada, for the past eight years, has accepted a call to be pastor of Tremont Temple.

Single Sessions Group Active Through Summer

The Single Session Committee met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Latner in Waban on July 27. Many interested parents met with the committee to plan on what strategy and steps to put into effect to bring about their wish for a single session day in all of the Newton Elementary Schools.

Mrs. Betty Murphy, secretary of committee, of 82 Falmouth rd., West Newton, had the following to report as to what was discussed.

A letter dated July, 1966, was sent by Dr. Brown to all the parents of elementary school children with the proposed hours voted upon by the school committee at the meeting of June 27.

The hours are for Monday, Wednesday, and Friday: 8:20-12:00 and 1:15-3:30; Tuesdays and Thursdays: 8:20-12. These hours comply with the 25-hour week, but not with the five-hour day.

Parents who live a distance from the schools object to these temporary hours, because the lunch hour was shortened by 15 minutes and parents feel this is not enough time for the children to walk home, eat their lunch and walk back to school. They feel this imposes more hardships on the child as well as the fact that the long days have been made longer.

The single-session committee feel that the Massachusetts State Board of Education should turn down the new hours.

Mrs. Joan Saklad, co-ordinator of the committee, has received a letter from Dr. Brown stating that he would like to start meeting with the study group the later part of August.

The names of the people from the single session to be on the Study Group has been submitted to Dr. Brown. They are: Mrs. Martin (Joan) Saklad, Mrs. William (Dorothy) Lanciloti, Mrs. Joseph (Marilyn) Antonellis, Mrs. Harvey (Barbara) Seletsky, Richard Fallows.

A new petition drive is planned with petitions placed at places of business for the benefit of those who are in favor of a single session and have not signed a petition.

The places of business where the petitions will be are: Waban Super Market, Inc., 10 Windsor road, Waban; Liggett's Rexall Drug Store, 1293 Washington st., West Newton; Walnut Delicatessen, Inc., 395 Walnut st., Newtonville; Newton Centre Market, 1241 Centre st., Newton Centre; George's Hair Stylists, 39A Lincoln st., Newton Highlands; Wellesley Pharmacy, 15 Washington st., Wellesley.

Supermarket petitioners as well as the individual petitioner are being planned also.

Camp Mary Day International Festival Day

As the world grows smaller, the horizons of the young grow broader as was evidenced at Camp Mary Day recently as Newton's Brownies and Girl Scouts presented an "International Show."

Two girls were picked from each unit to represent it in the council which planned the production.

Brownies I sent Debby Boates and Ann Ashford; Brownies II sent Martha Bassett and Susan Gilles; Karen Anderson and Lisa Bassett represented Junior I while Junior II was represented by Beth Kolkenbeck and Priscilla Lepera. Susan Campbell and Sarah Kendall were on hand for the Cadettes.

The outdoor stage at the camp was decorated with the flags of many countries as the show got underway.

Brownies I opened the show with a "Rain Dance." The girls were garbed in the colorful robes and headdresses of the American Indian.

Brownies II filled the stage with Mexican lore in songs and dances.

A short play entitled "The Day Family Tours the World" was offered by Junior I which included stops in Brazil, Germany, Israel and China. The girls greeted each other in the languages of those countries. One of the campers, Bonnie Garland, here on vacation from Brazil, helped the girls with their Portugese—the native tongue of Brazil.

Junior II took the campers on a visit to the England of today — an England of pop art and music.

The Cadettes closed the show with a visit to the "Chalet" —that beautiful spot in Switzerland which is a center for Girl Scouts from all over the world. The audience joined the Cadettes in the song "My Chel Chalet" in the show's finale.

In charge of folk dancing and singing for the past two weeks was Mrs. Ingrid Kisliuk of Newton.

New leaders in this session are Miss Trudy Barnicle, Mrs. B. Joslow, Mrs. E. Manter and Mrs. Rita Murphy, all of Newton.

SANDRA KASSLER

Newton Girl In Israel For Summer Study

Sandra Kassler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Kassler, 16 Croftdale Rd., Newton Centre, has been accepted by the Israeli Summer Institute.

Miss Kassler is a graduate of Newton High School, Class of '66 and a graduate of Temple Emanuel Hebrew High School, Class of '65.

She is now living with an International group of students in Jerusalem. They are undertaking a program of extensive travel in Israel and a study of its economic, political and social structures and problems.

Two weeks of the term will consist of living and working on a co-operative farm (Kibbutz) under the same conditions as the Israelis. Also included in the schedule are field trips and archeological "Digs" in the Negev Desert; a visit to Caesaria; and an ascent of the Mountain Fortress of Masada.

Upon her return in August, Miss Kassler will make preparations for her freshman year at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

2 Local Professors To Be Radio Speakers On Sunday

Two Newton residents, A. Howard Myers and Benedetto Fabrizi, both Northeastern University professors, will be heard over different radio stations Sunday, August 7.

Dr. A. Howard Myers of 64 Garland road, a professor of industrial relations at N. U., will discuss "In What Direction is Capitalism Moving?" at 3:30 p.m. over radio station WLYN-AM-FM.

Dr. Benedetto Fabrizi of 889 Watertown street, associate professor of modern languages, will discuss "Teaching Modern Languages Today" at 6:30 a.m. over radio station WCOP-AM-FM.

Before coming to Northeastern in 1948, Prof. Myers taught at Boston College, Harvard University, and the University of Michigan.

He received a bachelor's degree from Cornell University in 1926 and both a master's degree and doctorate from Columbia University in 1932 and 1933, respectively.

Prof. Myers is a past chapter president of the Industrial Relations Research Association and past treasurer of the National Academy of Arbitrators. He is a member of the American Economic Association and Phi Kappa Phi.

Prof. Myers is married and has two children.

Prof. Fabrizi came to Northeastern in 1965 after teaching at Tufts University, Simmons College, Boston College, University of Massachusetts, and Hamilton College.

He received a bachelor's degree from Harvard in 1944 and a master's degree and doctorate from Middlebury College in 1947 and 1957, respectively.

Prof. Fabrizi is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, the Massachusetts Advisory Committee on Foreign Languages, and the American Association of University Professors.

Dr. Fabrizi is author of "The How's, Why's and Where's of Language Laboratory Logic" and "Foreign Languages: The Visual Element."

Prof. Fabrizi is married and has three children.

Playground Fun At Memorial Has Jimmy Fund Help

Memorial Playground, in conjunction with the other playgrounds in the Newton Community held Carnival Day on Wednesday to provide an opportunity for youngsters to raise money for the Jimmy Fund Cancer Research Foundation while at the same time allowing the children to enjoy themselves in the process.

Stands offering food, games, prizes, and "white elephant" articles were set up and supervised by the playground children themselves. Under the direction of Pamela Holland, Judy Greenblatt, Thomas Akstens, and Tom Curley, playground instructors, activities ranging from a Bake Sale run by Emily Coleman, Richard Learner, and Laurie Lipkind to the base ball throw of Mark Swartz and David Pearlstein yielded $57.00 as Memorial Playground's contribution to the Jimmy Fund.

Robert Doherty, Recreation Supervisor, personally tested the lemonade and popcorn donated by Richard Dunne, Brian Corcoran, Allan MacNeil, and Gary Murtagh. The Grab Bag game supervised by Mr. Akstens began a series of successful events that ended with Billy Cormier's awarding candy to Cynthia Moan and Cindy Miller for the closest guess in the Candy count.

The Penny Pitch operated by Robert Berry, and Ronald Izen and the Baseball Throw of Paul and Lori Arduino and Joan Ferreri attracted the interest of all who attended the Carnival. Particularly popular was the Watermelon Raffle of Richard Izen and John Corcoran and Mid Barrett's Dart Throw. A day filled with fun, food and fanfare was pleasantly and profitably completed.

Special thanks are due to officer Charles Feeley, and Dunkin Donuts for the contribution of twenty doz. donuts and for the cooperation of the business concerns in the Oak Hill Park area.

An appeal to women in the Newton area to contribute a few hours' time to the annual MEND Fund campaign has been issued by its honorary chairman, Mrs. Abraham E. Pinanski of Brookline, internationally prominent voluntary health leader.

The campaign, scheduled for September, is the annual effort of the Aid to Muscular Disease Research Chapter of Greater Boston to support the work of the National Foundation for Neuromuscular Diseases.

The volunteers are needed to inform their neighbors of the campaign, and to solicit their contributions. They can enroll by calling BI 4-1704.

Said Mrs. Pinanski: "Not everyone can be a major philanthropist, but anyone with a little spare time can become a valuable supporter of significant medical research as a MEND Fund volunteer."

NSHS Junior To Participate In Quaker Project

Joshua M. Alper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus M. Alper, 130 Arnold rd., Newton Centre, a Newton High School junior, will participate this summer in the United States Projects program of the American Friends Service Committee.

The program calls for high school and college participants to volunteer to spend seven to eight weeks in the rural or urban communities they serve, sharing group living with companions their own age from various social, racial, and economic backgrounds. They work in local communities where organizational ability and enthusiasm are needed to get community improvement projects under way.

AFSC work camps for young people have been a U.S. institution since 1934, when the Quaker organization's first unit of volunteers undertook a rehabilitation project in a Pennsylvania coal mining town suffering from the effects of the Great Depression. Each year projects are selected on the basis of need and practicality from a number of proposals sent by regional staff and community organizations.

Through its work camp program AFSC hopes to develop intercultural understanding and provide first-hand experiences with social and economic problems of the day.

Lee Loumos Says:

I wonder if you remember what happened to the availability of Color TV Sets right after Labor Day last year. In case you were not paying attention, let me remind you that the industry went into a back order condition which didn't ease up for ten months. Even now, although we are getting a little more than our current needs, it is not enough to build up the necessary back log for inventory. I am sure that the situation will be even worse after Labor Day this year than it was last year.

May I suggest to anyone who is contemplating the purchase of a Color TV Set this season that you make your decision now while we are receiving our new 1967 Models and there is a wider selection and availability. In addition, if you buy before we hit our peak demand we can take more time and care in the set up and installation of the set.

JORDAN'S FURNITURE NEWS

Open Monday, Wednesday and Friday Evenings EXTRA

Quality Furniture for 3 Generations — Serving You, Your Home, Your Budget — Wednesday, August 3, 1966

SENSATIONAL FURNITURE SAVINGS START TODAY AT JORDAN'S ANNUAL AUGUST SALE OF SALES!

A value event others imitate, but never duplicate. Budget-wise shoppers now have store-wide selection of Jordan's QUALITY furniture at once-a-year reductions. Trusted name brands. Newest models and styles. A sale of sales not to be missed!

JORDAN'S FURNITURE CO., 419 MOODY ST.

WHERE IT'S ALL HAPPENING!—Jordan's Furniture Co., located for over 3 generations at 419 Moody street in Waltham, is the scene of this remarkable sale of values. Three spacious floors are devoted to the finest in complete home furnishings. Browsers and shoppers alike enjoy exploring the many realistic room settings in Jordan's comfortably air-conditioned store. Convenient free parking is available at the Chestnut street entrance, or, if customers prefer, they take their parking meter money from Jordan's friendly fishbowl of coins.

From Press Dispatches

WALTHAM, MASS.—"THIS IS IT! The only other furniture event to compare with Jordan's 1966 August sale was Jordan's 1965 August Sale . . . and even that wasn't as exciting. This year you'll find more new styles, more quality name brands, and more remarkably low prices than ever before," today announced Mr. Tatelman, president of Waltham's well-known Jordan's Furniture Company.

Yes, thousands of homemakers from throughout the state have recognized this annual mid-summer event as an invitation to outstanding values. SAVINGS FROM 10% to 57%!

This SALE features all our better quality furniture at tremendous savings. See —

Beautifully designed, well-known furniture with FAMOUS NAMES like Kroehler, Ethan Allen, Craft Originals, Simmons, Lees, Bassett, Dixie, Lane, Sealy, Kent-Coffey, Valentine-Seaver, Slumberland, Thomasville, Johnson-Carper, Stanley, Eclipse, and many more.

Naturally, as the present stock of any item is sold out, it will no longer be offered at specially reduced prices. SHOP EARLY FOR BEST SELECTION. You've waited all year for such savings, and THIS IS IT!

Save! While You Sleep!

Good news! Now Jordan's larger-than-ever bedding department is filled with smaller than ever prices! You'll find the right mattress to solve every sleeping problem.

An enormous selection. Choose from the most famous national brand names. For example you can buy Sealy button-free Magic Rest Mattress and Boxspring for $88.00 . . . Slumberland Luxury Quilt Mattress and Boxspring for $99.00 . . . A Custom Goodrich Latex Foam Rubber Mattress and Boxspring in full or twin size for $99.00.

Cash in on these Big August Savings Now!

C'mon Down Tonight!

Jordan's Furniture is open tonight and Friday night until 9:30. Or shop Monday evening 'til 9:00. On Thursdays and Saturdays Jordan's remains open from 9:00 A.M. 'til 5:30 P.M. Free individual decorating consultations in the home may be scheduled for any time at the customer's convenience.

Holy Furniture! Is That Batman?

Just like Batman, every member of Jordan's Sales Staff is an expert in his profession. He is more than just an ordertaker and a friend. He is a trained and experienced decorator of household interiors. He is a master of colors and room coordination. He is an "Idea Man" who'll be happy to give you his decorating suggestions and advice. Whether it be in-store assistance or at-home consultation, every Jordan's salesman is anxious to help you. Personalized service is his specialty. Appointments may be made by phone if you wish. At Jordan's, of course, there is no charge for this popular decorating service. Not even the caped crusader himself could please you more!

Strictly Personal

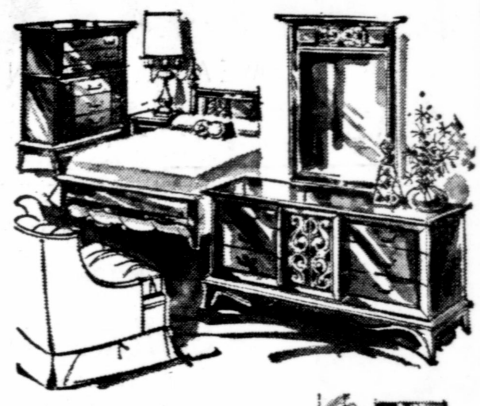

Payments are planned to please you at Jordan's Furniture. Credit is one of our most important services to make your purchases easier and within your individual budget. Payments are carefully planned so that you will be able to add to your home needs as you desire . . . without any undue hardships. Credit is always extended to meet your own strictly personal requirements.

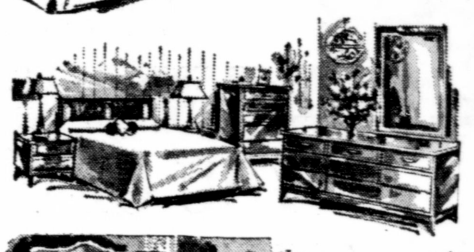

Fair Warning!

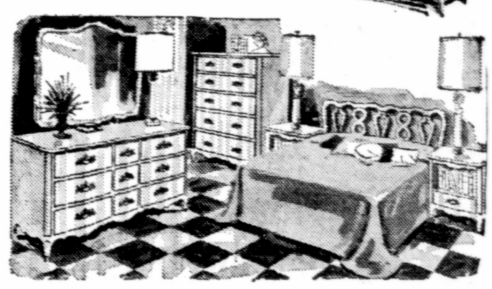

Watch out! Many furniture stores continue to have "imitation" August Sales that disappoint the public by offering second-rate merchandise that has neither brand names nor quality. But most shoppers now recognize the vast difference between cheap furniture from a high-pressure "junk shop" and better, more distinctive furniture from a proven dealer like Jordan's. When cheap furniture is sold cheaper, it's still no bargain. But when FINE FURNITURE IS REDUCED, that's a sale! And THIS IS IT!

Miss Strangeland-Mr. Johnson Wed; Both In Peace Corps

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Stangeland of Bethesda, Maryland, announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Virginia Ann Strangeland, to Anthony Reed Johnson. He is the son of Mrs. J. Lewis Johnson of Newton Centre and the late Mr. Johnson.

The pretty summer wedding was performed in the Bradley Hills Presbyterian Church by the Rev. David Voss.

The couple, who spent their honeymoon in Maine, are completing their Peace Corps training which they began last summer at the University of Notre Dame.

This month they plan to leave for Bolivia, where they will serve for the next two years in the Community Development Program of the Peace Corps.

Mrs. Johnson attended Smith College for two years and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, class of 1966.

The groom is a graduate of George Washington University.

PATRICIA FLANAGAN

Miss Flanagan, Mr. Galvin Plan Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dennis Flanagan of Hingham make known the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Patricia Anne Flanagan, to Robert Edward Galvin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Galvin of 9 Fayette street, Newton.

Mr. Galvin, a graduate of Boston College and Boston College Law School, is now an attorney.

A December 3 wedding is planned.

Mrs. Watson, Mr. Cronin Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bradford of Newton Highlands announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Priscilla Bradford Watson, to Mr. Dennis Michael Cronin Jr., of Auburndale and Pocasset.

The couple were married at a nuptial mass, which was celebrated by the groom's cousin, the Rev. William J. Burns, at the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, on Saturday, July 30.

Mrs. David H. Bradford, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mr. John J. Cronin, brother of the groom, attended the couple.

The bride was graduated from Regis College. Mr. Cronin is a graduate of Boston College and Harvard Law School.

Mr. and Mrs. David McIntyre To Live On West Coast

The Eliot Church, Newton, was the setting for the pretty summer wedding which united Miss Sally Louise Holdridge and David Allen McIntyre.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holdridge of 162 Islington road, Auburndale. The groom is the son of Mrs. James McIntyre of Alameda, Calif., and the late Mr. McIntyre.

Dr. Ray A. Eusden officiated at the 3 o'clock nuptials, which was followed by a reception at Holiday Inn in Auburndale.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of silk organza embroidered with pearl motifs. The fitted bodice had full-length sleeves.

Similar jeweled material formed the petal cap fastened with her shoulder-length illusion veil. Her flowers were white roses and miniature carnations.

Miss Beverly E. Holdridge of Auburndale was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Douglas Holdridge and Miss Nancy A. Dorey, both of Westwood. Joanne L. Holdridge of Westwood was flower girl.

Douglas W. Holdridge of Westwood served as best man. The ushers were Philip W. Freeman of New Shrewsbury, N.J., Paul W. Dorey of Norfolk and Paul Smith of Flushing, N.Y.

Before leaving for the west coast, the couple will go to both Memphis and Nashville, Tenn. They plan to make their home at 823A Central avenue, Alameda, Calif.

The bride attended Newton High School and Gettysburg College.

Mr. McIntyre attended Merrit College.

Lesson-Sermon On "Spirit" In Science Church

"Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him?" Isaiah's tribute to the almightiness of God is part of the Bible Lesson-Sermon on "Spirit" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Also included will be this passage from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot 'tel lwhence it cometh.' By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinnign are reformed. These are the effects of one universal God, the invisible good dwelling in eternal Science."

Adams Sen. Candidacy Has 'No Confidence' In Johnson

Thomas Boylston Adams, who is campagning for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, declared yesterday in a message to Newton Democrats that a vote for him in the coming primary will be a vote of "no confidence" for President Johnson's administration.

Adams qualified for a place on the Sept. 13 primary ballot by submitting 14,000 signatures to Secretary of State Kevin H. White. He and his supporters collected approximately 40,000 signatures, but only 14,000 were accepted by the Secretary of State.

In his message to Democratic voters in Newton, Adams said:

"With the filing of these nomination papers I redeem the pledge I made to the voters of Massachusetts at the Democratic Convention. On September 13th, primary day, it will be possible for the people of Massachusetts to vote on the one great issue of our time and of our generation, the war in Vietnam and the cause of that war.

"The issue is not between me and two other candidates for the Senate whose names will also appear on the ballot. The issue is between the people of Massachusetts and the President of the United States.

"A vote for Adams on September 13th is a vote of no confidence in the present administration. A vote for Adams is a vote for Democracy and a return to the rule of law and the balance of powers set up by the founders of our nation to protect it against tyranny.

"By guile and by subterfuge the President has carried the nation into war without consent of Congress or debate in the Senate. Each step in the escalation of the war has been a denial of the the taking of the previous official statements made at step.

"The Johnson administration said it was in Vietnam merely to help a legitimate government defend itself. In fact, the government was not a government, not legitimate, and not defending itself. It was a military clique incapable of any action except to maintain itself in power against the will of its own people and with the help of the United States army.

"The purpose of the war is now made clear. It is to establish American power permanently on the Asian mainland. We are now involved in the major war in Asia the President promised he would prevent. We were not going beyond the 17th parallel. We have. Even the bombing of Haiphong and Hanoi, we are told, is not escalation.

"There is a crisis of confidence in the United States. When John Kennedy lived, we lived in an era of hope. When a mistake was made, it was admitted. When an opportunity came to improve international relations, it was instantly seized. With the test ban treaty the world seemed to enter into the vast dimensions of a new era of peace.

"Now when a mistake is made, another is made to blot out the memory of the previous blunder. In less than three short years the nation has seen the Kennedy policies of firmness and restraint in foreign affairs become the wild extravagance of a nation bent on expansion without counting the cost. But the nation has not been consulted. The Senate has been ignored.

"Now the people have an Senate is the voice of the opportunity to speak. The people in foreign affairs. The people of Massachusetts can send Adams to the Senate to join the two living Kennedy's to restore the nation with the government of law, of reason, and of the people which the whole world lost when President Kennedy died," Adams concluded.

Newton Girl In Quaker Summer Service Project

Rachel E. Gorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Gorn, 34 Laudholm Rd., Newton, and a Wellesley College sophomore, will participate this summer in a community service project sponsored by the American Friends Service committee.

The committee has arranged community service projects in a number of urban and rural areas of the country. Small groups of volunteers work there under the direction of social service agencies or other organizations engaged in education, community development, or housing programs.

Volunteers share the everyday life of their neighbors and assist local leadership in the development of local projects.

The Quaker service organization has sponsored summer service projects for more than 30 years.

Two Fail In Test

The director of civil service at the State House announces that there is no eligible list for the post of administrative assistant to the Newton Health Commissioner, the two men who were examined having failed in practical questions.

Petitioners Present Many Items To Aldermen Monday

A petition of Frost Motors, Inc., for increased gasoline storage at their facilities on Washington st. was approved by the Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night. In other action, the Board tabled a petition of Gibbs Tire Depot, Inc., after objections were raised.

There was no opposition to the Frost petition which called for a gas storage increase from 500 gallons to 2500 gallons. The gas would not be for sale to the public but for the company's own use.

The petition of the Gibbs Co. contained three requests. The first was for permission to remodel the existing gas station at 367 California st.; the second sought permission to park cars on land adjacent to the station and the third was for permission to increase gasoline storage from 5000 to 10,000 gallons underground.

Ten raised hands indicated opposition to the three-part petition, and no hand was raised in favor, as the hearing came to a close.

Appearing for the petitioner was George Koller, of Koller Associates, engineers, 19 Richardson Rd., Newton Upper Falls. Mr. Koller said there would be no repairing of cars and the business would be confined to sales. It was the petitioner's intent, he said, to clear up the small, adjoining lot that is overgrown with weeds and use it for parking cars awaiting service.

One opponent was C. Martinelli of Weston, who said he represented Augustus E. Mosman, 355 California St. Another was J. Edward Therriault, 46 Bridge St., Newton, commander of the Disabled American Veterans, and a one-time building inspector for the city.

Martinelli claimed the petition should have been made to the Zoning Board of Appeals instead of the Board of Aldermen, and he maintained that the petitioner's intention was to use the involved lots indiscriminately.

Therriault declared that there was no necessity for increased gasoline storage at the site, and said that "we don't want a tire business operating there."

One Edison Company petition for installation of a street lighting pole at Durant and Pembroke Sts., Newton, was opposed by Wayne Aldrich of 65 Pembroke St. The item was held by the Franchises and Licenses Committee.

A show of hands on a proposal for installation of a drain and sewer in Elgin St., Newton Centre, indicated that 10 property owners were opposed while only four were in favor.

Three of those in favor were George W. Ross Jr., 156 Elgin St.; Richard Finkel, 127 Elgin St.; and Mrs. Ramona S. Holland, 164 Elgin St.

Ross and Finkel testified that they had serious septic tank problems due to the condition of the land.

Objectors included Stephen A. Stone, 180 Elgin St.; Dr. Bernard I. Goldberg, 160 Elgin St.; and Archie Appleyard, 152 Elgin St. All insisted that the sewage problem on the street could be solved by a far less costly method than sewer and drain installation, and each professed that so far as he or she was concerned, there was no problem. Stephen Stone declared that the $30,000 project, would have to be paid for by 14 property owners who had no problem, while it would benefit only two.

Following a hearing on the acceptance (under the Betterment Law) of Hampden Terr., Newton Centre, from Morton St. easterly, a show of hands revealed three property owners in favor and two against. John P. Hunt, 15 Hampden Terr., said he represented three property owners who favored the street's acceptance. He has lived there 30 years, he said. The opponents who spoke, including Mrs. Dorothy D. Smith, 58 Morton St., expressed fear that improvement of the short, dead-end private way, would attract heavy traffic including heavy trucks serving an adjacent jelly factory. As a result the children of the street would be exposed to danger, she claimed.

William Johnson, 37 Walnut Pl., Newtonville, spoke in favor of the acceptance of Walnut Pl. under the Betterment Law. "We need improvement," he said. Speaking in opposition, Dr. Philip Bern, 47 Walnut Pl., said, "It is not necessary to destroy the quietness of this street, to make it available for the use of all-day parkers, to increase the traffic as much as 5000 percent, with consequent danger to my three children." Five property owners raised hands to indicate their favor of acceptance, and only one hand was raised in objection.

Banker To Speak At Pillar House Meeting Aug. 24

Edward K. Ward, Jr., president of the Framingham National Bank, will be the principal speaker at the Consul's Dinner Meeting sponsored by the Boston Chapter, Inc., American Institute of Banking, to be held on Wednesday, August 24 at the Pillar House, Newton Lower Falls.

The meeting will outline the Chapter's educational program for 1966-67, and is expected to draw representatives from banking institutions throughout the area west of Boston.

Also participating in the program will be Chapter officers Robert A. Jackson, president, who is auditor of the New England Merchants National Bank, Boston; and Hugh A. MacArthur, 1st vice president and chairman of the Educational Committee, an assistant cashier with the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

Two Local Boys In Summer Of Fund Raising

Twa Newton youngsters who will enter the fourth and fifth grades at John Ward School in September have been occupied during a part of their summer vacation soliciting funds to cover transportation costs of two lads their own age from Mississippi to Hillsboro, N.H.

At Hillsboro Upper Village, the Mississippians are attending Camp Interlocken, thanks to the efforts of the local boys.

The young transportation raisers are Paul Shoul and Douglas Yoffee. The $50 they collected enabled the others to come north.

Camp Interlocken, an international camp for boys, provides free tuition, due to the efforts of CORE in Mississippi and a local couple who had worked there for civil rights.

Paul, who attends camp Interlocken, was a friend of the Mississippi lads, but Douglas didn't know them. He just liked the idea of helping his friend and helping the visitors to have a good time during the summer.

Garden City Dividend

President Charles E. Docksor of the Garden City Trust Company, Chestnut Hill, has announced that the board of directors, at a recent meeting, voted payment of a quarterly cash dividend of 9 cents per share to stockholders as of Sept. 1, 1966, and payable Sept. 15.

Mitchell Named Superior Court Judge By Volpe

Gov. Volpe yesterday nominated Joseph S. Mitchell of Newton as an associate justice of the Superior Court.

If Mitchell's nomination is approved by the executive council, the Negro lawyer would replace the late Judge Edward O. Gourdin of Quincy.

Mitchell, 41, is legal counsel to state Administration Commissioner John J. McCarthy. He played an important part in the recent senate investigations of McCarthy.

Mitchell testified before the senators that he worked closely with McCarthy when the commissioner attempted to set controversial rates paid by the state to hospitals for the care of welfare patients.

Newton Men Atend Penn. MONY Parley

Life insurance men Robert Shaw and Charles A. Fiermonte Jr., were selected by Mutual of New York to represent Newton at the company's recent regional honor conference in Shawnee-on-the Delaware, Penn.

The four-day meeting focussed on new methods by which local specialists can expand insurance servicees. Special attention was given to the company's new program for using a centralized computer system to analyze specific personel and business insurance needs.

Shaw lives at 64 Great Meadows Rd., Newton Centre, and has offices at 22 Lincoln St., Newton Highlands. Fiermonte lives at 61 Jackson Rd., Newton, Both are associated with the company's Boston-Broderick agency.

Hospital Workers

New York — Persons employed by hospitals in the U.S. increased by about 57 percent over the past 10 years.

Motor Bikes And Cars Are Involved In Week's Accidents

Motor cycles and automobiles were involved in virtually all of the accidents reported in Newton this past week.

A Dorchester resident, William Merlis, operator of a motor scooter, was injured last Saturday when he swerved to avoid collision with a car on Boylston St. and Parker St., Newton Centre. He sustained cuts and bruises when he fell to the pavement. The car, police said, was driven by Doris Adelman of New York City.

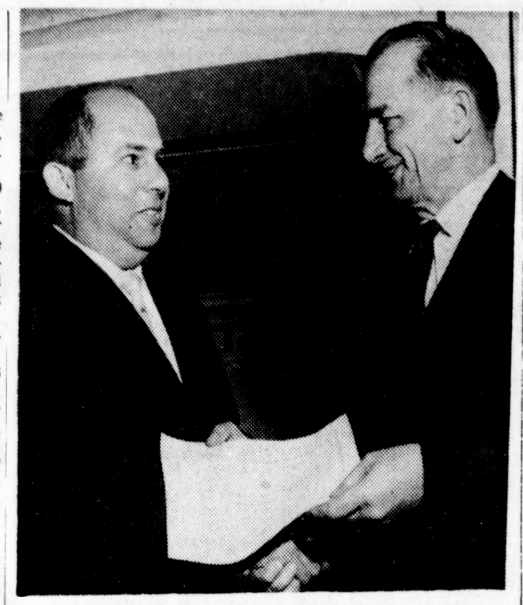

Earlier in the week there were two accidents in which motor cycles collided with cars. One rider, Michael J. Maguire Jr., 17, of 26 Wiltshire Rd., Newton, was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for arm bruises and an injured leg. Police said the car the property of Frost Motors, Inc., was driven by Edward A. Gallinaro of Waltham.

The other motor cycle was driven by Harold Plaistead 3d. 21, of 17 Keefe Ave., Newton Upper Falls. He was treated at the hospital for a back injury. The car in the collision, according to police, was driven by Charles F. Stark of Needham.

Mrs. Edith H. Connor, 19 Fairfield St., Newtonville, was injured by her own car last Monday. She told police her car, parked in the garage, started to roll. She tried to halt it, and in the effort her right foot was crushed. Police too her to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton.

Mrs. Ruth L. Rosenfeld, 376 Dudley Rd., Newton Centre, was shaken up in a two-car collision Friday afternoon on Beacon St., Newton Centre. She was the driver of one of the cars. The other was operated by Irene B. Kreze, 135 Algonquin Rd., Chestnut Hill.

In two other Friday accidents the cause was the striking of utility poles by cars. Marcus D. H. Schon of Brookilne was the driver of a car that hit a pole at 618 Beacon St., Newton Centre. The other pole was hit by a truck operated, police said, by Martin Grelish, 60 Webster St., West Newton. The crash occurred at 423 Lexington St., Auburndale.

Cadet Greenbaum Candidate For USAF Comm'sion

Cadet Lawrence M. Greenbaum of Newton Centre has completed the U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps summer encampment at Loring AFB, Maine.

Cadet Greenbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Greenbaum of 271 Greenwood St., observed and took an active part in flying and support phases of operations at Loring during the month-long summer training period.

A member of the AFROTC unit at Tufts University, he will be eligible for a commission as an Air Force second lieutenant upon graduation and completion of AFROTC training.

Local Resident Given Nat'l Newspaper Award

Robert S. Katz of 100 Andrew street, Newton Highlands, widely known weekly newspaper editor and publisher, received a Herrick Award citation at a Boston hotel during the 81st annual convention of the National Newspaper Association. Presentation was made by President John L. Fournier at the annual awards dinner. It marked the second consecutive year that the local resident received national recognition for editorials appearing in his newspaper The Suburban Press and Recorder.

Mr. Katz founded the newspaper in 1956 and since that time has received 32 awards for newspaper excellence. His printing plant is located in Natick and his paper is circulated in that town and adjacent communities.

The National Newspaper Association sponsors a Better Newspaper Contest each year and one of the most competitive categories is a Herrick Editorial Award recognition for editorials best reflecting the most outstanding and unusual efforts made by a newspaper to explain democracy to its readers.

Mr. Katz entered 10 editorials which appeared in his newspaper during 1965. These were not written on one subject or incident but spanned the gamut of the full range of subjects on Democracy and were written throughout the year, indicating a consistently effective editorial page.

Mr. Katz is a member of the New England Press Association, and is national secretary-treasurer of the Accredited Home Newspapers of America. He chairmaned the national convention of the AHNA this year in Montreal Canada. He was a featured speaker before the recent NNA convention on the subject "Semi-Weekly Publication." Mr. Katz early this year went to a twice-a-week publication.

Mr. and Mrs. Katz are the parents of two children, Sharyn and David who attend Newton schools.

Board Grants 3 Retirements, One Is Held

The Newton Retirement Board has granted retirement of three city employes.

Granted non-contributary retirement was Harry F. Purcell, 69, of 52 Eliot Ave., West Newton, a World War I veteran with 42 years and nine months with the Street Department. His retirement becomes effective Aug. 10.

A superannuation retirement was given Mrs. Elizabeth C. Norstrand of 9 Gammons Rd., Waban, a Newton Junior College secretary.

Also approved was the tabled application of Police Sgt. Albert A. Smith, 5 Fairway Dr., West Newton. Sixty-four years of age, with more than 30 years police service, he has been ill for several months.

Held pending a legal opinion by the Law Department was the petition of Ray J. Lund, 51 of 107 Elm St., Belmont. A veteran of World War II, he is principal of the Franklin School. He asks non-contributary retirement as of June 30. He has service of 30 years, 11 of them in Newton.

Pupils -

Other persons have volunteered to drive the children or perform other chores.

A social worker and a Negro parent worked with Mrs. Morris in each school district.

An attempt was made to be the "second home" for match the grade level and sex of each Roxbury child with the Newton pupil living in the home which will the Negro youngster.

Four Negro families were among the Newton volunteers.

Arrangements are being made to have the parents of the Negro children meet the Newton families who will provide second homes for their children and see the homes where their sons and daughters will be given lunch.

The Negro children from Roxbury, all third, fourth and fifth-graders, will attend the Claflin, Countryside, Horace Mann, Hyde, Oak Hill, Spaulding and Williams Schools. There will not be more than eight of them in any one school.

Sailing Club Holds Second Race Series

The Lake Cochituate Sailing Club held its second set of races in the new series with the winds blowing light.

Bernie Leake took two firsts and a second to jump off to an early lead in the standings.

The third race was won by Howie Crane.

With three newcomers this week, the group continues to increase. Since the club, whose headquarters are at 1412 Beacon street, Waban, competes in a regatta next Sunday, this series will be resumed Aug. 14.

Gov.'s Councillor Cronin Urges Removal of Newton Court Clerk

Governer's Councillor George F. Cronin, Jr., of West Roxbury has called upon Governor Volpe to institute proceedings against Edward J. Cronin, clerk of the Newton district court, who testified during a court trial that he accepted a $2500 bribe and committed perjury.

Councillor Cronin made the request in a written statement submitted to Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson and turned over to Volpe by Richardson.

George F. Cronin, Jr., now represents virtually the same councillor district from which Edward J. Cronin served when he was a member of the Executive Council.

A petition for the removal of Edward J. Cronin from his post as clerk of the Newton district court has been filed with the State Supreme Court by the Massachusetts Bar Association. It is being opposed by Attorney General Edward W. Brooke.

Cronin made his admission of accepting a bribe and committing perjury before a Grand Jury while testifying against four fellow members of the Governor's Council, all of whom were convicted.

Governor's Councillor Cronin, in demanding that removal proceedings be brought against clerk Cronin declared in his letter to Governor Volpe that "a clerk of the court has recently publicly testified that he accepted $2500 in exchange for his vote when he was a voting member of one of our governmental bodies."

"He has, in effect, admitted his criminality and his perpetuation of a deed which involves a total abandonment of all the rules of law and order," Councillor Cronin continued.

"He has admitted to the selling of one of his public acts and a breaching of his oath of office," the West Roxbury councillor continued.

"This individual, this betrayer of public trust, has, however, been allowed for some mysterious reason to remain in office and escape prosecution," Cronin stated.

"I now ask you, your Excellency, to institute proceedings that would begin the process of having the office of clerk of the Newton district court declared vacant," Cronin said in his letleter to Volpe.

Cronin also made a statement on the matter at the last meeting of the Governor's Council.

He charged that court clerk Cronin's testimony in Suffolk Superior Court "indicated a complete disregard of public trust which has been aggravated and made worse by the fact that neither the Governor nor the Attorney General has made any move against this delinquent public official or to take an official position against him."

"Many citizens of Massachusetts are today wondering why no action has been taken against this individual," Cronin asserted.

For the Governor and Attorney General to continue to allow, by their failure to act, the spectre of a deal to enter into such serious considerations, is to cause a a loss of confidence in government," Cronin maintained.

"Justice would demand that responsible public officials begin the processof removing Cronin from office," Councillor Cronin declared.

"The Executive Council cannot act on its own initiative in this type of removal and must, by the terms of the Constitution, wait for the removal proceedings to be begun by the Governor," he concluded.

17 Items Are Approved At Aldermen's Meeting

A petition for the right to erect two apartment buildings, each containing 46 apartments, at Chestnut and Elliot streets, Newton Upper Falls, was approved by the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

The application, filed by Paul D. Borelli of Needham, was unopposed at a hearing held July 18.

This was one of 17 recommendations made by the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee which were adopted by the Aldermanic Board at Monday night's session.

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, new chairman of the committee, gave a demonstration of his ability to handle the job as he reported out 17 different items. All of the matters were acted upon by the full Aldermanic Board in the manner recommended by the committee.

The report included eight matters that had joint hearings by Claims and Rules and the Planning Board on Monday evening, July 18.

Flaschner first reported out an amendment to the Zoning Ordinances recommended by Mayor Monte G. Basbas that would give the Aldermen better control over all manner of drive-in operations in the city. This had the unanimous approval of the committee.

Also approved was a petition of MacNeil Realty Trust for a zone change to Manufacturing District of approximately 17,650 square feet of unzoned land in the rear of 225 Riverview ave., West Newton, the site of the former city dump.

Flaschner reported at some length on Tidewater Oil Company's petition for modification of restrictions the Board had imposed in March, 1963, on the gasoline sales and service station at 964 Boylston st., Newton Highlands. Claims and Rules denied the following three requests: Removal of shield from canopy, installation of a sign ("Open") to be suspended from the canopy roof facing southwesterly Boylston st. traffic, installation of a banner on the pump island from time to time for advertising.

The following requests had the committee's unanimous approval: One windshield washer solvent disposer, two windshield wiper cabinets, two radiator water cans, a battery filler, to be kept on pump island during business hours. Also approved were a decal-type clock on office window, two advertising signs on office windows, three laminated paper window decals on windows. Denied were installation of a soft drink machine, a windshield wiper cabinet and a display of automobile accessories.

Angelo Farina's petition for constructing a small addition to his service station at 320 Watertown st., Newton, to enable him to inspect cars during the semi-annual state inspection periods, was voted held.

On a petition by Hugo L. Separini for permission to park passenger cars on land adjoining 706 Beacon st., Newton Centre, Claims and Rules approved parking in one of two lots and denied it in the other.

Approved were two petitions by Herman Johnson, one for change of zone from Business A District to Business B District, land at 671 Saw Mill Brook pkwy., Newton Centre, and in connection with that, permissive use for a filling station in Business A District at that address. At the July 18 hearing on these petitions, Alderman Alan S. Barkin made an appearance as a supporter, and declared that Johnson would make every effort to put up a good looking station.

Other items that were given unanimous committee approval by the Claims and Rules Committee according to Flaschner's report were as follows:

An appropriation of $8999 requested by the Law Department as an additional award to Mona M. Lacey for land and rights taken by board orders in connection with the widening of Winchester and Nahanton sts., Newton Centre, the appropriation to be in addition to the $1 that had been paid to her and Ernest G. Angevine, attorney.

Authorization requested by the city solicitor to pay Marion Ward $2500 as settlement of the case against the city brought by her and George J. Ward as a result of her fall on Washington st., West Newton.

A similar authorization requested by the city solicitor asked for payment of $794.95 to indemnify Alphone M. Gingrass of the Street Department against liability incurred while on duty. Flaschner explained that Gingrass's truck backed into a car, which in turn was pushed into a house. $670.95 of the $794.95 was for damage to the car, and $124 for damage to the house.

Unanimously approved, according to the Flaschner report were petitions by Harry D. and Beatrice Brenner for a change of zone at 77 Walnut st., Newtonville, from Private Residence District to Residence D District, and for permissive use and site plan approval to erect six garden-type apartment buildings containing 36 units at that address. It was the Brenner's wish, Flaschner said, to get out of the greenhouse business at the site because of the difficulty of obtaining labor, and to erect the apartment buildings on the site.

Also given unanimous Claims and Rules approval were two recommendations by the Traffic Commission. One recommended a one-hour parking meter zone on the north side of Austin st., Newtonville, from Walnut st. westerly 340 feet between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., Saturdays included, and a one-hour parking zone on Austin st., south side westerly 1800 feet from Walnut st.

The other recommended installation of meters for one-hour limit on Elm st., West Newton, west side, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. from Washington st., to Border st. Also, installation of parking meters for a one-hour limit on Washington st., north side, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. from Elm st. to Lucas ct.

has been over 30% increase in precautionary incoming report calls to police headquarters from Newton residents and an increase of 50% in the number of residents advising headquarters of the closing of homes during vacation periods.

In my opinion," Mayor Basbas continued," this is a definite indication of the increased understanding of the services available and offered by our police department and its personnel. As I have stated in my message in the "Guardian" booklet, Newton has one of the finest police organizations in the country and we have every reason to be proud of Chief Purcell and his men. Read our crime prevention booklet, keep it handy for ready reference. Help your Police Department to help protect You!"

Many phone calls and letters of appreciation have been received by Police Chief Purcell since the distribution of the Crime Prevention booklet, to Newton citizens.

Following are excerpts from a few of the numerous writen and telephone messages and notes addressed to Police Headquarters:

". . . thank you for the good advice contained in your booklet, "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare." The fine protection provided by your force is something we tend to take for granted, but I take this opportunity to express gratitude for that also."

". . . while your tips on how to cooperate with the police are valuable, I find that part of the booklet where you list the personnel also impressive. All of us who reside in Newton have reason to be proud of your organization."

". . . it is most reassuring in a period of increasing rate of crime to know that our law enforcement officers are alert to the situation and are organized to maintain control of the situation."

". . . congratulations to the Newton Police Department on your booklet. I suggest that an outline of the contents of the booklet be made and explained to a segment of our school children for their own information and for dissemination in the homes of our community."

". . . have just read the little police booklet with great interest and want to tell you that I think it is just great. Thank you very much for it."

". . . take this opportunity to congratulate you on the excellence of your recently published booklet "Guardians of Your Property and Welfare." Both my husband and I feel that this booklet has helped a great deal to promote a better understanding between the Police Department and the public."

". . . recently one of your officers delivered to our home the interesting, constructive and helpful booklet entitled "Guardians." I am sure it will be well received by all Newton citizens as it is full of helpful suggestions which will make it more difficult for criminals to operate.

". . . want to express my appreciation to the Mayor and your department for a job well done and most timely."

". . . Newton is to be congratulated on having city officials such as Mayor Basbas and Chief Purcell who have the interest of the city residents sufficiently at heart to prepare and publish a booklet such as "Guardians." The information in the booklet is just what we need to enable us to help the police department to look out for and protect us in this day and age."

Newton Sealer Chairs Confab

Chairmanship of the 52nd National Conference on Weights and Measures has been bestowed upon Newton's Sealer of Weights and Measures, J. Ellis Bowen.

An employee of the City since 1936, Sealer Bowen has held his current position for 17 years.

Nearly 400 delegates attended the conference in Denver, Colo., as state, county and municipal officials charged with the responsibility for the enforcement of laws and regulations relating to the accuracy of quantity determinations of commodities and services in all commerce and trade.

A native of Newton, Sealer Bowen is a graduate of Boston University, The American Institute of Banking and was graduated cum laude from Suffolk University Law School.

He is a member of both the Massachusetts and Federal Bars, a past president of the Massachusetts Weights and Measures Association and founder and past editor of that organization's professional News Letter. He is also a past chairman of the standing committee on education of the National Conference of Weights and Measures and a past vice chairman of that conference.

Sealer and Mrs. Bowen also attended a three day New York State Weights and

PHILANTHROPISTS — Dr. and Mrs. Albert V. Danielson pose with Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis University (right), in connection with the Wellesley Hills couple's gift that, in the words of Dr. Sachar, "will greatly expand vitally needed Protestant programs on the campus for the decade to come."

Fund For Protestant Affairs At Brandeis Underwritten

A fund for Protestant activity at Brandeis University, effective for the 1966-67 academic year, has been underwritten by Dr. Albert V. Danielson of Wellesley Hills.

The many benefactions over the years by Dr. and Mrs. Danielson have included Newton-Wellesley Hospital Psychiatric Out-Patient Clinic, Andover-Newton Theological Seminary, Salvation Army, Morgan Memorial Good Will Industries, and a great many others.

Dr. Danielson, who conceives his gift as "a clarion call to American Protestantism to greatly increase its support of Brandeis' Protestant chapel," has, in addition to underwriting the fund for a year, made a major contribution toward an endowment that will permit additional Protestant activity on the campus.

He will also serve as co-chairman of a national committee, now being formed, which, in the next few months, will seek to augment his gift with sufficient funds to realize fully the entire program.

Among the needs and new programs with which the Danielsen Fund, when fully augmented, will eventually be concerned are: ultimate provision for a full-time Protestant Chaplain and his staff; a Sunday Interdenominational Pulpit to which well known clergymen and prominent laymen of diverse denominations will be invited regularly throughout the academic year; a Protestant Visitor's Program, which will bring renowned religious thinkers to the campus for two or three-day visits; and improved publications.

The Fund will also provide for importation of new forms of worship and inspiration, such as liturgical dance groups, famed Protestant church choirs and other musical groups; greater involvement of the Protestant Chapel in constructive student social programs, especially those related to the needs of nearby communities; enlarged interchapel relationships for Brandeis' Three Chapels; ad hoc institutes on significant topics; and liaison with some of the major theological schools.

In addition, a "Friends of the Harlan Chapel" (Brandeis' Protestant Chapel) committee will be formed. The committee, which will be chaired initially by Dr. Danielsen, will assist and counsel with the Protestant chaplain in meeting the anticipated heightened level of activity.

Discussing Dr. Danielsen's gift, President Sachar said that it "will give initial impetus and serve as a prophetic, substantial, and activating force.

"It is a marvelous tribute to the wisdom, vision and generosity of Dr. Danielsen and his wife that this inspiring endowment has been made possible at such a timely moment.

"I was most impressed," Dr. Sachar said, "when Mrs. Danielsen, in our conversations, remarked about how privileged she and her husband were to live at the right time and to be in a position to foster such a useful and imperative program at Brandeis."

Two-Year Hitch To Be Ended

Gunnery Sgt. Leonard W. Horgan of the Marine Corps recruiting office for this area, announces that word has come from Washington, D.C., that as of next October applications for the Corps' two-year enlistment program will no longer be accepted, and there will be only enlistments for three and four years.

However, says Sgt. Horgan, interested applicants can still enlist under the 120-day delay program and be assured of the two-year enlistment and be able to report for active duty on the date they desire.

For more information on this, and other Marine Corps matters, call 893-3443.

John Bouchard As Commander

The "Retreads," an honor society of veterans who served honorably in the U.S. Armed Forces in World War I and again in World War II, elected John E. Bouchard, 235 Tremont St., Newton, as commander of the Capt. Thomas R. Healey (MC) USNR, Hut No. 1, Department of Massachusetts, for 1966-67.

Bouchard is a past commander of the DAV and an active member of the local William J. Farrell Chapter, which he now serves as historian. He is also chairman of the Department of Massachusetts Recreational Area Program Committee, having been appointed recently by State Commander J. Edward Theriault of Newton.

Senior Electronics Do-It-Yourselfers

Electro Eng. Ready to move up to project management level, with significant experience in Radar, TV, or Video Circuits, is needed for a key position at Image. Seven or so years of experience sounds about right. Before applying, ask yourself these questions:

Are you willing to accept the challenge and responsibility of getting it done?
Can you exempt a plan of attack in your mind, and then spend a few months turning it into Reality?
Do you have attitudes of a professional?

Product involves new application of storage tube systems used as scan converters for display.

RD Technician to work as associate to Senior Engineers in Development, Bread Boarding, and Testing of one-of-a-kind equipment. It takes a man with patience, with stick-to-it attitudes, with interest in making a "First of this, and a First of that." You probably need 10 years experience, several of which were spent in similar assignments.

Image Instruments is a small company, offering all the excitement, challenge, and opportunities that good small companies offer. We have a steady rate of in-coming orders, and the biggest back-log in our history.

New Mexico's Las Vegas Is So Different

By ROBERT E. HUBER
United Press International

LAS VEGAS, N. M. (UPI) — They don't allow gambling and bare-breasted dancing girls in THIS Las Vegas, but what is offered fills the bill for Southwest history buffs.

Located about 60 miles east of Santa Fee, New Mexico's Las Vegas has one of the most colorful pasts of any city in the West.

—Gen. Stephen Kearney took over New Mexico in 1846 by reading a proclamation from a rooftop near the Las Vegas Plaza.

—This Vegas was called the "End of the Trail" for many years by travelers on the old Santa Fe Trail from Missouri.

—A mammoth cattle center, the town also was called the City of Seven Banks. Most of the New Mexico cattle commerce was handled here.

—A stopping off place on the old cattle trail to Colorado, Las Vegas figured in the Lincoln County War, which starred Billy the Kid Bonney.

—In the 1880s, this city became a major rail junction for cattle being shipped to Abilene, Kan., and Chicago. All trails led to Las Vegas.

Today, Las Vegas is really two cities in one — Old Town on the west bank of the Gallinas River, and the city of Las Vegas on the east bank. Operated independently, both communities are as different as the new and the old in New Mexico's colorful history.

Old Town is filled with mementoes of a bygone era—houses made of adobe mud, stone, and wood, streets narrow and winding. In the center of Old Town is the plaza, the traditional square in old Spanish villages of New Mexico.

Modern, Too

The City has wide streets, a modern downtown section and suburban districts with modern homes. Highlands University in the city covers a dozen acres.

Las Vegas' most colorful history began chiefly during the days of the Old Santa Fe Trail. First mule teams and later covered freight wagons made their way from Missouri across the "Big Dry" to Las Vegas. Then it was back over the trail with goods traded both in Las Vegas and Santa Fe.

Ruts from the thousands of covered wagons that passed over the Santa Fe trail can still be seen on a windswept hill overlooking the city. The old trail was used less than 80 years ago.

The ruins of nearby Fort Union, where troops from Colorado were mustered during the Civil War to drive Texas troops from New Mexico, attracts visitors by the thousands. The fort provided Las Vegas with some of its most rollicking Western life.

Spanish grandees rubbed elbows with some of the Territory's roughest hombres — gunmen and gamblers — when the fort brought a lift to the local frontier economy.

Las Vegas was settled originally almost 200 years before the first Yankee stepped onto the Santa Fe Trail. Spanish colonists spread into the area from the colonies along the Rio Grande.

Las Vegas like so many New Mexico cities, is a surprise to most travellers across the state. For history buffs, it's a gold mine.

Daisy Growth

Los Angeles — Luther Burbank produced the Shasta daisy in eight years by cross-pollinating three varieties of the plant, two English and one Japanese.

More Women Gallop Ahead In Many Stable Situations

By LINDA EAGLE
United Press International

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— The stable area of the racetrack used to be a man's world but the gals are rapidly gaining.

Women trainers, exercise girls and grooms are becoming plentiful in the once masculine task of preparing horses for the betting public.

In 1964, more than 170 women trainers in the country saddled 441 winners and in 1965, 228 women trained 601 winners.

"I predict that in five years, 50 per cent of the exercisers will be girls," he said.

There are plenty of good reasons for the increase in powder puffs and skirts around the race track, said Swearer.

"Women are better with horses than men," he said. "When a horse gets temperamental with me I want to fight him back but a woman will pet and pamper him, give him an apple or sugar and gain his confidence."

There are other reasons.

"We also have trouble with winos around the track but you can always depend on the girls to get the job done," he said.

H. C. Engler, owner and trainer, thinks women are an asset on the backstretch.

"They can do the work as well as the boys and they're a whole lot easier to look at," he said.

Two good examlpes are Dottie Nuehauser, 22, of Scottsburg, Ind., and Mary "Rusty" LeMay, 23, of Lexington, Ky.

Both girls work at Miles park as exercisers and grooms and have definitely decided on careers as horse trainers.

Miss Neuhauser, a willowy blonde, went to a school for beauticians for a year before deciding to join the horsey set.

"Although I've wanted to be a trainer for as long as I can remember I just happened onto this job," she said. "I came to the track with a friend one day, rode a horse around the paddock and I've been here ever since."

Miss LeMay, a slender green-eyed brunette, attended the University of Kentucky for a year before deciding she wanted to be a trainer. She got her start walking horses around Lexington area horse farms.

Both girls agree that the job restricts their social life.

"We have to get up about four and sometimes don't finish until seven," Rusty said.

Horace Wade, vice-president and general manager of Miles Park, is right in step with the trend toward more feminine personnel on the backstretch. He plans a Powder Puff Derby with only women jockeys in the near future such as the one held at Pimlico Race track.

Loretto-Hilton Is Not A Hotel

St. LOUIS (UPI) — A call by two nuns on hotel man Conrad N. Hilton in 1942 resulted in the building of a $1.9 million structure on the campus of Webster College.

Hilton, a long-time friend of the Sisters of Loretto, who operate the college and taught him as a boy, pledged to raise or give the money for the project.

The building, called the Loretto-Hilton Center for the performing Arts, was completed this year, and Hilton flew to St. Louis for dedication ceremonies and to see the two sisters who now hold down new jobs.

Trespasser Blamed For Local Fire

A "trespasser" was blamed today for the fire that damaged the Orr Building, 259 Walnut st. at the corner of Washington st., Newtonville, at 2:44 a. m. last Sunday.

Following an investigation , the State Fire Marshal's office said "careless use of matches or smoking material by an unidentified trespasser" caused the fire in the cellar of the building. The blaze damaged the walls, ceiling, studding and wiring and caused solder to melt in water pipe joints, flooding the cellar.

Investigators said the trespasser entered the premises sometime between 1 and 2:44 a. m. when the fire was spotted by Patrolman Richard J. Braceland who sounded the alarm from Box 23. The trespasser's method of entry was not determined.

The blaze damaged the basements of the Blue Bell Restaurant, 261 Walnut st., and Dooley's Drug Store, 837 Washington st. In addition, the second floor offices of State Rep. Paul F. Malloy and the F. A. B. Realty Co. were damaged by smoke.

Engines 1, 2, 5 and Ladders 1, 3 responded under the direction of Asst. Fire Chiefs Henry L. Murphy and Charles W. Cassidy.

Friemen had to break down the front door of Dooley's to fight the fire. The drug store has been closed for some time due to the illness of Mr. Dooley.

Other businesses continued normal operations Monday.

Newton Models To Take Part In Boston Show

Judith Van Why, 38 Elm street, and Janet Burroughs, 23 Cappy circle, both of West Newton, are among the professional models who will appear at the First Annual Teen Scene Fair, to be held at Boston's War Memorial Auditorium August 3-7. They will show latest teenager styles at Gilchrist's Eighth Annual Fashion Hop, a feature of the Fair, to be presented on Thursday, August 4.

Miss Van Why and Miss Burroughs are registered models with the Hart Agency in Boston.

Designed as a "summer holiday" for teenagers, the Teen Scene Fair will feature numerous teenage music groups, a "Miss American Teenager of Massachusetts" contest, and several hundred exhibits of products and services of interest to teenagers.

When a story arrives at a newspaper's desk carrying some local significance or personality it is characterized as having a "local angle."

Somehow, the routine derivation doesn't seem to apply to the story of The New Pandoras, sensational young all-girl rock 'n roll combo, although one of its talented members is a Newton High school graduate, Miss Elyse Thierry.

This Newton "angle" which we prefer to recognize as a curve was a member of the Class of 1966 at Newton High School.

A recent recruit to the New Pandoras, Miss Thierry joins curvaceous colleagues, Michell Martuis, of Wenham, lead guitar; Kathy Kinsella, Scarsdale, N.Y.. rhythm and Nanci DiMuro, Winthrop, drums. Elyse Thierry plays the bass guitar.

All the musical lassies are 18 years of age and high school graaduates except Miss Kinsella who is 21, a graduate of Simmons College who plans to be an English teacher.

She joined the band about a year ago and has had the thrilling experience of playing with the group in a number of top ranking spots, the most recent being that Mecca of the entertainment world, the Sahara at Lake Tahoe, Nevada.

The girls are now home taking a well earned but brief vacation. The New Pandoras begin soon on their first big record which is expected to be released in the early fall. They also expect to make some appearances on the Cape, with television also in mind.

They played to large and enthusiastic audiences in Puerto Rico and the Harvard Club.

Miss Thierry informed The Graphic that the girls had just completed a five weeks engagement at The Sahara and were asked to remain on the Del Webb circuit; they came back East and home to prepare for the record making. Incidentally, they are booked solidly until January.

While at the Sahara, they shared billing with such notables as Henry Mancini, the New Christy Minstrels, the Kingston Trio and Mrs. Miller.

The Newton girl was happy to announce that the group was very well received at Tahoe, which surprised some because the girls are a Pop group performing amidst the refined and elegant atmosphere for which the Sahara is noted. The New Pandoras are the original all-girl band with collegiate image.

However, the Newton girl doesn't anticipate a career in the entertainment field. As she puts it, "I don't plan to be a gray-haired Pandora."

With this in mind, she is taking a musical sabbatical from books and classes but with pretty eyes set ahead on entering Boston University's School of Fine and Applied Arts.

$34,500 In Appropriations Approved By Ald'men Here

The Newton Board of Aldermen unanimously approved $34,500 in appropriations under the Betterment Act at their regular Monday night meeting.

Approved was an appropriation of $10,000 for acceptance of Intervale road, from Edge Hill road to Hobart road, and $24,500 for acceptance of Edge Hill road, from Hammondswood road to Intervale road, Chestnut Hill.

Also okayed was a recommendation of the Director of Public Works that the assessment relating to betterment streets be changed from $8 per front foot to $10, in connection with the change from concrete to granite curbing.

Action on Street Traffic Committee recommendations was as follows:

Denial, on recommendation of the Street Traffic Commission, of a petition by Carl P. Peterson for eliminating all heavy trucking on Centre street.

Approval of Traffic Commission recommendations as follows:

No parking on Homer street, Newton Centre, north side, from 25 feet east of the east drive to 25 feet west to City Hall entrance from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and also on the south side of Homer street from 25 feet east of the exit to 25 feet west of the entrance to the municipal parking area. The intention is to make better access and egress to City Hall.

No parking on the north side of California street near Victory Field, from the Dalby street crosswalk easterly 25 feet.

A Traffic Commission-approved request of Alderman Paul J. Burke that Warren avenue, West Newton, be made a one-way street from south to north.

Another Traffic Commission-approved petition of Mario Piantedosi, transmitted by Alderman William P. Matthews, requesting no parking, etiher side of Sheridan street, West Newton, from the intersection of River street to a point 100 feet northerly of the intersection.

Teen Cookout Makes Big Hit At Burr Park

Major feature of Teenage Week at Burr Park was a cook out planned by the playground's younger element.

Under the guidance of Constance Ober, Paul Graves, Brian Tuohy and Judith Greeley, instructors, the youngsters had three grills in simultaneous operation.

The grills were contributed by Mary Beth Donnellan, Suzanne Conboy and Mary Young. The youngsters brought their own food.

Among the guests were Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney and District Supervisor Robert Doherty.

Stephen Stutz provided considerable help during the afternoon, and the main contributors of foodstuffs were Betsy Boudreau, Susan Eilbar, Terry and Ronnie McCarthy, Dianne Smith, Theresa and Mary Young, William Kelley, Alan DiPietro, and Richie and Nancy Conboy.

Dr. Ross Cannon Will Preach At Union Service

The Rev. Ross Cannon, minister of the Second Congregational Church in Newton (United Church of Christ), will preach next Sunday, Aug. 7, at the Newton Union Summer Service at 10 o'clock, in the First Uniatrian Society, Washington St., West Newton.

Mr. Cannon has been minister of the Second Church since 1954. He has been president of the Kobe College Corporation; visited Japan in 1950, and made a trip around the world visiting missions in 1962.

He is on the Pacific Area Committee, United Church Board for World Ministries, is president of the board of trustees at the Walker Missionary Home, vice president of the City Missionary Society in Boston, and a director of the Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply.

During the week of Aug. 5 through 11, Dr. Cannon will be on call for pastoral care for the churches cooperating in the Union Sunday Service. He may be reached at BI4-2690.

Newton Schools Team Members Named In METCO Program Here

The Massachusetts House and Senate has approved legislation allowing the $259,000 grant voted by the Federal government to be used by the seven communities cooperating in the METCO program of Negro youngsters from Boston to suburban schools this fall. This announcement came from Mrs. Hubert Jones of West Newton, chairman of the Newton METCO Coordinating Committee.

A committee composed of Mrs. Jones, Newton School Superintendent Dr. Charles E. Brown, Assistant Superintendent Edward Landy, and Mrs. Thomas A. Morris, chairman of the Newton Friends of METCO, a sub-committee responsible for helping to find the second homes, met in June with the principals of the seven Newton schools involved in the METCO program to discuss with representatives of the METCO staff what would be the best possible means of involving the Roxbury youngsters in the Newton METCO program.

With these guidelines established the principals of each school then met as a team with a social worker and a Negro liaison parent to discuss informally with interested parents what the direct involvement of a METCO Friend would be.

These three member teams of each school then selected the second home of families. Some of the families have already been notified of their selection. Other principals are waiting until the placement of particular Roxbury children is made later this month before notifying the METCO Friends.

Mrs. Jones feels that because of the close affiliation and co-operation between the Newton School Administrators, Dr. Brown and Assistant Superintendents J. Bernard Everett and Edward Landy as well as the school principals involved, that Newton is well ahead of the other communities in implement of plans for the METCO program.

Mrs. Jones has already been invited as chairman of the Newton METCO Coordinating Committee to visit several of the other suburban communities involved as an adviser.

As soon as the final placement of Roxbury youngsters in their Newton schools and second homes is completed late this month, Dr. Brown will send a welcoming letter to each parent and child involved in the program. The individual principals will then be in direct communication with the Roxbury families. In cooperation with the Friends of METCO, each principal will plan a visiting day immediately before school opening at which the Roxbury parents and children will meet at the Newton school with the teachers, principals and METCO Friends and their children.

If any Roxbury parents feel that they would like to have questions answered before the visiting day, the METCO office in Roxbury will be open and the Newton school principals will be available to meet there with parents.

Mrs. Jones feels that this close cooperation between METCO staff members Mrs. Ruth Batson and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and the Newton school administration has been invaluable in getting the Newton METCO program well on its way.

Spaulding — Miss Punch, principal; Mrs. Monroe Green, social worker; Mrs. Alvin Fortune, liaison parent.

Claflin — Mrs. Howard, principal; Mrs. Marvin Schpeiser, social worker; Mrs. Shirley Ericson, liaison parent.

Hyde — Mr. Laughland, principal; Mrs. Gershon Rosenblum, social worker; Mrs. James King, liaison parent.

Williams — Mr. Tefft, principal; Mrs. Bernard Lown, social worker; Mrs. William Ramsey, liaison parent.

3 Playgrounds Hold Carnival To Assist Fund

Last Wednesday afternoon, Newton Highlands playground, in conjunction with Weeks and Thompsonville playgrounds, held their annual carnival. The carnival, under the leadership of Susan Walton, Sandra Friedman, Steve Pollins, Nancy Bean, Thomas Vereker, and Patty Nesson, provided an opportunity for the youngsters to raise money for the Jimmy Fund. $40 was realized.

The carnival featured a variety of games, ranging from fortune-telling to the countless number of sponges thrown at good sport Steve Pollins, playground instructor at the Highlands, in the sponge-throwing contest. The food stand, was one of the more popular spots. Other games included the golf putt, and a penny pitch, a bowling game, and the squirting out candle with a water gun.

Prizes were donated by the merchants of Newton Highlands and pizzas, donated by Tony's Italian Villa, were raffled off at the end of the afternoon.

Drs. Cohen And Swartz Leaders In Their Fields

Two Newton physicians from Boston University Medical Center have assumed leadership of professional organizations in their respective fields.

They are Dr. Alan S. Cohen, Associate Professor of Medicine, of 54 Winston Rd., Newton Centre, and Dr. Jacob Swartz, Associate Professor of Psychiatry, of 18 Varick Rd., Waban.

Dr. Cohen has been elected president of the England Rheumatism Society for 1966-67. The organization, which is active throughout northern New England with members in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, as well as Massachusetts, concerns itself with a broad range of aspects of arthritis and the connective tissue diseases. Dr. Cohen directs the Medical Center's Arthritis and Connective Disease Section.

Dr. Swartz is the new president-elect of the Northern New England District Branch of the American Psychiatric Association. He directs the Center's Psychiatry Clinic.

Located in Boston's South End, Boston University Medical Center was formed in 1962, and integrates the activities of Boston University Schools of Medicine and Graduate Dentistry, and University Hospital (formerly Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals).

The Center embarked last year on an ambitious $56 million development plan over a ten-year period, and will soon construct a new classroom building for the School of Medicine, an additional three floors on the Medical Research Building to house an Institue of Developmental Biology, and a new School of Graduate Dentistry.

Money Voted For City Hall Phone Service

The Board of Aldermen voted Monday night an appropriation of $900 to improve City Hall telephone service by the addition of five new lines. The money covers cost of installation and monthly charges for the balance of this year.

The roll-call vote was 18 to 2, with four absent. Aldermen Adelaide B. Ball and John P. Nixon were the dissenters. The absentees: Harry H. Ham Jr., Jason Sacks, Charles F. Hovey and Jack M. Roberts.

It was the decision of President Wendell R. Bauckman to record Ham as absent in all roll calls pending the vote on acceptance of his resignation from the Board.

POET ON THE AIR — Newton born poet Anne Sexton read her own works "USA; Poetry," on Channel 2 last Monday, August 1st and will be repeated tomorrow Friday, August 5th at 7 pm. Among the poems she reads is "Self in 1953" a poem which did much to advance her career. "USA: Poetry — Anne Sexton" is being seen across the country on National Educational Television.

300 Will Be Interviewed On Problems

A survey designed to provide an understanding of community attitudes and needs in Newton began this week and 300 residents of the city will be interviewed.

Students working in the Newton College Work-study program are conducting the survey to find out the views of citizens on Newton's problems and needs.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas said that the citizens picked for interviews were selected by "random method scientifically" so that the chance of any citizen to be selected was equal. The entire individual interview takes about 20 minutes.

The survey directors, Peter Gourevitch and Victor Emanuel, teaching fellows in government and tutors at Adams House, Harvard University, emphasized to the students the importance of obtaining interviews from all citizens whose names were selected.

"The entire value of this project depends on our success in obtaining full cooperation from those citizens who have been selected," Emanuel said. "The answers to the questions are strictly confidential and individual responses will not be disclosed."

All students working in the Newton College Work-study program attend New England colleges. Their work helps them earn money to meet college expenses and trains them in research techniques.

Cadet Aims At AF Commission

Cadet Frederick N. Sadow, son of Mrs. Eva R. Sadow, 40 Judith road, Newton Centre, has completed the USAF Reserve Officers Training Corps summer encampment at Loring AFB, Me.

He took an active part in flying and support phases of operations during the month-long period.

A member of the AFROTC at the University of Massachusetts, he will be eligible for a commission as an Air Force second lieutenant on graduation and completion of training.

He is a 1962 graduate of Newton High School.

ARTISTS AND THEIR WORKS — Sam and Sophina Coty, Newtonville artists, surrounded by the variety and originality of their creative endeavors. The Cotys are now showing an unusual display of family art at their gallery in Rockport.

Newton Family Of Artists In Rockport Gallery Show

The creations of Newton's unusual family of artists, Sam and Sophina Coty and their daughter Deena, now Mrs. Phillipe DesRioux of Paris, France, are currently on display at the Coty Gallery on Tuna Wharf, Motif No. 2, Bearskin Neck, Rockport, Mass.

Visitors will see the unusual paintings of Sam and Sophina Coty, the art works of their daughter, Deena, and will meet their son, Brett, a sophomore at New York University.

The decor at the Coty Gallery, combining the past with the present, has been carefully planned. The original beams of the seventy-five year old fisherman's shack enhance the atmosphere, in direct contrast with modern walnut-stained walls.

Sam Coty's obvious versatility enables him to paint with ease whether it is his seascapes, landscapes or his clown paintings. In his seascapes, Mr. Coty vividly portrays the ever-changing moods of the ocean.

His work has color, depth and a powerful realism whether the canvas pictures an early morning sunrise; a warm and colorful sunset; or the mysterious beauty of moonlight over the water.

In the paintings of his sea gulls, one is impressed by the grace and dignity of the birds, whether they are still, poised for flight or in motion.

His clown paintings live. The character studies in these are so real that the observer actually feels the emotions, and is sad or gay or serious with these circus jesters. This group, as Mr. Coty has characterized them, has a strong appeal for all ages.

Sophina Coty, an expressionistic painter, shows individual and distinctive creativity in her canvasses. In the intensity of feeling with which she paints, one recognizes her love of both people and nature. In her character studies, the subjects are symbolic of the emotions of mankind.

Looking, for example, at a self-styled philosopher, one can probe into the very depths of the joys and sorrows experienced by a human being during an entire lifetime.

One easily feels Mrs. Coty's depth of emotion in her depiction of trees, their moods and their surroundings. In the very rhythm of their branches, the subtle tones and the texture of the bark, she shows a strength and vitality in her pallette knife applications.

Also being shown are black and white lithographic prints of various Cape Ann scenes; and full color reproductions of "Twin Rocks" by Sam Coty and "First Born" by Sophina Coty.

In addition to the paintings, Mrs. Coty has on display a collection of her original and distinctive jewelry; made from her Sophite Gem; the beauty of which is in its texture and scintillating colors.

The Coty family are winter residents of Newtonville, although their gallery in Rockport is open to the public through the Fall months as well as during late Spring and all of the summer season.

The Cotys, Sam and Sophina, have won awards for their art works and are members of many professional associations. They have had several one-man shows; exhibits at many major art museums; and are represented through their paintings in private collections both in the United States and in Europe.

Parking Lot Lease Voted

An appropriation of $760 from parking meter receipts was voted Monday night by the Alderman for the leasing of an off-street parking area for Newton Corner shoppers.

The lot, at 243-259 Washington street and 302-310 Centre street, will have 63 spaces.

The lease, negotiated by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, is a three-year contract effective Aug. 15 for $2000 per year.

In order to curb and hot-top the lots, a later appropriation of approximately $10,000 will have to be made.

End Infantry Training

Army Privates William S. Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon C. Donald, 12 Barnes road, Newton, and Paul J. Erwin, whose wife, Leyla, lives at 84 Walker street, Newtonville, have completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

They were given specialized instruction in small unit tactics and in firing such weapons as the M-14 rifle, the M-60 machine gun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

Training Courses Popular

Mrs. Ann D. Harvey, manager of the Division of Employment Security Office located at 290 Centre Street, Newton, reports an enthusiastic response to the three courses of training presently being sponsored by the Newton office of the Division.

For men, the biggest demand in the area is for those able to operate the various machines in a machine shop and to do arc welding. Both of these skills are in demand in a peace-time economy but they are especially critical considering the Vietnam situation.

Any man taking training in machine operating or arc welding can rest assured he is backing up our fighting forces in Vietnam by helping manufacture the supplies and equipment they need so desperately.

For women the office offers training in typing, either a refresher course to update rusty skills or a basic course to learn typing from the beginning. This skill is a springboard to getting a start in office work. The first question a prospective employer asks an applicant is "Can you type?"

Having this skill does not necessarily mean that the applicant will type all day. Any office job covers a variety of clerical tasks but typing is the key that unlocks the door to opportunity, according to Employment Security officials.

The Manpower Development and Training Act offers an opportunity for those who did not get their full quota of education to remedy the deficit. Basic education (reading, writing and arithmetic) courses are now available in East Boston for both young and old.

Other training courses include training for Baker in Boston, custodian handyman in East Boston, cutter, boot and shoe in Lynn, dry cleaner in Stoneham, electrical appliance serviceman in East Boston, nurse aid in Boston, precision sheet metal worker in Lynn and telegraphic typewriter operator in East Boston.

The locations given are the locations of the schools where in each case the training will be given. Transportation to and from the school is paid for under the Act and most trainees also receive training allowances while going to school.

Besides training in the schools, the Manpower Development and Training Act allows for on-the-job training with a company. The Newton office is seeking on-the-job trainees for work as auto mechanic and auto body man.

The program includes training at the employer's place of business plus two evenings a week at a local vocational school.

Transportation will be paid to and from the school. On-the-job training is also being offered in Quincy for pipefitter and shipfitter.

Those interested in any of these opportunities are asked to call the Newton office, WO 9-9470 and an interviewer will be glad to assist.

Plan 2 New Apartment Buildings For Newton

Applications for the right to erect two new apartment buildings in Newton have been filed at City Hall and are awaiting action by the Board of Aldermen.

A 100-foot high apartment structure containing 138 dwelling units would be built at 2120 Washington street in Newton Upper Falls if the petitions of the Construction Finance Corporation of Boston are approved.

Benjamin Fastov of 56 Monadnock road, Chestnut Hill, is seeking authorization to construct a 152-unit apartment building at 280 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill.

Fastov is proposing a building which would not be more than 10 stories or 89 feet in height.

The petition of the Construction Finance Corp. asks the right to put up a building 100 feet in height.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas disclosed recently in a message sent to Newton property-owners with their tax bills that he is making a vigorous effort to encourage the erection of new taxable property in the city.

The mayor made the statement in observing that Newton faces the prospect of tax rate increases in the years immediately ahead unless it receives increased financial

Several City Precincts To Face Changes

Realignment of precincts, which could save the city as much as $2400 in a presidential election year, is under consideration by the Newton Board of Aldermen.

The Board has taken steps to combine certain precincts as well as change precinct lines in Ward 8. The matter was tabled at the last meeting of the full Board but will be acted on at the next meeting Aug. 22.

Reason for the change is that several of the precincts are top-heavy with registered voters, especially Precincts 1 and 2 in Ward 8. Under the law, the aldermen must, if a precinct has over 2000 registered voters, realign the precinct before the first Monday in October.

Under the proposed changes, $800 may be saved in each election or a possible $2400 in a presidential year, when there are three elections.

Deadline Nears For Voter Registrations

This is the last week in which Newton residents planning to register as voters may do so in order to be eligible to ballot in the Sept. 13 primary.

The deadline for the registration of voters for the September primary is 10 p.m. this Saturday (Aug. 13).

It is also the last day on which persons desiring to change or cancel their party enrollment may do so in order to have the change effective for the primary.

The election offices at City Hall will be open from noon until 10 p.m. on Saturday to accomodate those who put off the matter of registering as voters until the final day.

The election offices also will be open for the same purpose from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Anyone who is not registered as a voter at 10 p.m. Saturday will be unable to cast a ballot in the September primary.

Young men and women not yet 21 but who will celebrate their 21st birthday on or before Sept. 13 may register now as voters.

778 Birthday Reminders To Register Now

The Newton League of Women Voters has sent 778 cards to all 21-year-olds in the city, congratulating them on their birthdays.

These cards, however, carry more than mere natal felicitations.

They request the 21-year-old recipients to register to vote at Newton City Hall this week, and remind them the deadline for primary registration is Saturday, August 13th.

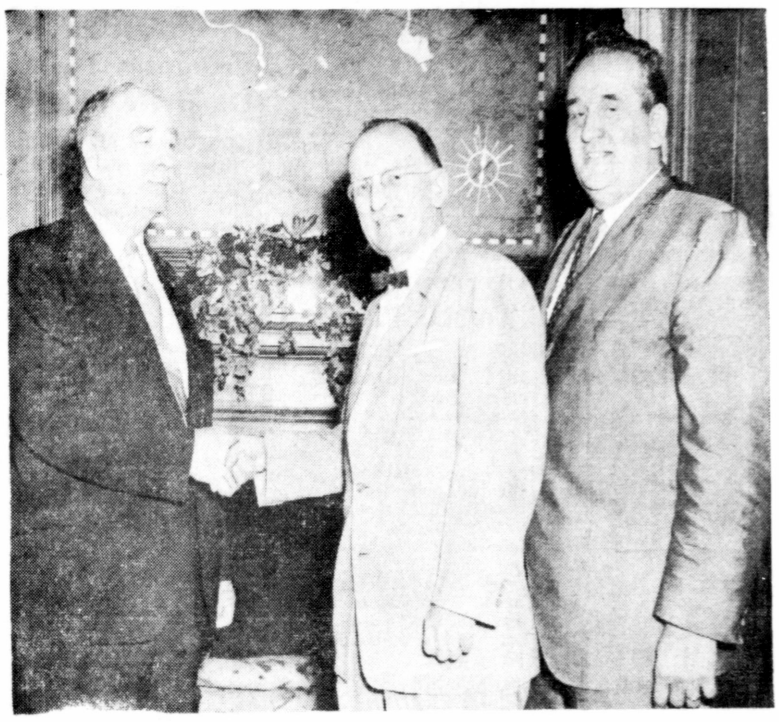

The project of the birthday cards was under the guidance of Mrs. Donald Paulsen, ably assisted by Mrs. Joseph Apelbaum, Mrs. Aaron Blauer, Mrs. Norman Nisenoff, Mrs. Roy Green, Mrs. Norman Cetlin, and Mrs. S. Peter Klapper.

This special group is part of the Voters Service Committee headed by Mrs. John Hasenfus, with Mrs. Saul Shapiro as Vice-Chairman.

Mrs. Hasenfus stresses an important fact: "Remember that a voter may be Independent and still vote in the Primary.

At that time he will be enrolled in the party of his choice, but may change back to Independent status

Code Enforcement Program Reports On Area 1 Survey

The first annual report on the comprehensive Code Enforcement Program for the City of Newton was released this week.

It contained data on the first application of the program in Code Enforcement Area No. 1 which includes Nonantum, parts of Newton Corner and Newtonville.

The program is planned and instituted with the cooperation of the City Solicitor and assistance from the Planning, Health, Building, Fire and Police Departments.

The program was planned after the employment of the assistant city solicitor for Code Enforcement on January 1, 1965.

Utilizing data obtained in the 1960 Federal Census and the 1962 Community Renewal Survey, the city was divided into seven areas.

The size of each area was scaled to the number of suspected violations in each so that inspection and compliance in each area might reasonably be effected in one year, leaving time available for handling of miscellaneous complaints as rapidly as possible.

A full-time Code Enforcement inspector was engaged

Mayor Sets Up Day School Site Board

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has appointed a 13-member committee to study and recommend a possible site for the proposed new F. A. Day Junior School in Newtonville.

The Mayor moved to set up the new committee at the request of School Superintendent Charles E. Brown who pointed out that the Massachusetts School Building Assistance Commission rejected the Newton school department's plan to erect the new Day Junior High School on the existing site and that a new location must be chosen.

Named to the school study committee by the Mayor were Aldermen William M. Glov-

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Collins in Familiar Role Of Underdog in Senate Race

It is gradually becoming apparent that Boston Mayor John F. Collins is the underdog in the fight he is waging with ex-Governor Endicott Peabody for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

This is not a new role for Collins. He has been the underdog in every major campaign he has waged except one.

Collins usually has managed to come from behind to win when the odds seemed heavily against him.

That was what he did when he scored his stunning upset victory over John E. Powers in Boston's 1959 mayoralty election.

It was what he did in 1955 when he won a place in the Boston City Council while he was on a hospital

NO DRUGS IN TEXAS SLAYER'S BODY

THE TEXAS Public Safety Dept. Wednesday found no alcohol or drugs in the blood of mass murderer Charles Whitman who shot to death 14 persons from atop the U. of Texas tower Aug. 1.

Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana said the official lab report would be handed over to the Travis County grand jury Thursday and that a copy would be sent to the M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston, to become part of the huge investigation into Whitman's background ordered by Gov. John Connelly.

CHICAGO MARCHERS IGNORE PRELATE'S PLEA

CIVIL RIGHTS demonstrators Wednesday ignored pleas from Chicago's Roman Catholic Archbishop Cody and civic leaders to end their open housing marches and carried their protest into the city's Loop district.

The march to the Chicago Real Estate Board was unannounced and caught newsmen and police by surprise.

Rev. James Bevel, a top aide of Dr. Martin Luther King explained the rejection of Archbishop Cody's appeal for the end of the marches by stating that "the immorality and injustice of racial segregation" called for "our non-violent protests." Bevel urged the archbishop "to use his great influence . . . to stop the racists practices in the real estate profession."

MACHINISTS SNUB AIR PACT BID

THE HOUSE COMMERCE Committee made a last-resort appeal Wednesday for compulsory arbitration of the airline contract dispute, but striking machinists made clear they would not buy the idea.

With that, the committee ended five days of hearings and began private debate of an unpopular Senate-passed bill that would order the machinists back to work on five major airlines for up to 180 days while new mediation efforts are begun.

AFL-CIO President George Meany denounced the legislation as a step "down the road to socialism" and urged Congress to defeat it.

THE UNITED STATES Wednesday sent a flying photo lab dashing toward a planned orbit toward the moon to snap 352 closeup pictures of nine potential landing sites for American astronauts.

It will take the satellite nearly four days to cover the 235,466 miles between the earth and moon, and then it will swoop within 26 miles of the lunar surface to photograph objects as small as card tables.

RIGHTS BILL FACES TOUGH SENATE BILL

PRESIDENT JOHNSON praised the House-passed civil rights bill Wednesday as an important milestone in race relations and called for Senate action "without unnecessary delay."

The measure faces strong opposition from Southerners and Republicans in the Senate, with the possibility of a filibuster.

Johnson said he regretted omissions that House members "gauged were necesary" in the provision to bar discrimination in the rental or sale of housing.

REDS TRICK U.S., 15 ALLIES KILLED

A COMMUNIST guerrilla trick caused a retaliatory bombing strike that killed 15 South Vietnamese civilians and wounded 182 others in a Mekong Delta village, U.S. spokesmen said.

In one of the war's worst tragedies involving civilians, the hamlet of Chau Nhiem was bombed and strafed by two U.S. Air Force super sabre jets.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Communist guerrillas were in Chau Nhiem to propagandize the villagers when the American spotter plan flew over. The Communists fired on the light observation plane, ignoring pleas of villagers. This brought the fatal bombing attack.

WILSON SHAKES UP BRITISH CABINET

In a surprise announcement Wilson reshuffled six cabinet ministers but brought no new faces into his circle of advisers.

ONT. BRIDGE COLLAPSE KILLS SIX

SIX OR MORE persons were killed and nearly 50 injured Wednesday when two spans of a bridge under construction at Ottawa, Ont., collapsed and plunged victims into the Rideau River. Fifteen injured were reported critical.

VOLPE CALLS FOR STADIUM STUDY GROUP

GOV. VOLPE in a special message Wednesday urged the creation of a seven-man legislative committee to study the proposed construction of a multi-million dollar stadium.

In calling for the naming of the commission, the governor sought a study of at least four months, thus dooming all chances of passing a stadium bill this legislative session.

Volpe asked the legislature to appropriate $50,000 for the committee's study. He suggested that the group consist of Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, House Speaker John Davoren, or two persons of their choice, William Sullivan, chairman of the Greater Boston Stadium Authority, and four persons to be selected by the governor. The committee would be required to report to Volpe by Dec. 14.

CARDINAL JOINS IMBALANCE LAW RITE

CARDINAL CUSHING will speak Aug. 18 at a Boston celebration marking the first anniversary of the passage of the Massachusetts racial imbalance law.

The ceremony will be held in All Saints Lutheran Church in the South End at 11 a.m., the hour when Gov. Volpe signed the legislation. Rev. Vernon Carter, pastor of the church, said Cardinal Cushing had accepted the speaking invitation.

$2 BILL DOOMED BY TREASURY DEPT.

GREATER BOSTON residents were dealt a cruel blow by the Treasury Dept. Wednesday. It was decided by Treasury officials that $2 bills will be discontinued.

The rest of the nation could hardly care that the picture of Thomas Jefferson will no longer beam forth from the greenback, for the two-spot has acquired the reputation of being a "jinx" bill. But Greater Boston has had a warm spot in its heart for the deucer, even though many folks hereabouts have been victimized often by forgetful merchants who have handed back change for a buck when a $2 bill was presented.

BEATLES STOP OVER IN BOSTON TODAY

THE BEATLES will be in Boston today, but their only performance may be for U.S. Customs and Public Health officials.

The Beatles were due to arrive at Logan Airport at 12:50 p.m. from London en route to Chicago to begin a 14 city U.S. tour. During the ground stop of less than two hours the arriving passengers were to be cleared through the customs and public health inspections.

Change

The savings would be realized by eliminating election officials such as warden, clerk and four inspectors in each of the precincts eliminated. Also, there would be savings in having fewer police officers to patrol the polling places.

The Newton Election Commission proposed the precinct changes, which are backed by Mayor Monte G. Basbas. The aldermanic committee on precinct lines, headed by Ernest F. Dietz, studied and accepted them, 5 to 0.

Precincts proposed for consolidation are 3 and 5 in Ward 1; and 4 and 5 in Ward 4; and 3 and 4 in Ward 7.

Campers Mark 10th Season At Brimmer and May Event

One-hundred-and-twenty-five campers saluted the flag at ceremonies held recently at Brimmer and May Day Camp in Chestnut Hill.

This is the tenth season and to celebrate, a picture was taken of all campers and counselors who have attended five years or more. There were thirteen of them. Two of them were in the original 35 camper group ten years ago. Jeanne Kaswell as a camper and Herbert Downs as a director.

The original camp opened with a portable pool for the young campers while the olders campers were transported to Lake Ponkapoag in Milton for their swim.

The large swimming pool was constructed the second season and since then a slide has been added for the enjoyment of the swimmers.

Boys and girls locker rooms, showers, swings, seasaws, slides, and three sandboxes as well as an aerial car have been provided for extra comfort and fun for the children.

William Chamberlain, program director for the past four seasons and swimming counselor before that, plans a daily activity program of varied and interesting activities for the 4 to 12 year old campers.

Mr. Downs, who has directed the camp from the start, is vice-president of the New England Day Camp Association and is a past chairman of the New England Day Camp Committee of the American Camping Association.

Brimmer and May Day Camp has been accredited by the American Camping Association and is entitled to display the well known acorn trademark.

First Church To Conduct A Nursery School

Opening of a three-day nursery school is announced by the First Church in Newton.

It will start on Monday, Sept. 12, and be in session three mornings a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock, and will follow the public school calendar year.

Mrs. Joan H. Achorn and Mrs. Lucile Tufts will comprise the teaching staff.

Mrs. Achorn was formerly director of the Highlands Nursery School, and Mrs. Tufts was her assistant.

New Booklet On Arthritis Free To All Patients

Rheumatoid arthritis, one of the most painful and crippling diseases that afflicts mankind and 3,600,000 Americans alone, is the subject of a new booklet, "Rheumatoid Arthritis, A Handbook for Patients," published today by the Arthritis Foundation.

The 20-page booklet explores the important aspects of rheumatoid arthritis and covers the subjects of the chief symptoms of the disease, how it is detected, the various treatments used, the importance of rest and exercise, and the effect of climate and diet.

The booklet is free and may be obtained by writing to Arthritis, Box 2161, Boston.

Northeastern U Promotes Two Local Residents

Two Newton residents, Dr. Kathryn Luttgens and Dr. Eberhard Von Goeler, have received faculty promotions at Northeastern University.

Dr. Luttgens, 44 Barbara rd., West Newton, has been named professor and chairman of physical education at Boston Bouve College. Dr. Von Goeler, 112 Winchester st., Newton Highlands, has been named associate professor of physics.

A member of the Boston Bouve faculty since 1961, Dr. Luttgens received her bachelor's degree from Douglass College, Rutgers University. She holds her masters' degree from Wellesley College and her doctorate from State University of Iowa.

She is chairman of the Professional Education Section of the Eastern District Association of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. She also serves as a member-at-large on the Executive Council of the Physical Education Division.

Dr. Von Goeler, who has been at Northeastern since 1963, studied at Technische Hoschschule Darmstadt and received his doctorate from the University of Illinois.

Author of many articles on elementary particle physics, he was a Fulbright exchange student, 1954-55.

A representative of the Newtonville Improvement Association and two members of the School Committee who have not yet been personally contacted by Mayor Basbas, also will be appointed to the study committee.

Serving as consultants to the study committee will be School Superintendent Charles Brown, Principal Ralph Morse of the Day Junior High, Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney and the president of the F. A. Day PTA.

Faculty

"Dr. Barry has an unusal combination of talents for this post—a successful business background, high educational qualifications and years of teaching experience. I am sure the department will thrive under his direction."

Dr. Barry received his A.B. degree at Harvard, his M.S. from Simmons, and his Sc.D. at Calvin Coolidge College. He has taught at Boston University, Northeastern, Simmons, and Calvin Coolidge.

Before coming to Grover Cronin, he served in an executive capacity with both Filene's, in Boston, and The Hecht Company, in Washington, D.C.

He is also a member of the American Society of Training Directors, the American Association of Clinical Counselors, the National Retail Merchants Association, and is a trustee of Portia Law School. He is married, and the father of two children, both married.

The appointment will not affect his duties at Grover Cronin where he will continue as store manager.

Newton Man Is Graduate Of Sales School

Mr. Peters had completed a 9-months course in professional salesmanship.

The first licensed sales school in Massachusetts, Sales Training of Boston stresses psychological aspects of selling, overcoming objections, positive mental attitudes and proper voice control, among other details of selling. Classes are held nights and weekends for the convenience of employed students.

Young Local Musician On Cliburn Bill

Jay Gondelman, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Gondelman, of 20 Sagamore road, Newton, appeared in concert with the famed pianist Van Cliburn at Interlochen on Saturday, July 30.

Cliburn performed Brahms' "Piano Concerto No. 1" and played and conducted Prokofieff's "Piano Concerto No. 3" in his annual benefit concert at the National Music Camp.

The 136-piece World Youth Symphony Orchestra, in which Jay is a percussionist, accompanied the bushy-haired Texan and also presented Vivaldi's "Concerto Grosso."

Dr. Thor Johnson, conductor of the Chicago Little Symphony and director of the Interlochen Arts Academy, conducted the teen-age orchestra, which is composed of talented young musicians from six foreign countries and 28 states of the union.

Cliburn's performance, was held in the 4,000-seat Kresge Auditorium, and was his seventh appearance at the music camp, the world's oldest and largest.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to accelerate the Dr. Joseph E. Maddy Memorial Fund. The drive has a goal of $25 million to be raised over a five-year period.

The W.Y.S.O. again will perform with Cliburn for the International Society for Music Education conference which will be held for the first time in the western hemisphere at Interlochen, Michigan, Aug. 18-26.

Official Of Owen Motors Wins Cruise

Frank J. Owen of Owen Motors, Dedham, and his wife, have been awarded a seven-day Caribbean cruise aboard the luxury liner S. S. Independence, Frank E. Zimmerman, Jr., Lincoln-Mercury general marketing manager, announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen boarded the Independence in New York August 6 and sailed to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, and San Juan, Puerto Rico. A highlight of the voyage was a presentation of the 1967 Lincoln-Mercury car lines aboard the ship and on the beach at St. Thomas.

Charlotte Amalie, capital of U. S. Virgin Islands, temporarily was transferred into "Cougar City" in honor of the Mercury Cougar, new specialty car to be introduced by Lincoln-Mercury this fall.

Entertainment on the trip was provided by singer Vic Damone and Chris Schenkel, ABC-TV sports personality, was master of ceremonies for the product presentations.

Mr. Owen represented one of 570 Lincoln-Mercury dealerships nationwide which were winners in a "Caribbean Capers" sales contest. Winning dealerships were those which compiled the highest percentage of a January to September sales objective before June 30.

"This was one of the most colorful and exciting events of its type ever staged in the auto industry," Mr. Zimmerman said. "Selection for the Caribbean cruise is testimony to the high level of professional salesmanship demonstrated by the management of Owen Motors of 840 Providence Highway, Dedham, in today's competitive and sophisticated automobile market."

Norwich Names 3 Residents To Dean's List

Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., has announced the names of three students from Newton who attained the Dean's list for the second semester of the college year.

Daniel M. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Carr, 420 Waban Ave., Waban. His father was a 1937 graduate of Norwich. A business administration major at the military college, he was also promoted to Cadet First Lieutenant and Named Executive Officer of MP Company.

Stephen Wentworth, son of Mrs. John Wentworth, 82 Hyde St., Newton Highlands, who was graduated in June and was a Liberal Arts major.

Designated a Gold Star Student was Stephen T. Sonis, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. Richard Sonis, 19 Evelyn Rd., Waban, who will be a senior next fall. A Biology major, he was promoted to Cadet Captain, and named Commanding officer of G. Company.

Anatoly Gritchenko, 47 Kirkstall road, Newtonville, a 1966 graduate of Newton High School, has been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute in Boston.

Waban Chiefs Swamp Red Sox

Millgroom had tossed two innings of no-hit ball in a game the previous Tuesday, so under a league rule which forbids a player to pitch more than seven innings in a calendar week, he had to quit at the end of five Friday.

Joyce J. Gird '69, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Gird, 364 Winchester St., Newton Highlands, was named to the Dean's List for the spring term at Merrimack College, North Andover.

assistance from the State.

He also stressed the importance of encouraging the construction of new tax-producing property in Newton in order to broaden the city's tax base and thus soften the impact of climbing school costs.

The Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee is scheduled to consider the petitions at a meeting to be held Sept. 19 and then to report them to the Board of Aldermen with its recommendations.

The plans of the Construction Finance Corp. call for an apartment building of concrete and masonry construction located on a tract of 98,000 square feet of land.

The site of the structure would be at 2120 Washington street and would also include some land on Agawam road.

Two petitions have been submitted by Construction Finance Corp. One asked that the land be changed from a single residence zone to a business A zone. The second seeks the right to erect a building 100 feet in height.

The Fastov proposal was approved by the Board of Aldermen after an earlier submission but then was opposed in court.

The apartment house contemplated would have a solarium and a deck on the roof. A garage for 25 cars would be installed under the building. Space for an additional 64 automobiles would be provided in a contiguous parking lot.

Another petition which will be considered by the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee on Sept. 19 seeks the right to erect four garden-type apartment buildings containing 34 dwelling units of 121,765 square feet of land on Boylston street.

It was filed by Charles C. Nardone of 20 Ledgewood road, Newton Highlands.

Robert M. Gordon, whose public service includes membership on data processing advisory committees for the Newton public schools, has been appointed as assistant director of the computor facility at the University of California.

State Project Tutors To Be Trained By Community Action, Inc

Among Greater Boston area groups that will benefit from a $141,300 federal grant to Northeastern University and the Commonwealth Service Corps for training master tutors is Newton Community Action, Inc., 313 Washington st., Newton.

Community Action's president is Wallace G. Fletcher, a vocational-technical training expert. Joseph W. Martorana, a retired Air Force Colonel, is its recently appointed director of development.

The funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity are earmarked to improve educational standards in poverty areas throughout the Bay State.

Northeastern and C.S.C. will train 20 master tutors, most of whom will be residents of poverty areas.

Newton Community Action and the other federally-sponsored community action groups will recommend persons from low-income areas to serve as tutors. C.S.C. and Northeastern will do the actual hiring.

The initial group of 20 tutors will in turn train 20 other tutors from poverty areas. As a result, 200 tutors will be trained to provide remedial instruction primarily in reading and writing, to all illiterates, semi-literates, in-school youth, dropouts and preschoolers.

It will be the only project of its kind in the country, according to Dr. Melvin Howards, association professor of education at Northeastern and director of the college's new Center for Educational Development.

An expert on reading instruction and methods of teaching the disadvantaged and illiterate, Dr. Howards prepared the project proposal along with Mrs. Carol B. Liebman, research and development specialist for the C.S.C.

The scope of the project goes beyond the immediate remedial education goal, it is pointed out. Eventually, it is planned that both the master and regular tutors expand their activities to become community organizers in such areas as community action programs, education and recreation, and to work with existing public health and welfare agencies.

John C. Cort, director of C.S.C., labels the program "another step in the Commonwealth Service Corps plan to create new community action roles for non-professionals from low-income communities."

Trained tutors from low-income neighborhoods will be better able to influence the underprivileged to act for community change, the Service Corps feels, then community organizers whose relations to the community is limited to making surveys and recruiting for special programs.

Master tutors to be recruited should be high school graduates, and it is hoped that some will have college training.

After completing four weeks of training at NU in January, the master tutors will be assigned to local community action programs to conduct two-week training courses for the regular tutors recruited from low-income neighborhoods.

It is planned to have master tutors teach 15 hours a week at $2.50 an hour, and the regular tutors will receive $1.75 an hour for 10 hours a week.

The staff at Newton Community Action includes six, some full time and some part time. Col. Martorana, now living in Framingham, has done work with the underprivileged throughout this country and in countries throughout the world.

Theriault Heads Delegates At DAV Convention

Those from this area include Edward Edmunds, past commander; John E. Bouchard, John Volpe, Joseph Maffiola, Etta Twombley, Margaret G. Sharron, Lucille McCarthy, past national commander of the auxiliary, and Alice Theriaults, wife of the state commander.

Pre-Primary Rally Planned By Democrats

A rally for statewide and local candidates in the Sept. 13 primary has been scheduled by the Newton Democratic Committee for Friday, Sept. 9, in Newton High School.

There will be a two-hour period for candidates to present their qualifications, followed by a showing of the documentary film, "The Making of a President—1960."

The rally is being planned by a six-man committee headed by Paul J. King, 57 Ridge Ave., and Dr. Burton D. Levine, 76 Winston Rd., both Newton Centre. Other members are Sam Fisco, Francis M. Fitzpatrick, Sidney T. Small and John L. Vaccaro.

Water Ballet, Games Held At Camp Mary Day

The beach at Nonesuch Pond was transformed into a world of make-believe, last Thursday, when the girls at Camp Mary Day, operated by the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council, put on the Water Show of the season.

The waterfront director is Mrs. David Kendall of West Newton. Assisting her are Miss Penny Colpitts, a water safety instructor, and Miss Anne Vinal of Weston, a senior life saver. Also, on the waterfront is Miss Patricia Clark of Newton Highlands as a water safety aide.

The waterfront theme was carried out in all the skits. The Brownie units acted out the tales of the "Rabbit Who Wanted Red Wings" and "The Ugly Duckling." The girls had made costumes appropriate for each fairy tale.

The Junior unit used the lake as their stage in an adaptation of a well-known tale, entitled especially for this show, "Sinkerella." "How the Elephant Got His Trunk" was also a good story for the water show.

As finale to the program, the swimming instructors and aides had prepared a satire on water ballet.

Playgrounders Aid Jimmy Fund

Children of the Newton High School Playground recently held a Jimmy Fund carnival that produced a good contribution to the good cause.

Among the more popular booths were the white elephant stand run by Peter and Charles Rowland, a food sale organized by Chris Toomey, and raffles by Karen Yanco and Connie Toomey.

Also taking part were Robbie Greene, Robbie Morgan, Lee Ann and Debbie McGonigle, and Marcia Ross.

Thieves

handbag at Sydney Hill Country Club in Chestnut Hill. She said it contained $20 and personal papers.

Wasyl Ridalock, 59 Allen rd., Norwood, said a camera and camera folders, valued at $110, were taken from his car while it was parked at the corner of Beacon st. and Reservoir rd., Chestnut Hill.

A burglar entered the apartment of Ronald Majorell, 41 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, by jimmying a door Monday. Police said nothing was taken or disturbed.

The same day two attempted breaks were reported to police. Frances Adams, 143-C North st., Newtonville, said an attempt was made to enter as jimmy marks were found around the door.

Victor Bennett, 828 Chestnut st., Waban, said he was awakened at 2:30 by the barking of his dog, and believed someone was trying to enter the home. Police said no entrance was gained.

Last Wednesday three incidents of malicious damage and theft from a car were reported to police. Prof. Vahe Sarafian, 130 Dickerman rd., Newton Highlands, told the police the roof of his car was damaged and a raincoat, valued at $30 taken.

Lawrence LeBrun, 505 Walk tham st., West Newton, said the windshield of his car was shattered while it was parked in front of his home. Damage was estimated at $70.

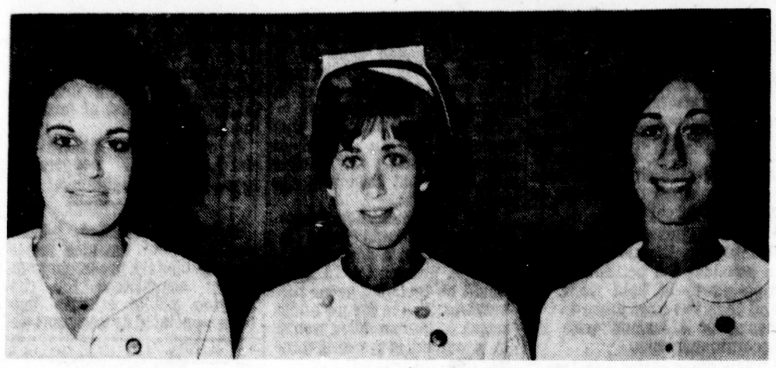

David Fine, 52 Athelstane rd., Newton Centre, owner of the Oak Hill Market, 575-A Boylston st., Chestnut Hill, reported two plate glass windows were broken.

An attempted burglary was nipped at the Newton Highlands home of Boag Sarafian, 130 Dickerman rd., Friday when Sarafian surprised a thief. He fled before police arrived.

That same day Mrs. Gladys Adessky of the Casual Lane Dress Shop, 667 Saw Mill Brook pkwy., reported an attempt was made to enter the shop, because there were jimmy marks on the front door and a rear window was broken.

A burglar invaded the West Newton Shell Service Station, 1200 Commonwealth ave., by breaking a window in the rear of the building. A small safe in the stock room was damaged and lockers were ransacked. Jack Bekarian, the owner, said acid was spilled over clothing in the station, causing $50 damage.

It is what he is undertaking to do now in his contest with Peabody for the right to run as the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator in the November election.

There are definite signs that Collins is now gaining ground and that he will make a strong finish, as he has done in all his political runs.

But as matters exist today, Collins must be rated the underdog—although a very formidable one—and Peabody a slight favorite.

This probably will come as a surprise to many persons familiar with the record Collins has achieved as Mayor of Boston over a period of six and a half years and the one Peabody made during his two years as Governor.

Paradoxically, Peabody appears to be a stronger vote-getter out of office than when he was holding the Governorship.

The passing months have served to dim the recollection that just two years ago Peabody was being assailed as a bungler and bumbler and as irresponsible by Francis X. Bellotti who toppled him in the 1964 Democratic primary.

Even though he has had no public record since he left the Governor's office at the start of 1965, Peabody seems to have had a measure of success in winning back some of the Democratic voters who rejected him when he sought renomination to a second term in the Governorship.

A handicap Collins must overcome in order to gain the Senate nomination is that Peabody is better known in cities and towns away from the Greater Boston area.

Many of the Democratic voters in Pittsfield and North Adams, in Lawrence and Lowell, in New Bedford and Fall River, are not familiar with Collins' achievements and the job he has done as Boston's Mayor.

The outcome of Collins' drive for the Democratic Senate nomination will depend in part on the extent to which he overcomes that handicap before the voters go to the polls in the Sept. 13 primary.

A factor which militates against Collins to a degree in his home city, where he should roll up a good plurality, is that during his six and a half years he has made many tough decisions on highly controversial questions.

Collins is not one to back away from a hard problem or to allow political expediency to influence his decisions, some of which have not been popular with certain groups.

A Mayor such as Collins creates both respect and resentment by his readiness to make tough decisions and to do what he considers to be in the greatest public good even if it is unpopular with some people.

Whether Collins, after more than six and a half years, has aroused more respect or more resentment by his hard decisions is a question which will be answered when Boston's primary returns are tabulated.

It will be a bad thing for government in Boston and in Massachusetts generally if the resentment outweighs the respect and a public official is penalized for his courage in facing hard problems and making tough decisions.

Boston has made great strides under the leadership of Collins. It is probably the only city in the United States which has a lower tax rate today than it did seven years ago.

It has taken on a new look and a new face while Collins has been Mayor.

Buildings such as the Prudential Tower, which did not exist six years ago, now reach skyward.

These things didn't happen by accident, and they weren't accomplished easily.

It is on the strength of that record that Collins is standing for election to the United States Senate and asking the opportunity to work with Senator Edward M. Kennedy for all the people of Massachusetts.

Unfortunately, from Collins' standpoint, a great many voters in distant sections of the State aren't yet familiar with his record.

Peabody so far has sidestepped all invitations and challenges from Collins to debate the Senate campaign issues.

This is somewhat ironic since Peabody in the 1962 gubernatorial campaign fired one debate challenge after another at Governor Volpe and publicly blasted Volpe for disregarding them.

In fact, Peabody, in an attempt to dramatize Volpe's refusal to debate, appeared on television and debated an empty chair. A newspaper reporter covering Peabody's campaign remarked facetiously that it was probably the only time an empty chair ever won a debate.

While Peabody obviously wants to avoid a debate and confrontation with Collins, where he was eager and anxious to debate Volpe, he may find it somewhat awkward to dodge Collins' latest challenge to debate two issues which Peabody himself has raised during the campaign.

Peabody has been asking the Democratic voters to decide whether he or Collins has been the better Democrat and whether Collins has been a better Mayor than Peabody was a Governor.

Collins declares that since Peabody posed these issues, he should have no reluctance about discussing them at a public forum so that the voters may have the real facts and as much information as possible to assist them in making up their minds as to the answers to the questions which Peabody put to them.

McCormack Waging Cautious Campaign

Barring an unexpected shift in voting sentiment, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack is on his way toward sewing up the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Surveys showed that McCormack is leading Kenneth P. O'Donnell by a decisive margin and that O'Donnell's campaign has not really got off the ground.

However, students of politics are begining to wonder about the super-cautious campaign McCormack is conducting and whether he isn't missing opportunities to place himself in a stronger position for his autumn election struggle with Governor Volpe.

Democratic Losses Forecast in Congress

Two years ago, Democratic candidates in almost every State in the Union were begging and imploring President Johnson to stump in their area.

They were anxious to hitch a ride on his broad and sturdy political coattails.

House Speaker John W. McCormack intervened with the President to persuade LBJ to journey to Boston in an attempt to save Francis X. Bellotti from defeat.

A lot of Democratic politicos are no longer so eager or anxious to have Mr. Johnson visit their sections.

They believe that his once powerful coattails have frayed and weakened. Some of them even consider that he would be more of a liability than an asset.

There is no doubt that President Johnson's popularity has dropped from its great peak in the 1964 election. That was almost inevitable.

But there is some question that his political stock has fallen as much as certain politicians, especially in other parts of the country, think.

That historically happens in a mid-term election between Presidential elections.

Democratic leaders on Washington's Capitol Hill privately concede that their party will lose at least 25 seats in the lower branch of Congress and that the loss may go as high as 30 or 35.

Republican chieftains predict that the GOP will pick up between 40 and 50 congressional seats now held by Democrats.

Their estimates actually are not too far apart and, significantly, they agree that there will be Democratic losses and Republican gains in Congress.

However, these shifts occur as part of a political trend which traditionally develops two years after a Presidential election. It would be incorrect to attribute them solely to the drop in President Johnson's popularity.

What actually is the case is that some congressional candidates who were carried into office on LBJ's coattails now will be unable to win reelection on their own. That has happened back through the years.

Keep Family Papers Handy V.A. Advises

Keep family documents such as birth and marriage certificates where they can be readily found, the Veterans Administration office, Boston, advised veterans and their dependents today.

Documents of this sort may be needed to support claims for veterans benefits and for other purposes.

These include military discharges or separation papers, death certificates, divorce decrees and guardianship or child custody evidence.

Veterans claims which may require these documents include disability or death compensation or pension and burial benefits.

Applications and assistance to apply for veterans benefits may be obtained at the V. A. Contact Division, Room E-116, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Government Center, Boston, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Saturdays, 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Telephone number 223-3080.

Kiddies Use Batman Theme For Fund-Raiser Carnival

A group of local youngsters are planning an unique event to benefit the victims of muscular dystrophy.

A neighborhood Batman Carnival will be held on Saturday, August 13, at 516 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, proceeds of which will go to the muscular dystrophy cause.

The following Saturday, August 20th, has been set as a rain date should the weather be inclement on the 13th. However, it is a dauntless weatherman, indeed, who would dare rouse the ire of the indomitable Batman by bringing rain on the 13th.

Lynne Mudarri will serve as ringmaster for the carnival, and will be assisted by Joseph Mudarri, Susan and Jimmy Kennedy, Debby Hewitt, Denise Ethier. Sally Cutler, Suki Burrows and Jamie Burton.

Lynne Mudarri, chairman for the event, is 11 years old and all the youngsters participating in the fund-raiser are in the same age bracket.

The chairman told The Graphic that the event will be conducted from 2 to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday. She announced a program featuring such games as Penguin's Umbrella, Hit the Riddler in the Face, Zelda the Great, Hit the Bat, Joker is Hungry, and Batman's Book Stall.

The children got the idea for staging their event from watching TV personality Rex Trailer who is promoting carnivals on his WBZ television show.

Last year, in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, more than 12,000 carnivals were held by children across the country, realizing over $100,000. For additional information on the Newton carnival, please call 969-9525.

Watch for the fencer jacket in fall suits. It's buttoned far to the side instead of center front, and worn with straight, slightly-A line skirts with side pleats.

Security Mutual Life Moves To Chestnut Hill

Howard C. Chiten, 50 Pratt Dr., West Newton, general agent of Security Mutual Life Insurance Company, announces that the company has moved into new, bigger and modern offices at 200 Boylston St., Chestnut Hill.

He ascribes the need for the move to the agency's rapidly expanding business, it having attained 5th position in the country in premium volume and 6th in paid for production, consisting of life, pension and profit sharing plans, sickness and accident, and group insurance.

A graduate of Boston University and a company commander in World War II, he has been active in many industry and community functions, and has been in the insurance field since 1947.

Another West Newton resident, Seymour Berman of 70 Temple St., has recently joined the agency as a supervisor, and has had a long career in the life insurance industry as an agent, supervisor and general agent.

Gets Special Air Training

Airman Glenville C. Hynson, son of Mrs. Grace A. Hynson, 367 Newtonville ave., Newtonville, has been selected for technical training at Keesler AFB, Miss., as a U. S. Air Force communications specialist.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force.

Airman Hynson was graduated from Newton High School in 1966.

Gerald J. Parker of 34 Noble St., West Newton, a member of the class of 1966 at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, has been placed with the U.S. Naval Propellant Plant.

The Wellesley Congregational Church was decorated with pastel summer flowers for the recent marriage of Miss Lee Cameron Higgins to Donald Chapman Pratt.

The 5 o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Louis C. Toppan. The Dedham Country and Polo Club was the scene of the reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory silk peau de soie marked with lace appliques and designed with a bateau neckline, short sleeves and a Watteau train.

The maid of honor was Miss Lisa Warren Johnson of Worcester. Miss Clarinda Higgins and Miss Johanna Higgins, both of Weston, sisters of the bride, and Miss Katherine Wolfe of Cambridge were bridesmaids. Stephanie Moore of Wellesley, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, while Master Robert Scott Pratt of Lafayette, Hill, Pa., nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Honorary bridesmaids included Miss Pamela Moen Kinnicutt of Worcester and Miss Friede Sherwood Bliss of New Canaan, Ct.

The best man was a brother of the groom, Robert Mintie Pratt of Lafayette Hill, Pa. The ushers were Frederick Appel Moore of Wellesley, uncle of the bride, Douglas P. Hill of Rochester, N. Y., and Jan R. Westervelt of Montclair, N. J.

After a trip to Bermuda, the Pratts will live in Wilder, Vt.

Mrs. Pratt is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webber Moore Jr. of Waban, and Mrs. John Woodman Higgins of Worcester and the late Mr. Higgins.

MRS. DONALD C. PRATT

She is a graduate of Miss Hall's School, Bradford Junior College and the Boston University School of Education. During the 1962-63 season, she was presented at the Governor's ball at the Tatnuck Country Club in Worcester. She is a members of the Junior League of Worcester, Inc.

Mr. Pratt's grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. James LeRoy Mintie of Waterbury, Ct., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Guy Herman Pratt of Omaha, Neb.

He is a graduate of Tabor Academy. Having served three years with the Inter-American Geodetic Service of the Army Corps of Engineers, he is a senior at Dartmouth College. He is undergraduate director of the winter sports division of the Dartmouth Outing Club.

Afternoon Ceremony Unites Miss Bloch, Mr. Johnson

A pretty summer wedding was that of Miss Charlotte L. Bloch and Mr. Thomas S. Johnson, Jr., which took place in the Needham Congregational Church with the Rev. Herbert Rhodes Smith, pastor, officiating. The five o'clock ceremony was performed on Saturday afternoon, July 2.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Richard Bloch of Framingham and Mrs. Priscilla Sheehan of Newton. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Johnson, Sr., of 143 Lindbergh avenue, Needham

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight linen trimmed with lace at the neckline and sleeves and fashioned with a chapel train.

Her shoulder-length mantilla was edged with matching lace, and she carried a bouquet of two white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Priscilla Coit of Wellesley was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Emily Bloch of Newton, sister of the bride; Miss Nancy Eyre, Miss Kathy Smith, and Miss Joan Hessen, all of New York.

Serving as best man was Mr. Richard Donovan of Franconia, N. H., brother-in-law of the bridegroom; ushers included Mr. Richard Forbes of Needham, Mr. Lawrence Bloch of Newton, brother of the bride; Mr. Dale Barbour of Albany, N. Y., and Mr. John Schmidt of Sewickley, Pa.

The bride attended Bradford Junior College. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Needham High School and is now a senior at Brown University.

Upon returning from a honeymoon on Cape Cod, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson plan to live in Providence.

Elizabeth Lytle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lytle, 18 Brewster rd., Newton Highlands, will sail on Sept. 15 for Beirut, Lebanon, where she will study at the American University of Beirut for the coming academic year. She is a representative of Ohio Wesleyan University in the Great Lakes Colleges Association's Near East Program."

Miss Levine - Mr. Sidell Wed At Temple Mishkan Tefilla

Temple Mishkan Tefila was the recent scene of the marriage of Miss Faye Leslie Levine to Chester Frederick Sidell.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Levine of 30 Fairhaven road, Newton Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sidell of Hull are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Laurence J. Gilberstein officiated at the 6:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony. A reception was held at the temple.

(Alan Lee)
MRS. CHESTER F. SIDELL

Mr. Levine gave his daughter away. She wore a gown made of light ivory peau de soie misted with pearl and crystal beading. Matching ivory illusion formed the bouffant veil caught to her beaded crown. Her flowers were orchids and stephanotis.

There were two matrons of honor, Mrs. Bernard Tepper of Canton and Mrs. George Yaffe of Natick. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances R. Brass of Brookline, Miss Iris S. Sidell of Hull, Mrs. Brian Maloney of Brighton and Miss Betty Robins of Newton.

Donald Lewis Levine of Newton Centre, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushering were Gerald Mandell, Andrew Mandell, Stanley Karp, Bernard Tepper, Bernard Grossman, Steven Garfinkle, Sidney Fisken, Peter Zimmerman and Robert Winn.

After a trip to Puerto Rico, St. Thomas and Jamaica, the couple plan to live in Framingham.

A graduate of Vermont College and the Boston University School of Education, the bride is a special class teacher in the Boston public schools.

Mr. Sidell is attending Bentley College and the Modern School of Fashion and Design. He is associated with Puritan Fashions Corp.

High Schoolers To Go To Summer Music Workshop

High school students from this area will attend the Summer Workshop in Maine of the Greater Youth Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Artin Arslanian, associate professor of music at Boston University, will conduct the workshop. This year, for the first time, both the Greater Boston Youth Symphony and the Junior Youth Symphony will participate for a total of some 150 boys and girls.

The staff of outstanding teachers and instrumentalists includes Leslie Martin and Manuel Valerio of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; Donald Caldwell, formerly with the Cincinnati Symphony; and Robert Corley, director of music in the Weston Public Schools. Mr. Corley is conductor of the Junior Youth Symphony.

Youth symphony members will present a concert Sunday, August 28, in Oxford Hills, Me., at the conclusion of their summer workshop session.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Spiegel - Mr. Cohen

At a 6 o'clock candlelight service in Temple Israel, Boston, on August's first Sunday, the 7th, Miss Frani-Bette Spiegel became the bride of Douglas M. Cohen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Spiegel of 116 Withington road, Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Cohen of Brighton are the groom's parents.

Officiating at the pretty summer wedding were Rabbi Harvey J. Fields and Rabbi Joseph E. Klein of Temple Emanuel, Worcester. The Sidney Hill Country Club was the setting for the reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown fashioned of white peau de soie embroidered with seed pearls and crystals around the neckline, bell sleeves and hem. The matching sleeveless coat was designed with a beaded yoke and circular train.

Miss Sereda Blum of Cambridge was maid of honor. She was atired in an empire gown of blue peau de soie with a matching coat. She wore a blue Dior bow and carried a princess bouquet of blue and white flowers. Identically costumed were the bridesmaids, Miss Janice Oren of Sharon, Miss Helen Landes of White Plains, N. Y., and Miss Helene Berkowitz of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The best man was Stuart Cohen of Brighton, brother of the groom. Ushering were Robert Spiegel of Newton, brother of the bride, Scott Cohen of Brighton, another brother of the groom, Marvin Milbauer of New York City, Lewis Cohen of Brookline, Howard Blum of Cambridge and Randall Gould of Mattapan.

After a trip to the West Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Cohen will live in Watertown.

The bride, a graduate of Newton South High School, attended Long Island University and is now attending the Boston University School of Education.

Mr. Cohen was graduated from Newman Preparatory School in Cambridge. He is now attending Harvard College, Class of 1967.

Miss Baldini, Mr. Penta Wed at St. Mary's, Dedham

The marriage of Miss Joan Elizabeth Baldini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Girio P. Baldini of 51 Leonard street, Dedham, to Mr. Robert Edward Penta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale H. Penta of 210 Austin street, Newtonville, was solemnized at an 11 o'clock ceremony performed recently in St. Mary's Church, Dedham.

Rev. David Burke officiated at the double ring service, which was followed by a reception at the Blue Hill Country Club in Canton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with a bateau neckline and sleeves, and empire waist, a capelet collar, a slimline skirt, and a shirred back skirt flowing into a chapel-length train, accented with peau d' ange lace appliques edged with pearls.

A matching dome-shaped pillbox held in place her elbow-length veil of French silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white daisies in a cascade arrangement.

Miss Diane Baldini of Dedham was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Mrs. Edward Cummiskey of Peabody, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Thomas Fahey of Waltham.

The bride's godchild and cousin, Miss Theresa Monahan of Cherry Hill, N. J., was the flower girl, and Mrs. Ellen Trainer of Arlington, Va., presided at the guest book.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. Richard Penta of Newton. Sharing usher duties were Mr. Daniel Connolly of West Roxbury and Mr. Thomas Fahey of Waltham.

Upon returning from a honeymoon trip to Virginia, Washington, D. C., and Maryland, the couple will reside at 18 Chittick road, Hyde Park.

The bride and groom are graduates of Boston State College and are teachers in the Boston School System.

Federal Funds To Train Home Health Aides

A $195,727 federal grant to train home health aides has been announced by Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Health.

Dr. Harry T. Phillips of Newton, chief of the department's Bureau of Chronic Disease Control and co-director of the project, said that after the men and women trainees have completed an initial orientation at Lemuel Shattuck Hospital, they will receive on-the-job training and subsequent employment at one of several agencies and hospitals.

A trained home health aide gives personal care to the patient under a physician's orders, and is supervised by a registered professional nurse. An aide's duties may include assistance to the patient to and from bed, bathing, prescribed exercises and household services essential to the patient's health.

PLANS TO WED—Miss Diana M. Lund, whose engagement to William Theodos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrea A. Theodos of Brookline is made known by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lund of Newton Highlands. A September wedding is planned.

Our Lady's Battles To 3rd Place League Tie

Our Lady's gained a third place tie in the Babe Ruth League by defeating St. Jean's 2 to 0 on Nickerson Field last Monday night. Our Lady's is now on even terms with the Highlanders.

The victory was the result of a strong two-hitter pitched by Tom Guisti, who was helped by John Flanagan, who drove in the game's only runs.

Talent Worth A Million Dollars Being Mobilized For United Fund

What follows should be of particular interest to the many Newton volunteers who have served in United Fund campaigns and those who will serve in the one to come.

"A million dollars worth of executive talent is now being mobilized to help raise $12,750,000 for the Mass. Bay United Fund's fall campaign," according to David W. Skinner, chairman of the Fund's unique Loaned Executive Program.

"Last year the program contributed toward an overwhelming campaign success," said Thomas M. Hennessey, vice-president of the New England Telephone Co., and the 1966-67 campaign chairman, "and this year it is our best insurance of victory."

"The initial 1965-66 MBUF campaign was a highly successful endeavor," said Mr. Skinner, vice-president of the Polaroid Corporation, "with $12,067,701 raised on a campaign goal of $11,850,000. Sixty-four loaned executives, provided by 31 companies for an eight-week period, worked with management and labor at more than 1600 firms. They helped to initiate, plan and coordinate United Fund Chapter Plan campaigns among 503,000 employees, which raised a total of $5,396,938, an increase of 11.6 per cent over the previous year."

"The Mass. Bay United Fund now includes 64 communities and the services and agencies now number 340," said Mr. Skinner. "Because of continuing growth and the challenge of the 1966-67 goal, we are now enrolling loaned executives, and we hope to have 85 ultimately participating in this dynamic program. We are going to expand the training course at Harvard Business School to four days. We are asking more firms to loan us men.

"The stunning impact this program had last year, both in financial results and the universally favorable evaluation from the executives themselves, their own companies they assisted, certainly indicates that the campaign will be a success."

Fatal Heart Attack

A South Boston tin worker, William N. Marshall, 53, of 58 "L" St., suffered a heart attack while at work last Monday morning on the furnace in the home of Alf M. Keene, 608 Grove St., Newton Lower Falls.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Newton-Wellesly Hospital.

Local Women Take Part In Exhibition Of Glass Club

The National Early American Glass Club exhibition at the famed old Slater Mill Museum, Pawtucket, R. I., the first cotton mill in this country, is attracting thousands of summer visitors.

Among those who helped to set up the exhibit is Miss Dorothy-Lee Jones of Wellesley Hills, and Douglas Hill, Me., formerly of Newton.

A descriptive book of the exhibition, "Twenty Decades of Glass," with twenty-three illustrations, was written by Miss Jones. It is on sale at the exhibition.

Miss Jones also has loaned rare pieces from her well-known collection of New England, Tiffany and Midwestern Glass to the Pawtucket exhibit. The 19th century ruby trumpet-form vase made by New England Glass Company has been exhibited in the Toledo Museum.

Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham of Newton Highlands has loaned the exhibit twenty-five pieces from her excellent collection of early blown, colored and clear glass ranging from the 18th century to the present.

Several hundred choice examples of early blown and pressed glass, cut glass, art glass, paper weights, also rare Sandwich, Portland, Tiffany, Pairpiunt, Pittsburgh and Steuben have been loaned by collectors in the parent group of the 2,000-member national organization which meets monthly, October through May, in the hall of Boston's historic Park Street Church.

The Slater Mill Museum is located on Pawtucket's Roosevelt ave., and is easily accessible by bus, car or train. It is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays, and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. It is closed on Mondays. There is no admission charge.

Duty Training At Fort Devens

Three Newton residents are among the citizen-soldiers at Fort Devens for their two weeks of annual active training.

They are Maj. Arnold Seigle, 64 Hatfield rd., West Newton; Specialist 4 Maurice J. Tobin, 249 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill, and Private Francis B. Maher, Bonad rd., West Newton.

They are members of Boston's 7499th Army Garrison, an Army Reserve unit of the 13th Army Corps.

New Newton Resident

Mr. Smolar is executive vice president of Securityners Associates, Inc-Planresn Planners Associates, Inc., one of New England's leading investment firms specializing in the sale of mutual fund programs.

ENJOY HAWAIIAN LUAU—Hotel 128 in Dedham recently featured a lavish, exotic Hawaiian Luau complete with all the exotic foods and Polynesian drinks of the romantic islands. Dancing was enjoyed to the sweet strains of native Hawaiian melodies provided by the Jay Conte Trio. It was a pleasurable evening for all as Hotel 128 was transformed into a tropical island paradise.

Rockport Bus Trip Planned

Due to demands for a summer bus trip, Mrs. Fran Margeson, recreational specialist, has planned one to Rockport Monday, Aug. 15, for any physically able person 50 years or more of age.

The bus will take off promptly at 10:30 a. m., from the parking lot behind the First National Store in West Newton Square, and will return from Rockport by 5 a.m.

She extends an invitation to all who would like to go, including members of groups that are too young to join a group of senior citizens.

Jimmy Fund Is Aided By Event At Farlow Park

Children brought pennies, dimes, and nickles to play games at the booths run by other children. At the end of the day a most pleasing donation of $22.83 was made to the Jimmy Fund.

Among the prize winning booths were: the bake sales run by Edward and Charles Boyajian, Donna, Kim, and Jean Manning, Olga and Theresa Solomita, and Gail Whorskey; the dart shooting booths by: Kenny Carter and Mark Manning. Bridget Bauer and Debbie Graham won the prize for the booth making the largest contribution. They ran a snow cone booth. George Carmel also won a prize for the best decorated booth — a fudge stand.

Other participants in the days festivities were: Debbie Carmel, Debbie MacDonald, Susan O'Brien, Joseph Solomita, Jean Necheles, Nina Lilly, Susan Necheles, Clair and Susan Whorskey. One of the greatest attractions was the bobbing for apples stand run by Donna Manning. Mothers present or assisting with the activities were: Mrs. Boyajian, Mrs. Necheles, and Mrs. O'Brien.

The playground, which is under the supervision of the Newton Recreation Department was visited by John Penney, Recreation Commissioner, and Robert Doherty, district supervisor. The Recreation Instructors are Robin Bernstein and Jeanne Raymond.

Gets Technical Aircraft Course

Airman William Troy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Troy, 8 Raymond pl., West Newton, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., as a U. S. Air Force aircraft maintenance specialist.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force.

Vandalism Is Rampant Over Weekend Here

Vandalism was rampant over the weekend in Newton with seven incidents of malicious damage to motor vehicles and property reported. Two of the incidents involved beer bottles thrown through windows.

Norman A. Smith, one of the owners of W. H. Hockridge Co., 340 Boylston street, Newton Centre, told police a quart bottle of beer was thrown through a 10 by 7½ plate glass window.

A beer bottle was also thrown through the front picture window of the home occupied by Mrs. Victoria M. Pignatelli, 33 Florence street, Newton Centre.

Mrs. Christine Moore, 309 River street, West Newton, reported to police a lamp on a post in front of her home was broken by rock. She said the lamp was valued at $35.

Alice Murphy, 65 Kensington street, Newtonville, reported her windshield was broken while her car was parked at the Albemarle Pool in Newtonville.

The ignition of the car of Edward F. Burns, 409 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, was broken when someone chipped the metal. He said the incident occurred while the car was in a parking lot.

Mrs. Beth Tedesco, 94 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, said the ignition switch of her auto was broken while her car was parked in the driveway.

NOW YOU CAN SAVE 3 WAYS AT NEWTON SAVINGS BANK

1. REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone should have sufficient money in a Regular Savings Account at Newton Savings to meet unexpected needs. Then, when there's an emergency, a special "sale" or other situation that requires cash immediately, your savings are "right there." Another nice thing to know — Regular Savings Accounts now earn at our new, increased rate of 4.30% a year. Now is the time to open yours.

2. SPECIAL NOTICE ACCOUNTS

Our Special Notice Accounts are ideal for people who want a sound investment with a good return. If you have longer-range plans such as a down payment on a home, education, travel or other major goals, they're for you, too. Special Notice Accounts at Newton Savings earn at the very attractive rate of 4.60% a year. Ninety-days' notice is required for any withdrawals you plan to make. A minimum of $500 is suggested for the initial deposit.

Dividends on ALL THREE types of accounts are NOT subject to Massachusetts Income Tax

3. SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Systematic Savings Accounts are for those who can save regularly, for extended periods. The dividends for this type of account are the highest of all . . . 4.80% a year for the 48 month period (½ of 1% over prevailing rate for 48 months) and 5.30% a year for the 96 month period (1% over prevailing rate for 96 months). With this very rewarding rate of return, you'll have an excellent reason to save like clock-work, all year 'round!

EVERYONE SHOULD HAVE 2 SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone has different reasons for saving . . . but everyone should have two types of Newton Savings accounts to realize these thrift goals. A Regular Savings Account is best for your emergency or day-to-day needs . . . and either a Special Notice or Systematic Savings Account is the choice for those big, long-range goals. Open your two accounts now (or maybe even three)!

Survey

by the Health Department and house-to-house internal inspections were commenced in Code Enforcement Area No. 1. (Nonantum, parts of Newton Corner and Newtonville in August, 1965.

Available data showed the area to have a population of 13,107 in 1960, living in 3922. dwelling units contained in 2587 structures. The earlier surveys indicated 228 deteriorating housing units and ten dilapidated housing units among them.

However, preliminary field surveys made early in 1965 revealed a noticeable degree of voluntary upgrading throughout the inspection area, indicating home-owner pride and interest, a desire for environmental betterment and, perhaps, a better overall economy.

As a result of careful analysis, it was possible to delinieate three concentrated sub-areas of suspected environmental deficiencies within Area No. 1 and the decision was made to begin the program with comprehensive internal inspections of dwelling units within these three sub-areas.

Between August 1, 1965 and December 31, 1965, a total of 478 interior inspections was made by the Code Enforcement Inspector. He found only 26 violations of the various codes, eight of which were abated by voluntary compliance and 18 of which required further action.

During this period there were six court hearings, 30 miscellaneous complaints were investigated and 10 suspected violations of other codes and ordinanoes than the housing code were referred to the appropriate departments.

It is interesting to note that in no instance was the Code Enforcement Inspector refused the right to enter and inspect the premises, indicating the complete cooperation of the community and its acceptance of the program, as well as the skill of the inspector in explaining and carrying out his mission.

Since the actual experience of the first five months of inspections bore out in large measure the observation made in the preliminary field surveys of a general upgrading and self-improvement of the area, a decision was then made to conduct exterior inspections of the remaining structures in Area No. 1, followed by interior inspections of those structures indicating the need for them by their appearance and available data.

2506 structures containing an estimated 3430 dwelling units were given visual exterior inspections between January 1, 1966 and June 16, 1966. Of these, 52 structures containing an estimated 104 dwelling units indicated a need for interior inspections.

To date, five structures containing 17 dwelling units have been given internal inspections. During the period from January 1 to June 16, 1966, four violations were abated by voluntary compliance, 30 investigations of miscellaneous complaints were made and 30 suspected violations of other codes and ordinances were referred to the proper departments for action.

To date, 243 code and ordinance violations have been referred to the Law Department for action by the various departments. Of these, 68 came from the Health Department and 175 from the Building Department. A number of each kind involved also the Fire and Police Departments.

152 of the violations referred by the Building Department involved violations of the Zoning Ordinance. Of the 243 violations handled to date, 166 were abated without court action, 28 required application for complaint, 42 are pending and seven were found to be unfounded complaints.

Of the 28 taken to court, 25 were abated before trial, two were abated after a finding of guilty and one was appealed to the Superior Court. Prior to the trial of the latter, the appeal was withdrawn, the fines were paid and no recurrence of the violation has been noted.

The Comprehensive Code Enforcement Program in its second year shall move to Newton Highlands and that part of Newton Centre bounded by Beacon Street, Boylston Street and Hammond Pond Parkway.

The same technique of delineating concentrations of environmental deficiencies and making interior inspections of all structures in such areas with visual exterior inspections of all other structures will be used in the new code enforcement area. It is hoped the same degree of citizen cooperation and appreciation for the program will be encountered in the future as has been encountered in the past.

Morgan Memorial Fresh Air Camp To Observe Its 60th Anniversary

Russell S. Broad, 17 Brush Hill Rd., Newton Highlands, and Joseph W. Burg, 18 Marshall St., Newton Centre, members of the board of directors of Morgan Memorial, Inc., will be among the invited guests at the 60th anniversary celebration of Morgan Memorial's Fresh Air Camp in South Athol on Sunday, Aug. 21.

Official State recognition of the big camp program which cares for 600 of the State's neediest children recommended by 32 social agencies, will be signaled by a proclamation by Governor Volpe setting aside the week of August 21 as "Morgan Memorial Fresh Air Camp Week" for the Bay State.

Several hundred officers and Board and Corporate members of Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries will attend the day-long festivities as well as 601 handicapped workers of Goodwill Industries in Boston, who will travel in a cavalcade of buses to the camp sie.

During the ceremonies, greetings will be extended by and on behalf of U.S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall, U. S. Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Rabbi Roland B. Gittelsohn of Temple Israel, Rev. Dr. Forrest L. Knapp, General Secretary of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, and other leaders.

A colorful highlight of the celebration will be a dramatic and colorful presentation by the children depicting 60 years of camping at the historic Fresh Air Camp grounds. The program began six decades ago in an abandoned farmhouse, which provided a summer haven for underprivileged children and mothers. Widely supported for its philanthropic outreach to needy children, the camp has expanded over the years until it includes separate camps for each age group from cradle to Senior Citizens.

Handicapped workers and others will have a picnic lunch on the Village Green at mid-day followed by entertainment and recreation.

More than 100 college youth and college graduates from all parts of the country are serving as counsellors. The children are recommended by the officials of 32 social agencies throughout the State on the four needs.

John Griffin Company Takes Monahon Name

John T. Griffin Co., building construction firm of Cambridge, changed its name August 1st. to the Monahon Corporation.

Philip C. Monahon, vice president of the firm, is a resident of Newton. Arthur T. Monahon, Jr., is president and treasurer.

Arthur T. Monahon, Sr., late owner of the family-held corporation, served the Griffin Co., from 1904 through 1948. It was in his honor that the name Monahon Corporation had been selected, according to the two sons.

Philip C. Monahon, vice president, his wife and five children reside at 5 Chester St., Newton Highlands.

Arthur T. Jr., and Philip C. Monahon remain as the operating principals of the business.

Police Busy On Hospital House Calls

Newton police got to know the Allen family of 1015 Washington st., Monday, calling there twice within 12 hours.

Half a day later they were called again after sister Jean, 15, received a severe laceration of the right hand when she put her arm through a storm window. She, too, was rushed to the hospital for treatment.

Three other persons were also taken to the hospital that day by police. Louis Ferragamo, 16, of 8 Larkin rd., West Newton, was taken from 41 Prairie ave., Auburndale, and treated for a laceration on his right hand. Kenneth Vechione, 6, of 860 Watertown st., Newtonville, was treated at the hospital for an injured lower lip, received in a fall at home.

Warren Raynor, of 5 Raynor rd., Weston, was taken from the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust Co., 293 Washington st., Newton Corner, suffering chest pains.

Peter I. Wolff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wolff, 91 Mary Ellen rd., Waban, a senior and history major at Lafayette College, Easton, Penn., was named business manager of the college year book.

Longwood Seen As Taking Local Site

Longwood Cricket Club, for many years the scene of National Tennis Championships, could well be a Newton institution ere the passing of many years.

The club, one of the country's oldest, is contemplating a move from its location in Chestnut Hill, Brookline, at the edge of Newton, to another site, either in Newton or Brookline.

Newton, which has the most land potential of the two communities, looks to be a strong choice. To accomodate a tennis club like Longwood, from 25 to 35 acres would be necessary.

Longwood is famed for having hosted all the tennis greats over the years — from Bill Tilden, Suzanne Lenglen and Helen Wills Moody to the racquet wielders of modern times.

The club has been an important stop in each year's tour of champions and runnersup who travel to such places as Forest Hills, L.I., and Wimbledon, outside London.

Longwood Cricket Club held its first National Tennis Championship in 1919. It was the third cricket club in the United States, having been established as such in 1876.

Some years later, tennis was introduced there with the restriction that the game must never interfere with cricket. Eventually cricket faded out, and tennis became the game.

Another Crash At Hot Corner

The sound of colliding automobiles continues to be heard in the vicinity of the intersection of Harvard St. and Newtonville Ave., Newtonville.

There was another two-car crash there late last Monday afternoon.

The drivers, according to police, were Arthur J. Marchand, 27 Dale St., Newtonville, and Mrs. Irene G. Lebowich, 34 Evelyn Rd., Waban.

Mrs. Marchand, riding with her husband, suffered a right wrist injury, but declined medical attention.

Ethical Society Names Newton Man To Office

John W. Weaver, 214 Bellevue St., Newton, has been appointed treasurer of the Ethical Society of Boston.

He has taken part for many years in the Society's expanding program of educational and social reforms and of community service activities, and has recently served on its Sunday School Committee.

The Ethical Society of Boston, which assumes regular meetings on Oct. 2 at 5 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, draws its members from many communities in the Boston area. A member of the American Ethical Union and the International Humanist and Ethical Union, the Ethical Society of Boston is one of 30 fellowships in this country devoted to uniting men in a mutual concern for the problems of mankind. Further information about the Society and its activities and speakers may be obtained from Mr. Weaver or at the office at 267-3138.

Youngsters Aid Jimmy Fund With Canival

Ward Playground children—approximately 50 of them — took part in a recent carnival that was a part of the city-wide campaign to raise money for the Jimmy Fund, and they raised $28.25 for the worthy cause.

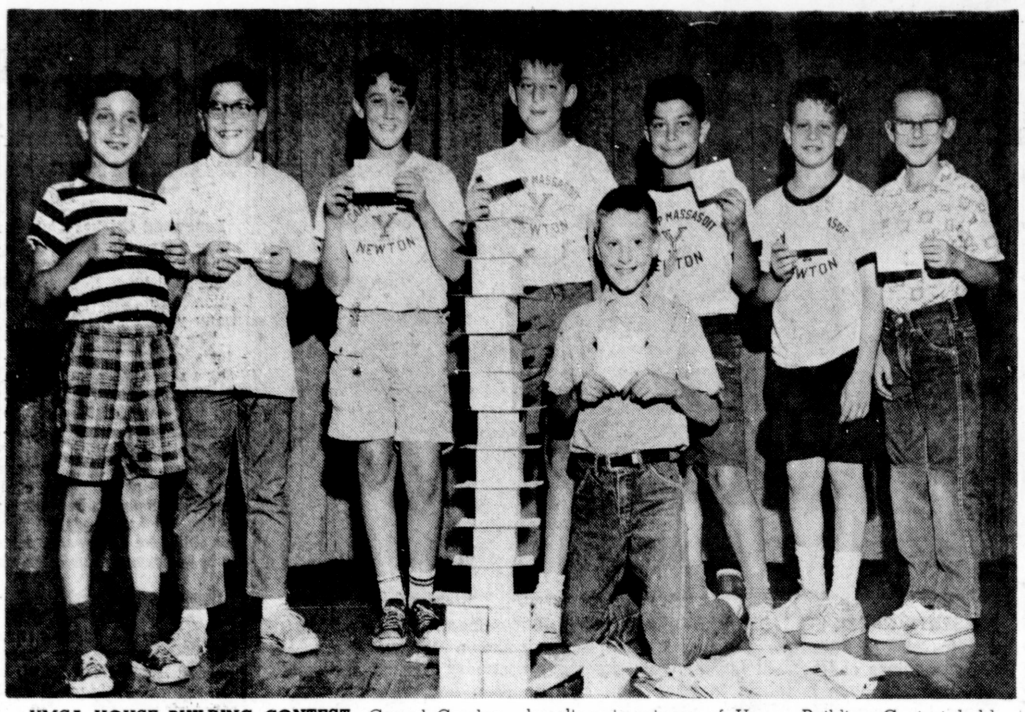

They playground had several gaily decorated booths featuring Dianne, Janet and Marcia Solov on refreshments, Susan Brand, Lisa and Lawrence Alberts with a paper plate throw, Andrea Feeley, Kay Feeney and Catherine Borghetti with a break the balloon dart game, Beth and Helene Meyer and Sarah and Beth Ackerman with a sponge throw, Sherri Meyer with a giant raffle, made possible by a generous contribution from the University Drug; Judy Beck with a peanut guess, and the brightly dressed Zelda, the fortune teller, Debby Gindsberg; and Marvelous Marilyn, the life-like doll, Ann Borghetti.

Mothers who attended and assisted with the activities were: Mrs. Solov, Mrs. Alberts, Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. Brand and Mrs. Meyer. The playground was visited by John Penney, Recreation Commissioner, and Robert Doherty, the dirtrict manager. The recreational leaders are Leslie Feeley and Marcia Lurensky.

"Soul" Topic of Science Church Lesson-Sermon

"Soul" is the subject of the Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy — "The Lord your God proveth you, to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul."

Readings from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include this explanation: "The Divine Being must be reflected by man, — else man is not the image and likeness of the patient, tender, and true, the One 'altogether lovely'; but to understand God is the work of eternity, and demands absolute consecration of thought, energy, and desire."

Report Points To Remarkable Growth Of "Y" Here And In Nation

For the first time in its 113 years, YMCA membership in the U.S. totals close to 5 million. In the past year, 4,862,861 members were registered at over 1,857 YMCA centers throughout the country.

This represents a 14.7 percent increase over the previous year.

Perhaps even more significant is a comparison with 1955. That year represented the close of the extended post-war period and the beginning of a new era characterized by rapid economic growth, relative price stability and rising expectations.

By 1965, YMCA memberships in all categories had risen by 56 percent over the 1955 figure.

Some shifts in emphasis in programming by many local YMCA's were reflected in changed membership patterns. Most notable, perhaps, was the increase in family memberships, which rose to 641,295, a gain of 21 percent over the previous year. No valid comparison with 1955 can be made in this category because the family-membership concept was relatively new at that time.

Along with family memberships, a slight increase was experienced in the women and girls category. In 1965, the percentage of female members in the YMCA rose to 26 percent: In numbers this means that there are now some 1,264,344 women and girls who belong to the YMCA — once an exclusively male youth organization.

This increase has been reflected to a degree in the rise in leadership positions occupied by women, though not yet in direct proportion to total female membership. Women now account for 8.5 percent of the positions on boards of director and committees of management in YMCA's against 7.6 percent the previous year.

Capital assets — land, buildings, equipment — in the YMCA also reached a new high. These now amount to $763,200 in value.

"Here in Newton, total income for 1965 was $354,000," Miller said. "This was an increase of 10 percent for the Newton YMCA. Of that amount $41,900 came from the United Fund. Our expenditures for the same period were $354,000."

One indication of expanding interest in the work of YMCA, according to the National Council report, was the significant increase in sustaining or "partner-member" support. This is a type of membership purchased by individuals not for their own use to make memberships available to youngsters who can't afford to pay.

Sustaining support rose by 12.5 percent in 1965, bringing the total amount of money contributed to nearly $7 million.

YMCA's in the past few years have been developing and emphasizing new and different programs and services, many of them aimed at entire families, women and girls and a great deal of concentration in "inner-city" work. This last deals with school dropouts, juvenile delinquents, the war against poverty, street gangs, underprivileged children and depressed areas within cities. There were 1.2 million personal problem interviews conducted in YMGA's during the year, an increase of seven percent.

Nonetheless, the report points out, physical activities and sports increased during the past year. There were nearly 50 million attendances in YMCA physical classes and sports activities in 1965, 1.9 percent increase.

Nevertheless, the YMCA remains primarily a youthful organization, with 60 percent of total membership under age 25.

Figures and statistics for the YMCA throughout the country were released today by the National Council in New York. In releasing them, James F. Bunting, national General Secretary, noted that the increases in membership, income and expenditures reflect the increased tempo of YMCA activity and services to their communities as well as their members.

Total membership in the Newton YMCA during 1965 was 6509, according to Alex R. Miller, general secretary. This, he said, is an eight percent increase over the past year.

During that year, 526,806 volunteer leaders served with YMCA's Miller added. This was a ratio of about one volunteer for every nine members. In the Newton YMCA, the number of volunteer leaders was 148.

Another first was recorded by the YMCA in the U.S. in 1965: topping $200 million in income for the year. The total of $207,900,000 reflects a 5.9 percent increase over 1964. Expenditures for the same period, another high, amounted to $207,300,000 spent for services, programs and other YMCA activities.

Sets Record For Lefty Golfers At Chales River

On last Saturday, July 23, what is believed to be a new course record for a left-hand golfer at Charles River was set by Atty. James P. D. Waters of 17 Herrick Rd., Newton Centre.

Playing with him at the time were Frank Flynn, Bob Harrison and Harold Ford.

In compiling his record score, Waters fired 15 pars, two birdies and one bogey.

Mr. Waters received the Golf Digest Magazine Award for the most improved golfer at Charles River Country Club in 1965.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
LAND COURT
No. 49127 In Equity
To Henry J. O'Meara, formerly of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives: GREETING:
Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court, by George Berfield and Lois Berfield, of said Newton;
We Command You, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of October next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and receive what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.
Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.
The plaintiffs represent that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land in said Newton, being Lot No. 19 on a plan by Charles A. McManus, Civil Engineer, dated July 1, 1916, revised December 12, 1916, recorded in Middlesex South Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 256, Page 13; and further represent that on November 5, 1940, the Gardner Savings Bank made an entry to foreclose a mortgage, the same being duly recorded on December 4, 1940, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure deed being dated February 18, 1941, duly recorded on February 20, 1941 in Book 6472, Page 439, said entry and foreclosure deed having been made without first obtaining permission from any court to foreclose under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended; and further represent that at the time of said foreclosure, no owner of record was in the military service and entitled to the benefits of said Act.
And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiffs that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be given by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said Newton, that last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of October next.

Alderman Shea Praises New Newton Air Rights Concept

Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., yesterday praised the concept of the $15.5 million air rights development at Newton Corner but declared that the program should be planned and coordinated with the people in the neighboring areas.

At the same time Shea protested that he and Alderman William E. Hopkins, both of Ward 7, in which much of Newton Corner is located, were not invited to the conference held in the Mayor's office on the air rights development.

"A $15.5 million air rights proposal for Newton Corner is the kind of major infusion of new capital investment Newton Corner so desperately needs," Alderman Shea asserted.

"The dangerous, inconvenient problem of pedestrian access, of traffic congestion, and of a declining business community devastated by turnpike access ramps and roads are evident to everyone. These problems could be solved, at least to some degree, by a properly planned air rights program," he said.

"But if this air rights program is to be properly planned, it must be co-ordinated with the people neighboring this project, and it certainly should be co-ordinated with their elected representatives in municipal government," Shea stated.

"A good part of Newton Corner is in Ward 7. Yet, two-thirds of Ward 7's aldermen were conspicuously absent from the recent meeting concerning Air Rights. Why was the senior Alderman from Ward 7, William E. Hopkins, not invited to this meeting? And, I ask, with humility and sincerity, why was I, as Ward Alderman, not invited?" Shea asked.

"Mayor Basbas informs me his office was unable to reach my home. But it seems more than coincidental that neither Mr. Hopkins nor myself actually received an invitation. Certainly the public revelation of a project of this magnitude (15.5 million dollars), and one which the Mayor states he has discussed with the Turnpike Authority's Mr. Driscoll for more than one year and a project which he expects possible construction to commence in six months, was planned with plenty of notice," he continued.

"As well as his honor, the Mayor, present were representatives of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, the developer and builder, and the Newton Redevelopment Authority, as well as two Aldermen.

"As a person on record vigorously favoring properly planned air rights as a solution to the aggravated and neglected traffic and pedestrian access problems in Newton Corner, I decry any possible infusion of politics into a project of such fine potential.

"The best interests of the City of Newton and the Newton Corner area demand an air rights program which is well planned and which considers Newton's, as well as the Turnpike's, best interests. Such a project compels maximum participation on the part of all elected municipal officials, and not their exclusion from the planning stage.

"I respectfully hope Alderman Hopkins and myself will be included in future meetings regarding their air rights program in our ward. I might also add that I hope all elected municipal officials will be quickly brought up to date on the progress of this program. I also suggest that we be allowed to contribute our ideas in the planning of this program — a program which could mean so much to our City," Alderman Shea concluded.

Newton Girl Is Theater Trainee On North Shore

The apprentice term lasts from June until September, and involves the student of college age in all phases of theatre work. The students work on backstage production on all performances both the musicals and straight plays.

Since she has been at the Music Theatre, Miss Slotnik has worked on scenery and costumes for Leonard Sillman's "New Faces of 1966," "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," and "Brigadoon." The apprentices work under the supervision of an experienced and professional staff at the theatre. During the summer they will also attend informal classes given by the staff at various times throughout the term.

Miss Slotnik attends Connecticul College, where she has done backstage work for their Dramatic Society, The Wig and Candle. She has no plans to make the theatre a career but hopes to do some work in Psychology which is her major.

During the rest of the summer she will be involved in the productions scheduled in the series: "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," which returns for a second week on August 1, "Camelot," "The Merry Widow," "Irma La Douce," and "Oliver." These productions will give Miss Slotnik experience in production, acting, lighting, scene construction properties, and costuming as well as theatre management useful in both professional and amateur theatre.

Peter W. Furber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. Furber, 11 King st., Auburndale, and Richard Horovitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Horovitz, 27 Coolidge rd., Newton Centre, have been named to the Dean's List for the second semester at Middlebury College, Vt. Furber will be a senior and Horovitz a junior in the fall.

MRS. ABRAHAM ZIMBLE

Mrs. Zimble Is Named Chairman Of Annual Event

Appointment of Mrs. Abraham Zimble of Newton as chairman of the annual luncheon of the women's auxiliary of the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for Aged was announced today by Mrs. Archie Kaplan, president of the auxiliary.

The two-day luncheon will take place Monday and Tuesday, December 12 and 13, in the main ballroom of the Statler Hilton Hotel.

Mrs. Zimble, whose family has been identified with a vast number of vital philanthropic organizations in Greater Boston for many years, served as co-chairman of the Program Book last year and as a member of the hostess committee. She has been active in behalf of the Center over a decade.

The annual luncheon is a major fund raising effort by the Women's Auxiliary which has pledged a minimum of $70,000 to the Center. The funds will be used to strengthten the Social Service, Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy, and Diversional Therapy programs. These services make effective contributions to the enrichment of the lives of the 475 men and women who constitute the Center's population.

Mrs. Zimble is a past treasurer of the Chelsea branch of the Jewish Family and Children's Service and was for many years a leader in the activities of the Combined Jewish Appeal. She was also a prominent figure in Hadassah work in Chelsea. She resides at 27 Tudor Rd., Newton.

Cosgrove Memorial Scholarship To Be Announced September 11th

Friends of the late Newton Alderman Charles H. Cosgrove have established a permanent scholarship fund in his memory.

The committee will make its second award of a $500 scholarship on September 11th at the annual Cosgrove Memorial Golf Tournament Dinner, according to the announcement by Alderman Paul J. Burke, co-chairman of the fund.

In order to be eligible for the scholarship, a student must be a resident of West Newton, and already be attending college, or have been accepted by a college.

Last years recipient was John Rooney, a senior at St. Anslems College. Serving with Dr. Antonellis on the selection committee are West Newton residents Jim Ryan and Ed Scarlett.

Mr. Cosgrove, a Boston attorney, lived on Cherry Street, West Newton for many years, representing Ward 3 on the Newton Board of Aldermen. At the time of his death several years ago he was making his home at 207 Waltham Street.

The late Alderman was well liked and respected by friends and associates in the many organizations to which he belonged. With a group of 25 to 30 friends he used to spend a week-end of golf on Cape Cod each summer.

When he died they wanted to remember him in an appropriate way and so the Charles Cosgrove Memorial Golf Tournament was established. Now in its fourth year the tournament will be held on September 11th at Wayland Country Club with a dinner following at St. Bernards Hall, West Newton. Several trophies and prizes will be awarded with funds raised by the group of golfers and donors.

Chairman of the Charles H. Cosgrove Memorial Scholarship Fund is William Hannan and Edmund White is treasurer. Donations may be sent to Ed White, c/o Richard White and Sons, 70 Rowe Street, Auburndale.

The general public is invited to the golf tournament and/or the dinner following at St. Bernards Hall, West Newton. Chairman of the ticket committee is Bob Cronin along with Donald King and Jim Piccariello as co-chairmen. Ray Demeo is serving as golf chairman along with Dick Sutherland, Paul Luizzo and Jack Duffey.

The raffle committee is headed by Bill Hannan with Mickey Demeo and Tom Rooney, co-chairmen. General committee members include Hugh Cosgrove, John Walsh, Bill Matthews, Ed Desmond, John Bornes, Jim Troy, Paul Reilley, Frank Duffey, Gene Mullen and Joe DeGeorge. Tickets are available from any of the committee members.

Traffic Commission Reserves Opinion On Eleven Petitions

Eleven petitions were presented for the consideration of the Traffic Commission last Monday evening in the office of Willard S. Pratt, Director of Public Works.

In line with the commission's policy, its vote on them will not be made public in advance of the time the report is made to the Board of Aldermen.

One petition involved the possible hiring of a public relations consultant to administer the new anti-jaywalking campaign.

Another one was the proposal for traffic light protection at the intersection of Harvard st. and Newtonville ave., Newtonville, long a bone of contention. At present there are stop signs calling for vehicles on Newtonville ave. to halt before entering or crossing Harvard st. Mothers of school-age youngsters in the area have complained that these signs do not afford protection enough, and they call attention to the frequency with which collisions occur at that point.

The petition for the traffic lights was offered by Frank A. Gorman, 47 Harvard st., Newtonville, through Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell.

Still another controversial petition was a request by merchants of Newton Corner in connection with the frequently changed bus stop at the corner.

The location was shifted for the third time on July 26, after the merchants had protected against its being in front of their places of business.

Aldermen Paul J. Burke and William P. Matthews, in a joint petition, sought a study of the movement of city trucks to the new incinerator.

Alderman Burke has asked the Commission to consider the use of a policewoman at Elm st., Auburndale ave. and River st. in West Newton.

Local Woman At VFW Auxiliary '66 Convention

Mrs. Sam Cohen, 15 Kerr Path, Newton Centre, past national president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, will be in New York City Aug. 22-26 to take part in the 1966 VFW Auxiliary convention.

A special feature of the get-together will be the presentation of the 1966 "Unsung Heroine" Award on Thursday, Aug. 25, to an American woman serving in the armed forces, or as a volunteer, overseas. The winner will be selected from entries filed by the U. S. overseas commands, and will be announced at that time.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, founded in 1914, today has more than 400,000 members.

Rev. Harding To Be Preacher For Service Aug. 14

The Rev. Robert J. Harding of the Centrai Congregational Church, will preach next Sunday, August 14th, at the Newton Union Summer Service which will be held at 10 o'clock at the First Unitarian Society, Washington Street, West Newton. The organist for the service will be Clendenning Smith and Paul W. Wiggin, tenor, will be the soloist.

Mr. Harding has served pastorates in New Hampshire and Vermont, and was pastor of the Brattleboro Church before coming to Newtonville. In addition to his pastoral duties, Rev. Harding has been active in a variety of Congregational Conferences, also interdenominational and community responsibilities.

In Vermont, he served at the conference as director, conference president, preacher, chaplain and director of youths camps. In work with other denominations, he has been president and vice-president of the County Council of Churches and has also participated in church radio programs and worship services at local mental institutions and Homes for the Aged.

Mr. Harding was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and received his A.B. from the University of New Hampshire and his BD. from Andover-Newton Theological School. He was ordained in West Lebanon, N. H. in 1946.

During the week of August 12th through 18th, Rev. Harding will be on call for pastoral service for the church cooperating in the union services, and he may be reached at 529-5019 or 244-5395.

Young Newton Players Have Summer Course

All the fun and excitement of summer stock — plus basic training in stagecraft, puppetry and dramatic writing, have comprised the program in theater arts held at the home of Eleanor Boylan, Newton Lower Falls, director of The Young Newton Players.

Children from several Boston suburbs have been spending the month of July studying theater craft with Mrs. Boylan who founded this popular children's theater group and whose winter programs attract large audiences at the Newton South High School.

Says Mrs. Boylan: "We include a little bit of all the things that make theater so exciting — acting, singing, pantomime, puppetry, and end up each day with a swim in my pool! We're winding up this week with a show for parents and friends, in which we'll do scenes from past shows of The Young Newton Players. Each child will take three or four different roles. Lots of fun and a great challenge!"

Mrs. Boylan, who has been connected with the field of children's theater for more than twenty-five years, both here and in New York, plans to revive one of her most successful shows "Sara Crewe" next fall at the Newton South High School.

Clerk-Tallyman

Richard J. Hennessey, 1269 Boylston St., Newton Upper Falls, passed a civil service examination for the rating of clerk-tallyman with the State Public Works Department. Eighty-four men were examined, but only 34, less than half the number, had passing marks.

Newton's MDC Assessment Second Only To Boston's

Newton had the second highest MDC assessment cost of the 50 cities and towns in the Metropolitan District during 1965, Robert Q. Crane, state treasurer and receiver general, reported this week.

Newton's over-all assessment in 1965 was $1,471,776, of which $492,522 was for water; $382,072 for parks and boulevards, and $597,181 for sewerage.

Only Boston's $9,320,357 assessment was higher. Newton was higher than such larger cities as Cambridge, Somerville and Lynn.

In the assessments for the entire Metropolitan District, $26,281,333 was charged in 1965, the report by Crane showed.

The report revealed that Newton used 4,104,354 gallons of water in 1964. In 1964 the cost of water to the city was $485,175, which is $7,437 less than the cost in 1965.

Newton's cost for parks for 1965 was $75,193 more than 1964 and the cost of sewerage in 1965 was $25,960 more than the previous year. The 1965 charges were based on the 1960 census figures, which listed Newton at 92,384.

Driver Learns Hard Way; Don't Trust Empty Bus

Edward M. Dalrymple, 57, of 16 Henderson st., Somerville, was taken to Newton Wellesley Hospital for treatment of a hip injury.

Dalrymple told police he was en route to Oak Hill and there were no passengers on the bus. He parked on Walnut st. to make a telephone call and on his return while boarding the vehicle, the bus rolled down an incline and pinned him against a utility pole.

Patrolmen Peter J. Annese and Eugene E. Paoletti took him to the hospital. There the driver said that when he parked he turned the wheels toward the curb, shut off the motor and pulled up the emergency brake.

Cook-Out For Youngsters Of Peabody Camp

With the help of good summer weather, volunteer workers and the sponsorship of the Newton Recreation Department, 19 children of the Peabody School Day Camp were able to enjoy a special cookout on their grounds this season.

Wednesday, August 3, was an exciting and happy day for the children. After being instructed in the rules to follow at a barbecue, they happily watched their meal being grilled. Each then enjoyed hamburgers, hot dogs, potato chips and kool-ade. After the meal all had sugar daddy lollipops and later listened and danced to various records.

Special guests at the cookout, Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney and Robert E. Doherty, recreation supervisor for the camp, helped make the camp's festivities even brighter.

The program's instructors are Roger Mazur, Jane Shuster and Nancy Corman. Volunteers aiding at the cookout were Margie Shaer, Carol Rosoff, Susan Carp, Ellen Zimbel, Barbara Paul, Jean Olsen, Paula Ellitove and Linda Ginsberg. Also instrumental in turning out a successful day were Joseph Casey and Norman Dewire.

Small Boy Is Injured When Struck By Car

Five year old Samuel T. Bean, of 4 Mechanic st., Newton Upper Falls, was injured last week when he was struck by a car on Elliot st. near his home.

He was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for an injured left leg, right eye and contusions.

Police said the driver of the car, Bertil E. Gustafson, 55, of 148 Parish rd., Needham, was going south on Elliot st. He told police the boy darted from the sidewalk into his front right fender.

In other accidents, a car police said was operated by Kevin J. Morrell, 26, of 69 Faxon rd., Newton, collided with a parked car owned by Richard F. Fellone, 5 Lake Shore dr., Sudbury.

Police said the accident occurred Thursday in front of 850 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, when Morrell's car rammed the rear of the Fellone car, forcing it onto the lawn at 848 Walnut st. Only property damage was listed.

A hit-run accident occurred at the municipal parking lot in the rear of 1345 Washington st., West Newton. Lucille Dandenault, 126 Washington ave., Waltham, told police her vehicle was hit by an unknown driver. The rear of her auto was damaged.

2 Are Hurt In Car Accidents

Two persons were injured in separate auto accidents in Newton during a 24 hour period this week.

Eleanor Marchand, 50, of 27 Dale st., Newtonville, suffered an injured right wrist when the car in which she was riding with her husband, Arthur, 52, was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Irene G. Lebowich, 55, of 34 Evelyn rd., Newton, at the corner of Harvard st. and Newtonville ave., Newtonville.

In a two-car rear-end collision at Boylston st. and Langley rd., Newton Centre, Earl R. Luxton, 44, of 36 Pembroke rd., Weston, suffered a neck "whiplish." The driver of the other vehicle, Arthur Clifford, Old State blvd., Sanbornville, N. H., did not claim injury.

Held In $2000 On Forged Check Larceny Charges

Richard J. Thomes, 20, of 39 Fabyan st., Dorchester, was held in $2000 bail last week at his arraignment in Newton District Court on charges of uttering a forged check and larceny of $94.46.

Judge Julian L. Yesley continued the case until Aug. 15 and ordered Thomes remanded to jail in lieu of bail.

The youth was picked up on a warrant by Boston police and was brought to Newton by Insps. Charles W. Lynch and John B. Shorton.

Highlanders Win Third Pennant

The Highlanders are owners of the Newton Twi American Division for the third consecutive season, having trounced the Newton Centre Club 8 to 0 last Friday night at Newton Centre Playground.

Bill Close, of the victors, pitched a three-hitter, and had good batting support from Dave Greenblatt.

Bill was in command all the way. He fanned nine and walked only three.

Marketmen Join Police In Aiding Pedestrian Control

Public relations representatives of the various major chain food markets in Newton met recently at the invitation of Police Chief Philip Purcell and Capt. Richard F. Donahue at police headquarters to outline a program of public education regarding the pedestrian control ordinance.

The Newton Board of Aldermen have voted in favor of implementing the pedestrian control legislation.

Previous safety education through the schools and safety programs in civic, service, and Women's Clubs, have for years suggested the proper use of signals and crosswalks on a voluntary basis. Now, it becomes necessary to educate all citizens and at present, there is not a central agency that can reach all.

As a result, the chain stores have been requested to assist by imprinting a safety message on the plain shopping bag, which is valued and saved by the homemaker for re-use. It is thought that as the homemaker reads such messages, she will pass them on to the entire family.

The group discussed various messages and thier impact value with a possibility that a graphic symbol might be devised to picture or give greater value to the crosswalk. The representatives of the stores are expert in the field of public relations and agreed to work toward a program to assist in this area.

The meeting was called to order by Captain Richard F. Donahue who outlined the need for an educational program. Chief Purcell thanked the group for their interest and pointed out that in requesting their help, he was not asking for Newton alone, but that any effort should be state-wide, with the thought that our citizens travel out-of-town and visitors from all parts of the state visit Newton, and that safety education is good public service everywhere.

Sergeant William Verduccio, Sergeant Thomas Dargan and Safety Officer Charles Feeley outlined the proposed program and its continuity through the efforts of the chain stores, schools, service, civic and women's clubs, churches, etc.

George F. Stitt, Inspector of the Registry of Motor Vehicles and past-Commander, Massachusetts Department American Legion, outlined the highway safety plans of the American Legion and the interest of the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

Captain John N. McMullen, Newton Police Prosecutor, endorsed the action to educate the public to the desirability of safe crossings rather than the issuance of violation notice. The Captain pointed out that the violator may be one step away from an accident.

Captain Donahue announced at the conclusion that a second meeting will be held on August 23rd in order that the group could confer with both printers and art people to implement the bag proposal.

Representing the various chain stores were: Clifford Jones, Stop and Shop Co., William Parkins, Star Market Co., Henry Knight, Atlantic and Pacific Co., Fred Mavilia, Atlantic and Pacific Co., Lawrence Gladstone, Elm Farm Foods Co., Robert Clark, First National Stores.

Public Health Nurses To Vote On Representatives

Public Health nurses will vote at Newton City Hall Monday to decide whether the Massachusetts Nurses Association will represent them in collective bargaining negotiations with the city.

Under a new statute, Newton city employees have the right to have collective bargaining units, but not the right to strike.

Elections for other city employees were planned for Tuesday but have now been postponed until Aug. 23.

Each unit will select a representative for collective bargaining with the city and elections will be conducted between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. and will be non-competitive. The elections will be conducted under the supervision of the State Labor Relations Commission.

Due to elect are the following groups: Local 800, AFL-CIO, State, City and Municipal Employees seeking to represent the labor-working force.

Newton Foreman's Assoc. seeking to represent the foremen in the various city departments; Newton City Hall Associates, seeking to represent the clerical employees, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 103, is seeking to represent the city wiring inspectors.

Asst. City Solicitor Martin E. Greenblatt is representing the city in the labor relations and Atty. Leon J. Kowal, Sr., of 73 Tremont st., Boston, is the special counsel representing the city in labor negotiations. Kowal was hired especially for this purpose with funds appropriated by the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Girl Volunteers Thanked For Service To Hospital

Several young girls from Newton, serving as volunteers throughout the summer vacation at Beth Israel Hospital, were among those publicly thanked at a luncheon held last week.

The luncheon and meeting helped launch a "campaign of urgency" to enroll additional volunteers for the expanded operations of the newly renovated Outpatient Department at the hospital.

Mrs. Allen S. Lewis, president of the Women's Auxiliary, which is sponsoring the program, presided at the event.

Dr. Mitchell T. Rabkin, general director, noted that in addition to saving thousands of dollars for the hospital, the participation of volunteers provides the added warmth and personal attention which is the hallmark of a well-run clinic.

This gives to the volunteers themselves a greater understanding of the complex functions of the hospital, Dr. Rabkin stated.

In thanking the Newton girl volunteers, Dr. Rabkin expressed the gratitude of the hospital for their contributions and noted that "not only are we grateful for the very important work and their willing attitude but for the attractiveness of this group of bright young ladies."

Mrs. Sidney J. Allman of Newton is acting director of volunteer service at the hospital. She is assisted by Miss Judi Albom of Brighton.

The volunteer program embraces a number of patient services in Admitting, X-Ray, Information and Emergency Unit.

The young candy stripers help in transporting patients to and from X-ray, escorting patients to their rooms from the Admitting Office. They also assist with the visitor control program.

In the laboratories, some of the students who are biology and chemistry majors set up test tubes and other specified equipment for the doctors and technicians.

In several of the administrative offices, Dietary, Clinical Services, Administrative Planning Services, Medical Records and the Outpatient Clinics, the volunteers are giving many hours to numerous clerical duties.

Hospital personnel who work closely with the summer volunteers attended the party to express their "thanks."

Dahl Graduates From Air Force Pilot Course

Second Lieutenant Francis W. Dahl, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Dahl, 47 Central ave., Newtonville, has been graduated from the U.S. Air Force F-4C Phantom II pilot course at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz.

Lieutenant Dahl, whose instruction included tactical air-operations with the Air Force's fastest operational aircraft, is being assigned to MacDill AFB, Fla. His unit supports the Tactical Air Command mission providing firepower and other air support to U.S. Army forces.

The lieutenant, a graduate of New Hampton (N. H.) Preparatory School, received a B.A. degree in economics from Dennison University, Granville, Ohio, in 1964 and was commissioned there upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Boys' Club Wins Pennant On Its Third Attempt

Newton Boys' Club won the Twi National Division pennant last Monday night thanks in great part to Bill Gerity's 4 to 0, one-hit, win over St. Bernard's.

The decisive game was played on West Newton Common.

Bill, who will enroll at Boston College next month, has been a consistent winner while pitching for Our Lady's. The only hit off him Monday was a bouncer down the first baseline in the initial inning.

And in the second inning, Gerity drove in an important run when he singled to score Ed Drew, who had singled and stolen second.

The victory was sweet indeed, having come after three attempts to clinch the title.

LBJ GIVEN POWER TO CALL RESERVISTS

THE SENATE voted Wednesday to arm President Johnson with power to call individual ready reservists for military service in Viet Nam without a declaration of National emergency.

The authority to call reservists with no prior active duty except training was added to a $58.2 billion defense money bill as the Senate pushed towards a final vote. It was the second largest appropriation ever voted for a government department.

The call-up proposal was sponsored by the Senate's ranking military experts: Sens. Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.) and Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.). It would provide authority for reserve callups through June 30, 1968.

The vote for was announced as 66 to 21 ng the callup authority to the big money bill.

MEANY URGES AIRLINES STRIKE END

AFL-CIO PRESIDENT George Meany urged striking airline machinists Wednesday to "secure your great victory" by accepting an agreement reached by their negotiators early this week.

A union source also said Wednesday there was growing support for the agreement among local leaders of the 35,400 members of the International Association of Machinists who will vote Friday on ratification.

MARKET DOWN THIRD DAY IN ROW

THE STOCK MARKET reached a new 1966 low Wednesday in its third straight day of losses. The news of the hike in interest by banks throughout the country and the continued uncertainty with the Vietnam situation contributed to the market's downward trend.

Only the fact that there were bargain-hunters among the traders in the late hours of the market day kept the decline from growing to the dimensions of Tuesday's sizeable plunge.

At the close, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 4.24, at 819.59 the lowest point since August, 1964.

VEGAS CASINO DENIES UNDERWORLD LINKS

THE PRESIDENT of the plush, $25 million Caesar's Palace Hotel denied Wednesday that underworld figures had hidden interests in the newly-opened casino in Las Vegas. Nathan Jacobson made the statement as he and three other hotel officials entered a closed-door hearing called by the Nevada Gaming Commission into allegations that casino profits were being skimmed into the underworld.

DANGEROUS RADIUM CAPSULE MISSING

THE PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE said Wednesday it had launched an all-out search for a missing radium capsule capable of inflicting "severe radiation burns."

The capsule disappeared some time between July 26 and Aug. 12 while being shipped from Dallas, Tex., to New York City. It was described as being one inch in length and three-eighths of an inch in diameter.

Meanwhile, another vial that apparently contained radioactive cobalt was found Wednesday by two men cleaning up a lot in Glendale, Calif. The radioactive substance, shielded in the capped, lead bottle, posed no danger to the community, police stressed.

BEATLES AT SUFFOLK DOWNS TONIGHT

THE BEATLES are due to arrive in Boston some time this afternoon for their appearance in the evening at Suffolk Downs. Where they will arrive — or when — or how — are big mysteries. Their plane from Toronto may set down in Providence, at Logan Airport or at Bedford Airport. So secret are their plans that they may even cross up everybody and land at Norwood Airport — but Norwood hardly seems a likely touchdown point.

Since the infield at the spacious horse racing plant in East Boston is so large, the best guess is that the mopheads will fly a helicopter to Suffolk Downs where they will greet an expected throng of 25,000 squealing Beatlemaniacs.

JOHNSON IN NEW ENGLAND SATURDAY

PRESIDENT JOHNSON will be in New England Saturday, but there is little chance that he will visit Massachusetts, although Bay State officials are not yet ready to rule out the possibility he may make a quick call here.

The President's weekend plans — still tentative — call for him to give a major speech at the University of Rhode Island in the morning, then fly to Bennington, Vt., and then on to Manchester, N. H., and Lewiston, Me. He may spend the night at Bar Harbor, the famed Maine resort on Penobscot Bay, although this is not definite.

BOSTON ASKED TO HIRE MORE NEGROES

A NEGRO LEADER called on Boston's Mayor John F. Collins Wednesday to place more members of minorities in city employment.

Kenneth I. Guscott, president of the Boston chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People presented his proposals at a legislative hearing. Guscott appeared before the special House committee formed two weeks ago to investigate the problems of the predominantly-Negro Roxbury and South End districts.

Guscott said a federal investigation in January revealed that 461 white persons were employed by the Boston Housing Authority, compared to only 19 Negroes.

He charged that the Housing Authority jobs were filled "by the parish priests and the political ward leaders."

VIET TERRORIST'S TOLL RISES

THE EXPLOSIVE CRASH of a bomb-laden U. S. Marine plane in a sleepy village and two Viet Cong terrorist attacks Wednesday took a heavy tool of civilian lives and injured scores more.

At least 51 civilians were killed. Three Americans were among the 178 persons injured. The pilot of the Marine plane escaped injury.

Twenty-four civilians died and 15 more were injured when a Marine F8 Crusader, carrying 1,000-pound bombs, crashed shortly after takeoff from the Da Nang air base for a strike at the Communists.

In Hue, about 60 miles to the north, a terrorist bomb exploded in the midst of a crowd at the city fair grounds, killing 26 persons and wounding 151 more.

One Vietnamese was killed and 12 other persons, including three American sentries, were wounded in a Viet Cong hit-and-run attack on the sprawling U. S. Tan Son Nhut air base on the outskirts of Saigon late Wednesday.

TV VIEWERS AWAIT MOON PICTURES

TODAY IS D-DAY for the Lunar Orbiter whose cameras are expected to take some historic pictures of the back side of the moon and other photos of possible sites for the landing of America's spacemen.

U. S. scientists are confident that the pictures transmitted from the orbiting space craft will be adequate, but they don't expect the first moon scenes, due to be transmitted directly to American television viewers, "will be as fancy as we hope."

Tentative television schedules are between 5:18 p.m. and 6:03 p.m. and again between 8:58 p.m. and 9:23 p.m.

Anti-Jaywalk Law Will Pack Punch Next Month

Newton's new anti-jaywalking law will go into effect shortly after school reopens next month.

An extensive educational campaign will be conducted to acquaint local residents with the fact that besides risking their lives they will also be fined if they disregard a traffic signal light or wander out into the street in the path of an oncoming automobile.

It also will be a violation of the law to push the button on a pedestrian signal light when you don't intend to cross the street and make use of the signal.

Standing in the highway to hitch-hike a ride or to solicit a driver or passenger in an automobile will be forbidden under the anti - jaywalking ordinance.

The fine for violating this law will be $1 for each of the first three offences and $2 for each subsequent offence.

An erring pedestrian would be given a ticket by a police officer and would mail his fine to the Newton district court.

Anyone who refused to identify himself and accept the ticket would face arrest and a stiff fine in court.

Newton's anti - jaywalking law has been on the books for more than two years, but it has not been enforced up to now because it was felt the people were not familiar with it.

But now the city's residents are expected to familiarize themselves with it during the next month and then start obeying it.

Enforcement of the law is being delayed until after school reopens next month so that the children may be instructed in their classrooms on the new law and what they are expected to do.

The provisions in the anti-jaywalking law are relatively simple.

You must obey a traffic signal light or the directions of a police officer on traffic duty.

Hit In U.S. Attack On Own Patrol Ship

A Newton Coast Guard officer received his baptism of fire in Vietnam last week and, unfortunately, it was American guns that annointed him.

Lt. (jg) Ross Bell, of 360 Waltham st., West Newton, was among five Coast Guardsman wounded last Thursday when two U.S. planes mistakenly attacked the Coast Guard cutter off the coast of Vietnam.

The captain of the cutter and another crewman were killed in the attack which took place only 10 miles from the North Vietnamese border.

Although the full extent of Bell's wounds are still not known, a Coast Guard spokesman said he will be hospitalized in Danang for about three weeks.

Lt. Bell was born in Waltham, the son of Bar-

46,364 On List Of Voters Here

Newton has 46,364 registered voters eligible to cast ballots in the Sept. 13 primary, the city election commission reported yesterday. This is 803 less than were enrolled for the primary two years ago.

A total of 1123 persons were added to Newton's voting rolls between June 1 and the close of registration for the primary last Saturday night. Of that number, 436 enrolled Saturday, just before the deadline.

Peabody Less Than Candid In Replies on TV Program

If politics is a game, then former Governor Endicott Peabody, who likes to refer to his Harvard football career, certainly violated the American tradition of fair play and clean sportsmanship during a televised panel interview on Channel 4 the other day when he was deliberately careless with the facts and the truth.

Peabody's charge that his U. S. Senatorial opponent, Mayor John F. Collins, is not as good a Democrat as he has been, was not onlly inaccurate and less than candid and forthright, but ludicrous and ridiculous, coming from a man who admittedly was a registered Republican at the outset of his own political career.

Burglars Hit Many Homes During Week

Thefts of valuable jewelry from Newton homes were reported to police during the past week.

Mrs. Rose Ladge of 42 Donna rd., Newton Centre, notified police that jewelry valued at between $30,000 and $35,00 had disappeared from her home.

She said the jewelry, including pearls, rings, watches, rings and brooches, had been kept in a locked safe.

Police were unable to find any evidence that a forced entrance had been made into the dwelling.

Newtonite Is Foreign Duty Career Girl

Miss Margaretta M. Keyes of Newton recently was sworn into the Foreign Service of the U. S. Information Agency at Washington, D.C., by A. A. Covins, acting director of foreign service personnel.

Miss Keyes was born in Roston and attended the Windsor School in that city.

She received a BA degree from Smith College and took a secretarial course at the Hickox School in Boston, finishing in 1962.

Before joining the U.S. Information Agency, Miss Keyes was secretary at the office of Inter-American Studies at Harvard University. She also assisted in administering the Department of State's Latin American Political Leaders Project.

30 Newton Students Make British Exchange Visits

This summer will long be remembered by thirty Newton students and a similar number from England for their happy participation in an exchange program which featured visits to the British Isles by the Newtonites and to this area by the young students from Stockport, England.

Together with their advisers, John M. Livingston and Elizabeth Massey of Newton High School, the Newton students left Boston on June 30 for their month in England.

A chartered bus was waiting for them at London Airport, and they were driven through Windsor up to Oxford for a two-day stay. After the Oxford visit, they went on to Stratford-on-Avon for two more days of sightseeing in Shakespeare's birthplace and at the famous Warwick Castle.

They celebrated the Fourth of July by attending Shakespeare's Henry IV, Part I, after which they observed Independence by dumping a pound of tea into the Avon River.

After four days of youth hosteling in Oxford and Stratford, the group went up to the industrial city of Stockport (near Manchester) for a three week stay with the Stockport families whose teenagers would come later for homestays in Newton.

The Stockport Youth Travel Association and the British Association for the Experiment In International Living arranged the homestays in Stockport.

Mr. Livingston of the Newton group considers that the "homestay" is the most important part of a program of this sort. "An intensive sharing of experience and adjustment to a slightly different manner of living is very important in the maturation of anyone."

While the group was in Stockport, a civic welcome was provided by Mr. Brindley, the mayor, and a party was given at Lyme Park, the beautiful former estate of Lord Newton now used by the Borough of Stockport for the enjoyment of its citizens.

Many of the Newton students traveled with their English families and friends

Rev. Klotzle To Preach At Hingham Church

The Rev. Dana E. Klotzle, of Edward Road, West Newton, will occupy the pulpit of historic Old Ship Church in Hingham at the morning service this Sunday, Aug. 21, while the regular minister, the Rev. Brandoch L. Lovely is on vacation in the West. The service is at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Klotzle is associate director of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee, with headquarters in Boston.

Old Ship Church, built in 1681, is the oldest wooden structure still in continuous use as a place of worship in the United States. It was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1962 by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

The church, "gathered" in 1635 as the First Parish in Hingham is open for visitors this month, each afternoon, except Monday, from 5 o'clock. Admission is free.

175-Yard Ace Is Carded By Local Golfer

A Newton senior golfer has hit into the magic circle of Ace Holers and wears his new-found fame modestly.

Charles R. Walker, 50, of 139 Oak St., Newton Upper Falls, was warming up for next week's Senior Amateur Championship tournament, when he holed the ace.

Playing a two-some with Jocko V. Ananian, of Belmont, at the Pine Brook Country Club in Weston last Monday morning, Walker unleashed a beautiful 8-iron shot for the pin, 175 yards away on the 13th hole.

The ball zipped into the air and headed for the green where it landed, bounced gently, then rolled right into the cup.

Sam Rizzo, the caddy, witnessed the Hole-in-One with partner Ananian. Incidentally, Walker carded an 81 for the round.

Crystal Lake Is Scene Of Outstanding Water Show

The Crystal Lake beach area was crowded with onlookers as the annual water show got under way recently. The opening address was given by John Penny, Director of Recreation for the City of Newton.

Purpose of the show was to demonstrate the rudiments of water safety from beginner's swimming through life saving rescues and survival swimming skills. A demonstration of the positions used in paddle board rescues was given by Gilbert Champagne with the assistance of William Neely. The highlight of the show was a performance by Al Houston, in which Houston swam through flames created by an ignited gasoline slick on the water.

During the water show, which took place on the beach and dock area, newly acquired sailboats were seen on the lake. The Sprite and Three Squalls are owned by the city for the use of sailing students. The fifth boat, a Sunfish, is provided by Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, for the use of the Red Cross sailing instructor with the students. Instruction was provided by Jeffrey Bruce, American Red Cross small craft instructor. The Red Cross swimming instructors were Michelle Kaczynski, Gail ... ris, Mrs. Mabel E. Raum, and Mrs. Swanlund.

Those taking an active part in the show were as follows:

as far afield as Wales, Scotland, and Ireland.

After the three weeks in Stockport, the group traveled to London for five days of hosteling, shopping, and sightseeing. During the London stay, Mr. Arnold Gregory, member of Parliament from Stockport, took the visiting Americans on a tour of the Houses of Parliament. A few were given gallery passes in order to observe parliamentary debates.

The Newtonites returned home on July 30, and on August 5 the Stockport group, led by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robertson of the Stockport Youth Travel Association and of Stockport schools, and Alan Hobson, also a school master, arrived in Newton.

The Stockport and American groups were greeted at an informal reception by Mayor Basbas. On the 20th of August, the groups will attend concerts and hootenannies in the Berkshires. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hull of 41 Berkeley street, Newton, will give a good-bye party for the English group at the end of the exchange visit.

The Newton group consisted of the following: John M. Livingston and Elizabeth Massey of Newton High School, the leaders.

Also Joanne Grossman, 70 Judith rd., secretary; Tirzah Agassi, 45 Bennington st., William Alford, 910 Commonwealth ave., Paul Barron, 479 Chestnut st., Stephen Bolster, 30 Valley rd., Lexington; Karen Brissett, 20 Cambria rd.; Patricia Caminos, 83 Fairmont st.; Steven Carter, 48 Eldridge st.; Diane Daniels, 94 Moffat rd.; Nancy Diamon, 55 Prentice rd.; Deborah Halliday, 22 Islington rd.

Community Center Summer Program Busy And Varied

The summer camp programs of the Newton Community Center Inc. has been underway since June 27th, and continued at a rapid pace.

Day Camp under the direction of William Jesdale has accomadated over 150 boys and girls 7 - 13 years of age daily, excluding Saturdays and Sundays. Mr. Jesdale has been assisted by Miss Vicki Hambro, Miss Patricia Whitehouse, Paul Milmed, Eric Reiner, and Anthony Quintiliani.

James Cempention is serving as waterfront director and Miss Alison Karsh as arts and crafts coordinator.

During the past summer a new undertaking in this Westwood based camp, has been the inclusion of a number of Roxbury youngsters in conjunctions with the Roxbury Multi-Service Center. Roxbury children have been bussed to the Community Center daily and join their specific groups for the trip to the campsite.

Campers have enjoyed Arts and Crafts, a climb of Big Blue, a Red Cross swim instruction program in addition to free swimming in the reservation pond, archery and other athletics, cook-outs, color war, trips to Duxbury Beach, the Whaling Museum, Science Museum, the Constitution, Bunker Hill, Peabody Museum, the Swan Boats, and other points of interest.

Among the highlights of the summer, is the start of overnight camping for one evening, Campers stay at the site for a designated evening where they participate in preparing an evening meal and breakfast and participate in varied activity associated with an overnight camping experience.

Kinder Kamp, under the direction of James C. Callahan, continues to function with it's largest enrollment in the five year history at it's present site. The camp, located at the spacious Warren Junior High School facilities is serving over 137 boys and girls between the ages of 3½ to six daily, excluding Saturday and Sundays.

Assistants to Mr. Callahan include: Misses Evelyn Mandell, Ann Evans, Joanne Graceffa, Kathy Gustafson, Susan Dilma, and Paul Winn.

Other staff members are: Misses Susan Bradbury, Susan Antonellis, Cindy O'Connell, Mary Keating, June Coughlin, Susan Dilan, Ellen Berezin, Marjorie Dashef, Evelyn Schifman, Sandra Lofchie, Rona Foster, Carol Lipman, Susan O'Connell and Keren Hahm. Also: Ricky Coughlin, Bob Aston, William Bryne, Peter Weinberg, Roy Boudreau, Chris Boyle, and Henry Mead.

There have been many highlights at Kinder Kamp over the summer months. Among these have been the parents days which have included a Wild West, Carnival, and Circus themes. Children have participated in cook-outs, trips, arts and crafts, and varied indoor and outdoor play sessions. The camps space trolley has proven to be the favorite piece of equipment among the campers.

An added emphasis on Red Cross Swimming instruction provided by Mrs. Melvin Norris has added to the camper's enjoyment. The availability of Mrs. Murry Janower as a consultant for staff training in programing has enhanced the varied activity for children.

Both the Day Camp and Kinder Kamp Programs will end for this year tomorrow August 19th. Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Agency Camp Director has coordinated the overall camp programs. Mrs. Stanley Aston, assisted by Miss Harriet Katz and Mrs. Paul Stenberg have handled registrations and administration details.

Governor Volpe Sees Bright Days Ahead For City Of Newton

Governor John A. Volpe, meeting with Mayor Monte G. Basbas and other city officials Tuesday morning at City Hall, for the purpose of signing the Newton Advance Planning Contract, expressed the opinion that the procedure was a forerunner to a great future for the Garden City.

Said the Governor: "It is an honor and a privilege to be here with this distinguished company this morning in the office of Mayor Basbas.

"I am certain that we all agree that this is a most important occasion for the City of Newton and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"As for myself, I am delighted to have this opportunity to participate in the signing of this contract under our new State-aided program for the development of open blighted areas into attractive and valuable tax resources for the community involved.

"I cannot help but take some pride in the fact that this unusual program was conceived in my first administration, and brought to fruition in my present administration.

"Under this program — we now possess an additional tool to battle blight and decay in areas not eligible for assistance from the Federal government.

"The funds we are advancing to the City of Newton are to be used for survey and administrative expenses to determine the feasibility of the proposed project.

"We are hopeful, of course, that the information to be derived from this loan will assist in the conversion of this non-taxable area off Route 128 in Newton Lower Falls into an industrial complex that in time will bring new revenues into the City's treasury.

"I understand that the Newton Lower Falls Project Commercial Redevelopment Survey and Planning Program was first proposed because the area is unused, vacant and blighted land.

"This area currently is of little value because of its condition and poor and limited access which was restricted by the recent widening and improvement of Route 128.

"I have been informed that this project is unique in that it is the first State-aided project that adjoins a proposed Federal urban renewal project.

"When and if combined — they could—in time—produce a most desirable, strategic and productive site for improvement and optimum use.

"This area is highly likely to become very marketable real estate once the problem of access and site improvement are resolved through urban renewal. This is certainly my wish — as I know it is yours.

"I must also compliment the City of Newton, Mayor Basbas, and all those who participated in any way to bring about this moment.

"This is still another illustration of how the State working with the cities and towns can construct a better Massachusetts for all our citizens. For surely what is good for the economy of Newton — is good for the booming economy of the entire State.

"My congratulations — again — to all of you for having the foresight to plan for the future of your community. When this project is completed, it will contribute in a great measure not only to further beautifying this Garden City — but also to your tax base.

"As always — the citizens of Newton have my best wishes for a prosperous future."

bara and the late Robert Bell, and the grandson of Dr. Conrad Bell, of Waltham. He graduated from Newton High School in 1956 and entered the Coast Guard upon graduation.

After serving four years as an enlisted man, he attended Northeastern University, and then enrolled in the Coast Guard Officer's' Candidate School. He won his commission last January and left for duty in Vietnam in July.

He was on a training cruise aboard the cutter when the attack occured. He was to have command of a similar 80-foot cutter in the future.

The attack occured while the cutter was running off the Vietnamese coast, watching American planes attack coastal areas in North Vietnam, and patrolling for enemy trawlers and junks.

A U.S. patrol plane moved down the coastline toward the cutter. A flare ship moved in and lit up the area. Then according to published reports, two American fighter jets made three strafing passes in 15 minutes, firing rockets and 20 mm. cannons.

The cutter was running without lights, which is standard operating procedure in enemy waters on a war patrol. When the attack seemed imminent, the cutter sent up illumination flares and standard recognition signals, to no avail.

An investigation is presently underway in Vietnam to determine the cause of the tragic mistake and to make sure it doesn't happen again if possible.

Bell is married to the former Suzanne Thierry of Newtonville. They have two sons, Eric, 4, and Jeffrey, 2. He has a brother, Jameson, an enlisted man serving with the Coast Guard.

Golden Text In Science Church To Be On Mind

"Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite." This well-known verse from Psalm 147 is the Golden Text for this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

Included among the explanatory readings from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will be these lines: "Nothing is new to Spirit. Nothing can be novel to eternal Mind, the author of all things, who from all eternity knoweth His own ideas. Deity was satisfied with His work. How could He be otherwise, since the spiritual creation was the out growth, the emanation, of His infinite self-containment and immortal wisdom?"

Endicott Peabody supported Republican Arthur W. Coolidge against Democrat Paul A. Dever.

Endicott Peabody supported Republican Henry Cabot Lodge against Democrat David I. Walsh.

Perhaps the TV panelists were unfamiliar with Peabody's actual record. Possibly they didn't want to embarrass him by backing him into a corner when he skirted the truth. Whatever the reason, they allowed Peabody to get away with answers and statements which created a distorted and false impression.

For example, Peabody was asked if he would support Collins in next fall's election campaign if Collins defeats him in the September primary.

Peabody did not make a direct answer to the question. He said the record shows that Chub Peabody supports the winners of Democratic primaries.

The fact is that the record shows just the opposite — at least when Peabody has been the loser in the primary.

What the record does show is that Peabody has been defeated three times in Democratic primaries and that on two of the three occasions he sulked in his tent and refused to give any support to the candidates who had defeated him for Democratic nominations.

This is in complete conflict with what Peabody himself stated during his interview on Channel 4. But it is a fact, and it can be corroborated by two prominent Democrats who have never forgiven Peabody for refusing to endorse them after they bested him in primary fights.

In 1958, Edward J. McCormack, now running for Attorney General, defeated Peabody for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Peabody then flatly refused to support or endorse McCormack in his election campaign against the Republican nominee.

This was not an isolated example of Peabody's bitterness after being toppled in a primary.

In 1960, Joseph D. Ward of Fitchburg, now a prominent State Senator and at that time Secretary of State, defeated Peabody for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Peabody, sulking again, then refused to support or endorse Ward against Republican John A. Volpe in the subsequent election campaign.

This undoubtedly is one of the reasons Ward is now campaigning actively and ardently for John F. Collins.

McCormack, who probably will be the Democratic nominee for Governor, and Ward, a very highly respected Democratic leader, can testify as to Peabody's lack of truthfulness in saying that the record shows that he supports the winners of Democratic primaries.

On the third occasion when Peabody was defeated in a Democratic primary, his efforts on behalf of his victorious opponent (this time, Francis X. Bellotti), could only be described as less than enthusiastic. In fact, he hardly did as much as go through the motions.

Getting back to the televised interview, Peabody was asked by one of the panelists why some of the major Democratic leaders such as Senator Edward M. Kennedy are not supporting his candidacy for the U. S. Senate.

"I run on my own," he replied. "I don't expect to run on anybody else's coattails."

These were fine, brave words, but, indeed, they represented quite a switch for Peabody.

Two years ago, at this time, when Senator Ted Kennedy was in a hospital recovering from a broken back, Peabody implored and beseeched Ted to endorse him for renomination against Francis X. Belotti in the Democratic primary.

Senator Kennedy finally complied with the request — reportedly somewhat reluctantly — but consenting because he felt it would be a bad thing for the Democratic party if the Democratic voters rejected a sitting Governor of their own party.

mary. Ted's judgment bVz

Ted was unable to save Peabody from defeat in the priproved right. The rejection of a Democratic Governor by the Democratic voters in a Democratic primary paved the way for the election of a Republican.

But if Ted had followed his own instincts and remained neutral in that primary — if h hadn't yielded to Peabody's appeals — his subsequent endorsement of Bellotti against Volpe would have produced more votes.

It's somewhat difficult for a political leader, even of Ted Kennedy's stature, to oppose a man publicly in a primary and then turn around and endorse him in an election.

The point is that here was one campaign in which Peabody certainly tried to run on somebody else's coattails.

In answering a question as to why he believes he will win the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, Peabody, in substance, said that Collins has not been a good Democrat, that he has not worked for the Democratic party and that he has gone across the party line and worked for a Republican.

The implication you got from Peabody's statement was that Collins periodically has left the Democratic reservation while Peabody has been an unswerving, unwavering Democrat who helped every other Democrat and never lifted a finger for a Republican.

As has been demonstrated above, that isn't quite the way it has been.

Ironically, one Democratic candidate for whom Collins went all-out was named Endicott Peabody. Collins is credited with swinging enough votes to Peabody in the 1962 campaign to achieve his election by a wafer-thin margin. Collins appeared repeatedly on television for Peabody in that campaign.

This writer, who was covering politics for the Boston Post when Endicott Peabody was playing football for Harvard, knows of no instances where Collins ever supported a Republican candidate in his 20 years in public life. If Peabody can cite any specific case, he should name it, not engage in vague innuendo.

Peabody has a right as a free American to support a Republican or to withhold his support from a Democrat who defeats him in a primary.

But he doesn't have the right to campaign for the U. S. Senate on issues which he knows are false, or to insult the voters' intelligence by distorting the facts, or to try to prejudice them by false innuendos.

Peabody declared at the close of the Channel 4 panel interview that the major issue in his campaign is which candidate has the character and courage to be the U. S. Senator.

It is regrettable that some of his answers to the questions put to him on TV didn't reflect the kind of character about which he presumably was speaking.

3 Democratic Wives Make Big Hit on TV

Mrs. Edward J. McCormack, Mrs. John F. Collins and Mrs. Francis X. Bellotti, the wives of three top Democratic candidates, made a big hit when they appeared together on an hour-long televised program on Channel 4.

It was a refreshing kind of show, and it gave the viewer an insight into how three charming women run the homes of the three men who aspire to be Governor, U. S. Senator and Attorney General.

MCormack, Collins and Bellotti all have a steady diet of steak and chicken on the banquet circuit, and the three wives were asked what dish their husbands especially enjoy when they're home for a meal.

McCormack's favorite meal is roast lamb. But Emily McCormack has a problem. One of her son shares his father's enthusiasm for roast lamb, but the other son prefers roast beef so Mrs. McCormack alternates the two dishes.

Bellotti likes steak and also enjoys Italian cooking. However, Maggie Bellotti, who is part Irish and part Norwegian, candidly confessed that she isn't much of an expert at cooking Italian dishes.

What happens if Collins or McCormack or Bellotti calls his wife to say he's bringing a dozen guests home to dinner unexpectedly?

Emily McCormack keeps a well-stocked freezer just for such an emergency and gives them steak and salads.

Bellotti must know by now that it's inadvisable to call with any such news. If he does, his wife, the mother of 12 children, has a ready answer for him. "We already have 12 guests, and the dining room accommodates eight," she informs him.

Did Mary Collins, Emily McCormack and Maggie Bellotti get breakfast for their respective husbands on the day they (the wives) appeared together on television?

Mary Collins did. She explained that she tries — not always successfully — to have a breakfast consisting of juice, coffee and either an egg or cereal, adding that Collins doesn't eat any lunch and that it's usually well into the evening before he has dinner. So Mary Collins tries to get her husband to eat either an egg or cereal although if he's in a rush she sometimes winds up eating it herself.

Maggie Bellotti said she didn't even hear her husband go out that morning, much less get up and get him breakfast. Emily McCormack also confided that her husband had made too early a departure for her to get him breakfast.

Maggie Bellotti had her 12th children while her husband was seeking the Governorship two years ago. Bellotti was out on the campaign trails from early morning until late at night. His family saw nothing of him

When the baby was about three weeks old, Mrs. Bellotti's 8-year-old son asked her: "Does daddy know yet that we've got a new baby?"

Lee Loumos Says:

We have just received a large shipment of new 1967 Sylvania color TV and stereo and I couldn't be more pleased with the quality of the performance and cabinetry. This is unquestionably the finest line of instruments ever put out by this company and this is on the heels of the top ratings that Sylvania received last year. I am happy to personally endorse this make and, to further prove my faith in it, will give an unqualified one year service and parts guarantee to my customers. If you are a regular reader of this column you know that I have often stated that no color TV is better than the care with which it is set up and adjusted. So be good to yourself and buy your color TV now before the fall rush sets in.

New Playground Program Delights Tots At Two Areas

Four and five year old children in the Memorial and Davis School districts have been taking part in the Newton Recreation Department's nursery program for the past six weeks.

Two sessions are conducted daily with activities ranging from finger painting to singing and from nature study to blowing bubbles under the sprinkler.

During the past week the children enjoyed an exciting visit to the local fire station followed by a duck-feeding session at Norumbega Park. Next week an outing to the Franklin Park Children's Zoo is scheduled. In July a bus ride brought the pre-schoolers to the popular Boston Children's Theatre performance of the Magic Orange.

The program, which is the first of its kind conducted by the Recreation Department, is staffed by college work-study students Sandy Jorgensen, Sheila O'Neill, Anne Creeden and Peggy Hanagan. They are being assisted by Newton High School work-study aids — Gail Parker, Sherry Moore, Peter Manson, Thomas Rezzuti, Barbara Eliot. Judy Salvucci and Dwight Wiest.

JOANN GRENNAN

Miss Grennan, Mr. Wallwork Become Engaged

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. John J. Grennon of Plandome, N.Y., which makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss JoAnn Marie Grennan, to Robert F. Wallwork. He is the son of Mrs. Thomas F. Wallwork of Newton Centre and the late Mr. Wallwork.

Granddaughter of Mrs. John F. Sullivan of Jamaica Plain and the late Mr. Sullivan, Miss Grennan is entering her senior year at Boston College.

Mr. Wallwork is also entering his senior year at Boston College, where his fraternity is Alpha Kappa Psi.

A spring wedding is planned.

Miss Betty Boroyan Bride Of Charles Nathaniel Diman

Miss Betty Claire Boroyan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Boroyan of 175 Washington street, Arlington, and Charles Nathanial Diman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Diman of 645 Centre street, Newton, exchange vows at a recent ceremony at Saint James Armenian Apostolic Church in Watertown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line skirted gown of white silk organza. The empire bodice was made with a scoop neckline and embroidered with pearls. The detachable court train was marked with hand-clipped Chantilly lace.

Matching lace petals fashioned the becoming headpiece which held in place her bouffant elbow-length illusion veil. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Jean Movsessian of Watertown was honor maid. The other attendants were Miss Rose Annaian of Arlington, Mrs. Alexander H. Pratt Jr., of Hanover, N.H., Miss Sandra Amboian of Lowell and Miss Margaret Diman of Newton.

Henry J. Boroyan of Arlington served as best man for his brother. Ushering were John Sattelmair of Wayland, Peter Boroyan of Arlington, brother of the bride, John Swanton of Newton, Alexander Pratt Jr., of Hanover, N. H., Jason Blonstein of New York and Robert Rosenbaum of Newton.

After a trip through New Hampshire, the couple will live in Framingham.

(Boris and Milton)

MRS. CHARLES N. DIMAN

LOVELY BRIDE is the former Charlotte Bloch, whose marriage to Mr. Thomas S. Johnson, Jr., of Needham was solemnized at a recent ceremony in the Needham Congregational Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Richard Bloch of Framingham and Mrs. Priscilla Sheehan of Newton. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Johnson, Sr., of 143 Lindberg avenue, Needham. The Blue Hills Country Club, Canton, was the scene of the reception.

Bermuda Trip Follows Lipof - Eames Wedding

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Michael Lipof (Susan Estelle Eames), whose marriage took place recently at the Wellesley Hills Unitarian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Francis Eames of 52 Harrison street, Newton Highlands. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lipof of 189 Carlton road, Waban, are the groom's parents.

Mrs. John Hesson of Needham was her cousin's matron of honor. The bridesmaids included Mrs. Gary Green of Boston and Mrs. Leon Mangono of Billerica.

Paul Lipof of Waban served as best man for his brother, whose ushers were Donald Eames of Newton Highlands, Joel Lipof of Waban, another brother of the groom, and Ronald Andersen of Newton Centre.

The bride was graduated from the Newton Junior College School of Nursing, class of 1966.

Mr. Lipof attended Newton Junior College and Boston University.

MRS. EDWARD M. LIPOF

Burr School Will Have A Large Play Area

Newton is fortunate in its having available a large tract of land for the new Burr School playground, according to Public Building Commissioner Vincent D. Burns, and, because of it, the school will open next year with a playground twice as big as its school yard.

Forty percent of the playground's cost, as is the case with other new school development, will be financed by the School Building Assistance Commission.

Burns points out that the extra large play area is possible because the city finds itself with additional land abutting the school, which is being built on the site of the old Pine st. dump, which for 50 years had been an eyesore.

William R. Horner, Earl Stein and Douglas F. Gilroy of Newton; Patricia A. Parmenter of Newton Highlands, and Jill Spencer of Newtonville, received all "A" grades and were named to the Dean's List at the University of Maine during the spring semester.

Elizabeth A. Weiant, 48 Prince St., West Newton, was elected to the executive committee of the Tufts University Alumni Council. Miss Weiant received her B.S. from Jackson College, and her M.S. from Tufts in 1943.

Elderly Man Injures Nose Fighting Fire

An elderly Newtonville man suffered a cut nose last week, when he tried to put out a small fire in his home at 137 Norwood Ave.

European Trip Followed Recent Scott-Fitts Wedding

The Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Wellesley Hills, recently, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Paula Louise Fitts to Joseph Robertson Scott, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Porter Fitts of Wellesley Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robertson Scott of 41 Leslie road, Auburndale, are the couple's parents.

Dr. John E. Wallace officiated at the 2 o'clock double-ring service, which was followed by a reception at the Tau Zata Epsilon Society House, Wellesley College.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made of white silk faille. The empire bodice had a bateau neckline, while the sleeves and train were marked with seed pearl motifs.

Her silk illusion veil fell from a becoming headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white baby carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. David Ott of Daytona Beach, Fla., was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Susan Wentworth of Greenwich, Ct., and Miss Amy Scott of Auburndale, sister of the groom. Young Janet Fitts of Wapping, Ct., niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Frederick Harmon Scott of Auburndale, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers included Peter C. Fitts of Yonkers, N.Y., and Howard E. Fitts of Wapping, Ct., brothers of the bride, Endicott P. Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill and Herbert J. Motley Jr., of Needham, were the ushers.

After a trip to France Mr. and Mrs. Scott will live in Bloomfield, Mich.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley High School and Centenary College for women, class of 1965.

Mr. Scott was graduated from Rivers Country Day School and Harvard College, class of 1964, where he was a member of the Glee Club, Fox Club and the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1776.

Roger F. Turner Candidate For Governor's Councillor

Roger F. Turner, Walpole, is seeking the Republican nomination for the office of Governor's Councillor in the Second Councillor District.

Mr. Turner has practised before the Massachusetts and Federal courts for over 30 years. He is a member of the American, Massachusetts, and Norfolk County Bar Associations, as well as of the Lawyer's Reference Services of the Boston Bar Association and the Trial Lawyers Association.

He is campaigning for the seat now held by Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler who is giving up he post on Beacon Hill to run for Congress.

ROGER F. TURNER

"I don't want the office for experience, or to use as a stepping stone. I want the office for its original purpose — to give strength to the executive department of the commonwealth," Turner declares.

He expressed the belief that the three branches of government ought to act together for the common good; not to block; not to abolish; but to act as a balance and check on each other.

Turner also feels that the Governor and the Council, regardless of party affiliations, should respond to a given situation as a team. Neither party lines, color, nor school nor religious affiliations should have any influence upon the confirmation of any man to be appointed to any office, he maintains.

In answer to the question, "why are you interested in this office?", Turner says, "I became interested in the Governor's Council about three years ago when I was asked to process litigation involving the statutory powers of the council.

"At first this was just another case, but it developed into a double-barrelled issue. Some of the best legal minds in the profession were involved in the issues and the appellate aspect of the case required extended time and study.

"Constitutionally, the office is next in importance to the office of the Lieutenant Governor. And like any office, in practice it is no better than the officer elected to serve," he concluded.

Hotel 128 Will Hold Cape Cod Gala Clambake

Clam Bake Cape Cod Style! Lobsters from Maine! Steamed clams, native country corn and old fashioned outdoor barbecue for over 500 guests is planned at Hotel 128, Saturday evening, August 20.

The gala clambake, the area's largest outdoor party, is under the personal supervision of Mr. Warren, the Hotel's functions manager. Mr. Warren has been a leading greater Boston caterer for over 35 years.

Mr. Warren's famous specialties include the biggest and juciest lobsters, steamed clams, buffet tables of salads and fruits, plus all the extra gormandizing fixings.

Once again the Hotel's popular Jay Conti Trio will entertain for the evening with special old time requests, singalongs, banjo selections, and dancing by poolside.

The scheduling of the clambake has come about by the many requests received at Hotel 128 to repeat a community party similar to the successful Luau held July 30.

Evening Div. Of College To Move Classes

Beginning with the Fall term, the Evening Division of Massachusetts Bay Community College will conduct its classes at 57 Stanley Avenue, Watertown. The Watertown facility will now be utilized for all students; day, summer, and evening. As in the past, the College will offer degree and non-degree programs in Liberal Arts and Business Administration together with a refresher program in Executive Secretarial.

In addition, beginning this year, a number of Community Service Courses will be offered in both academic and technical areas, which will be of interest to the adult community.

These Community Service Courses include: American Policy: Foreign and Domestic, Federal and State Taxation, Modern American Theatre, Development Reading, and The American Family.

The fee for most credit courses will be $54; Community Service Courses, $36. Registration will take place Monday-Thursday, September 12-15, 5:30 to 8:00 p. m. The first night of classes will be September 14. Requests for further information, brochure, and interview appointments should be directed to the Evening Division of Massachusetts Bay Community College, 57 Stanley Avenue, Watertown, Mass., telephone: 926-2600.

Last Is First

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last of your shoe comes first in forming its style, says E. E. Joiner, styling director and general manager of Mears Division of United Shoe Machinery Co.

He explained that the shape of the last is the keystone of all other elements in shoe design. The newest shoe lasts follow the natural contours of the foot, with graceful backlines, lowered and arch-hugging silhouettes, smaller heel seats, and fuller rounded toe shapes.

Vacation Medicine

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don't forget to pack medical supplies when going on vacation, the Medical and Pharmaceutical Information Bureau reminds.

If you are on regular prescription medications, take along a sufficient supply. Have the doctor give you an extra prescription in case something happens to pills and capsules. Also take along extra glasses — plus a prescription from your eye doctor in case both sets get smashed or lost.

Thrill-Packed Weymouth Fair To Open Sunday

Pres. Richard Reidy will lift the curtain of the 101st Weymouth Fair, Sunday, Aug. 21, at 1 p.m. for its seven day program of shows, contests, exhibits and attractions.

Norfolk County youth will play important roles in the fair's presentation. A large representation have registered with James A. Anderson, supervisor of the 4-H livestock shows and Mrs. Lawrence G. Peterson, director of exhibits, to compete in the sheep, dairy, baby beef, dog, goat, pig and poultry events, and also in the agricultural, domestic arts and crafts divisions open to their age group.

The female bloom of youth also will be featured in the fair's first "Miss Weymouth Fair Pageant", under the direction of Mrs. Peterson.

Contests for the three prizes of $100, $75 and $50 will be based on intellect and personality, evening gown appearance, talent presentation and swim suit appearance.

All contestants must be between 16 and 21 as of Sept. 1, 1966 and unmarried. All will be supervised and chaperoned. Entries must be submitted by Aug. 20. Applications may be made through Miss Weymouth Fair Pageant, Box 72, South Weymouth, for the proper entry form.

The opening Sunday's features will include an auto crash thrill show and the start of 4-H activities. On Monday, Aug. 22, the six day parimutuel horse racing meet will start under the direction of Racing Sec. James LaTulippe.

Another Sunday feature will be the annual horse pulling contest, to be followed later in the week by the pony pulling contest.

Nightly stage shows will start Monday night and will emphasize modern music combos, including Prince Minstrels, Teddy and the Pandas, Dickie and the Ebb Tides. A special Wednesday night feature will be the annual fireworks display. Tuesday will be Children's and Ladies' Day.

On Thursday, Golden Agers of this area will be the fair's guests.

Assisting Pres. Reidy are Vice Pres. Philip Simon of Needham, Sec. Mrs. William F. McIntyre, Treas., Charles Michelson, Norfolk and Plymouth County 4-H leaders and extension experts, Granges and agricultural purposes groups.

Sixth Summer Program For Retarded Childen Closes

The end of the sixth summer program for exceptional children conducted by the Newton Recreational Department at the Peabody School in Oak Hill was marked by a Parents' Day program, when Mayor Monte G. Basbas presented awards to the volunteer assistants at the day camp.

He stressed how their efforts contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the campers, and have aided significantly the work of the staff members.

The following volunteers received awards from the Mayor; Susan Carp, Ellen Zimbel, Linda Ginsberg, Barbara Paul, Margery Shaer, Carol Rosoff, Paula Elitov and Genie Olson.

Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney presented awards to the retarded and handicapped children. Prizes were based on improvement, achievement and effort in the craft, athletic and general activities of the camp.

In addition to the free play on the merry-go-round, swings and sand boxes, the 30 children enjoyed organized play in games of kickball, dodgeball, sense games and many other group games.

On rainy days, they concentrated on quiet games and craft projects, including the making of bracelets and necklaces. Story time was one of the daily favorites.

The children also enjoyed dancing and exercising to the special records designated especially for the retarded and handicapped. The large family sized pool again proved to be an extra source of recreation.

After the presentation of awards, coffee and cookies were served to the parents, where they had a chance to meet the camp staff of Roger Mazur, Miss Jane Shuster and Miss Nancy Corman. Camp Supervisor Robert E. Doherty along with William S. O'Brien, of the State Department of Special Education also were in attendance.

Kidney disease research in the Bay State will benefit by an additional $15,000 in grant allocations this year if a trio of Newton citizens have anything to say about it.

The vehicle by which the Massachusetts Kidney Foundation intends to add another $15,000 to the $18,500 already allocated to medical researchers this year is a gigantic theater party scheduled for Carousel Theater, Framingham, Tuesday evening, August 23. The name of the show is "A Joyful Noise." It is a special pre-Broadway performance starring musical comedy favorite John Raitt.

The Newton trio heading the committee are Mayor Monte Basbas, honorary chairman; Max Feinerman, general chairman; and Francis J. Sawyer, president of the Massachusetts Kidney Foundation. The committee has set aside special seats as the The Golden Circle, which entitle the patron to join in a champagne supper with John Raitt and the cast following the performance.

"We know we have a tremendous attraction to sell," said Mayor Basbas. "The show has been receiving rave reviews all over the summer theater circuit. Those who purchase tickets will receive a double benefit . . . a wonderful evening at the theater and the satisfaction of knowing they are assisting in a dramatic philanthropic project."

"The name of the show is 'A Joyful Nois'," said President Sawyer. "But we believe the really 'joyful noise' will be made by the children and adults who are helped to better health through the progress medical science will make in conquering kidney disease, as a result of our contributions to research."

Tickets for the performance may be purchased from the office of the Massachusetts Kidney Foundation, 216 Tremont street, Boston.

Is Home From Flight Training

Lt. L. Singer of 162 Waverly avenue, Newton, a member of Transportation Squadron 911, based at the U. S. Naval Air Station in South Weymouth, has returned from two weeks of active training duty at the U. S. N. Naval Air Station in New Orleans, La.

At New Orleans, the squadron took part in air lifts, local instrument and training flight training, as well as overwater navigation flights. flights, ground school and

At the same time the School Board voted to seek an appropriation of up to $180,000 to enable it to enter into a contract with the M&B line for bus service during the next school year.

The action was taken as the School Committee was faced with the threat of an immediate curtailment of M&B bus service for secondary school pupils.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas said he would submit the School Board request to the Board of Aldermen for consideration at Monday night's Aldermanic session.

Approximately 2320 students now ride to and from school on 46 busses.

A deficit of about $98,400 a year has resulted from providing the bus service to the pupils on a half-fare basis.

This was responsible for the action of the School Committee in increasing the price of the bus tickets.

The MBTA, which subsidizes the operations of the M&B bus line, is insisting on a major reduction in the line's deficit.

ton Centre, by climbing in a bathroom window, then cooked himself a steak dinner before leaving.

A hi-fi set valued at $800 was stolen from the home of Dr. Virgil G. Casten at 1038 Centre st., Newton Centre. Three blankets, three bedspreads and two pillows also were taken. The burglars forced open a rear door to enter the dwelling.

A record-player and stereo-radio worth $175 along with a slide projector were taken by a burglar who entered the home of Andrew G. McKnight at 27 Durant st., Newton, by cutting a glass near the lock in the kitchen door.

The home of Bernard T. Cohen at 28 Exmoor rd., Newton Centre, was ransacked by thieves. No report was immediately available as to what was taken.

Local Students Attend Classes In IBM Courses

The lazy, hazy days of summer were filled with the energetic hum of IBM computers for the 75 Greater Boston high school juniors and seniors enrolled in a computer programming course held at Northeastern University from June 27 to July 29.

Among the promising young scientists participating in the program were Nathan Goodman, 112 Withington Rd., and John Marold, 12 Leewood Rd., both of Newton.

Focus on the lectures delivered at the classes was devoted to teaching Fortran, the basic language used by a programmer in communicating with a computer. With Fortran as a guide, the youngsters were able to compute simple, but tedious, mathematical problems with ease. Classes were scheduled from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. five days a week.

In programming workshops, small groups of students were given a more intense, case-study glimpse into the world of computers.

Trips to various computer and engineering facilities in the area were also part of the curriculum.

Two Hit-Run Cases Same Day Same Street

Two of three automobile accidents reported last Thursday were cases of hit-and-run, and both occured on Chestnut St. in Waban.

Bernard Weinstein, 872 Chestnut St., reported that his car was hit in front of his home by a driver who failed to stop.

The car of Helen D. Oleson, 10 Livermore Rd.,, Wellesley, reported that her car was hit in front of 498 Chestnut St. by a driver who did not make his identity known.

The third accident innvolved two cars that came together at Chestnut and Washington Sts., West Newton. Howard C. Hunter, 13 Prospect St., West Newton, was the driver of one, according to the police.

Corps

With their arrival, some 510 volunteers are now at work in Turkey on Peace Corps projects, which include teaching English as a foreign language, work with child care, and in programs of rural development.

During their training period, Miss Hogan and the other volunteers studied the Turkish language and world affairs.

They also were instructed in group dynamics, general community development theory and physical education, and they did field work in low-income areas near their training sites.

At the present time, they are undergoing an additional five weeks of training in Turkey before leaving for their respective villages.

At Newton South High, which she attended when the school was new, Miss Hogan was the first editor of the school paper. At Emmanuel College, she was a Sociology major and English minor.

As yet, she has no definite ideas for her future cereer, but this year she did practice teaching at Meadowbrook Junior High School.

Lt. Weyler Has Completed Pilot Training Course

First Lieutenant Kenneth L. Weyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Weyler of 44 Pembroke St., Newton, has completed specialized pilot training at Tinker AFB, Okla., in the U.S. Air Force's newest jet transport, the C-141 Starlifter.

Lieutenant Weyler is being assigned to McChord AFB, Wash. The lieutenant is a member of the Military Airlift Command which employs the giant cargo-troop carrier in the global airlift of U.S. military forces and equipment.

A graduate of Newton High School, he received his B.S. degree in chemical engineering in 1963 from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was commissioned there upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Plan Benefit For Victims Of Dystrophy

A neighborhood carnival for the benefit of muscular dystrophy victims is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, August 21, at one o'clock, at 69 Taft avenue, West Newton.

Scott Sweet will serve as ringmaster, and will be assisted by William A. Whynot.

Featuring the affair will be games such as penny pitch, bowling on the green, a marble shoot and a pie toss, and all proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases that afflict millions.

The children got the idea for staging their event while watching TV personality Rex Trailer, who is promoting carnivals on his WBZ-TV Boomtown show.

Last year, in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, more than 12,000 carnivals were held by youngsters across the country, and more than $180,000 was raised for research and patient service.

Kenneth M. Selig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Selig, 89 Morton St., Newton Centre, was awarded academic and citizenship citations at Wilbraham Academy's commencement. He is a junior and most valuable member of the Chess Club, and a member of the varsity tennis team.

Jeffrey C. Shuman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Shuman, 41 Ripley St., Newton Centre, an electrical engineering major at Lowell Technical Institute, where he is a member of the class of '67, was named to the Dean's List for the spring semester.

Lightning Leaves Upper Falls Family Unhurt

A lightning strike last Thursday night close to the house of Hilton A. Handley, 8 Ellis St., Newton Upper Falls, threw Pauline Handley, 13, to the ground and left her with a headache.

Pauline's father and the little girl were standing outside the house at the time, and he had a hand on his daughter. When the bolt struck, he found himself surrounded by smoke, but unhurt.

Unhurt, too, were Mrs. Handley who was indoors with her other daughter, Mrs. John R. (Mary Lou) Anderson and her children, Christopher, 3, and Deborah, 17 months.

In Handley's opinion, the lightning hit the branch of a tree and leaped across to an exhaust pipe beside him. It left a crack in the house's foundation, and broke a cellar window.

Miss Smith Is Named College Biology Teacher

Appointment of Carolmarie Smith of 89 Jewett street, Newton, as instructor in biology was announced by President D. Justin McCarthy of Framingham State College.

Miss Smith has been serving as a teaching fellow in biology at Boston College while completing additional graduate work toward her doctorate. She earned her BS degree from B. C. in 1957 and her MS degree from the University of Massachusetts in 1959.

Author of an unpublished master's thesis on "Immunogenic Properties of Beta-Propiolactone Treated Salmonella Typhimurium," she served as an associate biologist at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, as a research associate for the United Fruit Co. and as a summer session teacher at Newton Junior College.

Law

If you are within 300 feet of a police officer directing traffic, a traffic control signal or a marked crosswalk, you must go there to cross the street.

The objective of the anti-jaywalking law, of course, is to avert accidents, save lives and prevent injuries.

Most pedestrian injuries occur when the pedestrian walks or runs across the street at a point where there is no traffic signal light, no police officer and no crosswalk.

If you risk injury by doing that when you are within 300 feet of a crosswalk, or a signal light or a police officer, you will get a ticket.

If you are crossing the street at a point where there is a pedestrian signal, you must push the button and then wait for the walk signal.

It will be a violation of the new law to cross the street without pushing the pedestrian signal button or without waiting for the walk signal.

The law provides that even if a traffic signal indicates a pedestrian should walk, he must give way to a funeral procession or to an emergency vehicle such as an ambulance, a fire truck or a police car.

Persons who press pedestrian signal buttons when they don't intend to use the signal, delaying traffic needlessly, will be violating the anti-jaywalking law and will be fined.

Drivers of all vehicles, including bicycles, must yield the right of walk to pedestrians crossing the street at marked crosswalks where there are no traffic signal lights or police officers on duty.

Operators of vehicles must slow down and stop, if necessary, when the pedestrian is in the half of the roadway on which the vehicle is traveling or when the pedestrian approaches from the opposite side of the roadway to within five feet of that half of the roadway on which the vehicle is travelling.

No operator of a vehicle shall pass any other vehicle which has been stopped at a marked crosswalk to permit a pedestrian to cross; nor shall any operator enter a marked croswalk until there is sufficient space on the other side of the crosswalk to accomodate the vehicle he is operating, notwithstanding any traffic control signal indication to proceed.

Following are some of the other provisions of the anti-jaywalking ordinance which will be in effect before the end of next month:

"No pedestrian shall suddenly leave a sidewalk or safety island and walk or run into the path of a vehicle which is so close that it is impossible for the driver to yield the right of way.

"Pedestrians shall at all times attempt to cross a roadway using the right half of crosswalk.

"Where sidewalks are provided, it shall be unlawful for any pedestrian to walk along and upon an adjacent roadway whenever the sidewalk is open to pedestrian use.

"Where sidewalks are not provided, any pedestrian walking along and upon a highway shall, when practicable, walk only on the left side of the roadway on its unfinished shoulder facing traffic which may approach from the opposite direction.

"Persons alighting from the roadway side of any vehicle parked at the curb or edge of roadway shall proceed immediately to the sidewalk or edge of roadway adjacent to vehicle, and shall cross the roadway only as authorized by these regulations.

"It shall be unlawful for any person to actuate a pedestrian control signal or to enter a marked crosswalk unless a crossing of the roadway is intended.

"Every pedestrian crossing a roadway at any point other than within a marked crosswalk shall yield the right of way to all vehicles upon the roadway. At a point where a pedestrian tunnel or overpass has been provided pedestrians shall cross the roadway only by a proper use of the tunnel or overpass.

"No person shall stand in a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride, employment or business from the operator or occupant of any vehicle without the written permision of the board or officer having control of such roadway or highway."

Newton-Wellesley's Emergency Service Seen Getting Too Popular

William S. Brines, director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, has high praise for his institution's emergency service which, he points out, handles better than 1500 cases per month.

"Life saving is a daily experience," he says, but adds that "our emergency unit has become too popular."

The director explains that a panel of eight certified surgeons backed up by a qualified staff provide almost continual on-the-spot attendance, and other specialists are on prompt call for support where needed.

"Yet there is much to give us all concern," he goes on. More and more frequently the ailment that once mothers and fathers handled at home — or at least until it seemed to warrant calling the family doctor — leads our more current generation to the hospital's accident floor. 'It really isn't an emergency,' the patient will say, 'I just don't feel it is important enough to awaken my doctor.' These ailments, like yesterday's sore throat that doesn't clear up, become tomorrow night's emergency — sometimes without even the taking of temperature.

"Yet it is the same expert and skillful people who respond to these trivia that treat heart attacks, severe burns and serious injuries.

"If we are to retain excellence of service," Director Brine concludes, "if the unit is to be kept at its high state of efficiency, the unnecessaries should be eliminated. If the patient truly considers his problem to be urgent, that is good enough for the entire hospital team. If, on the other hand, it is simply a visit of convenience or such, we hope more and more people will wait until 'tomorrow.'"

Thieves Take Half-Dollars And $500 Cash

Two homes reported thefts of $500 taken from a handbag and $40 in Kennedy half-dollars last Thursday.

The handbag containing the money was left on the rear steps of her home while she entered the house, Mrs. Muriel A. Pruckner, 171 Charlesbank rd., Newton, told police. In addition, she said, the bag held charge cards and personal papers.

Owen H. Woods, 950 Centre st., Newton Centre, was the loser of the half-dollars. They were taken from a bedroom of his home, he said.

Three Combine For No-Hitter

The Boys' Club Babe Ruth League team used three pitchers last Saturday morning against the Highlanders, and the trio combined to concoct a no-hit game, with the Highlanders being blanked 3 to 0.

Kevin Brown tossed the first five innings, and Jethro Mills and Brian Keefe kept up the good work in the final two.

The win guaranteed Boys' Club third place in the league playoff.

Brown, after striking out seven batters, was injured as he swung at a pitch in the fifth inning, and had to turn the pitching chore over to his two teammates.

Local Residents Graduated As Teachers' Aides

Among this year's Garland Junior College Summer Institute graduates are the following from Newton who are now qualified to serve as teachers' aides:

The six-weeks in-residence institute was funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D.C.

The Training Aides to Teachers program was divided into two parts — each candidate had class work a part of the week, and the remainder of the week was passed in field work at the Associated Day Care Services Summer Camp in West Roxbury.

This was the second summer that the college offered this unique program — a pilot project adding national scope to the formalization and definition of a new role in early childhood education.

On Friendship European Tour

James E. Aisner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Aisner, 79 Old Farm road, Newton Centre, visited Denmark and other parts of Europe this summer on a trip sponsored by the International Friendship League of Boston.

The League is incorporated as an educational organization to promote understandings among the youth of the world through personal pen friendships and travel exchanges.

In the new interstate road system, even numbered roads run east and west while the roads with odd numbers run north and south.

Professor Who Defeated Polio In Prize Ring Backs Rehabilitation

DR. REUBEN J. MARGOLIN

A Newton man, who became a prize fighter to rehabilitate himself from the effects of a bout with polio, is playing an important role in a project that has been undertaken at Northeastern University, one of whose aims is to determine how convicts can be treated for various disabilities in order to help them become law-abiding and useful citizens.

He is Dr. Reuben J. Margolin of 19 Halcyon Rd., Newton Centre, chairman of the university's Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education.

With Dr. George Goldin, research director for the department, and other N. U. staff members, Dr. Margolin recently organized an intensive three-day seminar held at Northeastern's Henderson House in Weston. It was attended by penologists, psychologists and other prison experts from across the country.

Professionals in the field of rehabilitation throughout New England are generally unaware of the full scope of programs available for the handicapped, a survey that was launched by the Department of Research and Rehabilitation indicates.

Parts of the survey are still underway, but results so far indicate that those who are unfamiliar with all the available programs include physicians, rehabilitation counsellors and state legislators.

"We also discovered," Dr. Goldin says, "that although most laymen are tolerant and understanding of the physically handicapped, there is a great deal of fear, suspicion and misconception about the mentally retarded.

"In the light of these somewhat negative findings," he added, "the task ahead seems monumental. However, our research program is well underway and got off to a good start."

The staff members believe that a possible result of the program could be a counselling center for deaf students that would help them find a suitable college and then help them adjust to studies in classrooms formerly occupied only by students with normal hearing ability.

"But before we become involved in such a center," Dr. Goldin said, "we plan to survey New England's deaf high school juniors and seniors and their parents to determine how many of them exist and how many of them would be willing to attend college.

"We're also going to survey the colleges to see how they feel about admitting totally deaf students."

Dr. Margolin has started a study of students in his master's degree program for rehabilitation administrators to determine the qualities a person needs to become an effective rehabilitation administrator.

The many varied projects going on in Dr. Margolin's department and Dr. Goldin's institute stem from the fact that the two men have a missionary's zeal about the field of rehabilitation.

A graying man of stocky build who works at his desk in his shirt sleeves, Dr. Margolin is unpretentious and candid.

"I'm impatient," he remarked, "with the slow development of the rehabilitation field and with the people and agencies who are able to help but who prefer not to get involved."

He said the day of the ivory tower professor has ended.

"People with university backgrounds have a duty to intergrate their academic functions with community service," he remarked. "This is a free society, and how are we going to stay free if we don't help each other?"

Longer Season For Gath Pool In Newtonville

The public is reminded by Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney that the new Gath Pool on the Albemarle Playground is equipped with a pool water heater that keeps the temperature at 78 when the air drops below that level.

The heated water makes swimming on cloudy and cool days and evenings just as pleasurable and healthful as swimming in hot sunny weather. Mr. Penney invites the attention in particular of adults to the Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening sessions, which are restricted to adults and working teenagers only.

Because of the pool water heating system, it is planned to keep the new pool operating after Labor Day for two or three weeks after school, evenings, and weekends. The exact closing day has not yet been set, and will depend on the availability of personnel to operate the facility Mr. Penney said.

Boys' Club Wins Double Header In Newton Twi

Boy's Club had a double win last Saturday to win the best-of-three Newton Twi National Division semi - final playoff series from Silver Lake Dodge. In the opener, Bill Gerrity pitched a two-hit shutout for Boys' Club.

Then, in the nightcap, he came on in relief in the seventh stanza of a 12-inning game, and was inflexible the rest of the way.

In the 12th inning of the long game, Pete DiDomenico led off with a single, and Don Colantuono sacrificed him to second. That set the stage for a line drive double by Eddie Drew, which brought in the winning tally.

It was Gerrity Day. Bill struck out 10 in the first contest, and kept well out of trouble when called on in the seventh inning of game two.

Carr School Playground Girls' Champs

Massachusetts is one of two major centers in the country producing rag-based fine papers. It shares honors with Wisconsin.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
LAND COURT
No. 49127 In Equity
To Henry J. O'Meara, formerly of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives:
GREETING:
Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court, by George Berfield and Lois Berfield, of said Newton;
We Command You, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of October next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and receive what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.
Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.
The plaintiffs represent that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land in said Newton, being Lot No. 19 on a plan by Charles A. McManus, Civil Engineer, dated July 1, 1916, revised December 12, 1916, recorded in Middlesex South Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 256, Page 13; and further represent that on November 5, 1940, the Gardner Savings Bank made an entry to foreclose a mortgage, the same being duly recorded on December 4, 1940, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure deed being dated February 18, 1941, duly recorded on February 20, 1941 in Book 6472, Page 439, said entry and foreclosure deed having been made without first obtaining permission from any court to foreclose under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended; and further represent that at the time of said foreclosure, no owner of record was in the military service and entitled to the benefits of said Act.
And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiffs that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be given by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said Newton, that last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of October next.
Witness, Elwood H. Hettrick, Judge of our Land Court, the second day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-six.

Named A Scholar In Academic Medicine By Markle Foundation

A young gastroenterologist at the Boston University Medical Center from Newton has been named a Markle Scholar in Academic Medicine by the John and Mary R. Markle Foundation of New York.

DR. DONALD M. SMALL

Dr. Donald M. Small, Instructor in Medicine at Boston University School of Medicine, was one of 25 medical scientists in teaching, research, or administration selected for the grants .

Awarded annually since 1948, the Scholar grants of $30,000 are paid over five-year period to the medical school with which the scientist is affiliated. The grant is to be used to supplement salary, aid research, or otherwise assist in the development of the Scholar as a teacher or investigator.

The purpose of the grants is "to relieve the faculty shortage in medical schools by giving support to young teachers and investigators early in their careers," according to John M. Russell, president of the fund.

Dr. Small is the fourth faculty member of the Boston University School of Medicine to receive the distinguished Markle Scholarship. Others are Dr. Richard H. Egdahl, Professor and Chairman of the Division of Surgery; Dr. John A. Mannick, Associate Professor of Surgery; and Dr. Robert Klein, Professor of Pediatrics.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate in 1954 of Occidental College in California, Dr. Small has received specialized training both in this country and abroad.

From 1956-1958, as a Marshall Scholar, he studied both philosophy and physiology at Magdalen College, Oxford, England, taking a degree in the Honor School of Animal Physiology. In 1960 Dr. Small received his medical degree, Alpha Omega Alpha, from the Medical School of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Following internship and residency at Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals (now University Hospital, a member of the Boston University Medical Center) and Boston City Hospital, Dr. Small spent two years in Paris receiving special training in the physical chemistry of lipids at the Pasteur Institute.

Dr. Small's research involves the study of the physical state of lipids in the human body. Findings might lead to a better understanding of the digestion and absorption of fats and the cause and progress of gallstones disease and hardening of the arteries.

A resident of Newton, Dr. Small is married to Dr. Elizabeth C. Small, a pyschiatrist at New England Medical Center. The couple has two boys, aged 2 and 7.

He is an Associate Professor of Medicine at the Boston University School of Medicine.

U. Of Chicago Appoints Dr. David Atlas Professor

Dr. David Atlas of 828 Chestnut street, Waban, research physicist at the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories in Bedford and a leading contributor to the field of radar meteorology, has been named Professor of Meteorology at the University of Chicago.

His acceptance of the full professorship at the University of Chicago Department of Geophysical Sciences was announced today by Colonel Robert F. Long, Commander of the Laboratories. With the new appointment, Dr. Atlas will conclude 18 years with AFCRL as Chief of the Weather Radar Branch of the Meteorology Laboratory.

Dr. Atlas has published more than 85 published reports and technical papers on radar meteorology. He also holds nine patents among which is a severe storm avoidance device in use aboard aircraft of all of the major commercial airlines.

He has made significant contributions to Doppler radar systems, to the understanding of tornado structures, to electronic systems associated with weather radars for automatically plotting wind speeds at given altitudes within local severe storms, to the understanding of false radar echoes known as "angels." He was also responsible for the first radar detection of the sea breeze, and the discovery of echoes from lightning channels extending vertically from the tops of thunderstorms. His discovery of the unusually large reflections from hailstones has had important implications both in the detecion of hailstorms and in the use of dielectric spheres as reflectors. and antennas.

Dr. Atlas, 42, was born in Brooklyn, N.Y. He received the B. Sc. degree in 1946 from New York University, and the M. Sc. and D. Sc. degrees in meteorology from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology In 1951 and 1955 respectively. He studied electronics and radar during World War II at Harvard and MIT, and later at Ohio State University.

He served as weather officer with the Army Air Corps Weather Service and the All-Weather Flying Division until 1946, and as a civilian scientist until 1948, the year in which he joined the Laboratories.

Dr. Atlas has held prominent offices in the American Meteorological Society. Among these are the Chairmanship of the AMS Committee on Radar Meteorology and Severe Local Storms, Councilor of the Society, Associate Editor of the Journal of Applied Meteorology, and Editor of the Monograph on Severe Local Storms. Atlas is the author of the article "Radar Meteorology." in the 1960 edition of the Encyclopedia Brittanica.

In 1957, he received the AMS' Meisinger Award, and in that year was the AFCRL recipient of the Guenter Loeser Award which is given to a member of the Laboratories for outstanding scientific achievement. Atlas also won the Dr. Marcus D. O'Day Memorial Award in 1964. The O'Day Award is made in recognition of outstanding research published by an AFCRL scientist appearing in a leading professional journal. Dr. Atlas was an NSF Senior Postdoctoral Fellow in 1960 when he completed a one-year program of study at Imperial College, London.

He is a member of the RESA (Research Society of America), American Geophysical Union, and Royal Meteorological Society, as well as the AMS.

Special Exam For Advisers On Tax Matters

William E. Williams, Director of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts, today reminded persons who wish to take the Special Enrollment examination in September that their applications must be submitted before August 31.

The examination is to qualify persons, other than certified public accountants and attorneys, who wish to represent clients in tax matters before the Internal Revenue Service.

Applications and full information may be obtained from any Internal Revenue office. Mr. Williams said this District's test will be conducted at the Boston District Office, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Government Center, Boston, on Sept. 26 and 27.

The applications should be mailed to the Director, Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. A check for $25 payable to the Internal Revenue Service must accompany the application.

U.S. Navy And Marines Tests Are Coming Up

Vice Admiral B. J. Semmes Jr., Chief of Naval Personnel, has announced that the 21st annual national competitive examination for the regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) will be given on next Dec. 10.

The program prepares a young man for a Navy or Marine Corps commission while studying at one of 52 civilian colleges. All tuition fees, uniforms and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives $50 per month subsistence allowance for not more than four years.

After completing a baccalaureate level college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit applications before Nov. 19, high school counselors and Navy recruiting stations, or from Chief of Navy Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C.

A Clean Home Seldom Burns

NEW YORK (UPI)—Litterbugs are responsible for more than 40,000 fires in homes across the country each year, reports Keep America Beautiful, Inc. KAB notes that the litterbug, in addition to marring the beauty of the country, is a potential firebug in the home.

Fires started or fed by litter, says KAB, destroy or damage a home in the United States every 12 minutes. According to the National Fire Protection Association, one out of every 12 fires starts in rubbish.

More Than Met the Eye

CARACAS (UPI) — Little did Spanish conquistador Alonso de Ojeda suspect, when he entered the peaceful waters of Lake Maracaibo and saw the Indian village he called "Little Venice," that under him were riches far greater than those of El Dorado.

The huge petroleum wealth of Venezuela is principally located beneath gigantic Lake Maracaibo, considered one of the world's most prolific oil fields.

Hose for Mobile Homes

BUCYRUS, Ohio (UPI)—A new type of water hose that features an odorless inner tube that imparts no taste to water has been developed for mobile homes and other uses. The hose connects mobile homes, travel trailers and campers to a central water supply and can also be used within a vehicle that carries its own water supply.

The hose, according to the manufacturer (Swan Rubber Division of Amerace Corporation), is specially treated to resist extremes of weathering, abrasion, cracking, kinking and deteriorating effects of ozone.

—o—

Gutter Netting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wire netting over zinc-coated gutters drastically reduces the chances of clogged gutters and downspouts and provides positive protection against creation of ice dams in the winter, report United States Steel engineers. The easily-installed netting keeps gutters free of leaves, branches and other debris.

—o—

Balanced Plants

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sturdy red clay pots help prolong the beauty and life of house plants because the weight of the pots effectively balances and stabilizes plants that might otherwise be topheavy and easily knocked over in watering or dusting.

Checks May Follow Cash In Going Out Of Style

By MAGGIE BELLOWS
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—No more paychecks. . . .

No more checkbooks . . . No more wifey's nasty looks (at least on that night each month she sets aside to match up your check stubs with the bank statement).

The day is coming—and it's not too far away—when you'll walk around with nothing but small change and a card in your pocket. You'll never see your paycheck (it will be punched into a computer by your employer and pop out again in your account). You'll forget all your monthly bills (rent, telephone, car payments, insurance bills will be automatically debited).

And you'll shop for groceries, gas, clothes, drugs, dine in restaurants and buy your airlines tickets, all with a simple plastic card with your name and some mysterious punch marks on it.

"some sort of 'instant checkless-bankless' system for exchange of money is inevitable," says Richard E. Sprague, advance business systems head for Touche, Bailey & Smart.

"Banks will soon be overloaded with paper; no equipment will be able to handle it all. There will be a breakdown sometime in the 70's unless something happens to unjam it."

Sprague foresees a checkless banking and credit utility which he has dubbed SAVE (System for Automatic Value Exchange) springing up in metropolitan centers around the country.

How It Works

It will work something like this: Mrs. Smith sees a sweater she likes. The salesgirl takes her card, slips it into a machine (something like those touch-tone telephones now being installed in major cities) and punches out the price.

A computer voice comes back: "Mrs. Jack Smith, 100 State street, brunette, brown eyes, 5 feet 5, 125 pounds. $13.75." The salesgirl hits the "okay" button.

"Bzzzzt" replies the computer — and out comes the saleslips, paid.

Meanwhile, back at the computer: It whirrs again and instantly transfers $13.75 from Mrs. Smith's account to the department store.

Chances are 10-to-1 or better that Mrs. Smith still shops the 1966 way — she depends on that 45-day lag from the day she purchases the sweater until the bill comes in the mail and she gets around to writing the check.

This "credit float" is the American way of life. Add up all the credit you get — doctor's bill, department store accounts, restaurant, telephone and utility bills — and you'll probably be surprised how much credit you use every month.

No matter. SAVE has already thought of this. Unless you're on a spree big enough to worry the computer (which already knows a lot about you), the computer won't hesitate to okay that sweater. It will automatically "inject" a shot of money into your weakened account, making it healthy enough for the sweater or the weekend groceries.

As long as you come out even by the end of the month, even you won't know (unless you study your statement) how many times your account needed an injection.

In An Emergency

Suppose you have an emergency — you suddenly need two round-trip tickets to London.

This time the computer will balk. Someone sitting at SAVE headquarters will punch another button, and your past credit record pops onto a cathode ray tube. He will study that record, maybe even talk with you on the phone. Convince him, and your tickets are in your hands.

No load of bills come in the end-of-the-month mail. Just a statement from your bank memoing that they've paid your car installment, rent, utilities — all the bills you've authorized; listing the groceries, gas and department store purchases you've made; and adding up the paychecks you've received.

"Retailers will like it," says Sprague, "because they will not only save the postage, billing and posting of their accounts, but because it will largely eliminate high collection costs for overdue and deadbeat accounts.

"Banks will like it because they are threatened with a paper-chokage.

"And Mrs. Smith will like it because she won't have to carry a bulging wallet of cards and cash around with her, nor will she have to spend hours each month opening bills, writing checks, reconciling the bank statement and addressing, stamping and mailing checks."

Mrs. Smith will only have to remember one thing. To call the computer if she is wearing a wig.

Name's Not the Same

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Ernie and Floyd are brothers, but don't agree on the spelling of their last name.

Ernie McMillan is a standout tackle with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League. His brother, Floyd McMillon, is a basketball star at Northeast Missouri State College and has a tryout with the St. Louis Hawks.

—o—

Song Wanted

MONTREAL (UPI) — Remember "Meet Me in St. Louis?" Well, a hit song along that line is wanted by "Expo-67" — the world's fair-type exposition slated to open in 1967 in Montreal.

A prize of $5,000 is offered. Officials said the winner will retain normal author's rights for publication, recording and performance.

Most Famous Main Street

SAUK CENTER, Minn. (UPI) Most American towns and cities have Main Streets, but America's most famous "Main Street" is found in Sauk Center, Minn., scene of the Sinclair Lewis novel of the same name.

Newton Student To Study At University Of Vienna

Daniel Matthew Crane, 19, son of Matthew J. Crane, 97 Charlesbank Rd., Newton has been accepted by the Institute of European Studies for its 1966-67 undergraduate program at the University of Vienna.

Crane is finishing his sophomore year at the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester.

In Austria, Crane will be enrolled in a program that offers regular German-taught university courses, English-taught courses for those without strong ability in German, intensive German language instruction, and supplementary courses and seminars in fine arts and philosophy. Two field -study trips in Western Europe are included.

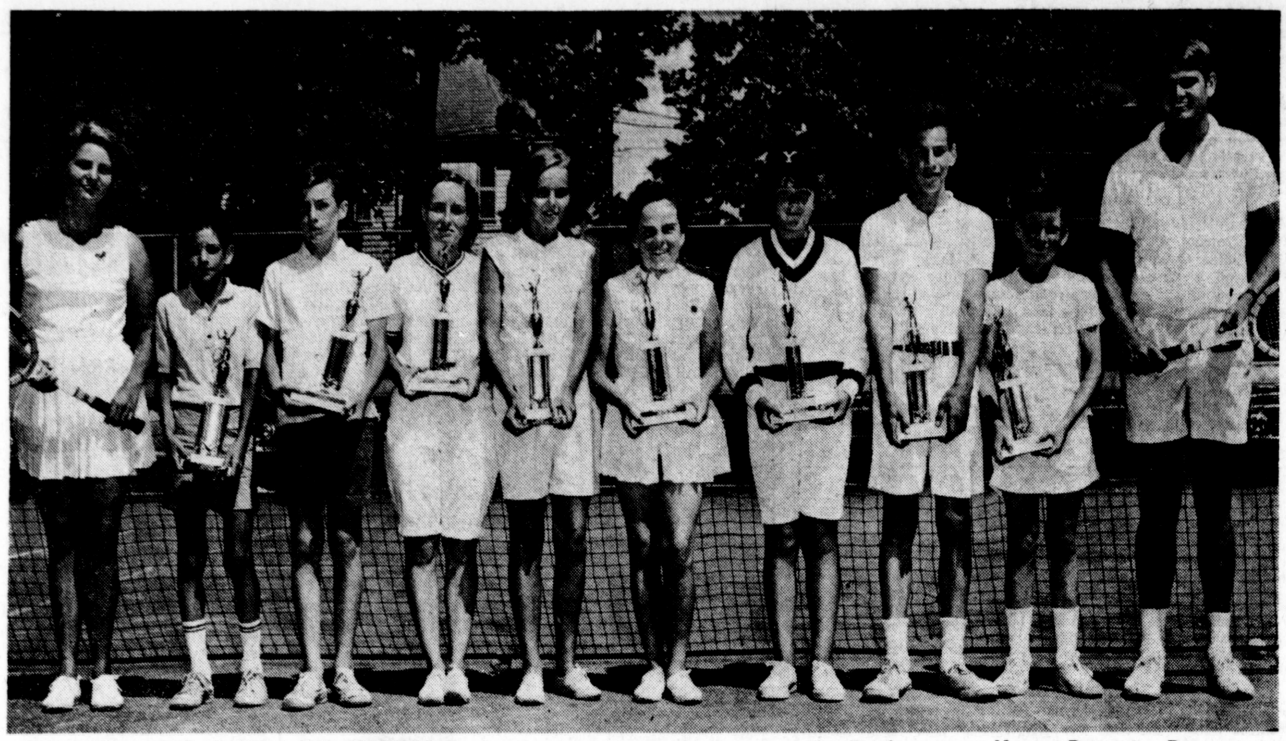

Thus far, Crane's studies have emphasized the study of history. He is a member of the Political Club at Holy Cross.

Crane will sail from New York aboard R.M.S. Queen Elizabeth August 31 and will return to the United States after the completion of the program at the end of June, 1967.

Crone said he looks forward to his year in Europe as an opportunity for stimulating study in preparation for a career in his chosen field. He intends to complete his undergraduate studies at the College of the Holy Cross and then plans to attend graduate school .

The Institute of European Studies is a private, nonprofit organization with headquarters in Chiicago. With undergarduate programs in Vienna, Paris, Nantes, Madrid, and Freiburg, West Germany, it is the largest U.S. organization conducting undergraduate foreign - study programs.

Its students come from nearly 300 U.S. colleges and universities. In addition, the Institute plans, organizes, and conducts specially designed programs abroad for a number of U.S. institutions of higher learning.

Traffic Commission Makes Parking Recommendations

The Newton Traffic Commission has made a number of recommendations for consideration by the Aldermanic committee on Street Traffic, most of them having to do with parking.

One suggested ordinance would prohibit parking on Albemarle Rd., Newtonville, in the vicinity of the Harry Gath Memorial Pool, which has been getting heavy use.

Also, on Albemarle Rd., the commission recommends for ordinance no parking on the north roadway from 10:30 p.m. to 7 a.m., and on the south side of the roadway from Crafts St., Newtonville, to the footpath during these hours. Chief Purcell requested that action.

No parking was recommended on Rogers St., both sides, from Lake Ave., Newton Highlands, to Allerton Rd. at all times, Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays included.

Also, no parking in Allerton Rd., from Cushing St., to Centre St., at all times, Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays included.

On Lake Ave., north and east sides ,from Lakewood Rd., Netwon Highlands, for 450 feet westerly and northerly, no parking all day was recommended. Also, no parking on the east side of Bailey Pl., Newtonville, from Washington St., 100 feet, and on Watertown St., north side, from Nevada St., Newtonville, easterly 245 feet. It was recommended that there be a one-hour limit on Watertown St. from 245 feet east of Nevada St. to Adams St., and that a parking meter zone be established in the area.

It was also voted to ban all parking days on California St., northeast side, from 135 feet east of Bridge St., Newton, easterly 100 feet.

In a revised vote, the commission recommended prohibition of parking all days on Elmore St., Newton Centre, south side, from Morseland Ave., easterly 200 feet.

Denial was recommended of a petition by Robert G. Conley, 18 Moffat Rd., and others, for limiting parking to one side of Moffat Rd. and Windsor Rd., Waban, in the vicinity of Lincoln Playground. First discussed June 13, this petition was referred to police at that time for study.

It was recommended to rescind the ordinance restricting parking on the south side of Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, from 200 feet west of Melrose St. to the end of the median strip. The restriction is regarded as unnecessary now that Norumbega Park is closed.

The Mayor's request that there be a traffic light at the intersection of Pearl St. and Jackson Rd., Newton, was tabled for study of traffic counts and accident records.

Referred to City Planner James A .Miller was a request by Morse's Food Market for retention of the yellow line in front of 792 Beacon St., Newton Centre. To be determined is whether this comes within the new drive-in ordinance.

There was no action on Alderman Paul J. Berk's request for a policewoman at Elm St., Auburndale Ave., and River St., West Newton, since this was referred to the police.

Women Voters Meeting Plans Finance Drive

The Newton League of Women Voters held a Finance meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Proctor Houghton. Plans for the fall Finance Drive to be held the week of September 26 were discussed.

The Finance Drive will be co-ordinated with the League of Women Voters Week to be proclaimed by Mayor Monte Basbas.

Attending the meeting were: Mrs. Proctor Houghton, Mrs. Samuel Baeser, Mrs. Joseph Applebaum, Mrs. Paul Nation, Mrs. Thomas Easton, Mrs. Felix Edenfield, Mrs. Aaron Blauer, and Mrs. Sol Kaufman.

DAV Delegates Return From National Parley

On his return here from last week's Disabled American Veterans Convention in New York City, Department Commander J. Edward Theriault of Newton was happy to report that John E. Bouchard, PDC, also of Newton, and member of the local DAV chapter, was unanimously elected to the high office of president of the National Organization of Commanders & Adjutants Association.

The association is the advisory group to the National Finance Committee and the National Executive Committee.

The Massachusetts delegation received the most awards at the convention, Theriault reported, with the Farrell Chapter of Newton getting a first award for public relations and two honorable mentions, one for membership and the other for hospital work.

The auxiliary of the Farrell Chapter, under the leadership of Etta Twombly, placed first nationally in the highest membership increase.

Cmndr. Theriault will make a full report at the September meeting of the State Department Executive Committee, and also to the Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter at its first September meeting.

Mrs. Lucille McCarthy, past national commander of the Auxiliary, will also give a report to the Farrell Chapter Auxiliary, which meets Sept. 12 in the Memorial Building, Newton Centre., at 8 p.m.

Playgrounds To Remain Open In Some Instances

Recreation Commissioner, John B. Penney announced last week that although the full-scale eight weeks summer playground season will come to a close on Friday, Aug. 19, with the completion of the field days and awards presentations at each playground, many Newton playgrounds will still have recreation leaders on duty for an additional week or two.

Following are the dates which mark the last day leadership will be assigned to the different playgrounds:

Aug. 19 — Newton High School, Victory, Davis School, Pierce School, River Street, Williams, Farlow, Thompsonville, Ward School, Weeks Jr. High.

Aug. 26 — Angier School, Emerson School, Hamilton School, Richardson, Upper Falls.

Sept. 2—Boyd, Charlesbank, Murray Rd. School, West Newton Common, Highlands.

Playgrounds where personnel is usually assigned well into the fall season include: Albemarle, Carr, Hawthorne, Auburndale, Franklin, Wellington Newton Center, Burr, Cabot and Memorial School.

In almost all cases the number of recreation leaders assigned to the various playgrounds will be reduced following the regular eight week season on Aug. 19, Penney noted.

July Building Less Than June

Fifty-three building permits were issued by the Netwon Building Department in July, compared with 64 issued in the previous month.

The July permits involved $273,945, whereas those for June were for construction totalling $6,877,537. June's biggest project was the $5 million Chestnut Hill Towers complex.

The David J. Bagley permit for 12 garden-type apartments to cost $80,000 was also a big contributor to the June total.

Gave Tel Aviv Lecture

How To Travel In Comfort With Family

Planning on a motor trip with the family? Then take a little time out to plan for comfort. It's often the little things that make or mar a trip. If you and the children can manage to feel fresh and comfortable, even the hottest weather needn't get you down.

A clean change of clothes on a steaming day is one of the surest ways of keeping comfortable. While you don't want to load the car down with surplus luggage, you do want to be sure everybody in the family has enough changes. Pack clothes that are easy to suds out when you stop overnight, that dry quickly without ironing, and that fold without too many creases. Then you don't have to be bothered with large wardrobes. A few dependable washables are the most satisfactory choice.

Be sure to keep a container of sudsy water handy in the glove compartment of the car for emergency hand-washing. When the children munch on something along the way, a quick sudsing of hands or seat covers will prove worthwhile. Let the children take their toys in a separate plastic case or carry-all that can be wiped clean of road dust when the toys are put away for the day. Allow for a change of shoes and socks for the "chaffeur" during the day, because prolonged driving puts a strain on the feet.

When you can keep clean, you always feel cooler, so plan for it ahead of time.

High School Students To Have "Candidates Night"

Interested Young Democrats, students at Newton South High School, are planning to bring the upcoming political campaign in the Commonwealth directly to the attention of the local younger set.

These students are sponsoring a Democratic "Know Your Candidates Night" to be held at the Countryside School, 191 Dedham St., Newton Highlands, on Thursday, September 8th from 6:45 to 9 p.m.

The students have announced that use of the school has been approved by the Newton School Committee.

Purpose of the evening's program is to acquaint interested young people and the Newton voters with the candidates and their views.

A spokesman for the Young Democrats at the school stated that all candidates for state-wide office at the forthcoming election are expected to be present.

The students, as part of their participation in the program, will prepare a background speech about the candidates and introduce the candidate who will speak on the issues.

The meeting also will assist many young people who are interested in working for worthy candidates, as their contribution to good citizenship.

Members of the committee in charge of the event include: Chris Henes, 58 Alexander Rd., chairman; and Richard Friedman, 53 Elinor Rd., both of Newton Highlands, vice chairman.

Action At Hand On Newtonville Ave. Protection

Action appears to be near at hand on the demand of neighborhood mothers for better protection at the accident-prone intersection of Harvard St. and Newtonville Ave., Newtonville.

Pending the Massachusetts Department of Public Works' approval of a traffic light installation there, the Traffic Commission has recommended making Harvard St. one way from Cabot St. to Washington St.

It is likely that the Street Traffic Committee of the Board of Alderman will consider the recommendation this (Thursday) evening, and possibly the matter could be acted on at the Aug. 22 meeting of the full board.

Graduates Honored By Local Temple Service

A special Sabbath service was recently held at Temple Shalom of Newton to honor the Hebrew School graduates.

The service, conducted by the graduates, included presentation of the class by Bernard Shulman, principal of the Hebrew School, awarding of the diplomas by Nathaniel Roossin, chairman of the Religious School, and a gift of a book to each graduate by Mrs. David Krongard, president of the Sisterhood.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom, congratulated and blessed the graduates. He gave particular commendation to Rozanne Marcus for completing two years at the Union Hebrew High School, and to Nancy Glazier, Carol Miller, Janet Rosen and Lucy Sollogub upon completion of their first year at the same institution.

Union Hebrew High School is sponsored jointly by the New England Region, Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Bureau of Jewish Education.

Andrea Estes, Carla Cimo, Amy Schwartz, Debbie Goldberg, Betsy Casper, Jon Feldman, John Levin, Mark Volk, Laurie Flamm, Margery Wall, Donna Stadtmore and Susan Glick.

And Russell Cole, Charles Levin, Steven Zimbel, Nathaniel Soloway, Stephen Porter, Robert Libon, Jim Prelack, Steven Markow and James Glazier.

Rev. Merrill To Be August 21st Service Preacher

The Rev. Boynton Merrill, D.D., will preach next Sunday, August 21st at The First Unitarian Society, West Newton. This is in the series of services of the Union Summer Services, and will be held at ten o'clock. There will be music by Mr. Glendenning Smith, organist, and Mr. Paul W. Wiggin, tenor.

Dr. Merrill, now retired, was minister of the Second Church in Newton, West Newton, from 1927 to 1943. He is at present residing in Cincinnati, Ohio.

He was born in Lowell and attended Mt. Hermon School. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and the Union Theological Seminary, and attended Harvard Divinity School during 1921-1922. He also holds Honary Doctor of Divinity degrees from Dartmouth College and Marietta College.

Dr. Merrill is the author of "From Confusion to Eternity," "Arrows of Light" and "From Whence Cometh My Help." In 1953 he preached the council sermon at the Seventh International Council, held in St. Andrews, Scotland.

Among his many other duties he has served as trustee of Bradford Junior College, the Dana Hall Schools, the Northfield Schools, Oberlin College and Wellesley College.

During the week of August 19th through the 25th, pastoral care will be provided by Rev. William Blair, and he may be reached by calling 244-2690 at the Second Church in Newton, West Newton.

Local Residents Play Lead Roles In MIT Musical

Playing the two leading roles in the MIT Classical Musical Society's production of Cole Porter's Kiss Me Kate, are two local residents, Miss Susan Waldman, and Mr. Norman Rubin.

Miss Waldman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Waldman of Newton Highlands is a 1964 graduate of Newton South High and is now a Junior at Simmons College, majoring in Economics. She is also a special student at the New England Conservatory of Music, studying voice with Miss Dorothy Richards.

She has sung various roles in both high school and MIT Musical Productions including, The Mikado, The Boyfriend, HMS Pinafore, and The Pirates of Panzance; and has performed for private organizations and social functions.

Mr. Rubin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rubin, of Newton Centre, is a 1962 graduate of Newton South High, and received his degree from MIT in Humanities and Science in 1966.

He has performed many leading roles in MIT and other local college musicals including, Trial by Jury, HMS Pinafore, Yeoman of the Guard, Penzance, and Tech Shows Penzance, and Tech Shows 1964 and 1965.

He is currently a student at the New England Conservatory of Music's Summer Program at Castle Hill in Ipswich, studying voice with Madame Re Koster. His latest role was that of Papagaeno in Mozart's Magic Flute, at Castle Hill.

The Musical, Kiss Me Kate, directed by Mr. Ronald Mallis, will be performed August 19, 20, 23, 24, 25, 26, and 27th at 8:30 p.m. in the Kresge Little Theatre on the MIT Campus. Tickets may be reserved by calling the Kresge box office anytime at 864-6900, Ext. 2910.

Vandalism At Playground Is Being Probed

Newton police officers Peter J. Wallace and James P. Akins, Jr., continued investigation today of wanton vandalism which caused considerable property damage Sunday at the Newton Centre playground.

Park Superintendent Peter Capodilupo reported to Newton police that sandboxes were overturned and strewn about, stands were toppled, guidelines on the toboggan slide were cut and stolen, rubbish barrels were emptied and tossed in an adjacent brook, and the foul line pole of the little league baseball diamond was snapped off.

The debris was removed Monday by Park Department work crews but the stands will not be replaced until next Spring.

Kevin T. Stokes of 74 Albemarle rd., Newtonville, has won a Francis Quimet Caddie School Scholarship, and will attend Providence College.

Mayor Demands More, Better MBTA Service

A strong request for more and better MBTA service for Newton residents has been made by Mayor Monte G. Basbas in a communications to the MBTA board of directors.

The Mayor sharply criticized the service presently provided for Newton and advanced several proposals for the consideration of the MBTA officials.

He called for an improvement of track conditions on the Highland Branch line "in the interests of both passenger comfort and speed of service."

Basbas characterized MBTA service on the north side of the city as "deplorable" and "in need of early improvement."

He urged that plans for utilizing the New York Central Railroad tracks for rapid transit services be given greater priority and suggested the immediate inauguration of express bus service from Newton Corner over the toll road to intown Boston.

Mayor Basbas requested that consideration be given to the institution of more direct bus service between the extreme south side of Newton and downtown Boston.

The Mayor also asked for a revaluation of the services provided by the Middlesex & Boston bus company.

Meanwhile, Basbas has scheduled a public meeting at the Aldermanic Chamber in City Hall on the night of Sept. 21 to determine Newton's transportation needs in the light of the MBTA announcement that M&B bus service may be curtailed as a result of recent reduction in the MBTA subsidy for the M&B.

YORTY CALLS RFK 'ARROGANT UPSTART'

LOS ANGELES Mayor Samuel Yorty, smarting from Senate criticism of his leadership in alleviating racial problems in the Watts district, said Wednesday one of his critics, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was an "upstart who is trying to take over the country with his father's money."

Yorty added that Kennedy is "a head-strong, arrogant young man who is out to get President Johnson."

HOUSE VOTES ON RESERVES CALLUP TODAY

THE HOUSE was prepared today to vote on legislation to give President Johnson unrequested authority to call up for duty in Vietnam thousands of reservists and National Guardsmen.

House-Senate negotiators agreed on the measure Wednesday. The call-up provision was tied by the Senate to a $58 billion defense money bill, and the House conferees agreed to the Senate rider. The Senate will act on the bill after the House takes its vote.

KERNER WORD AWAITED ON CICERO GUARDS

CHICAGO AND ITS neighboring suburb Cicero today were awaiting word from Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner today as to how many National Guardsmen will be sent to Cicero over the weekend to prevent a feared eruption of violence when Martin Luther King leads open-housing marchers into the all-white suburb.

Late Wednesday, a dozen American Nazis added to the racial tensions of Chicago by picketing the Civic Center demanding the arrest of King and ouster of Mayor Richard Daley for their roles in the civil rights marches. Hecklers became so violent that police had to escort the Nazis from the area.

APOLLO WINGS INTO SPACE TODAY

ALL CONDITIONS were expected to be go today for a huge Saturn I rocket to propel an unmanned Apollo spaceship over the last hurdle needed to qualify it for the launch of three astronauts in November.

The Saturn was to drive the 44,700-pound Apollo, largest spaceship in the free world, on the first leg of a sub-orbital "roller coaster" ride to a waiting Pacific Ocean recovery fleet 17,825 miles away.

PROF. PROTESTS LOST FREEDOMS

A FORMER PROFESSOR at the University of California charged Wednesday that real freedom of speech has "virtually vanished" from the Berkeley campus, scene of student strife for two years.

"Freedom of speech, freedom of debate have never been at a lower estate in any major American university in the last generation," declared Lewis S. Feuer, who resigned recently to take a post at University of Toronto.

STOCKS BREAK 8-DAY SLUMP

Stock prices finished slightly below their best levels Wednesday but still scored their first gain in eight sessions. Trading was moderate.

The list was on the uptrack nearly all day but a flurry of profit-taking near the close slipped some gains.

DE GAULLE READIES WARNING TO U.S.

FRENCH PRESIDENT Charles de Gaulle has readied a new urgent warning to the United States that it is heading toward World War III in Vietnam, French government sources said Wednesday.

The French leader will deliver this grave message, the sources said, in two major speeches he has scheduled during a three-day state visit next week to Cambodia — the Southeast Asian kingdom that borders Vietnam.

MARINES SEEK CONG IN JUNGLE TUNNELS

MORE THAN 600 U. S. Marines, deprived of artillery and air support at a Communist "war college" in thick jungles just 14 miles from the huge Marine base at Da Nang, were seeking out Viet Cong today in tunnels, caves and other fortifications.

A Marine spokesman said 44 Reds were killed in the first hours of fighting Wednesday on the 3,000-foot mountain. Marine casualties were called "light". The Leathernecks uprooted a Viet Cong battalion of about 600 and matched firepower with the foe until the Communists withdrew.

ERHARD ACTS IN GENERALS' RESIGNATIONS

WEST GERMAN Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, returning from a vacation, took a personal hand today in trying to halt the "general's revolt" which threatens to throw his administration into a full-blown crisis.

Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel reported to Erhard on the resignations of three generals in the last few days over some of the practices of the administration. A spokesman for the defense ministry said that no crisis exists and government officials generally are playing down the resignations.

FAITH AIMING TOWARD 3 ISLES

THREE ISLANDS in the path of dangerous Hurricane Faith were keeping a wary eye on the storm heading across the Atlantic toward them with 90-mile-an-hour winds.

Local Men Head Air Rights $15-Million 'Pike Project

The formation of Urban Development Corporation of Needham Heights to develop, construct, finance and manage real estate projects was announced this week.

A $15.5 million air rights development over the Massachusetts Turnpike at Newton Corner will be the company's first project, according to Mark J. Waltch, president.

It is the first air rights lease to be negotiated for construction over existing roadway in Massachusetts.

The Newton Corner air rights development will be in three phases, and will include high-rise office buildings and a motor hotel for lease, parking facilities and retail shops.

The 6½ acre tract which will be its site is located three miles from Rte. 128 and three-and-a-half miles from downtown Boston.

President Waltch of the Urban Development Corp. and Thomas J. White, treasurer of the corporation, are both Newton men. Mr. White is president of J. F. White Contracting Company.

A developer, builder and graduate engineer, Mr. Waltch has been responsible for all phases of building and real estate projects. He was a vice president of the Beacon

Air Line Strike No Laugh To Newtonite

Being stranded in London by the recent airline strike was "kind of fun, at first, then it became ridiculous as money ran out," commented Miss Mary Anderson, of 543 Centre st., Newton, upon her delayed return from a two-month tour of Europe.

The Newton resident was among 129 passengers who arrived on Trans World Airlines Flight 753 at Logan Airport last Sunday, the first TWA flight to return stranded European travelers following the end of the strike.

Miss Anderson, who has been a kindergarten teacher in the Millis Public Schools for several years, was caught by the 44-day strike as she ended a two-month European trip.

On her arrival in Boston, she didn't have a penny in her pocket.

"I haunted London Airport for six days trying to get on a plane, but there weren't any seats, she said. "At first, it was kind

City Warns Owners Of Unlicensed Dogs

A request that unlicensed dogs be registered at the city clerk's office in Newton City Hall has been issued by the Department of Animal Control, under the direction of Police Capt. William F. Quinn.

The Department said that nearly 700 of 1000 letters sent out to dog owners last March have not been returned, although the deadline was April 1.

Although Newton now has more than 4700 licensed dogs compared to last year's 4338, Capt. Quinn feels there are still many dogs remaining unlicensed.

Residents who have received license notices, and have either licensed or no longer keep their dogs, are requested to notify the city clerk.

Job Corps To Teacher Post Malone Move

Robert E. Malone, on resigning from his $16,000-a-year post as special services director for the Rodman Job Corps Center, New Bedford, said, "This has probably been the best 16 months of experience I ever had, and I would not trade it for the world. But I'm still glad to get back to Newton."

Mr. Malone, 39, is returning to Newton High School as a teacher of biology.

At the Rodman Center he had charge of physical education, recreation and all student activities. He had served as head of the center's physical education department during a 1965-66 leave of absence from Newton High School.

That leave was extended this spring, but now he has been granted a cancellation.

Prior to leaving Newton, he was coach of the Technical High School basketball team, and had done no other coaching for three years, de-

Collins - Peabody Race Close McCormack, Bellotti Leading

A survey of voter sentiment in the three top statewide Democratic primary battles indicates that the only really close race is being waged between Boston Mayor John F. Collins and former Governor Endicott Peabody for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack appears to have a commanding lead over former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell in their fight for the right to run as the Democratic nominee for Governor.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti has pulled well ahead of ex-Governor Foster Furcolo and

Anniversary At Fresh Air Camp

Morgan Memorial vice president, Russell S. Broad, and board member, Joseph W. Burg, 18 Marshall street, Newton Centre, were among several hundred supporters and officials of Morgan Memorial, Inc., plus some 600 handicapped workers from Goodwill Industries, who took part last Sunday, Aug. 21, in the organization's 60th anniversary celebration at the South Athol camp.

The camp, one of the largest and oldest of its kind in the nation, with 810 acres, serves 600 of the state's neediest children recommended by 32 social agencies.

A colorful highlight was the dramatic and colorful presentation by the youthful campers depicting sixty years of camping at the historic Fresh Air Camp grounds, which began in an abandoned farmhouse with a handful of children and mothers.

PETER A. KERR

Peter Kerr In Drive For Council Post

Attorney Peter A. Kerr, brother of Monsignor George V. Kerr, chaplain of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, hase been making a vigorous drive for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the big second councillor district.

Kerr is seeking the seat in the Executive Council which Councillor Margaret M. Heckler is giving up to run for Congress.

A resident of Hyde Park, Kerr is married to the former Marie T. O'Leary of Cambridge. They have five children.

Kerr is a graduate of St. Mary's High School in Brookline, Boston College and Boston College Law School and has been admitted to practice before both the State and Federal bars.

He served in the Coast Guard during Worl War II and was stationed in the European Arctic Area, performing convoy duty and anti-submarine patrols in the North Atlantic. He presently is a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard Reserve.

"I am highly gratified with the response to my candidacy and with the offers of support I have received as I have campaigned in various sections of the second councillor district," Kerr declared.

"I am confident that I can win back this seat in the Executive Council for the Democratic party if I am nominated in the Democratic primary on Sept. 13," Atty. Kerr asserted.

Well known in Democratic circles, Kerr was a delegate to the Democratic State Conventions in 1958 and 1960.

The district in which he is making his campaign stretches from Newton through part of Norfolk County and down into Bristol County, taking in such communities as Needham, Dedham Hyde Park, a part of Roslindale and the Norwood area.

3 Are Injured In Accidents Over Week-end

Three persons were injured over the past weekend in motor vehicle accidents in Newton.

Two women were hurt when the car in which they were passengers struck a pole Sunday at 100 Langley rd. Taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital were Mrs. Mary Cassiani, 70, of 360 Langley rd., who was treated for head and facial injuries; and Mrs. Anna DeCarlo, 78, of 34 Beecher pl., Newton Centre, who was shaken up.

Police said the car was driven by Paul DiCarlo, of 316 Langley rd., Newton Centre.

A motorcycle and a car collided at Melrose and Auburn sts., Auburndale, Saturday. Police identified the driver of the motorcycle as Robert H. Ellis, 386 Wolcott st., Auburndale, who was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for a bruised right hip and a bruised right elbow. Driver of the car was listed as Thomas Stevenson, of 49 Warren ave., Boston, who police said was not injured.

Directions To Stranger Cost Woman $10 Bill

A Waltham man was arrested by Newton police Monday, two days after it cost a Newton woman $10 to give a stranger directions to the Watch City.

Lawrence W. Fay, of 51 Columbus Ave., Waltham, was charged with breaking and entering in the daytime and stealing $10. He was released in $1000 bail.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hassell, of 15 Fair Oaks Ave., West Newton, told police a man approached her Saturday while she was in her back yard. He asked directions to Waltham and she obliged.

Then, she alleged, the man circled the house and entered the living room through an unlocked door where he took a wallet containing $10.

Fay was apprehended by Det. Sgt. William C. Nally, and Dets. Francis M. DeVito, Manley J. Kiley and Ernest S. Daly.

Mark C. Homonoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Homonoff, 63 High Rock Terr., Chestnut Hill, was named to the Dean's List at Harvard University. This summer he is a member of the Hell Gap Archeological Expedition in Wyoming.

The Southwestern Villagers, Chapter of the Colby Junior College Alumnae Club of Boston, recently met and have released their plans for 1966-67.

On Thursday, September 8, there will be a tea for entering and returning students to be held at the home of Mrs. S. Doane Cook, 9 Deerfield road, Wellesley Hills.

The annual Silver Sherry will be held Wednesday, October 5, at the home of Mrs. Robert W. Pierce, 122 Bristol road, Wellesley Hills. On Wednesday, November 2, holiday decorations will be shown at a morning coffee to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Pendergrass, 195 Meadowbrook road, Weston.

In April, Dr. and Mrs. Everett M. Woodman will be the guests of honor at a reception at the Wellesley Country Club closing the social season.

Newly elected club officers for 1966-67 include: Chairman, Mrs. Robert W. Pierce of Wellesley Hills; vice chairman, Mrs. Phillips B. Hunt, Jr., of Sudbury; secretary, Mrs. Richard N. Wells of Needham; treasurer, Mrs. Henry P. Pendergrass of Weston; telephone, Mrs. John P. Banjak of Dedham; publicity, Mrs. Paul J. DeSimone of Boston.

No-Hitter And Triple Play

St. Bernard's gave Oak Hill Cubs an 11 to 0 shellacking on Nickerson Field last Thursday evening in a Babe Ruth League game that saw Gerry Coleman pitch a no-hitter, and a triple play by his teammates.

It was the fourth inning that saw the triple play engineered, and it was a timely affair, for the Cubs had the bases loaded, due to an error and two bases on balls.

The Cub's Bill Learner hit one back to the mound. Coleman threw it to Paul Capello, the catcher, who threw it to "Skipper" Fawson at first. Fawson relayed the ball back to Capello, who tagged the sliding Merrill Badger, who attempted a score from second.

Election Of Officers Held At Temple Shalom

2 Gridders From Newton Play Friday

Two Newton South High School football players will be seen tomorrow (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock, when WBZ-TV (Channel 4) will televise live from Manning Bowl in Lynn the fifth annual Agganis Bowl game.

The North-South contest teams have 70 of the top grid players from 32 Eastern Massachusetts high schools.

The local players are Arthur Leventhal, guard, and John Taglienti, end, both members of the South squad.

Proceeds from the game go to a scholarship fund named in honor of one of the nation's greatest high school and college athletes, Lynn-born Harry Agganis. He died unexpectedly in 1955 at the beginning of a pro baseball career with the Boston Red Sox.

This marks the first year that the all-tar, NCAA-approved North-South contest will be televised. Many of the players, all June, 1966, high school graduates, will be playing college football this fall.

Over the years, the Agganis Foundation has provided more than $50,000 in scholarships to worthy recipients.

JOHN J. CRAVEN

John J. Craven Urges Stronger Parole System

Attorney John J. Craven of Hyde Park received the endorsements of several labor organizations and civic groups as he campaigned this week for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the sprawliing second councillor district.

Craven also spoke at several meetings and a number of house parties, outlining his ideas on the public service he could perform for the residents of the second councillor district as their Executive Councillor.

A graduate of Roxbury Latin School, Harvard College and the Portia Law School, Attorney Craven has been admitted to practise before both the Massachusetts and Federal Bars.

Craven, referring to the recent riot at the Walpole State Prison, expressed the conviction that a need exists for a sweeping study of the prison system in Massachusetts.

He also called for a strengthening of the State parole department and the appointment of additional trained and skilled parole officers.

"There is no doubt in my mind that crimes are being committed in Massachusetts which could be avoided if we had enough trained and experienced parole officers to maintain adequate supervision over paroled prisoners," Craven stated.

"The problem at the present time is that the average parole officer has so large a case load that he is unable to give as much individual attention and supervision as should be provided for a paroled prisoner who may get in trouble again.

"This is a matter which must be corrected for the public good," Craven stated. Craven is the son of City Councillor Katherine Craven and former Representative John J. Craven.

of fun being stranded, but then as my money ran out it became ridiculous."

"My luck changed Sunday. I went to the airport and got right on the Boston flight," she said.

Another stranded-overseas traveler. was. Mrs.. Paula Scott, 22, of Wellesley Hills. Mrs. Scott said that while she and her husband were "sweating out our plane reservations, nine of us rented a small flat.

"We couldn't even pay the rent," she added with a laugh.

Randall Sugarman, 81 Farina Rd., Newton Centre, and William Funk 3d, 11 Graydale Rd., Auburndale, were enrolled at the University of New Hampshire's 44th annual summer session.

Raymond Roberts and Bride Honeymooning In Europe

Traditional white flowers decorated the altar of the Union Church in Waban for the pretty candlelight service on Saturday, August 13, at which Miss Dorothy Edith Ruth Parsons became the bride of Raymond Lewis Roberts.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Victor Parsons of 1564 Beacon St., Waban, and Jefferson, Me. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bradley Roberts of 572 Quinobequin Rd., Waban, and Goffstown, N. H., are the groom's parents.

Officiating at the 4 o'clock ceremony were the Rev. William E. Parsons and the Rev. Reginald V. Parsons, brothers of the bride. A reception was held at the church.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory silk peau de soie appliqued with Alencon lace misted with seed pearls and crystals. The fitted bodice had a portrait neckline and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt terminated in a full cathedral-length train.

A mantilla edged with precious Alencon lace was fastened to her crystal crown. She carried a white Bible with phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Deborah Parsons Davidson of Leicester, England, triplet sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Sandra Shaw of Newton Centre, Mrs. Sharon Parsons of Nettleton, Miss., sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Meredith Nichols of Concord, N. H., Miss Faith Musker of Chestnut Hill, cousin of the bride, as well as two nieces of the bride, Miss Catherine J. Chase and Miss Ellen D. Chase, both of Lexington.

The two flower girls were Victoria Dean Davis of Weston and Jennifer Dean Parsons of Nettleton. Master Christopher H. Davis of Weston, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

(Bachrach)

MRS. R. L. ROBERTS

Robert S. Fawcett of Waban served as best man. Ushering were Dr. R. Stephen Davidson of Leicester, brother-in-law of the bride; David J. M. Parsons of Waban, triplet brother of the bride; William B. Roberts of Waban, brother of the groom; Arnold W. Sodergren of Orono, Me., and two cousins of the groom, William D. Swanson of Naugatuck, Ct., and Randolph C. Turner of Chatham, N. J.

While in Europe on their honeymoon, the couple will visit London, Paris and tour Switzerland. They will make their home in Lexington, Ky.

Soloists were Mrs. Dean Parsons Davis, sister of the bride, and Paul W. Wiggins. The organist was Earl W. Weidner, while Mrs. William E. Parsons, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The bride was graduated from Newton South High School, Newton Junior College and Barrington College.

Mr. Roberts is a graduate of Rivers Country Day School and the University of Maine. Having attended Boston University Law School, he is a third year student at the University of Kentucky College of Law. His fraternity is Phi Alpha Delta.

PATRICK H. HARRINGTON

Harrington In 10th District Congress Fight

Atty. Patrick H. Harrington of Somerset, practicing attorney and vice president of the Fall River Bar Association, has announced his candidacy for election to Congress from the 10th Congressional District, which includes Newton and Needham.

In announcing his bid, the 45-year-old lawyer said that "the overriding issue in the 10th District is whether 'he people in it shall have the personal, vigorous, direct, forceful and qualified representation in Congress to which they are entitled.

"Ten years of experience in elective county office," he went on, "18 years' experience as a lawyer, and 26 years' experience in military affairs provides me with the qualifications necessary adequately to represent this District in making the laws for the complex society in which we live.

"My first order of business as a Congressman will be to provide this District with the leadership it has lacked in the area of political and economic development, so that the people may obtain the same benefits from Federal and State governments achieved in the past and currently being realized by other Congressional districts under more aggressive leadership."

An overseas veteran of World War II, Harrington is a Naval Reserve captain, having served continuously in various billets at the Squantum and South Weymouth Naval Air Stations. His most recent assignment was as commanding officer of Naval Reserve Officers Schools at Weymouth, Otis Air Base and Fall River.

Formerly a Naval Aide to the Governor, he is now serving as National Judge Advocate of the Naval Reserve Association. As a Naval Reservist, Harrington has completed top-level courses in strategic intelligence and the nature of the Communist threat to this country in the National War College, the Naval War College, the Defense Intelligence School and the Foreign Service Institute of the Department of State.

He is the immediate past president of the state-wide County Commissioners and Sheriffs Association of Massachusetts. Prior to his election as Bristol County Commissioner, he was chairman of the Fall River Industrial Commission.

A product of the Fall River schools, he was awarded an AB degree from Bates College, and was graduated cum laude from B.U. Law School, where he was case editor of the Law Review.

He has been active all his adult life in politics, having been a member of the Democratic City and Town Committees, served as publicity director of the Fall River City Committee, and having been elected as delegate to National and State political conventions.

Jean Marie Scott Marries Mr. James Royal Milne

The First Congregational Church, Wellesley Hills, was the setting on Saturday, August 20, for the marriage of Miss Jean Marie Scott to James Royal Milne.

Mr. and Mrs. Clenton W. Scott of 49 St. Mary's street, Newton Lower Fall, and Mrs. Francis J. Milne of Barre, Vt., and the late Mr. Milne are the couple's parents.

Te Rev. Arthur H. Melanson officiated at the 2:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in white sik organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice, appliqued with Chantilly lace, had a scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The A-line skirt was designed with a detachable chapel-length train.

The bouffant illusion veil fell from a Dior organza bow. She carried a cascade of white tea roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Judith Ross of Newton Centre was honor maid. Miss Judith Salisbury of Boston and Miss Nancy Royea of Barre, Vt., were bridesmaids.

Mrs. Donald W. Scott, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

John Milne of Barre, Vt., served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Thomas Milne of Barre, Vt., brother of the groom, Donald Scott of Boston, and Gary Belknap of Montpelier, Vt., were the ushers.

After a trip through the White Mountains, the couple plans to live in Burlington, Vt.

A graduate of Vermont College, the bride will teach in Shelburne, Vt.

The groom, who was graduated from the University of Vermont, is attending the University of Vermont College of Medicine.

Pretty Home Ceremony For Miss Books - Mr. Anderson

In a setting of miniature pink carnations, white gladioli chrysanthemums, blue delphinium and snapdragons, Miss Susan Books and John Ross Anderson were married, recently, at an afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride"s parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Books of Newton Centre and Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson of Plainfield, N. J., are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Samuel Perlman officiated at the summer bridal. A reception followed the service.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a traditional white gown made of gros de londre. The molded bodice had a sculptured neckline of Alencon lace to match the dome-shaped sleeves of the chapel coat train.

An elbow-length illusion veil was fastened to her matching lace mantilla. She carried a cascade of white tea roses and stephanotis.

Serving as best man for his brother was Peter Anderson of Plainfield.

Mr. Anderson and his bride will make their home in Rockville, Conn.

Mrs. Anderson is a member of the Class of 1967 at Douglass College, New Brunswick, N. J.

The groom was graduated from Rutgers University, New Brunswick. He is now a ceramic engineer associated with Pratt & Whitney Aircraft in Manchester, Conn.

Four Of Mayor's Re-appointments OKd By Aldermen

Four re-appointments submitted by Mayor Monte G. Basbas to the Board of Aldermen Monday night were confirmed.

Two of them re-named Giles E. Mosher, Jr., 32 Holden Rd., West Newton, as an associate member of the Board of Appeal, Building Laws for one year from Aug. 31, and as an associate member of the Board of Appeal, Zoning Laws, for the same period.

The others: Robert M. Corbett, 8 Meredith Ave., Newton Highlands, as an associate member of the Board of Appeal, Zoning Laws, for a year beginning Aug. 31, and W. Cornell Appleton, 14 Kenmore St., Newton Centre, to the same board for the same period.

Quarterback Mickey Beard of Newton during the off season has led a crew of Dartmouth football players in welfare and recreation service. The Indians, Beard included, will assemble Sept. 1 to protect the longest winning string in the nation.

$72,000 Voted Transport Pupils

An appropriation of $72,000 was approved Monday night by the Board of Aldermen to make it possible for the School Committee to enter into a contract with the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority for transportation of pupils for the 1966-67 school year. The School Board had requested $180,000.

Finance Chairman John P. Nixon declared the appropriation of $72,000 would cover the needs until the end of the current calendar year.

The School Committee voted last week to set school bus fares at five rides for a dollar, an increase over the previous rate of 12½ cents per ride.

The Board's Monday night vote also confirmed the fare boost.

Carroll Softballers Attain Semi-Finals

The Art Carroll team took Auburndale 7 to 6 last Thursday night, thus winning the best-of-three Newton Softball National Division semi-final playoff series.

In the second inning the winners scored six times on four singles, a walk, a hit batsman and two errors.

Local Women Sponsors Of N.Y. Philharmonic

Many local sponsors have been listed for the Sunday afternoon presentation of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, with Leonard Bernstein conducting, to be held at Boston's Symphony Hall on Sept. 25.

The benefit committee of the Friends of the Deaconess Hospital has been busy keeping up with requests in response to invitations sent out recently.

Mrs. Lauriston Ward Jr., formerly of Chestnut Hill, concert chairman, has been working from her summer home "Pinetrees" in Douglas Hill, Maine, with Miss Dorothy B. Seccomb of Newton, co-chairman, and Mrs. John Hill of Back Bay, ticket chairman.

The 3 o'clock fund-raising event is the first project planned by the Friends who have pledged during the next five years a quarter of a million dollars toward the New England Deaconess Hospital's $8,150,000 expansion of the Central Building.

Dr. and Mrs. James A. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Godino, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman L. Rosengard, and Mr. and Mrs. Magnus I. Smedal, of Waban.

Chestnut Hill—Dr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Badger, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Edinburg, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bigelow Emerson, Mrs. Charles I. Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Allen P. Joslin (Mrs. Joslin is serving on the concert committee); Mr. and Mrs. Leon Little, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Marble, Mrs. Roger Preston, Mrs. Frank M. Sawtell, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Seddon, Mrs. Sherman R. Thayer, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Tripp, Mrs. Elton Watkins Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James O. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Kenelm W. Winslow, and Stevens T. M. Wright.

Newton — Daniel D. Cline, Newton Highlands; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dempsey, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drooker, Dr. and Mrs. B. NEED FOR A CHANGE—Little Susan Shea, 1, of West Roxbury accepts it all in somewhat resigned fashion as Mrs. John F. Collins, wife of the Boston Mayor, safety pins in her mouth, replenishes an important part of her costume. Susan and her mother visited the Collins-for-Senator headquarters in downtown Boston. Susan's mother was in another part of the headquarters when the need for a change occurred. So Mrs. Collins handled the situation with despatch.

Local Grower Of Roses Is Named In Book

Eli Shapiro of 514 Parker St., Newton Centre, is a member of a nation-wide panel of rose growers listed in a new book, "The Magic World of Roses," that is coming out Oct. 1.

Panel members, listed alphabetically by city and town, recommend when to plant roses and whether winter care is required in their area.

Roses, the book points out, were growing on this continent millions of years before the first humans appeared. A fossil rose found at Florrisant, Colo., is estimated to be 40 million years old.

Today, more than 35 million home gradeners in America grow roses.

"The Magic World of Roses" is illustrated with 32 pages of color and scores of black and white pictures. Its 14 chapters cover all phases of roses from care and culture, history, legends, how to develop new varieties, their use indoors and out, the photography of roses, roses in cooking and medicine and even how to preserve a rose by drying it.

Written by Matthew A. R. Bassity, it is based on the experience gained by the Jackson & Perkins Company since 1872 when they began growing America's favorite flower.

To Teach In A Local Low Income Area

Catherine Volante of Newton Centre is training to teach children whose educational growth has been stunted by poverty.

As a volunteer for the National Teacher Corps, Miss Volante is enrolled in the pre-service program conducted by Rhode Island College, one of the 44 colleges across the country training 1600 corpsmen.

After a summer of study and field work, she will be assigned this fall to a local school in a low-income area, where as an intern-teacher she will work under the supervision of an experienced teacher and local school principal.

She is a graduate of Regis College '66, and will also be studying toward a Master's degree and teacher certification.

Prof. Reynolds To Hampton Institute, Va.

Professor Douglas W. Reynolds of 7 Mt. Vernon Terr., Newtonville, has been appointed chairman of the Department of Art at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., where he will begin duties in September.

He has been associate professor of art at Wheelock College in Boston, and a member of the faculty of Tufts University at the Boston Museum School.

An exhibition of his paintings was held last December at the Cohen Arts Center of Tufts, and in the Wheelock College Gallery. He is represented by the Gallery of World Art in Newton Centre.

Mrs. Reynolds has been active in the League of Women Voters, the United Nations Association of Greater Boston, nd Voice of Women, New England.

The theory of using contact lenses to improve eyesight was advanced by the renowned inventor and artist Leonardo DaVinci in 1508.

Colorful Invitations Sent To Newtonites From Tuscany

Bilingual invitations from Tuscany, similar to the wedding invitations of the Italian nobility, are arriving in Newton mail boxes this week.

They come from Florence with fascinating Italian commemorative postage stamps announcing the spectacular benefit of the International Friendship League on October 26, at Boston Garden.

This "Gala Italiana" made up of performances of men and horses re-enacting medieval pageantry, in thirteenth century costume, brings to Boston for the first time the cultural and historical events of Siena, Florence, Arezzo, Sorrento and other Italian towns.

His Excellence Sergio Fenoaltea, Ambassador of Italy, and Signora Fenoaltea are planning to come from Washington and a reception will be given for them and for Dr. Giorgio Carega, Consul General of Italy at Boston, and Signora Carega, immediately following the performance.

The invitations were stamped and mailed by the school children of Florence who have pen friends in the United States through the League, as their contribution to the project.

The event will help expand the work of the International Friendship League in bringing young people of the free world together through person to person continuous exchange of letters. ... .

Among those working toward the success of the Gala is Mrs. Bergen B. Rapalyea of Chestnut Hill.

Anyone who has not received an invitation in the mail may secure one by telephoning the office of the International Friendship League at 40 Mount Vernon street, Beacon Hill, Massachusetts, 523-4272.

Charles MacDonald, 17 Eliot Ave., West Newton, has been named comptroller of Boston University Medical Center's University Hospital. A graduate of Bentley School of Accounting, he has been on the staff of the hospital since 1948, and has served as acting comptroller since November, 1965.

Voters' Rights Usurped

While the members of the Board of Aldermen undoubtedly made a good choice Monday night in filling the seat vacated by the resignation of former Alderman Harry H. Ham, Jr., the fact is that they also usurped the rights and prerogatives of the people of Newton.

When a vacancy occurs on the Board of Aldermen or the School Committee, it should be filled by the voters, not by the Aldermen or School Committee members.

This self-perpetuating system of maintaining control of the Board of Aldermen has drawn justified criticism in the past.

If the Aldermen themselves refuse to accept the fact that such vacancies should be filled by the voters in elections, a law should be enacted by the Legislature requiring that this be done.

The argument presumably will be advanced that this saves Newton taxpayers the cost of holding a special election. The fact is that a new Alderman could have been chosen in the Nov. 8 election at no expense to anyone.

Assorted Items Get Aldermen's OK At Meeting

An appropriation of $1207.89 from Budget Reserve was voted by the Aldermen Monday night for the pension of Harry Purcell, retiring as Street Department foreman after 42 years of service. He is entitled to a pension of 65 percent of his salary.

Mayor Basbas will have the advantage of a dictating machine while traveling by car to and from the various meetings he attends. The Board voted approval of an appropriation of $450 for the machine. In reporting the Finance committee's approval of the item, Chairman John P. Nixon reminded the members that the Mayor is a busy man, and use of the machine will help him to get through his well-filled days and nights.

Also approved Monday night were three appropriations requested by the Director of Public Works as follows: The sum of $5000 for installation of a sidewalk on Albemarle road from Crafts street, Newtonville, to near Watertown street. It was made necessary by construction of the Harry Gath swimming pool.

Another appropriation approved was one of $27,734 from parking meter receipts for the purchase of off-street parking meters.

The following matters were approved by the Street Traffic Committee and the full Aldermanic board:

St. John's Boy Scouts Meet At Church Sept. 12

The first meeting of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, Boy Scouts of America, Troop No. 316, will be held in the Parish Hall on Monday, September 12, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The new Scoutmaster, Peter Moore of Newtonville, has taken charge of the troop this year, as Harold Perry, who helped reactivate the troop with Dr. Carnig J. Thomason, has become a district commissioner.

This Troop has had rather a busy year with activities in swimming, hiking, camping, at its cabin in the Nobscott Scout Reservation; along with first aid, use of the compass, map reading, Morse coding and decoding of messages, knotting, fire by friction, and other scout activities.

Because of its 400% increase in its membership, the Troop won the Round Up Ribbon of the Norumbega Council. This year the Scout Committee has outlined a varied and interesting program which promises to be of even more interest for all scouts of Troop No. 316.

Along with Scoutmaster Peter Moore, and Scout Chairman Dr. Carnig J. Thomason, the committee is composed of Karl J. Arabian, treasurer, and Richard Reynold, in charge of hiking and camping.

Fun Program Is Planned Sunday To Aid Seminary

Much local interest is being expressed in the annual Benefactors' Day Festival to be held by the Columban Fathers on the seminary grounds, 1372 Brush Hill road, Milton, on Sunday, August 28, from 2 to 7 p.m. There will be entertainment and games for all the family. Admission and parking free.

Music for the occasion will be provided by Michael McDonough's Caeli Band from Norwood. Tom Reilly will be one of the featured soloists for the afternoon. The children will be entertained with pony rides and a fire engine.

The committee will be headed by John Tangney of Norwood. Others on the committee include John McMahon of Watertown, Patrick Gill of Brighton, Walter Duggan of Waltham, John Hynes of Mattapan, Frank Kuppens of Milton, John Naughton of Brockton, Dan O'Shea of Roslindale, Joe Martin of Milton, Thomas Lavin of Canton, Patrick McPartland of Dorchester, James Corbett of Jamaica Plain and Joseph Rajunas of Roxbury.

Father Aiden McGrath, once prisoner at the hands of the communists in China for three years and now lecturing on the Legion of Mary in this country, will be guest speaker.

former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo in the three-cornered contest for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Peabody is considered to be still holding a slim lead over Collins in their exciting clash for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

But Collins in recent weeks has been steadily closing the gap and gaining ground as he has campaigned in sections of the State where he was not previously well known.

If Collins can continue to pick up support at his present pace, he should be able to come from behind and win in one of his typical strong finishes.

However, this looms as a close, tight race which may go down to the wire with its outcome in doubt.

Even though Peabody was defeated for renomination for Governor in the Democratic primary two years ago, he has strong backing from certain groups within the Democratic party, especially the ultra-liberal wing of the party.

For example, a substantial number of people will vote for Peabody because of his all-out fight to abolish capital punishment while he was Governor. Some, of course, will vote against him for the same reason.

Peabody probably will be the choice of a big majority of the Negro voters in Boston and other communities because his mother was arrested while participating in an anti-segregation demonstration in Selma, Alabama.

The former Governor also has an advantage over Collins in that he can devote his entire time and energy to campaigning while Collins must spend part of his time running Boston's municipal government and do his politicking at night and on weekends.

A factor in Collins' favor is that he can point to a whopping reduction in this year's Boston's tax rate, and this will be brought home to the homeowners in his city when they receive their 1966 real estate tax bills.

Collins has made remarkable headway in making himself and his public record familiar to voters in remote sections of Massachusetts who knew relatively little about him prior to the start of his present campaign.

What has especially amazed newsmen who have covered Collins' visits to distant areas of the Commonwealth has been the number of people who were entirely unaware that the Boston Mayor is a polio victim and is unable to walk without his "sticks."

As it shapes up today, the fight for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate will be won and lost in the closing stages before the Sept. 13 primary.

If there is any real public sentiment in favor of a withdrawal of our military forces from Vietnam, it isn't reflected in support for Thomas Boylston Adams who is running for the Senate on that issue. Adams appears to be getting only a handful of votes in most sections.

Former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell has been pulling out all the stops in his drive for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship, but the lead held by former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack appears too great for O'Donnell to overcome.

O'Donnell created quite a splash by publishing an advertising insert in all the Sunday newspaper in Massachusetts last Sunday.

The insert contained five pictures showing O'Donnell with the late President John F. Kennedy, two photos in which Senator Robert F. Kennedy appeared with O'Donnell, one with President Johnson — but none with Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

While O'Donnell and Bobby Kennedy are close personal and political friends, O'Donnell does not have the same warm relationship with Ted Kennedy.

This presumably stems from the fact that O'Donnell argued in 1962 that it would be a mistake for Ted to run for the U.S. Senate. Ted entered the senatorial race over O'Donnell's objection and, of course, was elected.

Ironically, O'Donnell is now trailing former Attorney General McCormack whom Ted Kennedy defeated in the 1962 primary.

Senator Robert Kennedy was the principal speaker at a recent fund-raising dinner held for O'Donnell in New York City.

While Bobby is helping O'Donnell raise money to finance his campaign, he apparently will not come into Massachusetts to speak for him. As long as Bobby does his speaking for O'Donnell in New York, the McCormack camp will not worry much about his activity.

Whether McCormack is employing the right strategy in waging a conservative, low-primary campaign is a question on which the political pundits are in sharp disagreement.

But he has not been building himself to the extent he could for the election battle he will wage later with Governor Volpe.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti appears likely to win the Democratic nomination for Attorney General unless ex-Governor Foster Furcolo can make a dramatic 11th hour surge.

Bellotti presently is running well ahead of Furcolo, with former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo a poor third, according to the surveys made by this writer.

Furcolo, after being away from the political wars as an active combattant for six years, has not yet displayed the vote-pulling strength which many observers expected.

The former Governor also is being handicapped by lack of funds, and Bellotti has been able to put on a better financed campaign.

Furcolo, who is an excellent speaker on television, may be able to come from behind. On the basis of present voting trends, however, he has a lot of ground to make up.

It has not yet been possible to get an accurate sounding on the fights for the Democratic nominations for Lieutenant Governor and State Auditor.

One reason for that is that the voters aren't paying the same attention to those contests as they are to the battles for the nominations for Governor, U. S. Senaor and Attorney General.

Representative James H. Kelley of Jamaica Plain has been making an extremely vigorous drive to wrest the nomination away from State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko, and he is getting effective help from a number of his Democratic colleagues in the House of Representatives.

Joseph E. McGuire of Worcester, who was endorsed by the Democratic State Convention and automobile dealer Herbert L. Connolly of Newton are the adversaries in the struggle for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

Connolly at the present time appears to have the edge over McGuire in the Greater Boston area, but McGuire is extremely strong in central Massachusetts.

The effectiveness of the drives by the opposing candidates in the closing stages of the primary campaign may determine the outcome of the struggles for the Democratic nominations for both Lieutenant Governor and Auditor.

With the primary scheduled for two weeks from next Tuesday, the candidates battling for party nominations are rapidly nearing the do-or-die days.

Ladies Rally For Margaret Heckler

A large organization of women are putting on an all-out drive for Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler who is opposing Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 10th congressional district.

The ladies have scheduled so many coffee hours for Councillor Heckler in Newton, Needham and Wellesley that she is having difficulty attending them all.

The women also are bending the ears of their husbands and are holding house parties at night so their husbands can meet Mrs. Heckler and learn first-hand about her qualifications.

One of the arguments of the feminine campaigners is that of the 435 members of Congress only 10 are women and that there should be room for another qualified woman on Washington's Capitol Hill.

The battle between pert, peppy Councillor Heckler and the veteran Congressman Martin, who will be 82 in November, is arousing the greatest interest and attracting the most attention of any Republican primary contest in Massachusetts.

I am at a loss to fathom the economic direction we are taking with so many contradictory statements from Washington and so many opposing influences at work, I don't know if we are in a boom or at the brink of a bust. I feel sure, however, that barring unforeseen development, we are in for a good measure of inflation and I don't see Washington ready or able to do much to try to slow it down. In the face of general price increases, TV is still the one item that has been going down, but it can't be much longer before this ceases to be the case. Miss Marie Paul Is Bride Of Mr. Peter M. Johnson

A pretty summer wedding was that of Miss Marie Else Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Whalen Paul of 47 South Gate park, West Newton, to Mr. Peter Magnus Johnson of Arlington, Va. He is the son of Mrs. Philip Mulry of Upper Montclair, N. J., and Mr. Walter Johnson of Troy, N. Y.

Rev. Frederick J. Minigan officiated at the 7 o'clock, candlelight ceremony which took place recently in Saint Bernard's Church, West Newton. A reception followed in Knights of Columbus Hall, Watertown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza over ivory taffeta gown designed with an empire waist appliqued with lace and beaded pearls and a train which extended from the shoulders.

Her two-tiered shoulder-length veil was arranged from a lace pillbox, and she carried a bouquet of three lilies.

Caterine Roberta Jepsen of West Newton, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a degas blue crepe gown fashioned with a short train and carried pink miniature carnations and tea roses with lemon leaves and baby's breath. Her headpiece was a degas blue satin bow.

Identically attired and carrying pink miniature carnations, lemon leaves, and baby's breath were the bridesmaids, Theresa Barbara Stolarz of Framingham Centre and Joyce Carol Moran of Washington, D.C., cousin of the bride. Their headpieces, also, were blue satin bows.

Bermuda Honeymoon Follows Schaffer - Schuler Wedding

At a recent 6:30 o'clock ceremony at Temple Reyim, Miss June Betty Schuler became the bride of Jay Lawrence Schaffer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schuler of Newton. Dr. and Mrs. I. G. Schaffer of Newport, R. I., are the groom's parents.

The bride's full-length gown, marked with re-embroidered jeweled Alencon lace appliques, was fashioned of white silk faced peau de soie. The empire bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and Kabuki sleeves. The sheath skirt and Watteau train was marked with similar appliques.

(Alan Lee)
MRS. JAY L. SCHAFFER

Her shoulder-length silk illusion veil fell from a matching jeweled tiara. She carried a cascade of orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Morton Gold was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Carolyn Schaffer, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. The bride's cousins, Miss Judith Opal of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Cynthia Covitz of Winthrop were the other attendants.

Paul Schaffer served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Morton Gold of Forest Hills, N. Y., Dr. Allen Schaffer of Philadelphia, Pa., Stephen Shuster of Hartsdale, N. Y., and Warren Calyman of Brookline.

Completing the bridal party were Mrs. H. R. Shuman, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Tillie Shuster, the groom's grandmother.

After a trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside in Brookline.

The bride was graduated from Chamberlayne Junior College. She is now associated with Harvard Medical School.

Mr. Schaffer, a graduate of Dean Junior College, is affiliated with ITEK.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Dunn of 1545 Beacon St., Waban, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Padrock of 8 Grove Hill Ave., Netwonville, are the couple's parents.

Officiating at the 2:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Boyd Johnson, Jr. A reception followed at the church.

Mr. Dunn gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a traditional white gown of peau de soie. The molded bodice had a semi-scoop neckline edged with lace to match the trim on her long wedding-point sleeves. The controlled bouffant skirt terminated in a train.

Miss Sally Snedecor of Amherst was maid of honor, while Miss Patricia Dunn of Waban, sister of the bride, and Miss Judith Sidebottom of Chelmsford were the bridesmaids.

Tom Lindsey of Schenectady, N. Y., served as best man. The ushers were Harry Paddock of Lawville, N. Y., and Donald T. Reeves of Newtonville.

The couple left on a trip to Maine, New Hampshire and Quebec.

Candlelight Service Unites Miss Hill And Mr. Civette

The Auburndale Congregational Church was decorated with white snapdragons, chrysanthemums, carnations and plants for the recent marriage of Miss Betty Jane Hill to Mark P. Civette.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Arthur C. Hill of 42 Grove street, Auburndale. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick N. Civette of 11 Eddy street, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Eugene W. Meyer officiated at the 8 o'clock candlelight service, which was followed by a reception at the Parish Hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of silk organza marked with rose pearl applique. The fitted bodice had a scoop neckline and full-length sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was enhanced with a double paneled train.

A crown made of crystals and pearls held in place her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white stephanotis, orchids, carnations and ivy.

MRS. MARK P. CIVETTE

Mrs. F. Charles Thamalis of Sagamore was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Janet Weden of Concord, N.H., Miss Pamela MacNair of Newton Highlands, and Miss Shirley Turner of Baldwin, Long Island, N.Y., were bridesmaids.

George L. Hicks of Newtonville served as best man. The ushers were Terence Cain of Chelmsford, Peter Benson of Newtonville and Richard Nicolazzo of West Newton.

Mrs. Gary DeAngelis of Newtonville was in charge of the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of Newton High School, attended the University of Massachusetts. She is associated with Honeywell, Inc.

Mr. Civette was graduated from Newton High School and is a divisional manager for Sears Roebuck and Company.

Patricia Cosgrove Is Bride Of Peter Robert Squeglia

Miss Patricia Ann Cosgrove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Martin Cosgrove of 78 Farlow road, Newton, became the bride of Mr. Peter Robert Squeglia, son of Mrs. Salvatore Squeglia of Winthrop, at a 10 o'clock nuptial mass on Saturday, August 20 in Our Lady of the Presentation Church.

Rev. Leo Nolan officiated at the double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Sheraton Plaza.

Her headpiece of Alencon lace held in place a shoulder-length veil of point d'esprit, and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath with ivy.

Miss Elinor Frances Cosgrove of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marie Brown of Milton and Miss Mary O'Brien of Dorchester.

Serving as best man was Mr. Donald Streeter of Winthrop, and ushers were Mr. William Pratt of Revere and Mr. Richard Waitkus of Cambridge.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the couple will reside in Springfield.

The bride is a graduate of Mount Saint Vincent College. Her husband graduated from Tufts University.

Youngsters Have Grand Time, Win Prizes At Read Fund Field Day

The youngsters had a grand time, with many of them winning prizes, and with their parents looking on, at last week's annual Read Fund Field Day, held in Burr Park, Newton Corner.

The event, dating back to 1902 and provided for in the will of the late Charles A. Read, featured handiwork exhibits, races, games, a costume parade, and professional entertainment by John Sisson.

The Newton Playground Achievement Awards, given each year to the boy and girl adjudged most outstanding on the playground, went to Richard Levenson of 128 Bellevue St. and Christine Kelley of 54 Marlboro St.

Physical fitness awards were presented to Karen Katsines of 56 Pembroke St., and Michael Kaloyanines of 27 Buswell Pak. Senior Girl Craft awards went to Marybeth Donnellan and Christine Kelley. The Junior Craft awards went to Suzanne Conboy and Clair DiGiernni. Boys Craft awards were given to Mark Forte, Malcolm Smith and Tom Di Gieranni.

Other winners during the afternoon were as follows:

Costume parade — Carl Pasquarosa, Meredith Young and Lorraine DePietro.

Race for boys 6 to 9 — Steven DiGiovanni, Olen Manning and Mark Manning.

For girls 6 to 9 — Kathy Kelley, Denise Beg and Elaine Connolly.

Girls 10 to 13 — Eileen Prendergast, Carolyn Hess and Christine Kelley.

Girls 13 to 15 — Cindy Kaleyanides, Janet Olsick and Mary Young.

Girls sack race — Gemma Di Giovanni, Diane Smith and Suzanne Conboy.

Boys pie-eating — Steven Stefan.

Girls pie-eating — Jeanne Gringeri.

Kahla — Betsy Bourdeau.

Four-square contest — Dick Levenson and Karen Katsines.

Whiffleball — Michael Kaleyanines.

Special creative award — Karen Hadi Zade.

The new Alderman was sworn in by City Clerk Joseph H. Karlin, and was escorted to the desk vacated by Ham. He was excused from voting on any of the proceedings of the evening.

Egelson was nominated by one of the other Ward 4 Aldermen, Warren A. Sutherland, who described him as the possessor of an intensive community career and a member of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association.

Former Alderman David W. Jackson was nominated by the other Ward 4 Alderman, William P. Matthews, who explained that he had not sought re-election last year because of the pressure of business, but that of late he had found time for considerable public service.

In nominating Anthony J. Medaglia Jr., of 88 East Quinobequin Rd., Newton Lower Falls, Alderman John P. Nixon described him as representing the city's younger active generation, and pointed out that he had been a high school honor student, and had been graduated from Harvard cum laude and from Harvard Law School. He had served four years in the Navy, Nixon said, and in 1964 was the legislative assistant in the office of the attorney general.

Prior to the vote there was some discussion and the method being used in filling a vacancy on the board.

Said Alderman H. James Shea Jr., Ward Alderman from Ward 7, "Tonight I can only vote to fill this vacancy under protest.

"While the custom of the two remaining Aldermen from a ward choosing a successor, and the Board of Alderman approving that choice, has served us in the past, this custom is no longer adequate. Indeed, our voting to fill a vacancy without the advice from the citizens of the ward, if not of the entire city in an at-large contest, is a practice which is inadequate, outdated, and not in accord with the aspirations of our democratic society.

"While there is no legal possibility of our holding a special binding election, there are other means by which this Board of Aldermen can ascertain the will of the people.

"I recommend that we provide a special advisory ballot in conjunction with the September primary, or if we must delay, we can hold an advisory vote in conjunction with the general election in November.

"If these two alternatives are deemed improper, we can still ascertain the will of the concerned electorate. The two remaining Aldermen from Ward 4 could, under section 39 of our charter, with the cooperation of 50 registered voters, petition for a public meeting to advise on the selection of a successor. With proper ample notice, the registered voters of Ward 4 could be given the opportunity to convene at such a public meeting, and cast their respective ballots in an advisory vote.

"While these suggestions obviously involve many details, we certainly are capable of working them out to achieve responsive representation on this Board of Aldermen.

"With these thoughts in mind, Ladies and Gentlemen, I respectfully move that this appointment be tabled, and that the president be requested to appoint a committee to hold a special advisory ballot in Ward 4, and that such committee report the results back to the honorable Board of Aldermen."

The motion to table was defeated 22 to 5 in a roll-call vote. Those voting in favor of tabling were: Paul J. Burke, Andrew J. Magni, William P. Matthews, Joseph M. McDonnell and H. James Shea Jr.

Expressing his agreement with Shea, Alderman Burke told the board that "many of us have mixed emotions, and feel that the citizens should be allowed to express their opinion. However, I will vote for a candidate."

Speaking as a member of the committee on Legislation, Alderman Edward C. Uehlein said, "I think it is important to state that the committee is aware that a change in the method of naming a successor should be made, and is working on the matter."

Rector -

Following graduate work he taught mathematics and assisted in coaching football at Lexington High School. Thereafter, he attended the Episcopal Theological School from 1956 to 1959. While a student there he did part-time teaching at Manter Hall Preparatory School.

Service -

Basbas urged all interested citizens to attend the meeting, which will start at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 21, and declared that MBTA and M&B officials would be invited to the hearing.

Five changes on M&B service in Newton have been proposed. They are:

1. Newton Corner - Robert Route: Elimination of the extension from Waltham to the Riverside HBTA Station.

2. Newton Corner Waltham Highlands: A decrease in service from one bus every fifteen minutes to one every 20 minutes during the day.

3. Newton Corner - Waverly: Termination of this route at Central Square in Waltham instead of continuing on to Newton Corner.

4. Newton Corner - Auburndale via Bemis (Waltham): Elimination of the extension to the Riverside MBTA Station.

5. Thompsonville Route: Elimination of all service.

Mayor Basbas is vigorously opposing all five suggested reductions in service.

The Mayor sharply criticized MBTA officials for their failure to provide funds to improve the tracks on the Highland branch line.

He pointed out that an MBTA report issued last May 3 declared that present speed limitations on the Highland Branch line are due both to track conditions and equipment limitations.

Despite that statement, Basbas said, MBTA has earmarked funds for the purchase of new equipment but not for improving the tracks on which the equipment would operate.

"We believe that in the interests of both passenger comfort and speed of service track conditions should be improved as well. The speed with which passengers are delivered to and from the subway entrance would not complicate conditions within the subway. The possible conversion of this line to another type of transportation is so indefinite as not to warrant deferment of desirable improvements at this time."

"While parking facilities on this line are generally adequate for passengers from the extreme westerly edge of Newton and communities to the west, such facilities at stations east of Woodland are generally limited and we believe that early consideration, in which we would be happy to join, should be given to their improvement," Basbas stated.

After declaring that "the present deplorable service on the north side of Newton is in need of early improvement," Mayor Basbas asserted that "the limitations of the present Watertown-Park Street line are such that it does not appear capable of providing adequate service."

"We believe," Mayor Basbas continued, "that the possibility of utilization of the tracks of the New York Central Railroad should be much advanced in priority, including consideration of rerouting freight service on this line if that should prove to be a stumbling block.

"At least a partial study of such service was made at the time of the formation of the Boston and Western Suburbs Transportation Council in 1961. In the meantime we believe that service on the north side of Newton could be immediately improved by the institution of an express bus service, at least on an experimental basis, over the Massachusetts Turnpike between Newton Corner and Boston, as is now provided from west of Newton," the Mayor stated.

"We believe that the services of the Middlesex and Boston bus company should be reevaluated by that company, the MBTA and the communities involved. Partial discussions along this line were commenced in 1965, were temporarily suspended for further information, and have never been resumed. They should be, with a view to both improvement of the service rendered and reduction of the deficit incurred.

"We believe that consideration should be given to the institution of more direct bus service between the extreme south side of Newton and downtown Boston," Mayor Basbas asserted.

"Finally," Mayor Basbas continued, "lest it be felt that Newton is asking a lot for the small proportion of the deficit it pays, this proportion will increase in the future under existing laws and Newton does not stand opposed to any revision of these laws which would result in a more equitable distribution of the deficit.

"The dissent of our representation on the special subcommittee of the MBTA Advisory Board studying the distribution of the Middlesex and Boston deficit was based solely on the inadequacy of the consideration given to the legislation then proposed rather than on opposition to any redistribution of the load.

"In fact, Newton has already entered into discussions with representatives of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company, one effect of which would be to relieve that company of a substantial portion, if not all, of the deficit incurred in the transportation of Newton school children," the Mayor concluded.

Dogs -

Under Chapter 140 of the General Laws, any person keeping a dog more than three months must license it. Complaints can be sought against offenders in the Newton district court for which the fine is not less than $5 nor more than $15.

Licenses must be renewed every year. The fee is $3 for a male and $6 for a female.

Dog Officers Charles R. Rivers and Roy D. McLaughlin have authority to pick up all unlicensed dogs over three months old. These dogs will not be returned to owners until a license is obtained and the daily dog pound fees are paid.

Eunice A. Sanderson of 135 Warren St., Newton Centre, was awarded a B.S. degree in Business Administration on June 19, from Northeastern University, where she held honors during her five years of study. Two months later, Aug. 19, her mother, Mrs. William B. Sanderson, received her Master of Science in Education degree from Lesley College, Cambridge.

The eye of Horus, an Egyption falcon-headed god, was reputed to safeguard health and protect vision. It also warded off the "evil eye."

Newton Artist Has Outstanding Flower Exhibition In Gloucester

A little house on Eastern Point road, Gloucester, suddenly blossomed out this summer inside and out with flowers of every description, including pressed daisies and other wild flowers that decorate the walls, petunias and zinnias that hang from the porch roof, sweet elysium that overflows windowboxes, and wild roses that never lose a petal inside their oak frames.

It's all the work of Phyllis Church Maloney of 77 Pembroke street, Newton, who specializes in flower paintings, pressed flower pictures and fleurage at the Eastern Point Gallery, 67 Eastern Point road in Gloucester.

The gallery is open daily from noon to 8:30 p.m., and during the morning by appointment. It is usually a busy spot, as Mrs. Maloney does pastel portraits there.

The Newton woman's venture in the ancient city, which is a magnet for tourists bent on visiting the world-famed seaport and fishing center, has proved an attraction second only to those on the waterfront.

With only a few weeks of summer remaining, Mrs. Maloney suggests that a trip to Gloucester would be well worthwhile this month.

By Oct. 1, her art forms will be on exhibition at her Newton home.

Mrs. Maloney explains that her flowers have been dried under pressure and preserved in a variety of ways — in air, sand, borax and compounds which she prefers not to discuss.

The advantage of fleurage, she says, is that the flowers keep their living shape. "This art form," says Mrs. Maloney, "captures the true miracle of growth and seals under glass the beauty of summer."

Newton Student Made President Of Class At NU

A Newton resident, Andrew Baker, has been elected president of Class of 1967 at Northeastern University.

Baker, son of Mrs. Ruth Anne Baker of 45 Beethoven Ave., is an accounting major in the College of Business Administration.

Last year he served as vice president of his class and was co-chairman of the 1966 Winter Carnival at N.U. A member of Hillel, he has been religious chairman, vice president and this year, is president of the organization. He is also a member of the Hillel Advisory Board.

Baker is a brother of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity and has been social chairman and cultural chairman. He is also a member of the Accounting Society.

Enrolled in the co-operative work-study program, Baker is assistant in the accounting office of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton, during his work terms.

Under the "co-op" work plan, upperclass students alternate periods of classroom instruction with practical experience on regular-paying jobs in business, industry, government and the professions.

Baker is a 1962 graduate of Newton South High School where he played varsity football and track.

Colonial Girl Scouts Will Attend Camp

Thirty-three Senior Girl Scouts will attend the primitive encampment at Camp Featherfin, Holliston, sponsored by Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council from Aug. 27 to Sept. 5.

Mrs. Janis Kalnajs, Council staff member, will be the director working with four adult consultants. Patrols of 7-10 girls each will live, work and play together, setting up their own sites similar to the pattern of the National Roundup. Each patrol has collected its own equipment such as canvas shelter for cooking and eating, tents for sleeping and necessary cooking equipment. The girls have all learned basic outdoor skills equivalent to the Pioneer Badge and have had previous overnight camping experience.

Program will be planned by girls through use of the patrol system and camp council meetings. There will be instruction and practice in use of compass and maps, orienteering, woodcraft, signaling and backpacking. Recreational activities will include swimming and some opportunity for art and music. Teenage opinions will be sought and expressed in discussion forums on values in the Girl Scout Senior program, opportunities for community service and study of other youth agencies. International flavor will come from trying out the songs, dances and foods of member countries in the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides.

Staff members from Newton will be: Mrs. Janis Kalnajs, director; Mr. John F. Crosby, consultant on program; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Handler, consultant on program; and Mrs. Joseph Klarfeld, consultant on program.

"Christ Jesus" Is This Week's Science Subject

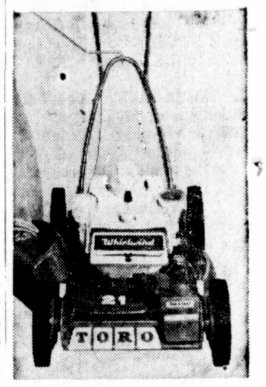

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of this week's Bible Lesson-Sermon to be read at Christian Science church services on Sunday.

The Golden Text is a verse from I Thessalonians: "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

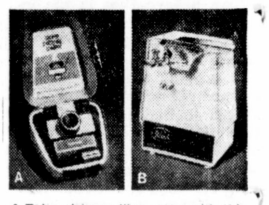

Episodes from each of the four Gospels will be read, covering different aspects of the life of Jesus, accompanied by selections from the denominational textbook, including these lines:

"Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. . . . It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practiced. . . . We must forsake the foundation of material systems, however time-honored, if we would gain the Christ as our Saviour" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Beauty Queen Wins Title As Business Exec

By ALEX ADWAN
United Press International

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) —Catherine Burr Davis wanted to be a movie star, but gave up after three months and turned to the advertising business.

Miss Davis admits that she did not know exactly what an agency was when she applied for her first job in New York. That was in 1961 after she gave up the movie idea in favor of radio and television commercials.

A 1959 graduate of Texas Christian University, Miss Davis carried her fine arts degree in theater to New York with high hopes.

"I thought I was going to be a movie star, but after three months I wasn't," she recalled, "so I started making commercials. I met a lot of agency people that way.

"But when I went in to apply for the job, I did not even know what an agency was."

She was hired as an assistant in the radio-television department of a New York agency in 1961 and stayed for a year. Earlier, she had won the "Miss New York City" title for 1960. A runner-up, she got the crown when the original winner broke a leg.

In 1962, Miss Davis returned to the Southwest and first was employed as a receptionist at the Oklahoma City agency.

A keen interest in fashions and home furnishings led to one promotion after another, assistant radio-television director in 1963, radio-television director, account executive and vice president. She handles retail accounts, including the agency's biggest, mostly in the fashion and home furnishings fields.

What is the future of a career girl who reaches the top executive level of a big company at a tender age?

"Actually, I've been working toward being vice president of the agency," she said. "I'm sure I'll stay here."

The agency is Oklahoma's second largest in billings.

Miss Davis' rapid rise in the mostly male world of business management has attracted wide attention in the trade press. She is to be featured in an article in a national television magazine.

Tiny Ones Take Finance Study In Test Project

MODESTO, Calif. (UPI) — About 125 first and second graders attend summer school to discuss goods and services, production, income and savings—or economics, pure and simple.

The simplified economics course is a pilot program at Fremont School. There is no testing. Students are graded on class participation.

There is "very little writing because many cannot spell the words they think of," said the teacher, Mrs. Carolyn Kerl. She said the course and the idea are good.

"It gives the children a chance to think, to verbalize, to contribute, to participate—although it is over the heads of some of them," Mrs. Kerl said.

She now recommends the course for second graders, but not for first because "the attention span is short with little children and even a single year makes a difference."

But the students for the most part are attentive, she reported. They listen and they respond.

The course is called "Our Working World — Families at Work." Dr. Lawrence Senesh of Purdue University wrote the resource texts three years ago to test whether significant ideas in the social sciences can be made meaningful to children in the primary grades.

Keep Insects Out

(UPI)—Leaving firewood outside until ready to burn is the best way to keep wood-hibernating insects from entering the house, say extension entomologists at Pennsylvania State University.

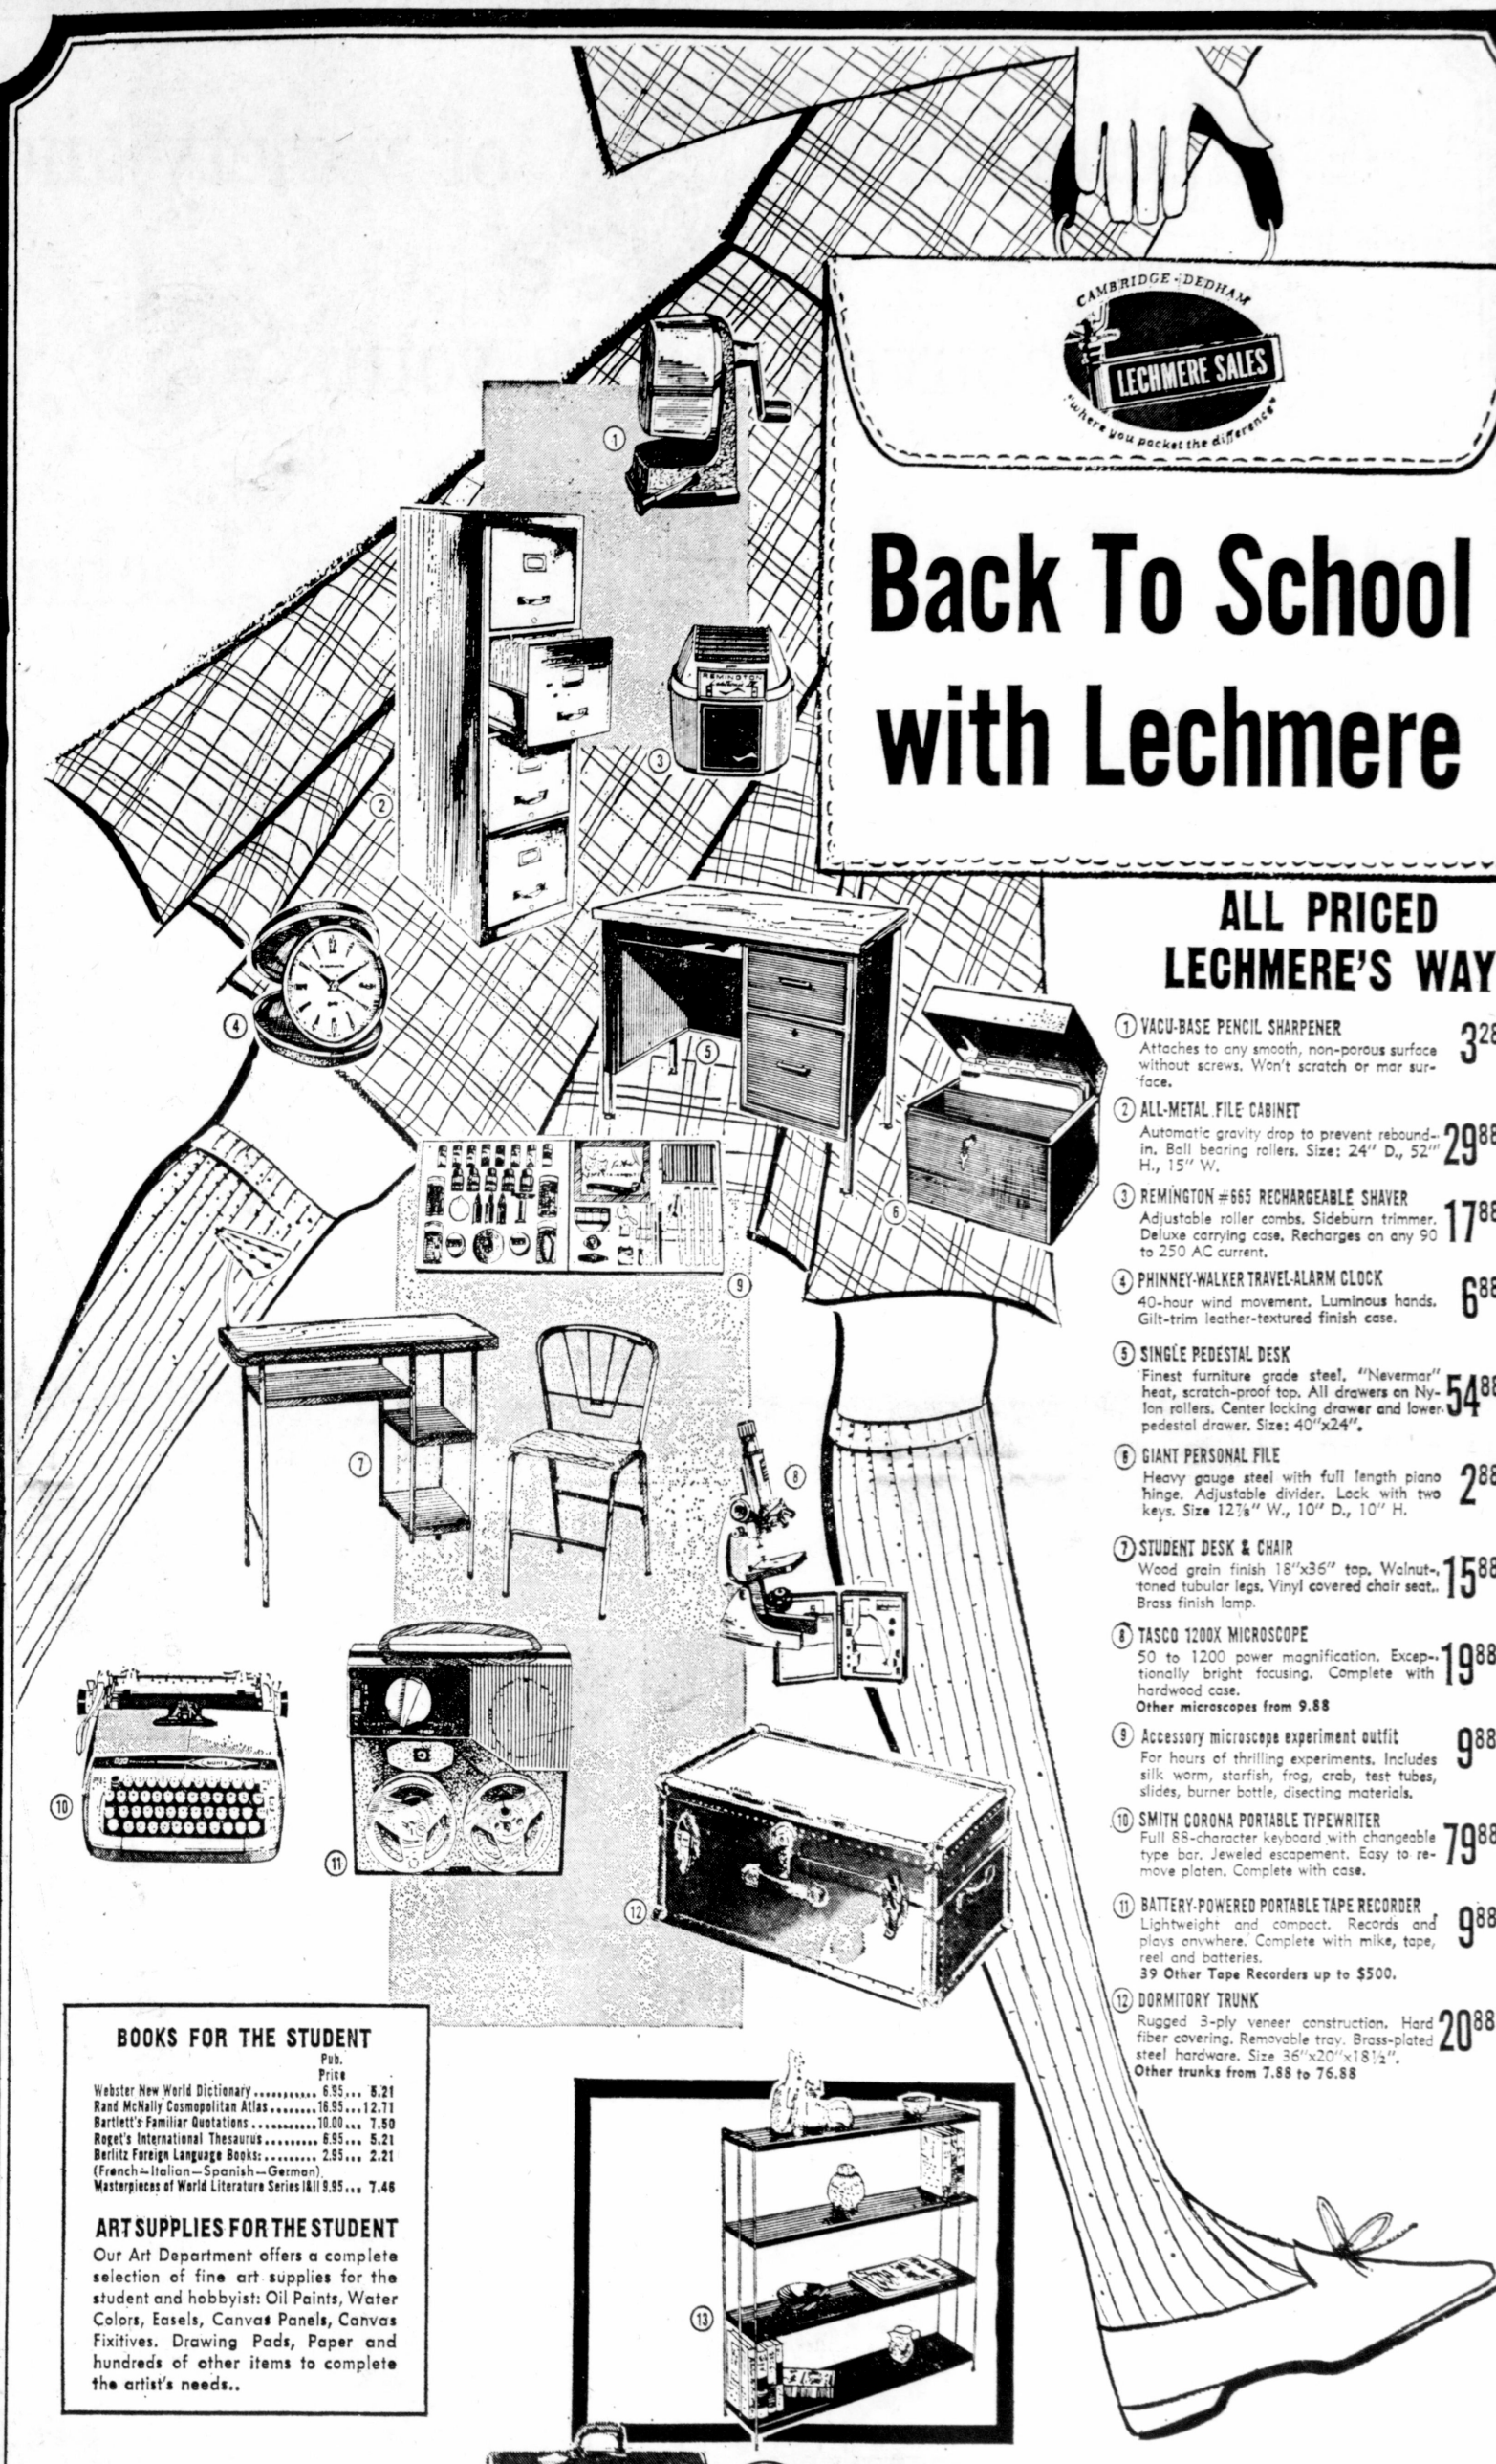

When these pests are carried into the house along with the wood, warm temperatures makes the insect think it's spring.

Sculptured Walls

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walls now have a new dimension—depth—says the Tile Council of America. U. S.-made ceramic tile with concave and convex surfaces are used to achieve a "sculptured wall" effect.

Art Carroll Club Emerges As Softball Champ

The Art Carroll Club staged a final inning rally last Thursday night on Albemarle Field to defeat Trinity Church and gain the championship of the Newton Softball League.

Ken Keyes, Carroll second baseman, hit a two-run homer with two out in the final inning to enable the team to win the series in three straight games.

Keyes also doubled in a run in the sixth inning. In a big, four-run third inning, Fred Guzzi overcame a four run lead held by Trinity.

Trinity took the lead agai in the fifth wih hits by Ra Nickerson and Bill Schwart and a double by Paul Winer but the last inning rally wa the deciding factor.

Recent Deaths

Pauline Chellis

A September memorial service in Boston has been planned for Miss Pauline Chellis of Granby, former Newton resident and a pioneer in the development of modern dance.

Miss Chellis died Aug. 13.

A graduate of Newton High School, she had served 12 years as performer and choreographer for her concert group, the Pauline Chellis School of Dance. She later joined the faculty at Bouve-Boston School of Tufts University to train dance teachers.

In 1964, she retired as associate professor at Bouve, and then served as director of dance at Pine Manor Junior College, Chestnut Hill.

She received her B.S. and Master of Education degrees at B.U., and also studied at Bennington College and the University of Wisconsin, and with dance instructors in this country and abroad.

She was a dance consultant for many colleges and private and public schools, including those in Newton. She authored a number of published articles, and served as choreographer for the Boston Repertory Theater and the Outdoor Players of Peterboro, N.H.

She was chairman of the Boston Dance Council and of the National Section of Dance of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Allan R. Craigie of Granby and Mrs. T. Roland Ekwall of Gardner.

Mildred E. Day

Services for Mrs. Mildred E. (Swenson) Day, 70, a resident of Milford, N.H., but formerly of Auburndale and Worcester, were held Sunday, Aug. 21, in Milford.

Mrs. Day, formerly an executive secretary with Raytheon in Waltham, died unexpectedly Aug. 18, at her home.

Survivors are her husband, Howard Day of Milford, N.H.; two sons, Leon H. Day of Newton and Paul F. Day of Milford, N.H.; two daughters, Mrs. Alfred J. Pearce of Franklin and Mrs. Richard H. Davis of Montrose, Scotland; a brother, Leon J. Swenson of Shrewsbury; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Woodward of Cranston, R.I., and Miss Edna Swenson of Belleville, Ill., and four grandchildren.

John J. Cady

A solemn requiem Mass for John J. Cady, 58, of 48 Indiana terr., Newton Upper Falls, a motor equipment repair man for the Newton Street Department, was offered Wednesday, Aug. 24, in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church.

Mr. Cady died unexpectedly Aug. 21, while vacationing in New Hampshire. He was a heart attack victim.

Born in Newton, he had been in the employ of Newton Public Works since 1951.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Katherine (Milford) Cady; a son, John J. Cady, Jr., a Newton firefighter, and two daughters, Patricia A. and Nancy M. Cady.

Frank Jay

Services for Frank Jay, 91, of 326 Fuller st., West Newton, a pioneer in the automobile industry, were held Monday, Aug. 22, in Newton Cemetery Chapel.

Mr. Jay, a native of Valley Mills, Ind., and a Newton resident for the past 50 years, died Aug. 19.

He was a retired vice president of the American Car and Foundry Company, and with the Stanley Brothers, he founded the Stanley Steamer Company here in Newton. Later, with the Fageol Company of California, he pioneered modern bus transportation, establishing bus lines and providing equipment in Florida and New England.

For American Car and Foundry Company, he had charge of bus manufacturing, retiring in 1943.

He was a member of Brae Burn Country Club, where he made his home in recent years, and also was a member of the University Club, Algonquin Club and Eliot Church of Newton.

He leaves a daughter, Miss Mildred C. Jay of New York City.

Bridget McGettigan

A solemn high requiem Mass for Mrs. Bridget (Harte) McGettigan, 78, of 81 Madison ave., Newtonville, a native of County Sligo, Irealnd and a Newton resident for 43 years, was offered Monday, Aug. 22, in the Church of Our Lady.

Mrs. Gettigan died Aug. 18 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a short illness.

She leaves three sons, Edward M. of Waltham, Hugh A. of Weston and John J. McGettigan Jr. of Washington, D.C.; a daughter, Miss Anna McGettigan of Newtonville; a brother, Peter Harte of Dublin, Ireland; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Gunning of Charlestown, and seven grandchildren.

Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Helen E. Clapper

Services for Mrs. Helen E. (Brown) Clapper, 69, of 26 Llewellyn rd., West Newton, were conducted by the Rev. John M. Balcom, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in a newton funeral home on Wednesday, Aug. 24.

Mrs. Clapper, a Newton native who had lived here most of her life, died Aug. 21 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after an illness of six weeks.

She leaves her husband, Orville O. Clapper, president and treasurer of the Clapper Company in West Newton; a son, Samuel M. Clapper of Saxonville, and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Kenneth W. Hiltz

A solemn Mass of requiem for Kenneth W. Hitlz of 43 Parsons st., West Newton, Nova Scotia native and a retired carpenter, was celebrated Monday, Aug. 22, in St. Bernard's Church.

Mr. Hiltz died Aug. 19 at home after a long illness.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Margaret (McNeill); three daughters, Mrs. Lorraine Wheln, Jr., of Auburndale, and Mrs. Agnes Corrigan and Mrs. JoAnn Caira, both of West Newton; a son, John G. Hiltz of West Newton, and nine grandchildren.

Centre Woman's Club Sets Festival Plans

"Dollars for Scholars" has been the summer slogan of the hard working members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club Art Committee.

Under the leadership of their chairman , Miss Florence Kostarelos, the committee has been preparing for the annual art festival, proceeds of which are used to finance scholarships for worthy students.

Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer, president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, announced this week that the annual Art Festival will open on Sunday, October 23rd and will continue through Saturday, October 29th.

Last year's Festival was most successful. Among one of the interesting exhibits of that festival were the sculptures of Peter Abate. He will be featured again this year with exhibits at the Festival.

NEWTON, MASS.

WHEREAS, Petitions have been filed with the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton as defined in list attached hereto under the zoning Ordinance, Chapter 23," as amended, it is ORDERED, That a hearing be had on Monday, September 19, 1966 at 7:45 P.M. at City Hall in said City of Newton, before the Committee on Claims and Rules of the Board of Aldermen, at which time and place all parties interested therein will be heard. It is further ORDERED, That notice of said hearing be given publication in the News Tribune, Newton Graphic and Newton Villager, on August 25, 1966 and September 1, 1966.

#570-66 Planning Director recommending proposed new Residence EE District and amendments to Sec. 25-9, Business A District; Sec 25-10, Business B District; Sec. 25-13, Minimum lot areas and widths, par. (c); and Sec. 25-15, Height regulations and exceptions, as follows:

Amendment 1. Amend section 25-4. "Division of City into districts"; by adding after "residence E" in the first paragraph thereof the following:

"residence EE"

25-6.1 Same—residence EE districts

(a) In residence EE districts, except as provided in section 25-23, no building, structure, group of buildings or structures or land shall be designed, arranged, altered or constructed or used except for apartment houses or apartment hotels complying with the requirements of paragraphs (1) through (10) of this sub-section; or with the permission of the Board of Aldermen in accordance with the procedures provided in sections 25-22 and 25-26 and subject to the following conditions and requirements, multiple dwelling of six or more families living independently of each other together with such buildings containing related facilities or for accessory purposes as may be approved by the Board of Aldermen:

(1) Minimum lot area—There shall be provided not less than twelve hundred square feet of lot area per dwelling unit, provided that the Board of Aldermen may give permission in accordance with the procedure provided in section 25-26 for the construction of multiple dwellings with a lesser lot area requirement for each dwelling unit, if circumstances warrant such modification, but in no case less than seven hundred fifty square feet per dwelling unit.

(2) Building height—Buildings or strucures shall contain not more than six stories, nor be more than sixty feet in height, provided that the Board of Aldermen may give permission, in accordance with the procedure provided in section 25-26, for the construction of multiple dwellings in excess of the six story or sixty feet requirement, if circumstances warrant such modification, but in no case to a height in excess of twelve stories or one hundred twenty feet.

(3) Floor-area ratio—The ratio of the gross floor area of all buildings on one lot to the total area of the lot shall not exceed 1.50.

(4) Front yard depth—The front yard depth or the setback line from the nearest street line at the front of any structure shall be a distance equal to one-half of the height of the structure but in no case less than 20 feet.

(5) Side yard width and rear yard depth—The side yard width and rear yard depth shall be a distance equal to two thirds of the height of the structure, but in no case less than 30 feet.

(6) Parking requirement—Parking space shall be provided on each premises in accordance with the provisions of section 25-20. Parking areas may be permitted within the distances required in paragraphs (a) (4) and (a) (5) of this section, but in no case nearer than fifteen feet to a street line or a lot or tract boundary, or than twenty feet to an abutting residential property.

(7) Courts—An iner court shall have a minimum dimension at least equal to 1½ times the average height of the surrounding walls and shall have an opening at ground level with a minimum height and width of 18 feet to permit access to service and emergency vehicles. An outer court shall be open to the full extent of its width throughout and shall have a width at least equal to the average height of the surrounding walls, and a depth no greater than its width.

(8) Business services—In accordance with the provisions of section 25-26, the Board of Aldermen may, when it deems it necessary because of the number of persons to be accommodated on the lot or tract, allow business facilities for the individual convenience of the residents such as barber shops, beauty parlors, tailors, shoe repair shops and similar personal services, newsstands, drugstores, food shops, dining rooms and similar retail uses, medical and related professional services to be conducted within a multiple dwelling; except that dining rooms with related facilities may be conducted within a building attached to and made an integral part of a multiple dwelling building, and shall not exceed two percent of the gross floor area of all buildings containing dwelling units; provided that there shall be no entrance to such a place of business except from the inside of the building; that there shall be no signs or advertising material pertaining to such business services outside of any building and no illuminated sign in the windows of the business facilities, and the gross floor area of the business services including dining rooms and related facilities shall not exceed five percent of the gross floor area of all buildings containing dwelling units.

(9) Building locations—No building shall be closer than twenty feet to any other building on the same lot.

(10) Landscaping—the front, side and rear yards required by this section, as modified by paragraph (6) hereof, shall be landscaped with lawns, trees, shrubs, and other plantings and shall be properly maintained in a sightly and well-kept condition.

(10) apartment houses and apartment hotels

Amendment 4. Amend section 25-9 "Same—business A districts," by adding following paragraph (b) (6) (a) thereof the following new paragraph (e) to read as follows:

(6e) apartment houses and apartment hotels confirming to the provisions applicable thereto in residence EE districts under section 25-6.1 herein.

Amendment 5. Amend section 25-10 "Same - business B districts," by adding following paragraph (b) (4) thereof the following new paragraph (4a) to read as follows:

(4a) apartment houses and apartment hotels conforming to the provisions applicable thereto in residence EE districts under section 25-6.1 herein.

Amendment 6. Replace section 25-13 "Minimum lot areas and widths," paragraph (c) with the following new paragraph:

(c) Except as provided in section 25-6 (c) and section 25-6.1 (a) (1) (as applicable to business A and B districts) no new buildings shall be constructed and no buildings shall be altered, extended or reconstructed to provide living quarters for more than one family for each three thousand square feet of lot area in private residence and residence D districts and for each twelve hundred square feet in residence E, residence EE and business A and B districts.

Sec. 25-15. Height regulations and exceptions.

Except as provided in sections 25-6.1, 25-7, 25-9, 25-10 and 25-17.1 no buildings or structures shall be constructed, altered, enlarged, entended, re-constructed or raised so as to contain more than three stories or exceed in any part a height of forty feet in any single residence, private residence or residence D District, or to contain more than six stories or exceed a height of sixty feet in a residence E, business A or B, as well as to residence EE districts, limited manufacturing or manufacturing district, except in the case of chimneys, ventilators and other projections required above the roof, and towers, spires, domes and ornamental features and pitch roofs on non-residential buildings, except by permission of the board of aldermen in accordance with the procedure provided in section 25-26 in the case of buildings other than residences.

Newton Senior At Columbia Helps Educate Youngsters

A college senior from Newton is helping a group of underprivileged youngsters prove that they can get into college after all.

Marshall Clough, son of Ralph Clough, 142 Washington St., is spending eight weeks this summer as a counselor for Project Double Discovery, a summer school-camp on the campus of Columbia College on Morningside Heights, New York City. The progra is designed to aid culturally deprived high school students from poor families in New York City, whose grades do not match their academic potential.

Counselor Clough is a history major at Columbia College, the liberal arts school for 2,700 men at Columbia University. As part of Project Double Discovery, he is one of 50 counselors helping to guide a group of 300 youngsters, mostly Negro and Puerto Rican.

As a result of participating in the project during the summer, and in special classes during the school year, it is hoped that the youngsters will more fully develop their abilities. Upon graduating from high school, each student will be able to enter one of the colleges in the City University of New York system.

The name "Double Discovery" comes from the project's dual goal — helping the high school students discover their untapped academic potential and the cultural and educational offerings of their environment. Many of the students had seen little outside their own neighborhoods.

To attain the first ideal, the students attend morning classes in mathematics, English and social studies. The classes are taught by New York City public high school teachers on the Columbia College campus. Clough and his fellow counselors attempt to accomplish the second goal.

Clough is in charge of a group of six students. He and these students live in a Columbia College dormitory. They attend ball games, concerts, and tour museums, government agencies, and business centers in New York. The counselors also guide the youngsters in such activities as photography, creative writing, chess, swimming, and soccer.

Project Double Discovery was conceived by Columbia College undergraduates in 1965 and is supported by funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D.C.

Clough is a graduate of the American School in Taipei, Taiwan, where he was president of his class and editor of the paper. He is a member of the Columbia University Glee Club.

Best Buys Of Farm Products Are Reported

The Massachusetts Department of Agriculture lists the week's best buys of farm products as follows:

Beans—Green beans plentiful at lower prices. Now is the time to preserve or freeze.

Carrots—Film bag natives and those with tops left on are in good supply at attractive prices.

Corn—In good supply and attractively priced.

Cucumbers—Supply adequate, prices reasonable.

Peppers—California Wonders in good supply, reasonable. Thick skins make them excellent for roasting, frying or for salads.

Jewish Manuscript Is Reconstructed

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Rabbinic scholar at Yeshiva University has reconstructed and interpreted the earliest and most authentic version of a 700-year-old religious manuscript that was used as a source for the authoritative Jewish code of law, "Shulhan Aruch."

He is Dr. Samuel K. Mirsky, who edited and added an introduction and commentary to the manuscript "Shibolei Haleket Completum" (The Gathered Sheaves) which was written by Zidkeiah ben Abraham Harofe, a Roman doctor and rabbi, in 1260. Dr. Mirsky's work is considered of vast importance to religious historians.

Donation

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Harriett Pullman Schermerhorn Charitable Trust has donated $50,000 to the Divinity School of The University of Chicago to help finance publication of "The Chicago Encyclopedia of Religion and Theology."

The new encyclopedia, to be published in six volumes, will be eight years in preparation and cost about $700,000. Scholars at the Divinity School feel it will become a definitive reference source in religion and theology.

Moonlighters

NEW YORK (UPI) — When historians write the saga of the contemporary American breadwinner, they are going to have to reserve a place for hardy humans who hold down more than one job, says the Institute of Life Insurance..

They are the moonlighters, but the Institute said that's the wrong term since most multiple job holders work their second jobs during daylight hours.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Angie Dickinson will play the leading lady in "And Baby Makes Five" on a Bob Hope Theater segment for television.

Bigelow School 7th Graders To Report Sept. 12

Seventh Grade pupils only are to report to Bigelow Junior High School on the opening day of school, Monday, September 12. The cafeteria will be open and hot lunches will be available on that day. This will be a regular school day. Pupils in all three grades are to report for a full day on Tuesday, September 13.

The school hours for the 1966-67 school year are to be from 8:30 a.m. to 2:36 p.m. each day. There will be no bus service for pupils attending Bigelow this year.

New pupils may register at the Guidance Office on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 6 and 7, from 9 a.m. to noon. (Other hours by appointment only.)

Local Candidates Night Planned

Shown in a huddle as plans were discussed for Candidates Night to be held at Newton North High School on Sept. 9th by Newton Democratic City Committee are, left to right, John L. Vaccaro, Francis M. Fitzpatrick, Sidney T. Small, and co-chairmen, Dr. Burton D. Levine and Paul J. King. Sam Fisco of the Committee was not present when photo was taken. (John E. Young Photo).

Counterfeit Nickels Are Passed Here

Counterfeiters have begun passing bogus nickels in Newton, Acting Police Chief William F. Quinn announced as he warned merchants to be on the lookout for the regular-size, one-sided duplicates.

Quinn said Charles Barbour, owner of Barbour's Market at 1018 Washington St., West Newton, turned in one of the fakes Monday.

The phonies have the consistency of plastic play coins. They are one sided and hollowed out, leading to speculation by police that the fakes are pressed from a real nickel.

Jewelry, Cash Taken In 9 Bold Robberies

Daring thieves got away with $1051 cash and $2350 worth of jewelry and appliances in Newton over the past weekend in a series of nine bold robberies.

Easiest-to-carry loot was $800 taken from a briefcase in the home of Samuel Nasos, 67 Walnut Hill rd., Newton Centre. He told police a burglar entered the house while the family was sleeping by ripping off a screen on the back door.

Heaviest-to-carry plunder was a $350 pool table, $400 stove and $300 refrigerator taken via truck from the unfinished new home of Mrs. Helen Chyten on Buff cir., Newton.

Mrs. Theodore S. Berenson, of 9 The Ledges rd., Newton Centre, reported that her home, also unoccupied, was entered and a $500 stereo taken.

Some $75 cash and jewelry valued at $650 was stolen from the home of Mrs. Lois A. Broccia, 119 Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands, by a thief who entered by cutting the screen on the cellar door.

A burglar who smoked on the job took $70 from the handbag of Mrs. Marcia Grossman, 234 Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands. She told police she was awakened by the smell of cigaret smoke.

Although a dog was barking, two handbags containing $95 were taken from the home of Mrs. Louis Frank, 100 Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands, with entrance being gained through a cellar door.

Charles C. Henes, 58 Alexander rd., Newton Highlands, told police a handbag containing $11 was taken from his home after the thief entered by ripping off the screen on the kitchen door.

Cutting the screen on the kitchen window of the home of Saul Gross, 39 Florence st., Newton Centre, was the method used to steal a $150 portable set there.

A burglar raised a screen to get into the home of Michael G. Bucuvalos, 199 Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands, but police said the nocturnal prowler apparently didn't take anything.

Local VISTA Worker Given Virginia Duty

Beth Barton, of 300 Kenrick st., Newton, was one of 28 trainees who were recently graduated from a VISTA Training Program at the University of Wisconsin extension at Upson.

As a Volunteer In Service To America, Miss Barton will spend one year working with the West Virginia Department of Mental Health, Charleston, W. Va.

During the six-week training program, Miss Barton completed classroom studies and gained field experience by working with a project near the University of Wisconsin site that is similar to the one to which she has been assigned.

Miss Barton, 18, was graduated from Newton High School last June. She has had considerable social service experience, having worked at the Sandpiper School for mentally retarded children in Chatham and in a South Boston Settlement House.

VISTA, the volunteer corps of the Office of Economic Opportunity, sends workers to projects that request aid in poverty pockets within the United States and its territories. They serve for one year, although they may extend their term of service at the end of the year.

Over 120 VISTA volunteers are serving in projects for the mentally handicapped. The rest serve in urban and rural projects, Job Corps Camps, Indian and migrant worker projects.

Those over 18 are eligible to join VISTA. There is no maximum age limit, minimum educational requirement, or entrance examination. Volunteers receive medical care, a subsistence allowance that includes $75 a month for personal needs, and a termination allowance of $50 a month, which is set aside until completion of service.

Motor Hotel Given More Time To Exercise Rights

The Board of Aldermen voted 22 to 2 Monday night to extend for nine months the time for Mariott Motor Hotels of Newton, Inc., to exercise rights under the site plan approval granted by the Board in 1963.

Voting against the time extension were Harry L. Walen and Jack M. Roberts, who professed to be of the same mind that caused them to vote against use of a portion of Norumbega Park land for a $4 million motel complex when the matter was first proposed three years ago.

The Marriott project, meantime, had been delayed as a result of a suit brought by a group of Auburndale residents, who maintained that the Aldermen's action in granting site plan approval was unconstitutional.

Walen, Alderman-at-large from Ward 5, repeated the reasons for his original dissension, saying that in his opinion, the city was dealt a severe blow by the cutting up of the land into tracts, with the remaining section less desirable for development.

Some of the city's natural beauty is rapidly being shrunk, he went on, what with the Charles River's banks being replaced with concrete and bridge structures. The city's gains in tax revenue, he said, will never compensate for the loss of a natural resource that can never be passed along to future generations.

Enlistment In Army Up 80% In This Area

As the first civilian public information officer sworn in by the U. S. Army for a main recruiting station, Vincent J. Tuscher, 19 Craigie terrace, Newtonville, states that young men an women in this area have come in for a note of praise from the commanding officer of the recruiting program for Southern New England.

"Army enlistments here are running 80 percent over last year at this time, said Lt. Col. C. L. O'Brien at the Boston main station on the Army Base.

"But this is nothing more than we can expect from the residents of communities whose entire background and history are steeped in the tradition of volunteer Army Service," he said.

He pointed out that last year the Army's 36 recruiting exceeded their objective by 49 stations in local communities per cent, or a total of 7642 enlistments.

"Currently enlistments are running about 80 per cent over the same period last year, with a great deal of interest being shown by young women in the Women's Army Corps.

"However," he said, "we have a critical need for male and female licensed practical nurses to serve in stateside Army hospitals and provide nursing care for our Vietnam casualties.

"A qualified licensed graduate of a two-year civilian nursing program may apply at any Army recruiting station for appointment as a warrant officer for a two-year period," he said.

Chapel Dean At BU Will Preach Here

Dr. Robert H. Hamill, Dean of the Chapel, Boston University, will preach at the Newton Union Summer Service, to be held next Sunday, August 28, at the First Unitarian Society at West Newton.

The service will be held at 10 o'clock. Mr. Clendenning Smith will be the organist, and Paul W. Wiggin, tenor, soloist.

Dr. Hamill received his Bachelor of Science degree from Northwestern University in 1933, and his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Yale University Divinity School, and he was awarded the Doctor of Divinity degree by Lawrence College.

Dr. Hamill was pastor of Wesley Church in Madison and Director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Wisconsin from 1957-1962.

He has spent five summers in Europe which included the development of study seminars for youth concentrating on religious and educational projects, the labor and peace movements, and the arts.

Dr. Hamill preached annually at Cornell University as well as other colleges and universities; has delivered the Willson lectures at Southern Methodist University, and has given Regional Leadership Training conference lectures for student leaders in California, Oregon and Indiana.

He was a member of the General Conference of the Methodist Church in 1960.

Dr. Hamill was the keynote speaker and chairman of the Peace on Earth Moral Implications of Technology Conference held in New York City in March 1965. He is also the author of books and numerous magazine articles.

During the week of August 26 through Sept. 1st, pastoral care will be provided by the Rev. William Blair, and he may be reached by calling 244-2690, The Second Church in Newton, West Newton.

Uehlein Heads Committee To Support Brooke

The Newton campaign to elect Attorney General Edward W. Brooke U.S. Senator will be spearheaded by a special city-wide committee under the chairmanship of Edward C. Uehlein, it was announced today.

Uehlein, a practicing attorney, is serving his second term on Newton's Board of Aldermen, representing Ward Five. Prominently identified for many years with the city's civic, educational and political affairs, he is currently the Appeals Agent for the local Draft Board of the U.S. Selective Service, having received the appointment from the late President Kennedy.

Uehlein served several terms as Chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee and as President of the Newton Republican Club. He has been active in the leadership of municipal non-partisan movements for the betterment of the community.

He served as Special Assistant to the Attorney General on the Attorney General's Highway Law Study Commission and as Attorney and Legal Secretary for its subcommittees.

A former President of the Newton PTA Council, he is a member of the Board of Governors of the Newton Community Council.

Uehlein who headed up Newton Committees in Brooke's previous successful bids for election states that he plans to form a broadly based committee in each of Newton's eight wards and that he invites inquiries from all those who wish to work with these committees in the interest of good government.

Art Festival Raises Funds For Channel 2

A garden Art Festival was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Herman of Waban for the benefit of Station WGBH-TV, Channel 2 in Boston.

On exhibit were woodcuts by Dorothy Mandel of Boulder, Colorado, nationally known artist. Additional pieces of sculpture were shown in a picturesque setting under the shade of apple trees.

The sculpture was the work of Sid Abrams of New York City and included humorous pieces in welded steels, brass and copper.

Proceeds of the festival were donated to WGBH-TV to aid their fund-raising program. A check was presented to David Ives by Mr. and Mrs. Herman to assist in maintaining the non-commercial, non-profit station affiliated with the National Educational Television Network.

Newton Man Is Cited For Service To Organization

Morton Weiner of Newton recently completed his term as president of the Home Builders Association of Massachusetts.

In recognition of his outstanding service to the organization, he was presented a plaque at the inaugural banquet, a highlight of the New England Home Builders convention, held recently at the Equinox House in Manchester, Vermont.

Presentation of the plaque was made by Harold J. Pearson of Chelmsford, who succeeds Weiner as leader of the state-wide home building trade organization.

Weiner was responsible for many innovations during his year as leader of the state's thousands of home builders.

Among his most significant accomplishments was the institution of a frequently published newsletter that kept the builders abreast of the latest developments in the industry.

The Newton man also was called upon frequently to attend State House sessions and speak for the home building industry.

Part-time higher education increasingly vital for adults

Dr. Asa S. Knowles, president of Northeastern University, answers a few common questions about part-time adult higher education and what his institution has to offer.

Question: Dr. Knowles, why is part-time adult higher education becoming increasingly popular?

Answer: Primarily because in these times so many persons are earning college degrees that many adults who don't have them are finding they need a degree to compete in their chosen field. Many discover this need after they have graduated from high school and worked for a number of years. By that time, with the obligations of a fulltime job and a family to support, part-time adult higher education provides the only available solution to their problem.

Question: Can't much of what these people need to know be obtained on the job without formal education?

Answer: Some can, of course, But an increasing number of professions and occupational fields now require a college degree just to enter. This means a man can work his way only so far up the ladder. Eventually he finds his way to further advancement blocked because he doesn't meet basic formal education requirements.

Today there are some 40 or more professions and occupations which require post high school education, college or graduate school educations. In today's society, the bachelor's degree is now required for certain occupations or professions whereas only a few years ago a two-year post high school program was adequate. Engineering technology is an example.

Master's degrees are replacing bachelor's degrees as first professional degrees in a number of fields, and the doctorate is a basic education requirement for many professions.

Question: What is Northeastern doing to meet this demand for more education on the part of adults?

Answer: Northeastern operates the most extensive program of part-time higher education of any college or university in New England. During the past academic year, Northeastern served some 25,000 adults at five different facilities in Boston and its suburbs. Nearly 20,000 of these were enrolled in degree-granting programs. This year we plan to add another two suburban facilities — the public high schools in Reading and Lynnfield.

Question: What is the distinction between Northeastern's two basic evening college divisions, University College and Lincoln College?

Answer: University College is essentially the evening projection of our basic day colleges; Lincoln College is an evening technology institution which specializes in meeting the manpower needs of local industries, and both are for adults.

Part-time students now eligible for benefits under new "Cold War" G.I. Bill of Rights

Uncle Sam has decided to help some of his nephews go to college.

Beginning this fall, recently-discharged armed service veterans can receive educational assistance through Veterans Administration benefits provided by the new Cold War G.I. Bill enacted by Congress this summer.

Part-time as well as full-time students are eligible. Benefits for part-timers range as high as $115 per month for 36 months depending on the student's course load, number of dependents, and length of active duty, Full-time students can receive up to $150 per month.

First, discharge or release from duty under conditions other than dishonorable;

Second, active duty of more than 180 days, any part of which occurred after Jan. 31, 1955, or if less than 181 days, the discharge after Jan. 31, 1955 was for a service-connected disability.

In applying for V.A. educational benefits, veterans are required to name their academic objective, such as obtaining a college degree, or some professional or vocational ambition. The new law allows up to two changes in the educational program.

Further information may be obtained by calling the V.A. at 232-3080; or for details regarding programs at Northeastern University, call 262-1100, extension 761.

Adult women find enrichment in extensive N.U. programs

"A second chance for an education" is what June (Mrs. Jules) Sussman of Lexington found in Northeastern's Programs for Adult Women.

This mother of three is a part-time day time degree student in a program especially designed for homemakers.

Like many girls, June had deferred a college education to marry and raise a family. When she wanted to resume studies as an adult, her homemaking responsibilities made it difficult to pursue a traditional daytime college program. Evening courses were unsatisfactory because they conflicted with family dinner and the children's bedtime.

June finally got her second chance two years ago when Northeastern started its program for women who want to study during the day on a part-time basis. At N.U., June finds: "My scholastic endeavors do not interfere with my family's well being. I am home when the children are home and in school when they are in school."

Classes are scheduled for morning and early afternoon hours and each course meets once a week to cut down on travel time. The program, now also offered on the Boston campus, originated on the university's Burlington campus where June attends classes. A short drive from her home, the suburban campus provides, in June's words, "excellent, plentiful and convenient parking facilities." She also notes that "it's both relaxing and stimulating to attend classes in such a beautiful setting."

Now entering her third year of part-time study, June reports, "I still have not recovered from the excitement of realizing that I can be a wife and mother and an individual too.

"I believe that Northeastern is unique in the way it meets the needs of the modern woman in terms of courses, programs, scheduling and outstanding teachers."

June especially appreciates the opportunity she and the other students have to help design the women's programs. "We meet periodically to discuss how the program is developing and to anticipate future courses we want and need.

"Another plus is that counselling and testing are readily available to guide women if they are unsure of the way to begin or if they need advice after they are in the program."

A sociology major, June plans a social service career. While concentrating on credit courses, she has also taken a couple of non-credit workshops. The first "Human Relations and Group Guidance," a program in self-realization, helped June plan her education in light of her home responsibilities and vocational interests.

A subsequent workshop for women who want to work in the helping professions gave June field experience as a family case aide worker at McLean Hospital clinic — "combining book learning with the real world," June describes it.

June is one of 800 students who enrolled last year in the women's program. Most are between 35 and 45 years old, but the age span is from 18 to 65.

Like June, the majority of these women are working toward a bachelor of science degree. Psychology is the most popular major; others offered are sociology-social work, sociology-anthropology, English, history, political science and art history.

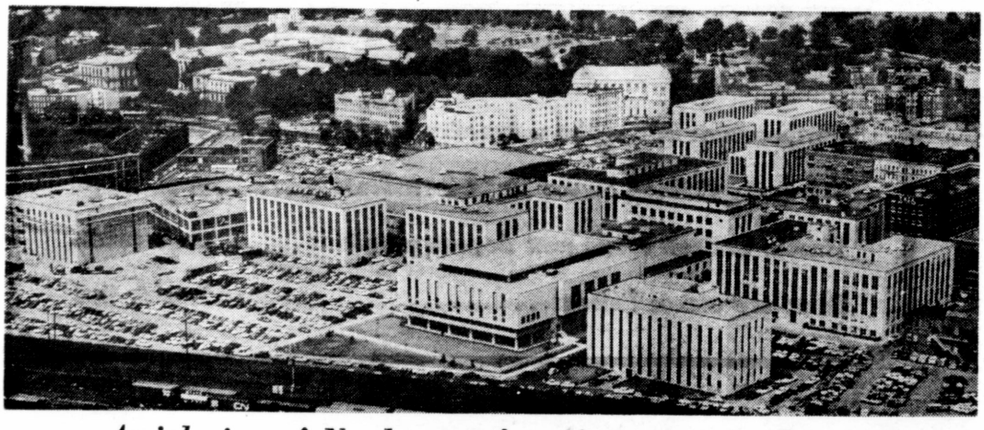

Graduate courses are given in education, English and history. At least 100 women were studying for master's degrees last year in the daytime programs.

Non-degree students may enroll in credit courses too, or in one of the non-credit courses offered in such areas as writing, investing, decorating, psychology and the arts, as well as the guidance workshops.

For women primarily interested in vocational training, job-oriented courses are offered in library science, medical records science, insurance, electronic data processing, real estate and retailing. Professionals who work in these fields are the course instructors.

More information may be obtained by writing for a brochure or calling 262-1100, ext. 494.

University College serves 10,000 students

Say "first-year student" at Northeastern University and odds are you're talking not only about an 18-year-old freshman but also a man who is 26 years old, married and holding a full-time job.

His classroom life starts at 6 one or two evenings a week or at 9 on Saturday mornings.

A statistical "average," he represents part-time adult students at N.U. — men and women ranging in age from 18 to 58, and outnumbering full-time undergraduates about two to one.

University College, largest of N.U.'s part-time divisions, enrolls about 10,000 students in its programs of liberal arts, business, health sciences and law enforcement and security. Some students take one or several courses to meet specific needs; others are working for associate or bachelor of science degrees.

Their common goal is a better way of life—through career advancement, new vocations, cultural enrichment. U.C. helps serve that goal through its adult-level, up-to-date curricula.

Unlike the typical undergraduate, most University College students have their career aims well in mind and, in fact, are already working in their chosen fields, advancing as they bolster work experience with classroom instruction.

"Most of our business students are already in the business world," commented Richard MacPherson, chairman of the business administration programs and assistant dean at U.C. "Many have management or supervisory positions.

"Our techniques of instruction are geared to this workday knowledge the adult student brings to the classroom."

Some students wish to change vocations and to take advantage of national trends that create new jobs.

New programs

U.C. recently initiated a number of new programs directed toward areas in which personnel shortages exist.

An increasing need for more health workers, for instance, prompted new degree curricula in medical records science and in management in health agencies and institutions.

A shortage of systems men in business and industry resulted in a degree program in management information systems.

Recent social welfare legislation, opening up multiple job opportunities, led to a new sociology-social work major in the sociology-anthropology department.

In addition to degree programs leading to careers, U.C. offers courses that provide job preparation even without a degree. Courses within the social work major are one example of this. Another is the selection of seven courses in library science — one or several of these, depending on work experience, can lead to certification as a sub-professional librarian.

Designing and directing University College curricula are consultants who are department chairmen in the day division or who hold prominent positions in business and industry. Instructors, too, include daytime staff of N.U. or other colleges as well as professionals from the community.

Dean MacPherson describes his business administration faculty as "dedicated and able professional people who can teach not only the academics of a subject but in most cases can give personal examples from the business world. Most spend many hours outside the classroom preparing lectures, keeping updated themselves and helping the student help himself."

The liberal arts program also draws upon community resources. The psychology faculty, to cite one example, includes staff members of veterans' and other hospitals, clinics, Route 128 research organizations and military installations as well as of other colleges and universities. Most are men holding doctorates, highly competent specialists in both clinical and experimental psychology.

While career preparation concerns the majority of U.C. students, many are enrolled in programs for cultural enrichment. All degree students are required to take courses in the liberal arts; planned to provide a varied and balanced academic background.

"Most exciting"

Donald Lovejoy, chairman of the liberal arts program and assistant dean, finds the emphasis on fine arts "one of the most exciting aspects of University College today." Music and art offerings are even broader than in the day division; those plus theatre arts frequently utilize Boston facilities — art exhibitions, symphony, theatre — to enrich classroom learning.

New special seminars involve the student even more directly with the art form studied. Upcoming are a Charles Playhouse seminar and an opera seminar in cooperation with the Opera Company of Boston. Students will attend regular performances with class meetings before and after each to discuss the material presented.

These special seminars, details of which will be announced soon, cross-cut the university's quarter system and are offered in addition to the 75 courses in liberal arts available on the Boston campus alone this fall.

Students wishing to earn a bachelor of science degree in liberal arts may choose from these major areas of study: art, history, economics, English, history, liberal arts and management, political science, psychology and sociology-anthropology.

The business program offers bachelor of science curricula in accounting, finance, industrial management, industrial technology, insurance, management, management information systems, marketing and personnel and industrial relations.

In the health sciences, major fields of concentration leading to a bachelor's degree are dental hygiene (in cooperation with Forsyth Dental School), management in health agencies and institutions, medical records science and medical technology (in cooperation with Lincoln College).

Also, in the fields of law enforcement and security, curricula are offered leading to a bachelor of science degree.

Six locations

For those who want to obtain a background in the fundamental area of business or the arts, programs leading to the associate in science degree are offered in the following fields: accounting, electronic data processing, finance, industrial management, insurance, law enforcement, liberal arts, management, marketing, personnel and industrial relations, purchasing, real estate, security and transportation management.

Students can take courses at any of 6 locations: the Huntington Avenue campus in Boston, the suburban campus in Burlington or at rented secondary school facilities at Weymouth, Framingham, Lynnfield and Reading.

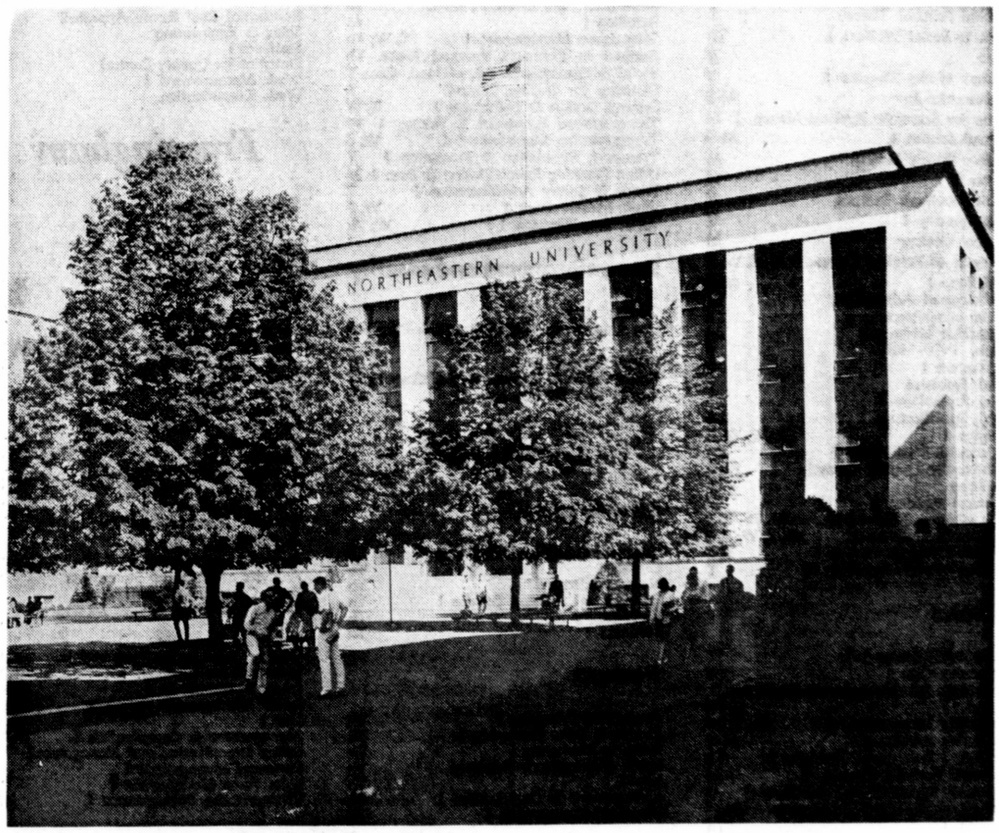

Further, popular courses are offered up to six different days of the week: Monday through Friday evenings plus Saturday. English I, for instance, is given every evening plus Saturday on the Boston campus, on Monday and Tuesday evenings at Framingham, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings plus Saturday at Burlington, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Weymouth, on Tuesday evenings at Reading and on Thursday evening at Lynnfield.

Classes meet at 6:30 and again at 8:20 on the Boston campus and at 6 o'clock and at 8 o'clock in the suburban facilities. This allows considerable flexibility in enrolling for a given course (English I, again, meets at both 6:30 and at 8:20 each night in Boston) and also makes it possible to attend two classes in one evening.

Any person with a high school diploma or its equivalent may register for classes. Those seeking degrees may defer application for candidacy until they've accumulated 40 quarter hours of credit and have a C average or better.

Counsellors are available to every student to help set up and maintain an appropriate academic schedule.

Students out of school for some time and unsure of their goals may wish to utilize Northeastern's Human Relations and Adult Counselling Program. This includes non-credit workshops, seminars, testing and counselling to help toward self-understanding and establishing educational and vocational objectives.

Community service is objective of Continuing Education Center

In his 1959 inaugural address, Northeastern University President Asa S. Knowles cited "special service education to industry" as one of the University's three main objectives, the others being co-operative education and adult education.

Work toward this special service goal is carried on by N.U.'s famed Center for Continuing Education which last year served nearly 6,000 students in its role of relating the university to the needs of the community.

Its programs are composed of seminars, conferences, institutes, forums, and special courses . . . all designed to meet special needs created by a rapidly changing society.

Typical among the many CCE courses are weekly classes in value engineering and analysis, residential workshops for the electric power industry, in-residence courses for Ph.D's and M.D.'s in biological electron microscopy, and continuing sessions for owners and operators of small businesses.

The Center is best known, however, for its State-of-the-Art courses which are designed to help scientists and engineers stay abreast of technological advances.

Last year, about 1,200 students enrolled in these courses which present the latest theories and techniques in scientific fields, covering material not readily available in other educational programs at either the undergraduate or graduate level.

In fact, Prof. Israel Katz, N.U.'s director of continuing engineering studies, stated recently that it takes about 10 years for knowledge, percolating from activities at the engineering frontiers, to become part of formal graduate school curricula.

Prof. Katz sees continued education in engineering as a necessary adjunct to professional practice, adding that these studies are quickly becoming a prime area of engineering education and eventually will be the principal means of preparation for the profession."

State-of-the-Art courses, 54 in all this year, are offered late afternoons and evenings during the week at Weston High School. The courses may be taken for credit toward a certificate attesting to the completion of a coherent program of continuing engineering studies.

Following is a complete list of State-of-the-Art courses scheduled for the fall term (Sept. 19 thru Dec. 9). Further information on courses and registration may be obtained from Prof. Katz at CO 2-1100, extension 341.

Braintree businessman favors part-time study at Northeastern

What started out as financial necessity turned into financial and professional gain for businessman Stephen Markarian of Braintree.

The only way Steve, a 1965 graduate of University College, could manage a college education was through part-time evening study. Days he held a fulltime job working for a lighting manufacturer.

"I realized that the route upward professionally was through education," says Steve, who earned his bachelor's degree in business management.

Steve was working on a production line when he first enrolled at N.U. As he acquired more knowledge in the field he advanced to inside sales, then outside sales and then assistant sales manager, all with the same firm, Sturdy Lantern. A few months ago, he opened his own sales agency, Markarian Associates, representing lighting manufacturers.

"The school-job combination proved to be a great asset," says Steve. "One enhanced the other and helped me advance faster. At the same time, I was able to pay for my education as I went along."

Steve found his N.U. instructors "seasoned people who know what they're talking about and command respect. Most work in the field they're teaching and give you the benefit not only of theory but of their own experience."

While courses in marketing, sales and advertising served to advance him professionally, Steve also found his liberal arts courses "a plus."

"I think in any business program a certain amount of liberal arts is necessary to round out one's education. I ended up taking more liberal arts than I had to because I enjoyed it so much. For instance, my interest in the theatre and in better reading material really came to life."

Two-four at a time

In his nine years of part-time study, Steve took between two and four courses at a time, depending on the demands of his job.

"One of the real advantages of N.U.," he notes, "is that it offers the same class on several days. If you couldn't take a certain course on Monday, chances are you could take it on Wednesday. When the university began scheduling two sessions of classes each night that really helped — it meant I only had to go in one night to take two courses."

Married and the father of two, Steve credits his wife, Elsie, with helping him get through. "She was already a college graduate and she really encouraged me. You have to have cooperation at home or you've had it." The Markarians' children are Michele, 5, and Stephen, 2.

Engineering college offers two programs leading to B.S. degree

The College of Engineering at Northeastern University this fall will offer a part-time program leading to the bachelor of science degree in civil engineering in addition to a similar program, now in its seventh year, leading to the B.S. in electrical engineering.

Courses in these eight-year programs are identical with those offered in the five-year, day co-operative education curricula in civil and electrical engineering and are taught by the same faculty. Classes meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday mornings at Northeastern's Boston campus and the university's suburban campus at Burlington.

More than 600 students are currently enrolled in the electrical engineering program.

Following is a list of civil engineering courses to be offered during the fall quarter, September 19 thru December 9 (asterisks denote course is given at both campuses, otherwise Boston only).

First year courses: Graphic Science*, English*. Second year: Calculus, Physics. Third year: Chemistry, Calculus, Structural Mechanics.

First year courses: Graphic Science*, English*. Second year: Calculus, Physics. Third year: Calculus*, Chemistry*. Fourth year: Circuit Theory I*, Physics*, Physics Laboratory. Fifth year: Circuit Theory III, Mathematical Analysis, Solid State Electronics. Sixth year: Signals and Systems I, Field Theory I, Economics. Seventh year: Distributed Circuits and Waves, Electrical Engineering Laboratory III, Field Theory.

For further information regarding these programs and courses, prospective students should contact either the Department of Admissions (CO 2-1100, extension 513) or the Dean of the College of Engineering (CO 2-1100, extention 425).

Great demand for technicians

Why such a great demand for this middle-man of industry, the technologist?

Until recently, the engineer performed virtually a solo act in working on an engineering problem, whether it was the creation of a new product to fill a specific need or straightening the kinks in a production method.

If he was working on a new product, the engineer not only formulated the basic design of the product, but also sketched out the basic idea, produced detailed drawings and calculations, built or closely supervised the building of pilot models, tested the models, created production methods and supervised production until all problems were eliminated.

Today, however, things aren't so simple. Even a small guidance component for a routine satellite is of such complexity that the scientist and engineer can't possibly use their creative talents and education to the best advantage in building the component and still perform or oversee the routine problems that go along with such a project.

Thus, the need for people who have been trained broadly enough so they can understand the engineer's and scientist's problems and assume the routine — yet complicated and necessary — responsibilities for which the professionals don't have time.

A few years ago a two-year, post-high school course in one of the various fields of technology was sufficient to fill this need. Today, however, there is an increasing demand for technologists trained on the bachelor's degree level who can assume the more complex duties of the graduate engineer.

And then there's the problem of management — who will supervise the growing army of technologists who are armed with associate and bachelor degree-level training?

Lincoln College has developed different programs that will produce people trained to the level of a bachelor's degree in a particular engineering technology, or people trained broadly in engineering technology as well as management and business.

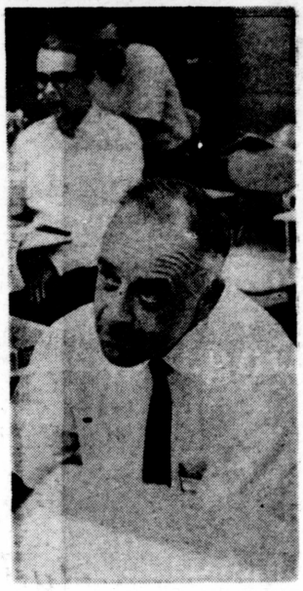

At the same time, it continues to offer associate degree programs necessary to train the bulk of the semi-professional workers.

Lincoln's programs are convenient — they're available in Boston, Framingham, Burlington and Weymouth. They're conducted in the evenings and on Saturdays and they're in tune with the current needs of industry.

Lincoln college in cooperation with N.U.'s University College has for a number of years offered an eight-year program of evening study leading to a bachelor of science in industrial technology. This program, a combination of engineering and management, is designed to turn out persons capable of supervising the work of semi-professional technologists who have been trained on a lower level.

On that lower level, the college offers this fall for the first time four-year bachelor of engineering degree programs in civil, electrical, mechanical and mechanical-structural engineering technology.

These problems, says Frank E. Truesdale, "will broaden the engineering knowledge of the person narrowly trained on the associate degree level in one particular area of engineering and give him an opportunity for intradisciplinary training in related engineering fields."

Engineering technology degree now offered by Lincoln College

About 5,000 employees of Greater Boston industries have found a substitute for the boss's daughter.

It's Lincoln College of Northeastern University.

Lincoln offers technology programs that help workers in the area's many specialized industries turn study into job advancement and provide the industries with skilled semi-professionals to bridge the gap between the tradesman at his machine and the engineer in his laboratory.

These employes are part-time students working toward associate or bachelor degrees in classrooms at Northeastern's Boston campus, suburban complex in Burlington, or rented facilities in Framingham North High School or Weymouth High School.

Starting in September, programs available will include a bachelor of science degree in industrial technology or medical technology and bachelor of engineering technology degrees in civil, electrical, mechanical or mechanical-structural engineering.

In addition, associate in engineering degrees are offered in bio-electronic, electrical power, electronic, heat, mechanical, municipal and sanitary, structural or surveying and transportation engineering; and associate in science degrees are offered in chemical-physical and mathematical- physical technology.

Although Lincoln has served industry since its founding in 1903, today it is learning the lesson of diversification from industry. Beginning this fall, the college will offer at its locations a program leading to a bachelor of science degree in medical technology and associate degrees in related applied science areas.

The program, believed to be the only evening medical technology course leading to a bachelor's degree in the nation, calls for six years of part-time study and 12 months at a hospital school of medical technology.

Today, the Lincoln College graduate — whether he's the recipient of a certificate, an associate degree, or a bachelor's degree — is trained to communicate with the graduate professional engineer and the scientist. performing many of the jobs they once had to do themselves.

The Lincoln graduate is educated to assist a professional whose field has grown so broad that he can't efficiently perform the many routine — although necessary and often complex — tasks essential to his profession.

In the nation, and New England, these tasks include those of draftsmen, surveyors, laboratory assistants and engineering, electronics and industrial technologists, and research and development assistants. There is an urgent need for people with such skills, as reflected by the prediction that the number of professional and technical jobs across the nation will increase by more than 40 per cent in the 1960s. A recent survey shows that technician salaries overlap those at the lower edge of professional engineers. Recent Lincoln graduates have commanded starting salaries in the $6,000—$10,000 range.

More than 5,000 students enroll in variety of graduate programs

A recent report in the Saturday Review on graduate study noted that the part-time graduate student "must have every possible encouragement if we are to come anywhere near meeting our national needs."

At Northeastern University, part-time higher education is a way of life, and graduate study is no exception. Of the 5500 students enrolled in the Graduate Division during 1965-66. 87 percent were part-timers.

The university has part-time graduate programs leading to the master's degree in no fewer than 25 different fields in the arts, sciences, engineering, education and business administration. Financial aid and testing and counselling services are available.

Graduate courses are offered during the late afternoons and Monday through Friday at Northeastern's Boston campus with selected offerings at the university's suburban campus in Burlington. This evening schedule allows grad students to earn a livelihood in their profession while pursuing a graduate degree . . . a convenient arrangement for students, who, for financial reasons, could not otherwise attend graduate school.

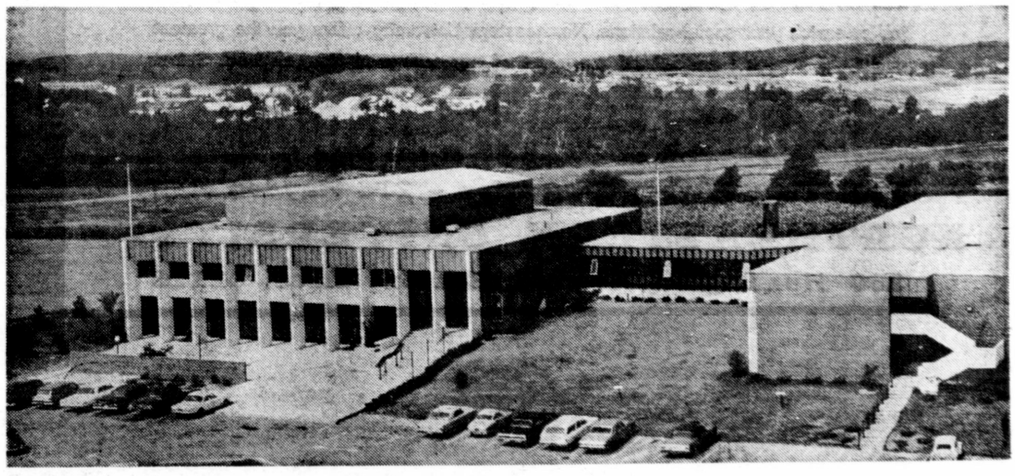

In the arts and sciences, master's degrees are offered in chemistry, mathematics, physics, health sciences, economics, English, history, political science, psychology, and sociology-anthropology.

Part-time students may pursue the M.S. in civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering, and in engineering management.

The master of education degree is offered with majors in administration, guidance, reading, graphic science, vocational rehabilitation administration, elementary science and mathematics, liberal arts and speech pathology. Master's degrees qualifying persons for elementary and secondary school teaching certification are also available.

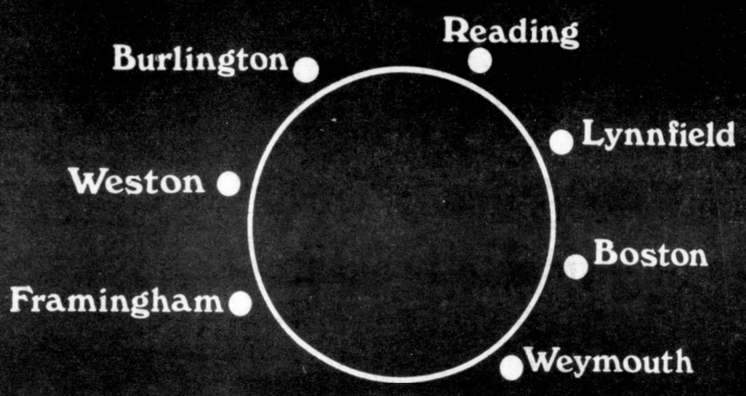

Preparation for the M.B.A. degree involves study in the traditional fields of business administration.

Prospective students may make inquiries regarding graduate study at Northeastern by calling 262-1100, extension 311. Students seeking admission for the 1966-67 academic year should call no later than September 1.

Weekend College provides classes all day Saturday

Boston area residents with an interest in part-time higher education but little time during the week to pursue this ambition now have a new opportunity at Northeastern University.

It's called Weekend College.

It really isn't a college, but rather a label for a unique scheduling arrangement to begin this fall at N.U. Weekend College will enable students who cannot attend weekday evening classes to satisfy degree requirements by attending classes on Friday nights and all day Saturday.

"Just what I've been waiting for," reported a man from Mattapan who is enrolled in University College, Northeastern's undergraduate division for part-time programs in liberal arts and business. He added: "Working all day, family responsibilities, and then studying for and attending classes two or three nights a week is too heavy a schedule for me. Being able to take courses all day Saturday will take the pinch off the hectic weekday schedule."

In the past, Northeastern has offered some Friday evening classes with a sprinkling of Saturday morning sessions. Now, in Weekend College, the university will offer a total of 107 different courses on the weekend in subjects from University College and Lincoln College, U.C.'s counterpart in the engineering technology field.

Through the college, students can meet a majority of the requirements for the associate and bachelor degrees offered by both University and Lincoln Colleges.

Weekend College courses will be offered at N.U's Boston Campus and also at the university's Suburban Campus at Burlington.

A total of 66 courses are scheduled for Boston with the remaining 41 set for Burlington.

In addition to the time factor, prospective Weekend College students will find parking and library facilities more accessible.

Weekend College courses are included among the course listings on pages four and five of this Guide. All University and Lincoln College courses offered Fridays (F) or Saturdays (S) are considered part of the Weekend College program.

For further information, interested persons can contact University College at CO 2-1100, extension 761, or Lincoln College at CO 2-1100, extension 401.

PRISON WARNED OF DRUGS, RIOT PERIL

DRUG PROBLEMS in Massachusetts prisons may have been out of control for the past 2½ years, Dr. Ames Robey, former psychiatrist, told a legislative inquiry Wednesday.

Between 1964 and June, 1966, he examined more than 2000 convicts transferred from state prisons to Bridgewater state hospital where he was medical director. He said he had warned Walpole officials of the danger of a riot due to drugs two years ago. He was especially concerned about the prison use of sleep-inducing Doriden, which "produces increased tendency to mental disease." It also causes a "high tendency to explosive acting-out," he said.

Three prison guards also told the probe they believe that several convicts were "high" on drugs the night of the Aug. 12 Walpole riot when 11 guards were injured.

U. S. PROBES HUB SCHOOL IMBALANCE

THE FEDERAL civil rights commission will hold a two-day hearing in Boston, October 4-5 on the effects of racial isolation in the public schools and steps taken on racial imbalance.

William L. Taylor, commission director, said in Washington that this board will examine remedial measures such as open enrollment, busing, and the enrollment of inner city pupils in suburban schools.

It will assess the effects of the state's racial imbalance law on Boston schools and the compensatory education programs of city schools. Boston and suburban school officials and teachers and parents of school-age children will testify.

3 N. E. UTILITIES SEEK MERGER

BOSTON EDISON CO., New England Electric System and Northeast Utilities, the three largest utility groups in the area, Wednesday announced they are cosidering a merger. The combined organization would have a $2 billion investment in plants. It would employ 18,000, supply electricity to 2 million customers and gas to 382,000 others. The Federal Power Commission must approve any consolidation.

DiNATALE REINSTATED IN PIKE JOB

GOV VOLPE Wednesday reinstated former Public Works Commr. Anthony DiNatale to his last public post on the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority after criminal proceedings against DiNatale were terminated. Alfred Gardner, chairman of the defunct Crime Commission, which had brought charges against DiNatale, yesterday said he favored eventual destruction of the commission's records. He was also reported agreeable to transfer of the data from a Worcester bank vault to the State House archives.

BROOKE SMALL LOANS TRIAL WITNESS

COUNSEL FOR four defendants filed another motion for a mistrial in the small loans case Wednesday in Boston's Suffolk Superior Court, charging that an article in a national magazine could prejudice the jury.

The article in the Saturday Evening Post concerns Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, but also alludes to the small loans case. Brooke's office is prosecuting 15 corporations and individuals on bribery and conspiracy indictments.

Brooke was served with a subpoena Wednesday night ordering him to appear and testify at the loans trial.

CARS STONED, BUT RACE TENSION EASES

A CROWD of Negro youths Wednesday stoned cars in Benton Harbor, Mich., as 300 National Guardsmen stood by for a call to riot duty. In Wauwatosa, Wis., racial demonstrations were called off for the second night. And in Cicero, Ill., officials balked at issuing a permit for an open housing march on Sunday until they had certain guarantees that the demonstration will be non-violent. In Waukegan, Ill., a sundown curfew was lifted as racial tensions eased.

Five youths were arrested in the rock-tossing affair at Benton Harbor and Negro leaders told the youths to go home. Gov. Romney, who had alerted the troops, charged that "outsiders" were to blame for recent rioting in that city.

SENATORS URGE EUROPE TROOPS CUT

SENATE DEMOCRATIC leaders, going against administration wishes, proposed Wednesday that the United States order a substantial cutback in its military forces—estimated at 330,000 men—based in Europe.

The recommendation, drafted by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, was read to the Senate by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

The White House, asked about the resolution, disclosed that Defense Sec. Robert S. McNamara and State Sec. Dean Rusk had "informed Sen. Mansfield that in the administration's opinion this would not be a helpful step at this time."

Mansfield's committee cited improved European relations with the Soviet Union and the ability of the now-thriving free nations of Europe to defend themselves as justification for U. S. troop withdrawals.

SAFER AUTO BILL SENT LBJ

CONGRESS Wednesday approved revolutionary traffic safety legislation. The House voted 365 to 0 for the measure. Then the Senate gave final approval by voice vote to legisaltion that would require the auto industry to build cars in conformity with unprecedented federal safety standards. The bill now goes to the White House.

The auto industry promptly pledged its full cooperation in implementing the new law. But Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said he was disturbed by reports of a probable price hike on new cars — beginning with 1968 models — because of the legislation.

DeGAULLE PESSIMISTIC ON PEACE

FRENCH PRESIDENT Charles de Gaulle met Wednesday with North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's personal envoy. A spokesman said the meeting was the most important held yet by de Gaulle on Viet Nam.

But French sources said De Gaulle remained pessimistic about peace prospects in the Viet Nam war after the 30-minute meeting. Details were not revealed.

De Gaulle will give the major speech of his tour today. Meanwhile, North Vietnam Ambassador Tran Tu Binh declared in Peking that Hanoi is ready to fight for 20 years against one million American troops if necessary.

U. S. PLANES HIT LAND, SEA TARGETS

U.S. PLANES struck Communist targets Wednesday on land and sea. Communist terrorists hit back with bombings and hit-and-run attacks in the South.

Navy jet fighter-bombers caught two North Vietnamese patrol boats in the Gulf of Tonkin and balsted them with bombs and cannon fire. A Navy jet was downed in the area but its pilot was rescued, a U.S. spokesman reported. It was the 348 U.S. plane lost on bombing raids.

Hanoi Communists claimed 11 American planes were shot down over North Viet Nam in the past 72 hours. It said a "number of U.S. pilots" were captured.

NIXON ASKS REDUCED TROOP INCREASE

AMERICAN STRENGTH should be increased in Viet Nam, but not to the extent of doubling our forces, ex-Vice President Richard Nixon told the American Legion Convention in Washington Wednesday. He suggested an increase of perhaps 25 per cent, because "we must help South Viet Nam fight the enemy, not fight the war for them." He also suggested a foreign aid quarantine on nations which trade with the enemy.

Single New High School For Newton Given Consideration

Construction of a single new high school in Newton is worthy of "serious consideration," Superintendent of Schools Charles E. Brown declared yesterday in a report submitted to Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

Dr. Brown told the Mayor that a number of people in Newton are concerned that the present two high school plan serves as a divisive influence and added that the School Committee shares this concern.

The school superintendent estimated that it would cost about $14 million to build a single high school as compared to the $11,375,000 it is proposed to spend for improving and expanding the two present high schools.

However, the cost of the two plans would be about the same in the final analysis if the present Newton South High School were converted to other use, he stated.

Mayor Basbas some weeks ago received a request from a citizen study group urging that he consider constructing a single high school for approximately 4500 students.

The Mayor, in turn, asked for a report on the proposal from the School Committee which designated Dr. Brown to reply to Mayor Basbas.

Superintendent Brown discussed the respective merits of a single high school and a two high school plan from four points of view: 1. The educational advantages or disadvantages. 2. The Sociological implications. 3. The matter of cost. 4. The future of the Newton Junior College.

In his report to the Mayor Dr. Brown stated:

"This letter is written in response to your request for a statement from the School Committee regarding the proposal that has been made by a group of Newton residents for a single high school rather than the present plan to continue with two high schools.

"We hope that you understand that we do not feel qualified to comment on that aspect of this proposal that has to do with the location of

Tax Rate Faces Raise Of $4.70

Mayor Monte G. Basbas disclosed last night that Newton already is faced with the prospect of raising an additional $1,600,000 next year which will be equivalent to about $4.70 on the city's tax rate.

The Mayor indicated that three factors beyond his control are causing a financial headache for him even before he begins to think in terms of next year. Those factors are:

An unexpected increase in the county tax assessed against Newton over the figure contained in the State's cherry sheet which was used in setting the city's tax rate.

A presently anticipated drop of $244,000 below the amount it was estimated Newton would receive as its share of hte sales tax proceeds.

An increase of about $1 million in the school department's budget for 1967.

Drive Opens Here To End False Alarms

An all-out campaign has been initiated by Newton fire and police officials to prevent the sounding of false fire alarms and to arrest and convict those responsible.

The campaign was begun by Police Capt. William F. Quinn and Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins after the city was plagued with a rash of seven false fire alarms over the past weekend.

If those responsible were convicted, their sentences would add up to 14 years in

Change Seen Toward Vote Machine Here

Whether Newton will have voter tabulations by electronic computer depends on the State Senate, now considering a House bill approving new electric voting machines.

Of course, about six years ago, Newton voters rejected any change in their traditional use of paper ballots. But there is some indication there is a change in sentiment among Newton officials and voters.

A special committee was formed earlier this summer

Entire City Moves For Inductee Fete

Formation of the Newton Servicemen's Committee, whose aim is to send off all newly inducted servicemen with gifts, good wishes and good luck from all citizens of the city, got underway under this weekend the auspices of Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The Mayor wants the committee to be representative of the entire city, including all the civic and veterans groups.

Funds will be raised through various activities. All donations, large or small, will be gratefully accepted by the treasurer, S. LeRoy Boudreau, manager of the Newton National Bank, 15 Cypress St., Newton Centre.

As each group of service-bound men gather at City Hall, numerous well wishers will be on hand to see that the boys get gifts and transportation.

Present at the committee's formation were the following, in addition to Mayor Basbas: Robert Champagne, Carmen DiMuzio, Joseph LaCroix, Thomas Medaglia, Leo Lapon, Virginia McGorkle, Joseph Fitzsim-

Newspaper Survey Indicates Collins Is Leading Peabody

For a time it appeared that the action of the Legislature in setting the date of this year's primary a week earlier than would normally be the case might affect the outcome of the battle between Mayor John F. Collins and former Governor Endicott Peabody for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator.

Serveys of voting trends made by this writer indicated that Collins was trailing Peabody but that Collins was gathering momentum, was gaining ground and was steadily cutting down Peabody's lead.

Students From France Are Greeted Warmly In Newton

A group of young French students, visiting in the United States under the auspices of the Experiment in International Living, Putney, Vt., were greeted at Newton City Hall Tuesday morning by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

The youngsters from La Belle France have been the guests of Newton families since they arrived in this city on August 17th.

Mayor Basbas extended the official greetings of the Garden City. He praised the visistors' efforts in helping to maintain warm personal relations between the people of France and of the United States.

Mayor Basbas also praised the Newton families who played hosts to the young touring students from overseas.

The Newton Chief Executive in turn was presented a letter of greetings by the leader of the French contingent, Andre Pigny, from the Honorable Mayor of the City of Rheims, France, Monsieur Taittnger. Rheims is Andre's home-town.

In his letter, Mayor Taittn-ger, told of many things in Rheims that remind its citizens of the friendship that exists between the two great nations, France and the United States.

The Mayor of Rheims mentioned specifically the Carnegie Public Library, and the American Memorial Hospital for Children, both gifts of America, as well as the historic and beautiful Cathedral of Rheims, rebuilt through the interest of Rockefeller Foundation.

The young students left France on July 15th aboard the "Seven Seas," a student ship. During the Atlantic crossing, they attended English classes and orientation meetings. They landed in New York on July 25th.

First stop after an overnight stay in New York was Brattleboro, Vt., where the Experiment in International Living conducts a school for training in international relations.

18,000 Pupils Set For Books, Classes

About 18,000 children will be enrolled in Newton public schools when school begins Sept. 12, Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent, announced this week. He said the number is approximately the same as last year's enrollment but the exact figure will not be known until registration is completed on opening day.

The city's 24 elementary schools are expected to receive some 9700 pupils, while the remainder will be divided equally between five junior high schools and Newton South high schools.

Under the METCO program, 50 Negro children will be bused from Boston to Oak Hill, Spaulding, Countryside, Hyde, Claflin, Horace Mann and Williams Schools. The children have been assigned according to existing vacancies in the schools.

Elementary school offices open Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Temple Shalom Religious School To Open Sept. 10

Nathaniel Roossin, chairman of the Religious School Committee, has announced that the Temple Shalom of Newton Religious School will resume its classes on September 10. The school is directed by Bernard Shulman and is under the supervision of Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom.

Grades 2, 3, 4, 9 and 10 will meet on Saturday mornings from 9:00 to 11:30 am. Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 will meet on Sunday mornings from 9:30 to 12 noon. Kindergarten and Grade 1 will meet on Tuesday afternoons from 1:50 to 3:20 pm. These classes will start September 20.

The Hebrew Department will open on Tuesday, September 20.

The two year post Confirmation program will begin on Sunday, September 18 at 10 a.m.

Registration material and class assignment cards have been forwarded by mail to all members of the Temple who have children enrolled in the school.

The Parent Teacher's Association will be headed by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Freedman, who have already arranged for a transportation committee to aid parents in every section of the Newtons in forming car pools. A series of P.T.A. meetings has been arranged which will enable the parents to become fully informed about the curriculum of the school and their child's progress. Mrs. Edward Axelrod will continue to direct the Junior Choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Parker will once again lead the Post-Confirmation classes.

All questions regarding registration previous to school opening may be directed to Bernard H. Shulman, principal of the school, at DE 2-9550.

Temple Beth Avodah To Begin Its Fall Services Friday, Sept. 9

Temple Beth Avodah, Reform congregation, 45 Puddingstone lane, Oak Hill, announces that its fall schedule will begin with a family service on Friday, Sept. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Following tradition, special prayers of repentance are recited on the Saturday night before Rosh Hashana. Accordingly, the temple has scheduled a Selichot service Saturday night, Sept. 10, at 11:45 o'clock. Prior to this service the Temple Sisterhood will sponsor a coffee hour begining at 10:30 p.m.

Rosh Hashana will be observed for two days, with the first service Wednesday evening, Sept. 14, at 8:30 o'clock, followed by a morning service the next day at 10:30. Children's services will be at 3:15 p.m., and evening services at 8:30.

Services for the second day of Rosh Hashana resume at 10:30 a.m., Sept. 15. Services for Shabbat Shuvah, the Sabbath between Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, will begin at 8:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 16, and Yom Kippur services will start with Kol Nidre at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 23, with Morning Services at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 24.

After the concluding services, a Havdalah Service marking the close of the High Holy Days and the Sabbath, will be celebrated.

Members of the Congregation will join together and break the fast at a table prepared by the Temple Sisterhood. Families in the community are invited to join Temple Beth Avodah in membership now so that arrangements for seats for the High Holy Days and enrollment in the Religious School can be completed at an early date.

Contact either: Marvin Fox, membership chairman, at BI 4-9248; Philip Shapiro, Religious School chairman, at 332-6487; Frederick Shapiro, Religious Services chairman, at 527-6582. Temple Beth Avodah Office — 527-5783.

Many Peace Corps volunteers prepared for duty at the Brattleboro center; in fact, a group of twenty-seven girls, taking Peace Corps training, were at the school with the foreign visitors. The girls were learning the Arabic language before going to Tunisia for two years to serve as nurses.

The French youngsters arrived in Newton on August 17th for a month's "Home stay" with local families.

The visitors and their Newton hosts and hostesses are as follow: Andre Pigny, from Rheims, leader of the group, stayed with Mr. and Mr. Robert B. Russell. Mrs. Russell is area chairman.

Emilienne Girbal, Paris, with Mrs. F. Hawkins; Jerome Berthet, Lyon, with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Both; James Colombel, Mount Rouge, with Mr. and Mrs. Gustiv Ericson; Pierre Bovron Paidier, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chambers; Guy Marchal, Paris, with Mr. and Mrs. H. Gesmes; and Alain Gay-Bellile, Lille, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Taylor.

Through family and group activities, the French visitors were given a first hand opportunity to experience actual living in modern, American homes and to compare it with their own way of living in France.

They are here not as tourists but as visitors, eager to live as a member of an American family and in this manner, obtain a closer concept of actual American life .

Of course, as both visitors and tourists, they were taken on visits to areas, places and communities of historical, civic and educational interest. Some of these were undertaken individually with their respective "families," others as groups.

This program has been sponsored for thirty-three years by the Experiment in International Living, an educational, non-profit, organization with affiiliates in 58 countries.

It was announced that some 2300 Experimenters will come to the United States this year and a similar number of Americans will go to Europe, Latin America, the Middle East, Australia and Africa on Experiment Homestay and study programs.

As Mrs. Russell, area chairman, pointed out, in doing this they are earnestly striving to advance the goal of the Experiment in International Living.

This is to create and promote mutual understanding, respect and friendship between people everywhere in the world, regardless of politics, creed, or race, as one way of furthering peace.

The contingent of young French students will leave here on September 10th for visits to New York City and Washington, D. C. They will leave Kennedy Airport homeward bound on September 17th.

JOHN J. CRAVEN

John J. Craven Seeks Seat In Gov's. Council

Attorney John J. Craven, Jr., of Hyde Park cited both his qualifiecations and his record of loyalty and service to the Democratic party as he campaigned throughout the big second councillor district for support of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council.

A practising attorney, Craven is a graduate of the Roxbury Latin School, Harvard College and the Portia Law School.

"I am proud to be a member of the Democratic party and to advocate and speak out for the principles of our party," Attorney Craven asserted.

"I am proud, too, that I have been a worker in the ranks for our outstanding Democratic leaders, including the late President John F. Kennedy," Craven continued.

"It was serious consideration of the assertion by the late President that young men and women should enter politics and public life which caused me to become a candidate for the Governor's Council," he stated.

"While the Executive Council no longer has some of the powers it possessed a few years ago, I feel that as a member of that body I could perform a real public service for the people of the second councillor district and for all the people of Massachusetts and perform that service with dedication, ability, courage and integrity of purpose," Craven declared.

"It is on this basis that I ask the Democratic voters throughout the second councillor district to cast a ballot for me when they go to their polling places in the Democratic primary on Sept. 13," he said.

Attorney Craven, son of Boston City Councilwoman Katherine Craven, campaigned vigorously this week in Newton, Dedham, Needham, Norwood, the Roslindale section of Ward 18, Canton, Sharon, Foxboro, Walpole and Medfield.

Paul A. Graves Jr., 97 Manchester road, Newton Highlands, was graduated from the business administration course at the University of Maine summer session commencement.

McKenna Seek'g GOP Nomination To State Senate

Patrick E. McKenna, candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the Norfolk and Suffolk Senatorial District, which includes three Newton wards, is a man who has exactly the right attitude for one seeking political office. To wit:

"Life will still be fun even if I am not elected your Republican nominee on Sept. 13, but I sincerely feel that you may be happier if I am."

McKenna, a professional engineer and general manager of the Stahleker Steel Corp., said of his candidacy, "I seek no personal aggrandizement. Having received many personal honors, I know that these honors and the trust that generated them can only be fulfilled by a complete devotion to fairness, justice, and a respect for the rights of others.

"I have no commitment to any group," McKenna said. "You will be able to reach me as easily and as quickly if and after you elect me as you can now. I shall do for you what I have done for all those with whom I have associated; my attention, my interest and my complete effort will be yours."

He added: "Promises are easily made and hard to keep. I keep mine."

The Norfolk-Suffolk Senatorial District encompasses all of Brookline, Wards 1-6-7 in Newton, and Ward 22 in Brighton.

McKenna's political qualifications include active membership in the Ward 22 Republican Committee, Republican candidate for Representative in 1965, and a worker for the Republican State Committee at the 1966 pre-primary convention.

A resident of Pertshire rd., Brighton, McKenna is a member and officer in many engineering groups including the American Assoc. for the Advancement of Science, the American Society for Metals and the Metropolitan Chapter of the Massachusetts Society of Professional Engineers.

He is also the director and chairman of the Sports Council of the Cambridge YMCA, the winner of the "Honor Award" at the Cambridge Y in 1966, and a member of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Presentation Church.

On the strictly personal side, McKenna reveals that he runs three miles on alternate days, engages in gymnastics and mat work, is a fair golfer and sailor and is good at horse shoes.

Residents Tell School Head Schedule Is Satisfactory

A letter signed by 16 Newton residents who are not in favor of any change in the present school schedule has been sent to Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools.

The letter is as follows:

"We are opposed to any sudden change in the present school schedule, and apprehensive about the pressure exerted for change.

"We see many advantages to the present schedule, but know that it presents real hardships to many families, where mothers need to work, or where the distance to school is great.

"We favor careful consideration of all factors, and a decision reached thoughtfully by all concerned with the welfare of the children. The principals and faculty of the schools, and the School Committee, as our elected representatives, should be in the forefront of those making the decision."

Following are the signatures attached to the letter:

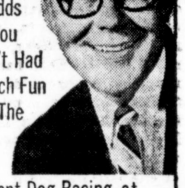

Mrs. Esther Schleifer, 237 Park St., Newton; Mrs. Robert Misch, 274 Park St., Newton; Mrs. Thomas P. R. Hinchey, 47 Sargent St., Newton; Harry H. Crosby, 48 Ruthven Rd., Newton; Jean E. Crosby, 48 Ruthven Rd., Newton.

Kerr Seeks Support For Govs. Council

Attorney Peter H. Kerr yesterday urged Democratic voters in the second councillor district to consider carefully the qualifications of the candidates for the Governor's Council and to pick the one they feel is best equipped to serve them in that body.

"I believe that my legal and business experience would be of real value in considering the different matters which come before the Governor's Council," Kerr declared.

"I respectfully request the Democratic voters in the second councillor district to consider my qualifications for serving them as their Governor's Councillor and to mark their ballots for me if they feel I meet the test of being the best qualified candidate," Attorney Kerr said.

The brother of Monsignor George V. Kerr, chaplain of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, Attorney Peter H. Kerr, Attorney Peter H. Kerr has been making a vigorous drive for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the second councillor district.

He is striving to fill the seat which Executive Councillor Margaret M. Heckler is giving up to run for Congress.

A graduate of St. Mary's High School in Brookline, Boston College and Boston College Law Schhool, Kerr has been admitted to practice before both the State and Federal Bars.

Kerr points out that in addition to his legal training he also has had business experience at the executive level.

My legal and business experience should be extremely helpful in the Executive Council" he observed.

Active in Democratic affairs, Kerr was a delegate to the Democratic State Conventions in both 1958 and 1960.

He is a veteran of World War II when he served with the Coast Guard on convoy duty and anti-submarine patrols in the North Atlantic.

God's Use Of Man Theme In Science Church

God's use of man as His witness will be a major theme of the Bible Lesson on "Man" at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Job — "God exalteth by his power: . . . Remember that thou magnify his work, which men behold."

Passages to be read from the denominational textbook will include these lines: "God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God . . . The highest earthly representative of God, speaking of human ability to reflect divine power, prophetically said to his disciples, speaking not for their day only but for all time: 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also'; and 'These signs shall follow them that believe' " ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

Letters to the Editor

Study Charter

Editor of The Graphic:

I read with great interest your editorial in last Thursday's paper. While I find myself in general agreement with the philosophy you express, I believe that you are not fully aware of the facts or of the present status of the law. As the law now stands, there is no provision for special elections in municipalities, the only course which the Board of Aldermen had as an alternative to filling the vacancy would have been to let the vacancy remain for almost a year and a half. I do not believe that this would have been fair to the voters of Ward 4, who would have then had less representation than the Charter of the City provides for. It would not have been fair to citizens and other petitioners who appear before the Board on petitions that require a minimum number of votes. In some cases the number of affirmative votes required for action is 18.

You may recall that last year when there were two vacancies (one on the School Committee — caused by the resignation of former Chairman Haskell C. Freedman as the School Committee member from Ward 6—and the other on the Board of Aldermen—caused by the resignation of John Holden as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 1—the Board of Aldermen refrained from taking action to fill these vacancies until after the municipal election. In each of these cases, however, ther was less than six months remaining of the individual terms in question.

As I am sure you are aware, the Board of Aldermen, through its Legislation Committee, the League of Women Voters and a number of other active and interested civic and political organizations as well as individuals, have been studying the Charter of the City very thoroughly and have given particular attention to election procedures. These studies are continuing and, hopefully, they will have a constructive result. The Home Rule amendment to the State Constitution, which is to be on the ballot in this fall's election, is a very pertinent part of the whole program of Charter review and was the State Legislature's method for giving each municipality a greater voice in election procedures as well as in other phases of municipal government.

I trust that the interest which you have shown in one aspect of the Charter will be expanded to other areas and that you will give active support to a constructive review of the Charter.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM M. GLOVSKY
Alderman

(Editor's Note: This is one of a number of letters the Graphic has received on this subject. The Graphic understands that the present city charter does not provide that the people shall have the right to fill vacancies on the Board of Aldermen and School Committee.

The point the Graphic editorial was seeking to make was that the charter should be amended to give the people that right. Until the city charter is revised the authority of the people will be usurped whenever a vacancy is filled on the Aldermanic or School Board.

Over a period of years there has been a great deal of talk about the need for changing the city charter in the manner urged by the Graphic. However, there has been little action to accomplish that objective.)

Chides Graphic

Editor of The Graphic:

For a local newspaper so usually well informed as the Newton Graphic to take an editorial stand based on an incorrect premise, was to me very surprising indeed. Your editorial condemning the Board of Aldermen for "usurping the voters' rights" was very misleading.

Not once in your editorial did you mention that we, the aldermen, were doing the only thing permitted to us under our present City Charter other than leaving the position vacant.

Your statement that it would not have cost the city anything to elect the replacement in the November 8th election is correct . . . except you fail to mention that such an election would be completely illegal, and would certainly not be binding on anyone under the present laws, a change of which must be made by the State Legislature.

Finally, you also failed to mention in your editorial, that the very idea of a special election to fill vacancies occurring anytime in the first year and one-half of a term for alderman, has been recommended by the aldermanic committee to study the City Charter. Your claim, therefore, that we on the Board elected to fill the vacancy as a means to self-perpetuate ourselves, was hardly complimentary, or, in full honestly, a true fact.

Hoping that this letter will chide you into keeping up your usually fine coverage of local events and local polltics, I am

Very truly yours,
JASON SACKS
Alderman-at-Large
Ward 7.

Ward 4 Protest

Editor of The Graphic:

As a citizens of Newton's Ward 4 and as a person in attendance at the Board of Aldermen's selection of our new Alderman, I want to say I am disturbed at the procedure used.

While the Board of Aldermen has the legal responsibility to select a successor for to serve their seats for holy-and should have used a more democratic means to choose the successor.

Alderman Shea suggested that the Board of Aldermen provide for a special advisory ballot in conjunction either with the September primary or the November election, or that a public meeting be held at which time Ward 4 voters could participate in a special advisory ballot. His ideas seem clearly preferable to the convening of the Board behind closed doors and then their publicly voting for a successor. This procedure may have served in the past, but as Mr. Shea stated on the floor of the Board, "the current practice is outdated, and not in accord with the aspirations of our democratic society."

I hope that these procedures will soon be updated and made more sensitive to the citizens whom, after all, a new alderman is supposed to serve.

Newton Tigers Squeak Through To 45-44 Win

Newton Tigers came from behind to gain a 45 to 44 win over Waltham Seniors in last Sunday night's semi-final Waltham City Summer Basketball League playoff game on the MDC court.

It was a 10-foot jump shot when only 15 seconds were left that gave Newton the victory.

The shooter was Paul Ward.

Planning Board To Propose A New "EE" Zone

James A. Miller of the Planning Board will go before the Monday, Sept. 12, meeting of the Board of Aldermen with a petition for a new zoning district, "Residence EE."

The petition constitutes a part of a long-range plan to adjust all zoning in the city. The new Residence EE district would allow high rise apartments containing six stories, with the height no more than 60 feet.

However, modifications would be issued provided special permission is obtained, but in no case would buildings be more than 12 stories and no more than 120 feet high.

In the new district no building, structure, or land shall be designed, constructed or used except for apartment houses or apartment hotels complying with the zoning requirements.

At least 1,200 square feet will be required for each dwelling unit or, if special permission is granted under unique circumstances, no less than 750 square feet per dwelling.

According to the number of residents in the new units, some business facilities will be allowed for the individual convenience of the residents.

Dining facilities also will be allowed but must be attached and made an integral part of the dwelling unit and have entrances only from within the building.

The proposed new zone was created to limit non-conforming usage of other zones for this type building.

Previous to this proposal, contractors wishing to build limited high-rise apartments had to petition the city for a zone change, and the city had no control over the type of building or business erected on the zone.

Local Solons' Police Bills Support Lauded

The Acting Dean of Northeastern University's newly-established College of Criminal Justice has commended Reps. Joseph G. Bradley, Theodore D. Mann, Edward Dickson and Irving Fishman for supporting legislation affecting police officers.

Dean Robert Sheehan said that Reps. Bradley, Mann, Dickson and Fishman deserve "the highest praise for taking progressive positions on legislation affecting police operations.

"The Representatives," Sheehan said, 'have strongly and consistently backed legislation supporting the police and I am extremely impressed."

Shehan referred particularly to the Massachusetts State Police Merit Promotion Bill and to the police internship bill which, he said, he hoped would "help in professionalizing police in our Commonwealth.

"At a time in our history," Sheehan continued, "when one of this nation's most serious domestic threats is crime in the streets, it is reassuring to know that some of our legislators are concerned enough to act for the good of all our citizens."

The State Police bill to which the Dean referred was filed by Rep. Paul Cavanaugh of Medford, and was designed to take politics out of State Police promotions.

The internship bill, filed by Reps. Michael S. Dukakis, of Brookline, and John Sears, of Boston, provided for communities to appropriate funds for hiring on a part-time basis, students studying police science and law enforcement

Warren Junior High Prepares For Opening

The office of Warren Junior High School in West Newton will be open from 9 to 3 daily, from Wednesday, Sept. 7 through Friday, Sept. 9 in preparation for the beginning of the school year.

Pupils new to the school, except those entering the seventh grade from public elementary schools in the Warren district, should report for placement during this period, bringing transfer cards, records of final marks, etc., from previous schools so they may be assigned to the proper grade level.

Those pupils who are required to take makeup exams are to report Thursday, Sept. 8, at 9 in the morning.

School opens Monday, Sept. 12. Seventh grade pupils should report at 9 a.m. They will be dismissed at noon the first day. The cafeteria will not be in operation opening day.

Sessions for 8th and 9th grade pupils on Sept. 12 begin at 1 p.m. and end at 2:30. Bus service will be available.

Political Highlights

The big question was whether Collins could overtake and pass Peabody before Sept. 13. There was also conjecture in political circles as to whether the fact that the primary is to be held Sept. 13 instead of Sept. 20 might even cost Collins the Senate nomination.

But if an in-depth survey made by the Boston Globe is accurate - - and the Globe is noted for the accuracy of its polls - - Collins already has turned the corner, has moved up past Peabody and into the lead.

The lead the Globe survey showed for Collins was a wafer-thin one—a margin of just one per cent. For poll purposes that would be considered a tie by the political analysts.

However, if Collins is running even with Peabody today, it probably means he's on his way to a victory in the Sept. 13 primary since there is every evidence that he is still picking up speed and support and that he is making one of his strong campaign finishes.

This has been a hard, gruelling, uphill fight for Collins since he opened his primary drive.

When tests of Democratic voter sentiment were first made in the early summer, is became apparent that Peabody held a commanding lead, largely because Peabody was better known than Collins in areas distant from Greater Boston.

Peabody had been Governor for two years. He had been a candidate in each of the last four primaries, winning one contest and losing three. He had won an election battle in 1962.

In victory and in defeat Peabody had gained public attention.

As Governor, Peabody was involved in a number of widely publicized controversies, notably his all-out fight to abolish capital punishment.

Even the fact that his mother was arrested while participating in a civil rights demonstration in the deep South was reported in every newspaper, on every television channel and radio station in the Commonwealth.

All this served to make Endicott Peabody's name much better known than that of John Collins in distant corners of the Commonwealth.

This was a handicap Collins had to overcome if he was to gain the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, and the Globe survey indicates that he has overcome it.

An interesting aspect to the Globe poll was its finding that Collins is more popular now outside of Boston than he is in his home city.

Collins up to now has done little campaigning in Boston as he has stumped nights and weekends in other sections of the State.

When he turns his attention to Boston in the closing stages of the campaign, he should be able to boost his strength in the capital city.

Mayor Collins will meet opposition in some sections of the city and encounter hostility from some groups in Boston.

For more than six and a half years he has been making tough decisions. He hasn't hesitated to say "No" when he considered it necessary. This has created both respect and resentment. During his years in office Collins has built up some hostility, as inevitably happens when a strong Mayor is running a municipal government.

Collins should be able to overcome part of that hostility on the basis of his impressive accomplishments as Mayor.

Of course, there are a number of wards in Boston where Collins is extremely popular and where he can count on strong support.

There are numerous bits of evidence that Collins has been making real headway in his drive for the Senate nomination and the right to oppose Attorney General Edward W. Brooke in the November election.

But none has pinpointed the Collins-Peabody race to as fine a point as did the Globe survey.

Collins and Peabody have been conducting sharply contrasting campaigns.

Collins is using every means at his disposal to present his views, ideas and public record.

Peabody so far has been making a strictly person-to-person, hand-to-hand campaign, meeting the voters, shaking their hands, telling them who he is and asking their support.

One might even get the impression that Peabody is campaigning under wraps and that he is trying to shun the spotlight and avoid the publicity and attention he would get if he did engage in a debate.

Collins, who is not as mobile as Peabody and cannot devote his entire time to campaigning, has not been able to match Peabody's street corner and bus stop politicking.

However, workers on the early shift at the Westinghouse plant in Pittsfield and at similar establishments throughout the Commonwealth have been amazed to see Collins, standing with his aluminum crutches, waiting to greet them at the factory gates at 6:30 in the morning.

Newsmen covering Collins are still chuckling over one incident involving the Boston Mayor.

Collins visited a Golden Age party at Castle Island and was promptly challenged to a game of checkers by an 83-year-old man.

It quickly became apparent that beating the Mayor of Boston at checkers meant a great deal to the 83-year-oldster, and his friends gathered around to watch the game.

Collins was trying to make sure that the old gentleman realized his desire and won the game.

But a 10-year-old boy, who was kibitzing and knew something about checkers, was making it difficult for Collins to lose.

"That ain't the best move, Mayor," said the youngster. "Move that one."

Collins pretended he didn't hear. The boy pointed to still another move Collins could make. Collins whispered to the youth that it wasn't fair for him to get any help from the sidelines.

But the boy persisted with his unsolicited advice which would have ruined the Mayor's strategy. Finally, Collins gave him a dollar, sent him to do an errand and managed to lose the checker game in his absence.

O'Donnell Now Using Bobby Kennedy Tribute

Former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell is now making use of a tribute by Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York in his uphill fight against former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Bobby's tribute to O'Donnell has been taped and is repeated periodically on the radio. There is no indication so far, however, that it has made any impact upon the voters.

The polls and surveys indicate that O'Donnell in the last 10 days has managed to nibble away at McCormack's lead to some extent but that McCormack is still far out in front.

Many people don't know who O'Donnell is and don't relate him to the late President John F. Kennedy. This presumably is why O'Donnell is now utilizing the tribute by Bobby Kennedy.

Bobby, of course, is tremendously popular. Whether a recording of his tribute to O'Donnell, apparently at a recent dinner, can shift any substantial number of votes to O'Donnell remains to be determined.

Kelly In Strong Run For Auditor Post

A darkhorse candidate political observers are now watching carefully is Representative James H. Kelly of Jamaica Plain who is making an extremely strong run for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor against Auditor Thaddeus Buczko.

Kelly, who has been a member of the House of Representatives for the past 14 years and for five years served on the highly important House Ways and Means Committee, has promised to give the office of State Auditor a new and progressive look and to achieve a greater efficiency in the operation of the office.

A graduate of Northeastern and a combat veteran of World War II, Kelly went ashore with the marines during the invasion of Iwo Jima. Some of his old buddies who served with him in the South Pacific during the war and some of the Democratic leaders who have worked with him on Beacon Hill are aiding him in his present fight.

Lee Loumos Says:

Where has the summer gone? Here it is Labor Day coming up and it seems only a few weeks ago that I was saying "When is summer coming?" All I can say is I hope you have had more time than I to enjoy what the weather men have classed as the most pleasant summer on record for many years. I was sorely tempted to close the store down for this week and disappear on my boat, but being in the service as well as the sales business, that small still voice impelled me to stay open with a skeleton crew. The only liberty I will take is to shut down Saturday for the long weekend. So if you have anything in my shop that you will want to use this weekend, be sure to pick it up before Saturday.

Snow White Presented By Burr Children

Children of the Burr Park playground recently took part in a presentation of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, under the direction of their instructor, Mary Herring, assisted by Judith Greeley and Constance Ober.

The large audience of parents and well wishers included John B. Penney and Robert Doherty, recreation commissioner and supervisor, respectively.

It was the youngster's second dramatic effort. Their first was "Cinderella," given last year. They look forward eagerly to the next one.

Local Man At Sociology Parley

Rogers P. Johnson, 398 Linwood Ave., Newtonville, a member of the Holy Cross College Sociology Department, represented the college at a recent four-day American Sociology Association convention at the Fontainebleu in Miami Beach, Fla.

Mr. Johnson received his A.B. in Political Economy from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, and in 1960 acquired an M.A. from Columbia University.

He joined the faculty at Holy Cross in 1964.

prison and $3500 in fines. State law demands a $500 fine and two years imprisonment for persons convicted of sounding a false fire alarm from a box. The law also states that anyone convicted of sounding a false alarm, other than by a fire box, can get six months in jail and fined $100.

Capt Quinn said police will use every means available "to apprehend and convict the offenders." Standard methods of surveillance, such as staking out fire boxes and swifter communication between firefighters and police, will be employed, along with other unannounced methods of detection.

The annual false alarm average is usually less than 20 per cent, or one out of every six alarms.

Police and fire officials are urging citizens to aid both departments in curtailing the rash of false alarms. Residents can help by reporting to police descriptions of offenders or the registration numbers of those using automobiles.

Ohabei Shalom Nursery School Fall Schedule To Begin Sept. 12

The Nursery School of Temple Ohabei Shalom of Brookline (Reform) announces its fall schedule, commencing with September 12. The enrollment consists of a three-year old group and a four-year old group to meet mornings, Monday through Friday.

The aims of the school program are to offer a rich and stimulating educational experience and to provide each child, not only with the opportunity to develop socially, emotionally and physically, but to also provide an appropriate experience of Jewish cultural value. In addition, there will be various informative programs for parents.

Director of T.O.S. Nursery School is Mrs. Shirley M. Yett, B.S. Ed., Tufts University; former director of the Beth El Nursery School of Belmont, lecturer for the Mass. Dept. of Health and Education and a person thoroughly experienced in secular education. Associate Director is Mrs. Phyllis Renton, B.S. Ed., University of Illinois and former Director of the Newton Community Center Nursery School. Also on the staff is Mrs. Rosalyn Weisz, Associate Teacher, graduate of Perry Normal School, majoring in Early Childhood Education, former teacher at the Lynn Jewish Center and the B.B.N. Jewish Community Center, and Mrs. Jeannette Jarnes, Assistant, who is studying in the field of Early Childhood Education.

Indoors, a whole section of the school building on the ground floor consists of three nursery classrooms, recently renovated and fully equipped for contemporary nursery school programming, plus a separate office and consulting room and a storage room exclusively devoted to the nursery school.

For outdoor activities approximately 9000 sq. ft. of play area immediately accessible from the back of the nursery school building is completely equipped with swings, climbing apparatus, slides, play house and wheeled toys.

Consultants to the nursery school program are Mrs. Fran Litman, presently of Harvard and formerly of the Eliot-Pearson Dept. of child study at Tufts Univ., and Nrs. Harriet Malick, of Wheelock College.

Limited openings are still available.

For further information call Mrs. Shirley Yett or Mrs. Phyllis Renton at 277-6610 Monday thru Friday from 9:00 — 12:00.

to study the new voting method. Alermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman appointed Paul J. Burke, alderman from Ward 3, to head a committee of aldermen, including William L. Bruce, H. James Shea, Jr., Edward C. Uehlein and Jason Sacks.

Although the special committee won't make its report until after Labor Day, the sentiment among members indicates that "something must be done about the antiquated voting system in Newton."

The present state law not only forbids electrical counting, but also stipulates that ballots must be counted before being moved.

House Bill 3919 would eliminate these two restrictions and pave the way for rapid, low cost vote-counting .

However, other problems still have to be ironed out. The problems of a recount, if ever necessary, are uncertain. There is also the question of write-in candidates, and how they are handled and counted.

Turner Stresses Importance Of Gov. Council

Atty. Roger F. Turner of Walpole, is campaigning for the Republican nomination for the Executive Council in the Second District which covers 32 cities and towns, including Westwood, Newton, Needham and Dedham.

"I believe in this office," Turner declared at meetings this week. "I have studied this office and I know the importance and strength of this office.

"I think the qualifications of any candidate seeking an office may well be questioned if he does not understand the office's full importance. At least three candidates for this high office have belittled it, and if one of them had had his way three years ago, there would be no office for him to seek now," Turner charged.

"The attempt to abolish the Governor's Council must not be confused with the modification of its statutory powers. Abolition failed, modification was approved. The basic constitutional powers remain. There is no mandate to abolish the office. When and if that time comes," Turner declared, "let the mandate include the entire concept of our Constitution.

"I want the office. I propose to serve the office toward strength, not weakness," Turner, an attorney for 40 years, vowed.

Raise-

The Mayor said he was greatly concerned about the latest development which showed that the actual county assessment to be levied on Newton this year, which must be paid Nov. 1, is $1,323,229.

Mayor Basbas asserted that this is 34 per cent higher than last year's county assessment of $988,969, a jump of $334,259.

He declared that the estimated county tax as certified by the State in its cherry sheet and used in setting the 1966 tax rate was $1,067,653, or $254,575 less than the actual assessment.

"This under-estimate must be raised in the 1967 tax rate and will affect the rate by increasing it approximately 80 cents," Basbas observed.

He pointed out that the county assessment has nearly doubled since 1960 when it amounted to $694,096.

The Mayor said he has instructed the Board of Assessors to investigate the reason for the increase in the county assessment.

"I am greatly disturbed by this especially since I learned informally a month ago that the city's share of the sales tax receipts apparently will be about $244,000 less than had been anticipated." Mayor Basbas stated.

He pointed out that the increase over the estimated county tax and the drop in the amount the city will get in sales tax revenue will have a combined impact of about $1.60 on next year's tax rate.

The Mayor said the anticipated $1 million rise in the school department budget would represent another $3.10 on the 1967 tax rate.

JOHN P. HEARN, JR.

Hearn Runs In 17th Middlesex District Fight

John P. Hearn Jr., of Weston, lone Democratic candidate for nomination from the 17th Middlesex district in the coming primary, left Friday for two weeks' training at Camp Drum, N.Y. He is a member of Company B, 101st Infantry, Yankee Division.

A member of the Weston Democratic town committee and active in previous state campaigns for the Democratic party, he is a native of Newton. He was educated in Sacred Heart High school, Newton; the New England School of Anatomy and Suffolk University. He is a practicing funeral director and embalmer in Boston and Framingham.

He is one of ten children of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hearn of Weston. On October 1 he will be married to Miss Caroline Murphy of Jamaica Plain, a grandniece of the late Governor James Michael Curley.

The 17th Middlesex district includes Ward 4, the Auburndale section of Newton.

Newton South Wants Thanksgiving Game

George Winkler, Newton South High football coach, has Thanksgiving Day news this early.

He is seeking a Class B or C opponent for his boys to replace Hingham on the Turkey Day schedule.

Any team wanting a date may reach him at his home, 527-8972.

Retired Men Of Newton Open Season Next Week

The Retired Men's Club of Newton will resume its regular meetings on Thursday, Sept. 8, at 9:30 am, at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

President Edward Humphrey will welcome the members back to the opening of the fall season. Herbert N. Duvay, chairman of the Hospitality Committee, will provide the traditional coffee and doughnuts for the social hour preceding the business meeting and entertainment. The latter has been planned by Harold E. Marr, vice president.

The several sub-clubs and special interest groups will be activated into a routine of regular meetings. The first of these will be the weekly rehearsals of the Glee Club starting Sept. 14 under the direction of Frank P. Pickett.

Francis H. Achard, secretary of the discussion group; Ralph L. Chisholm, secretary of the Camera Club, and Clarence S. Hosmer, secretary of the Financial Group, will announce the starting dates of these activities.

Special attention is called to the first meeting of the Financial Group, at which time an analyst will discuss the present situation of the stock market. He will explain what has happened during the past several months and what can be expected in the future. Arrangements have been made for larger facilities for the meetings of the Group and an attendance, larger than usual, can be accomodated.

The bowlers, under the direction of Emory M. Wright, have been meeting regularly during the summer and Warren P. Forde has kept the golfers busy.

Some of the members are still traveling and others are at their summer locations, but it is expected that the attendance at the meetings will soon reach the normal number of 170 men.

The Club's membership is open to retired or semi-retired men of Newton and vicinity.

Summer School At Andover Newton Ends

A 12-week Summer School of Clinical Pastoral Education was completed last week at Andover Newton Theological School by ordained clergy and seminary students from 33 states and four countries.

The pastors and students — 141 of them — studied at Boston City Hospital, University Hospital, Tewksbury, Danvers and Worcester State Hospitals, and the Massachusetts Correction Institution at Walpole.

They served as hospital orderlies during the first two weeks, then assisted hospital chaplains. The daily lectures covered the psychology of religion, illness, personal problems and cooperation with other professional workers.

Dr. Andrew D. Elia of B.U. was associate director, and Dr. Henry C. Brooks of Andover Newton, assistant professor of psychology and clinical studies, was asistant director. The program director was Dr. John M. Billinsky, Guiles professor of psychology and clinical studies.

Winthrop Temple Setting For Bronstein - Greenberg Bridal

Miss Rhoda Elaine Greenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Greenberg of Newton, was married recently to Alan Bronstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bronstein of Lawrence.

Rabbi Hyman Friedman and Rabbi Abraham Halbfinger of Lawrence officiated at the double-ring ceremony which took place at Temple Tifereth Israel in Winthrop.

The bride's white silk organza gown was fashioned with a scalloped neckline, elbow-length sleeves and Alencon lace misted with hand-sewn seed pearls.

A matching headpiece held in place her elbow-length bouffant illusion veil. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Paula Greenberg of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Phyllis Freeman of Chelsea and Miss Roberta Davidson of West Roxbury were bridesmaids. Miss Nancy Greenberg of Newton, sister of the bride, and Miss Jean Locke of Newton, cousin of the bride, were junior bridesmaids. Young Jacalyn Molin of Peabody was the flower girl.

Robert Bronstein of Lawrence served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Arthur Bronstein and Milton Lebowitz, both of Lawrence, Ralph Locke of Newton, Burton Lewis of Brighton, David Cohen and Donald Molin, both of Peabody.

The bride, a graduate of Northeastern University, is teaching in Cheltenham, Pa.

Mr. Bronstein, a graduate of Yeshiva University, New York, is attending Pennsylvania College of Optometry in Philadelphia.

After a honeymoon in Bermuda, the Bronsteins will make their home in Philadelphia.

MRS. ALAN BRONSTEIN

MRS. R. A. GOLDSTEIN

Linda Joan Freedman Wed To Richard A. Goldstein

Beneath a parasol canopy adorned with white gladioli, carnations and pompons, Miss Linda Joan Freedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Freedman of 172 Dayton street, Springfield, became the bride of Richard Alan Goldstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Goldstein of Newton Centre. The wedding was a recent event in Sinai Temple with Rabbi Herman E. Snyder performing the double-ring ceremony in a candlelight service at 6.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie designed with reembroidered Alencon lace, embellishing the fitted empire bodice with bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves, the A-line skirt and the Watteau panel which fell in a chapel train. She wore a matching lace mantilla and carried a Bible covered with a cascade of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis with top marker of white phalaenopsis and Georgianna orchids.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Joel Gibbs of Wenham. Miss Joan Marcuson of Longmeadow and Miss Elaine Saykin of Springfield were bridesmaids.

Leon Jacobs of Wayland served as best man and ushers were Paul Goldstein of Atlanta, Ga., and Daniel Goldstein and William Goldstein, both of Newton Centre, all brothers of the bridegroom, and Joel Gibbs of Wenham.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Europe, the bride traveling in a white faille A-line dress with matching jacket trimmed in navy with white accessories.

An alumna of Classical High School and Syracuse University, Mrs. Goldstein is assistant to the registrar at Harvard University graduate school of business administration.

Mr. Goldstein was graduated from the University of Massachusetts and Boston University Law School. He is a law clerk with the Superior Court of Massachusetts.

After they return from their European honeymoon, they will reside in Waltham.

Morning Ceremony Unites Miss Oatt And Mr. Dickson

The marriage of Miss Nancy Carolyn Oatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Oatt of Waltham, to Mr. John H. Dickson, Jr, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson of 23 Jackson terrace, Newton, was solemnized at an 11 o'clock ceremony on Saturday, August 27, in Our Lady Help of Christians Church, Newton.

Rev. Father McNally officiated at the 11 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Lexington Motor Inn, Lexington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over peau de soie fashioned with a Sabrina neckline trimmed with rose appliques and beading and terminating in a chapel train.

Her matching tulle headpiece held in place a silk illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Barbara Power of Portsmouth, N.H., was the honor matron, and bridesmaids were Virginia Oatt of Waltham, Sandra Medeiros of Fall River, Charlene Lefort of Waltham, Diane Dickson of Newton and Ruth Dickson of Newton.

Serving as best man was Mr. Thomas Naughton, Jr., of Needham. Sharing usher duties were Mr. John Landus and Mr. Bernard Patriarcca, both also of Newton; Mr. Michael Riordan of Melrose, Mr. Boarke Dickson of Hingham, and Mr. Thomas Dickson of Plymouth.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will reside at 102 Lexington street, Waltham.

The bride is a graduate of Waltham High School and Northeastern University. She is a member of the American Dental Assistants Association. Her husband graduated from Our Lady's High School and Boston College. He is a public accountant.

the proposed new library. We do, however, have some thoughts regarding a single high school and the proposed relocation of the Junior College in the present South High School buildings. Obviously, we have not had time to make a definite study of the total proposal, but the following represents our best thinking at the moment.

"The proposal for a single high school must be considered from at least four points of view.

"(1) The educational advantages or disadvantages of a single school of 4500 pupils as opposed to two schools of 2500 and 2000 pupils respectively.

"It is our judgement that there is no clear advantage from an educational point of view for either position. Arguments can be offered on both sides, but experience in Newton and elsewhere suggests that both patterns can be made to work successfully This statement is made, however, on the assumption that a single school of 4500 would be planned and staffed in such a way as to take full advantage of the house plan type of organization .To put it another way, if the house plan is fully applied to a large school, we believe that the needs of 4500 students can be accommodated as completely as the needs of either 2500 or 2000 students in the smaller schools.

"(2) The sociological implications

"A number of people in Newton are concerned that the present two high school plan serves as a divisive influence in our city. We share this concern, and agree that a single high school would help to alleviate the present condition. Whether this matter should be a controlling factor in our decision is a difficult thing to say, but at least it should be stated as a problem, and should be a consideration in determining a policy position.

"(3) The matter of cost

"It is always difficult to project costs when so many factors are unknown. The High School Site Committee estimated that the cost of its recommended solution would be $11,375,000. It is likely that a single school for 4500 students would cost more than that, probably in the vicinity of $14,000,000. However, if the present South High School were converted to other use, this would represent a saving to the city, and therefore, it might be said that in the final analysis, the costs of the two proposals would be roughly the same.

"(4) The future of the Junior College

"As you know, one of the major factors in the plan for a single high school is the recommendation that the present South High School facilities be converted for use by the Junior College. It is this point that the School Committee feels is the critical issue. While we are wholly supportive of the College and are very concerned about its future as a Newton community college, we have to recognize several facts:

"(a) You have, at our request, just appointed a Junior College Study Committee to explore the future of the College. This committee will not complete its deliberations until sometime next year, and since we do not know what its recommendations will be, we cannot in good conscience ask the city to take such a major step in behalf of the College at this time.

"(b) We recognize the very unique position of the College as the only full-time College in the state that is locally operated and locally supported. The question of whether we should continue this pattern of operation is a major one, and until we know what our future relationship to the state is to be, we again would be reluctant to ask the city to make such a critical decision. This whole matter is further complicated at the moment by virtue of the fact that we have at least temporarily lost all state aid for the College, a situation which has developed because of an omission in the new sales tax legislation.

"In summary, we are of the belief that from an educational sociological, and cost point of view, the single high school plan is worthy of serious consideration, but that from the point of view of the practical matter of the Junior College and its projected use of the South High School plant, we cannot recommend that such a step be taken at this time.

"However, because we think there is merit in the total proposal, we would suggest that we try to resolve the Junior College issue as soon as possible in the hope that we might be able to eliminate it as a barrier to further consideration of the high school decision.

"Specifically, we would recommend that you arrange an early meeting with various members of the State Legislature, the Regional Community College Board, the School Committee, the Board of Aldermen, the Junior College Board of Directors, and the administrative staffs of the city and the schools in order that all possibilities for a solution to the Junior College issue can be explored, and that we can then move to a more specific consideration of the high school problem.

"We appreciate very much your consideration of this problem, and look forward to working with you toward the determination of a policy position that best serves the needs and interests of the city."

Birth Defects Problem In State Discussed By Women

"More can be done, more must be done on the problem of birth defects in the Massachusetts Bay Chapter area," said Mrs. John F. Collins at a recent meeting of the chapter which many local members attended.

Mrs. Collins is Women's Activities chairman of the Massachusetts Bay Chapter, National Foundation, March of Dimes.

Mrs. Collins and other chapter women leaders were the guests recently at the Littleton home of Mrs. Arthur Hotch, state advisor to the National Foundation.

The central topic of discussion at the meeting was the implementation of the March of Dimes' pre-natal care education program, the plans for establishing greater rapport with the area's clubs and organizations and the establishment of a speaker's bureau so that the woman-members of the chapter can explain the March of Dimes' program throughout the chapter, as well as the continued use of a highly effective public education campaign through the use of exhibits and printed material.

"We have taken great strides helping to educate the people of our area, as to the seriousness of birth defects and we hope that we have given them cause to believe that while birth defects is still a very serious problem, it is not an overwhelming one.

"After all, we have two birth defects centers in Boston headed by an excellent team of scientists and we now know that approximately 80 percent of all children born with birth defects can be helped, so that the most important thing we have to do is to get this information to the public," Mrs. Collins said.

"One of the most important areas in our efforts is to educate the public of Massachusetts," Mrs. Arthur Hotch said, "through our pre-natal care program, for statistics show that more birth defects occur in children whose mothers have had improper pre-natal care than do in children whose mothers have had proper pre-natal care.

"This is by no means a solution to the mystery of birth defects, but we believe firmly that proper pre-natal care will lessen considerably the chances of the tragedy of birth defects."

Capt. Geoghegan Finishes Medical Officer Courses

Captain Lawrence T. Geoghegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Geoghegan, 145 Washington St., Newton, completed a medical service officer course at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., Aug. 6.

During the four-week course, he was trained in surgery, neuropsychiatry, and the performance of medical services in combat.

Capt. Geoghegan, whose wife, Mary, lives at 426 East Ave., Pawtucket, R. I., was graduated from St. Sebastian High School, Newton, in 1952 and received his M.D. degree in 1961 from New York Medical College. He entered the Army in July, 1966.

Michael G. Modern, '67, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Modern, 1065 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, a psychology major, was named to the Dean's List for the spring grading period at Union College, Schenectady, N.Y.

Margaret M. Heckler Would Bring Government Closer to the People

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler, who is waging a vigorous campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 10th congressional district, yesterday outlined a plan she will follow for bringing the federal government closer to the people if she is elected a Congresswoman.

Councillor Heckler declared that she would have a mobile congressional office in a trailer which would regularly visit communities in the sprawling 10th councillor district which extends from Newton, Needham, Wellesley and Westwood deep down into Bristol County.

She asserted that the mobile office would be staffed so that persons desiring assistance with problems of a federal nature could be provided it and that federal forms, pamphlets and other documents would be available for those wishing them.

Councillor Heckler said she would make arrangements so that persons who wished to file a federal application of any kind would be able to do so at the mobile office and that it then would be forwarded to her main Washington office.

"As Congressman it would be my purpose and objective to try to bring the federal government closer to the people of the 10th congressional district and to have a mobile congressional office in their home community on designated dates," she stated.

MARGARET M. HECKLER

Councillor Heckler emphasized that she would be on the job around the clock if she is elected to Congress.

"The people of my councillor district know the kind of Executive Councillor I have been and the quality of service and representation I have provided for them," Councillor Heckler continued.

Mrs. Heckler is now completing her second term and fourth year in the Governor's Conncil where she has gained a reputation as an energetic, hard-working official of unquestioned integrity and with great capacity for public service.

Early in her career in the Executive Council she attracted widespread attention when she spoke out forcefully against political "wheeling and dealing."

While she rarely mentions her opponent in the Republican primary, Councillor Heckler is opposing veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., who will be 82 years old in November.

Councillor Heckler has stressed the need for vigorous, on-the-job congressional service for the people of the 10th district at a time when matters of a federal nature are close to their communities and to them.

A practising attorney for the past 10 years, she is a graduate of Boston College Law School and previously was a scholarship student at Albertus Magnus College and an exchange student at the University of Leiden In Holland.

She is a member of the Boston Bar Association and the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers' Association and has been admitted to pratice before the U. S. Supreme Court.

A former vice president of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, Councillor Heckler has been the only Republican member of the Governor's Council for the past four years.

MRS. ARTHUR F. MALONE

Double-Ring Ceremony For Miss Denisevich - Mr. Pacione

Mr. and Mrs Ferdinand Salvatore Pacione (Mary Cecelia Denisevich), who exchanged vows recently, at St. Catherins's Church Graniteville, left on a trip to Matha's Vinyard and Nantucket.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony John Denisevich of Graniteville. Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinando Pacione of 63 Webster park, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Daniel F. Quinn celebrated the 10 o'clock nuptial mass at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. The Groton Country Club was the setting for the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an imported silk crepe gown designed with a chapel-length train. The bodice was fashioned of re-embroidered Alencon lace had elbow-length sleeves.

She wore a matching lace mantilla and carried a renaissance bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, daisies and baby breath.

Miss Jacqueline Wall Denisevich of Graniteville, sister maid. Mrs. Albert 7mw of the bride, was honor maid. Mrs. Albert N. Carroll Jr., another sister of the bride, of Cape Elizabeth, Me., joined two sisters of the groom, Miss Philomena M. Pacione, and Miss Mary L. Pacione, both of West Newton, as bridesmaids.

Captain Charles J. O'Brien, USA, of Port Washington, N. Y., served as best man. The ushers were Francis A. Pacione and Joseph Pacione of West Newton, brothers of the groom, Albert N. Carroll Jr., of Cape Elizabeth, Me., and Robert J. Skinner of Worcester.

The couple plans to live in Woburn.

The bride is a graduate of Westford Academy and the College of Our Lady of the Elms.

Mr. Pacione is a graduate of Our Lady's High School and Norwich University.

Placement Test Scheduled For Day Junior High

Frank Ashley Day Junior High School will give placement tests Friday, Sept. 9 at 9 in the morning. They will be for all new pupils, but not for seventh graders coming from elementary schools of Newton.

Make-up tests, for incomplete marks or for pupils who have been tutored in a subject, will also be given at this time.

The school office will be open beginning Sept. 9 from 9 o'clock to noon for registration of new pupils and to issue transfers.

New pupils registering should bring a transfer card and a report card from the previous school. Parents should accompany the children for registration.

School opens Monday, Sept. 12 at 8:45 a.m., for 7th grade pupils; at 12:45 p.m. for 8th and 9th grade pupils.

Miss Natol - Mr. Schultz Wed; Living in Brockton

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stephen Schultz (Myrna Lee Natol), whose marriage took place recently at Temple Emanuel in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Natol of 20 Gay street, Newtonville and Mr. and Mrs. David P. Schultz of Brockton are the couple's parents.

Rabbi M. David Weiss officiated at the double-ring service, which was followed by a reception at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had her sister, Mrs. Seldon Kates of Framingham, as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Myra Schultz of Brockton, Mrs. Ronald Schocssberg of Cherry Hill, N.J., Mrs. Robert Frolich of Rochester, N.Y., sister of the groom, and Mrs. Norman Jacobs of Newtonville.

Nelson Rose of Albany, N.Y., served as best man. Alan Zaff of Brockton, Melvin Small of Randolph, Robert Frolich of Rochester, N. Y., Joel Lazarus of Riverdale, N.Y., Robert Ginns of Belmont and Seldon Kates of Framingham were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Schultz will make their home in Brockton.

A graduate of Newton High School and Boston University, she taught three years in Framingham and is now teaching in Brockton.

Mr. Schultz is a graduate of Thayer Academy, Norwich University and the Boston University School of Law. A practicing attorney, he is a captain in the Army Reserve.

West Newton Home For John Askew and Bride

The Rev. Robert J. Harding officiated at the 7 o'clock double-ring evening service. A reception followed in the Merrill Room at the church.

Given away by her cousin, Mrs. Harold Hastings of Dorchester, the bride was attired in traditional white lace over taffeta. She chose a short nylon chiffon veil and carried a cascade of white carnations.

Mrs. J. Edison Darling of Danvers, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor.

J. Edison Darling of Danvers, cousin of the bride, served as best man. The ushers were Albert Cameron of West Newton, Harry Brookins of Newton Upper Falls and Ralph Walsh of Weston.

After a trip through the New England States, Mr. and Mrs. Askew are now residing in West Newton.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and Bryant and Stratton Secretarial School. Now a secretary for a Waltham plumbing corporation, she is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edwin Perkins of West Newton.

Mr. Askew, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Askew, was educated in Glasgow, Scotland, and Quebec, Canada. He is a lieutenant colonel of the 2nd Regiment of the I.O.O.F.

NEWTON CENTRE

Mrs. Worthing L. West was present and presided at the award giving presenting to Steve Gentile, son of Mrs. Joseph G. Gentile, 782 Walnut street, the Boys Achievement Award and to Margaret Dobler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Dobler, 69 Bowen street., the Girls Achievement Award. These awards are presented to those youngsters the recreation leaders consider to be the most outstanding in co-operation, leadership and initiative — in short, the youngsters who give as much or more back to the playground as they receive from it.

Also presented a special award was Michael Butts, son of Mrs. Leslie Butts, 59 Pleasant avenue, Michael received the Amos Alonzo Stagg Award for Physical Fitness, an award given to the boy who engages in athletics to the best of his ability and best benefits from and giving himself to an athletic endeavor and those in it.

Mrs. West also presented certificates of distinction to members of the Midget Baseball Team, who under the fine tutelage of Leader Joseph Sicialiano ,won the district championship. This team was considered by its coach to be one of the hardest working and determined group of boys in the past few years to engage in inter-playground play and the boys expressed themselves in the same words while describing their coach. The Midgets' most valuable player was Joseph Coletti of 45 Greenlawn avenue. He was cited for his fine work in pitching the Midgets on in their championship drive.

Arts and Crafts Awards were also presented by Mrs. West to the younger children. The recipients were chosen by Marjorie McCann and Barbara Salesby, the girl recreation leaders, who worked hard all summer while teaching the youngsters the finer points of working with sewing knitting ,and building materials .The selection of these children was doubly hard due to the wide range of things they were taught by their instructors and the mastering by most of them of the basic fundamentals. The girls Craft Award winners were: 1, Judy Cage; 2, Christine Goodman; 3, Jane Kaye. The boys' Craft Awards were: 1, Christopher Goodman; 2, Kenny Hewitt; 3, Michael Downey.

After the presentation of awards, races were held, after which the afternoon closed with pie-eating and egg throwing contests.

The girls 10 years and over winners were Cindy Simons, Barbara Cain, Claudia Balcanoff.

The winners of the softball throw for boys were: Ray Caterino, Snidely Schmidlein, Joe Pittman.

In the water balloon toss, winners were: Marvin Krakow and Joe Bloom; Bill McKay and Bob Simons ;Richard Birmingham and Peter Alivisos.

Finally, the egg throw was won by Neil Kravitz and Carl Kravitz; Ed McCarthy and Bob Bakerman; Richard Birmingham and Snidely Schmidlein.

Craft awards were presented to Claudia Balcanoff, first prize for girls 10 to 13 years; to Jane Kavanaugh, second prize for girls to 13 years; to Cindy Kang, first prize for girls 6 to 9 years; to Lisa Meinhart second prize for girls 6 to 9 years .Achievement awards were given to Maureen Riley and Richard Birmingham.

Constitution Week Set By Mayor Basbas

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has proclaimed Sept. 11 to 17 as Constitution Week on behalf of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. David Hamblen, Regent.

The Mayor's proclamation is as follows:

'Whereas: Sept. 17 is notable as marking the 179th anniversary of the Constitution of the United States of America by the Constitutional Convention; and

"Whereas: To accord official recognition of the memorable anniversary, and to the patriotic exercises which will form a noteworthy feature of the occasion, seems fitting and proper; and

"Whereas: in accordance with Public Law No. 915, the President of the United States has issued a proclamation designating Sept. 11 through 17 as Constitution Week;

"Now, therefore: I, Monte G. Basbas, by virture of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Newton in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do hereby proclaim the week of Sept. 11-17, as in the City of Newton and urge all our citizens to pay special attention during that week to our Federal Constitution and the advantages of American citizenship."

Rally, Cookout, For Collins To Be Held Tonight

John J. DelMonte, former Commissioner of Labor and Industries, and a long-time Newton resident, has been appointed a campaign manager in Newton for Boston Mayor John F. Collins, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

A rally in the interests of the candidacy of Mayor Collins will be held at the Newton headquarters for Collins, 424 Langley Rd., at Boylston St., tonight, Thursday evening, September 1st.

The principal speaker for Mayor Collins will be Frederick C. Langone, president of the Boston City Council. The meeting will be open to all.

Following the meeting, a cook-out for all attending will be held at the home of Attorney George H. Mitchell, 223 Woodcliffe Rd. Attorney Mitchell is a former member of the House of Representatives from Ward 15, Dorchester.

Cites Need For Legal Training

Atty. Joseph P. McParland of Braintree, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Register of Probate in Norfolk County, this week outlined the need for qualified people in the county court system.

"The office of Register of Probate is one of the many county positions that receive little or no public notice," McParland declared, "but it must provide services in this most important area, our court system.

"It is absolutely impossible," McParland said, "for the Register of Probate to give efficient service unless he is qualified by the proper legal training."

Weeks Jr. High Announces Time For Registration

Newcomers to the Weeks Junior High School district, Newton Centre, are requested to telephone the Weeks guidance office, 244-4742, during the week of Sept. 5 for an appointment in order to register.

The school opens for seventh graders on Monday, Sept. 12, and for eighth and ninth graders on Tuesday, Sept. 13. The first day of school will be a full day (8:25 until 3:00) and the cafeteria will be open from the first day on.

Due to the complexity of the school program, no subject changes may be made after the opening of school on Sept. 12.

Those pupils scheduled for make-up exams should report to the main office before 9:00 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 8.

GERALD A. ROGOVIN

Rogovin Named PR Lecturer At Northeastern U.

Gerald A. Rogovin of Newton has been reappointed a lecturer in public relations for Northeastern University's University College.

Rogovin, owner of Gerald A. Rogovin Public Relations of Boston and Newton, has been on the Northeastern University faculty since 1963.

The courses in public relations, which are offered by the University College Department of Marketing, were established by Rogovin.

They are designed for management personnel studying for a degree in business administration, and persons who want to learn about the application of public relations principles and techniques to their businesses.

Rogovin is currently chairman of the board of the New England Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America, and a director. He is a member of the Counselors' Section of PRSA, and serves on its Chapter Group Development Committee. He lives at 51 Shornecliffe road in Newton.

Takes Course In Nature At Audubon Camp

Mrs. Barbara Parodi, 2084 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls, recently completed a two-week course of natural study at the Audubon Camp of Maine, on the Todd Wildlife Sanctuary, a forested island in Muscongus Bay.

Mrs. Parodi was one of 54 special students enrolled there, and one of more than 600 teachers and adult conservation leaders who are taking the noted Audubon nature courses at four such institutions this summer.

Her courses were in bird study, animal life and nature activities, the latter comprising training in techniques of teaching natural science and conservation.

Service Station Is Preliminary Contest Winner

The J & S Service Station (Mobil) at 1094 Beacon St., Newton Highlands, has been chosen as a finalist in the annual "Service Station of the Year" contest sponsored by the Massachusetts Petroleum Council.

More than 3000 service stations within the perimeter of Route 495 were eligible to compete in the contest and the finalists will be judged on the basis of eficiency, cleanliness and appearance. Winners will be selected by a board of judges including public officials, businessmen and civic leaders.

To Teach In A Low-Income Area

Louis Sugarmen of Newton Centre is training to teach children whose educational growth has been stunted by poverty.

As a volunteer for the National Teacher Corps, he is enrolled in the pre-service program at Boston College. A graduate of Boston University, he is studying for his Master's degree. After a summer of field work, he will be assigned this fall to a school in a low-income area.

The Natiional Teacher Corps program was established last year by Act of Congress as a part of the Higher Education Act.

Margaret Clapp, Bound For India, Honored Here

Miss Margaret Clapp, former president of Wellesley College, was honored by the Lady Doak College Corporation in the home of Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt, 279 Fuller St., West Newton.

Miss Clapp, under appointment of the United Church Board for World Ministries, will depart for India on Sept. 8 to become principal of Lady Doak College in Madurai, South India.

Dr. Fred Field Goodsell, former executive vice president of the U.C.B.W.M., presided at this reception which was arranged by a committee consisting of Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt, chairman, Mrs. Ross Cannon, Mrs. Frederick Meek and Mrs. Dwight Dwinnell.

Lady Doak College was founded in 1948 to provide a liberal arts and science education for women in south India. It awards Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees and the Master of Arts in English Language and Literature. In July of 1948, only a few months after India won her independence, the doors of the new college were opened. The student body today numbers over 500 young women, half of whom reside in dormitories.

The students are Christians, Hindus and Muslims, with the Christians constituting about one-third of the enrollment. The teaching staff is made up of nearly 50 women including full professors, lecturers and tutors.

Lady Doak College is a neighbor to several other institutions of higher learning in Madurai, a city of 365,000: three liberal arts colleges for men, another liberal arts college for women, a government medical college for men and women. Together these colleges will be the nucleus of a new university, the University of Madurai, scheduled to be established soon. Under Miss Clapp's leadership, Lady Doak College will assume in the future even wider responsibilities in education at both undergraduate and graduate levels.

Two Air Cadets Preparing For Commissions

Cadets Leslie B. Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie J. Shea, 39 Elm Rd., Newtonville, and Richard F. Salemme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Salemme, 37 Famington Rd., West Newton, attended the U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps summer encampment at Loring AFB, Maine.

They observed and took an active part in flying and support phases of operations.

Shea is a member of the AFROTC unit at St. Michaels College, Winooski, Vt. Salemme belongs to a similar unit at Boston University. Both will be eligible for commissions as Air Force second lieutenants on completion of training.

Skipper Chalks Up Three Firsts

A new skipper took the lead as the Lake Cochituate Sailing Club, whose headquarters are at 1412 Beacon St., Waban, held its second series of races amid light, variable winds.

The skipper, Howie Crane, won all three first places.

Bill Porter won two seconds and Erving Pfau had one second.

Attends Youth Leader Parley

Debbie Schuman of Newton Centre, a Newton South High School senior, is attending the fifth annual Brotherhood Human Relation Institute of the National Conference of Christians and Jews at Hampstead, N.H.

An active member of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization, both on the chapter and regional levels, she attended the International Leadership Training Conference at Camp B'nai B'rith in Starlight, Penn., this summer.

CHARLES L. REGAN

Prof. Regan Seeks Gov. Council Post

Prof. Charles L. Regan, 36, of 309 Oakland street, Wellesley, a member of the Boston College faculty, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor's Councillor in the Second District.

Prof. Regan, a Wellesley Town Meeting member, declares that "Professors in politics are a proud tradition of the Democratic Party.

"On the national level, three of the greatest Democrats of our century, Wilson, Roosevelt and Kennedy, all mobilized the skill and dedication of university men for the good of the country.

"I hope Massachusetts voters will follow their wise example," Regan declared.

"The problem facing Masschusetts require alert, honest and dedicated men, for they are largely problems of character," Regan said, adding "But they are also problems of knowledge and decision and may require well-trained minds. I feel that educators have an obligation, as do the members of all occupations, to serve the Commonwealth wherever they may be needed.

"The Executive Council," Regan pointed out, "should be above all else a pool of specialized knowledge available to the Governor. One area in which any future Governor will need expert advice is that of higher education.

Regan worked for the Department of Defense in Washington, D. C., for three years before accepting his position in the department of English at Boston College. He also taught for a year at the West Virginia Institute of Technology.

In 1953, he married Joan M. Langevin, a lifelong resident of Wellesley, and they are the parents of two daughters, Rachel 12, and Naomi, 6.

He was educated in the Newton Public Schools and graduated from Newton High School in 1947. He received his A.B. (Magna cum laude) from Boston College in 1951 and his Ph.D. from Harvard in 1963.

He is a member of Americans for Democratic Action, the Downtown Democratic Club, Citizens for the Boston Schools, the Wellesley Fair Housing and Equal Rights Committee and the Catholic Laymen of Boston.

Ceramic Show At New Ocean House

The 9th annual Boston Ceramic Show, sponsored by the New England Ceramic League, Inc. will be held Sept. 9 thru 11 at the Exhibition Hall of the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

Hours on Friday and Saturday will be from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m

Thousands of visitors from all parts of the country and Canada will attend this show. Over 2000 exhibits of ceramics, china, and porcelain will be on display.

There will also be amateur and professional competitions, with trophies to be awarded in each category.

A special section will be devoted to the handiwork of children as well as ceramics by members of the Golden Age Clubs.

Highlands Lad Wins A Ouimet Scholarship

Jeffrey F. Magee of 4 Rockledge Rd., Newton Highlands, who attended Sacred Heart School in Newton and the Huntington School in Boston, has been adjudged a winner of a Francis Ouimet Caddie Scholarship.

He will enter Ohio University as a member of the class of 1970.

The scholarship program is sponsored by the Massachusetts Golf Association and is financed by golfers in the Commonwealth.

Believing in the Fund motto, "From What Golf Has Given You, Let's Give Something Back to Golf," more than 10,000 golfers in the state support this fund for worthy caddies like Magee.

The fund draws its name from the gentleman and golfer, Francis Ouimet, who is indeed "Mr. Golf" to thousands of players and caddies. He forged a legend by becoming the first amateur ever to win the United States Open Golf Championship in 1913 at the age of 20.

To qualify for a scholarship, Magee and other boys have had to meet the following requisites:

Must have a minimum of three years as a caddie.

Must clearly establish the fact that he could not go to college without scholarship aid.

Must have gained admission to an accredited college or university.

Must be in the upper 40 percent of his class scholastically.

Must be outstanding in character, integrity and leadership.

Ohabei Shalom Religious School To Be Resumed

William Lichtman, director of education for Temple Ohabei Shalom, and William Spear, chairman of the Religious School Committee, have announced that classes will resume on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10 and 11.

The religious school program offers a kindergarten class and 10 grades of study with the objective of developing Confirmands committed to Reform Judaism and who have gained the knowledge and attitudes which will enable them to appreciate and implement a contemporary pattern of life, based on Jewish culture and values.

Rabbi S. Goldstein and Rabbi Edward M. Maline will present courses in Jewish Thought and Practice in the upper grades. These courses are the capstone of the school's preparation for Confirmation. Cantor Alex Zimmer will inaugurate a new course in the Art of Jewish Living.

Grades 7-10 meet on Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 12:10 with an extra mid-week session for grades 8-10.

The Advanced course (Hebrew Department) meets on Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Bus transportation to and from the Temple is provided at a minimal extra cost. Service will include all the Newtons, Chestnut Hill and Brookline.

Registration of new students is now in progress at the school office daily Monday through Thursday from 9 am to 5 pm.

Questions regarding the school may be referred to the Director, William Lichtman or the secretary, Mrs. Rachel Stoller — 277-6610.

Last Rites For Allan Acomb, School Official

Funeral services for Allan Acomb of 1361 Walnut St., Newton Highlands, assistant director of personnel for the Newton public schools, were conducted Friday, Aug. 26, in the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, by the minister, the Rev. Leslie T. Pennington, assisted by the Rev. Ray A. Eusden.

Mr. Acomb, who served in the U.S. Navy from 1942 to 1946, died in the West Roxbury Veterans Hospital, where he had been a patient since July 16.

Principal of the Underwood School for 17 years, he was appointed to his position in the school department administration in 1962 to take charge of appointing personnel at the elementary school level.

He had served as treasurer of the New England Reading Association and as director of the Boston University Summer School, where liberal arts candidates were trained as teachers. He was a past master of Norumbega Lodge, AF & AM.

He was awarded his business education degree from Boston University, and his Master's in business education degree from the same university in 1936.

In 1932, he came to Newton as a building assistant in the Peirce School. He taught in the Peirce and Davis Schools, and in 1934 went to the Underwood School as a classroom teacher. From there, he went in 1937 to Weeks Junior High School as a social studies teacher and physical education instructor.

From 1938 to 1942 he was assistant principal of the Mason-Rice-Bowen district.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Marjorie (Waddell) Acomb, a teacher in the Spaulding School, Newton Centre.

Rites Held For C.E. Gould Capon Of Retired Men

A memorial service for C.E. Gould Capon, 70, of 58 Channing road, Newton Centre was conducted by the Rev. Anthony Regamey, a member of the faculty of the New Church Theological School, in Central Congregational Church Saturday, Aug. 27.

Mr. Capon, a resident of Newton for more than 50 years, died unexpectedly in his home on Aug. 24.

Following his retirement from Blue Cross-Blue Shield in 1961, Mr. Capon founded the Newton Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons and served as its President until his death. He was also a member of the National Legislative Council of the Association and a member of the Retired Men's Club of Newton.

Mr. Capon was born in Montreal, Canada, and moved to Newton with his parents shortly after the turn of the century. He returned to Canada after his graduation from Newton High School and was employed there by Sherwin Williams Paint. During World War I he went overseas with the McGill Seige Battery of the Canadian Army. Following the war he returned to Newton and took a degree from Boston University.

Mr. Capon was a long-time member of Dalhousie Lodge, AF & AM and of its service committee, a member of Central Congregational Church, and a recent appointee by Mayor Monte Basbas to the Newton Council for the Aged.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Helen (Wood) Capon; a son, the Rev. Edwin G. Capon of Holliston; a daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Duren, Jr., of Schenectady, and six grandsons.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Newton Trio Opens Battle Today For Harvard Varsity Grid Berth

A trio of football stalwarts from Newton will be battling for the middle guard berth in Harvard's defensive line when the Crimson reports today, Thursday, Sept. 1, for the start of pre-season football practice.

Crosby is the smallest of the middleguard trio at 5-10 and 185 pounds. He saw considerable varsity B duty last Fall and is listed as the "sleeper" candidate.

DeBettencourt, regarded as the top seed, is the biggest at 6-2 and 225 pounds. Very strong, he penetrates quickly and applies heavy pressure in the opposing backfield.

Zebal at 6-0 and 211 pounds is one of the strongest sophomores coming up to the varsity. He will be a key figure in the final Crimson defensive alignment.

"If Steve comes through for us at middleguard," explains Coach John Yovicsin, "we might be tempted to keep DeBettencourt at tackle where he played last year."

Crosby and DeBettencourt graduated from Newton High in 1963. Crosby captained the football team that year. DeBettencourt went on to Exeter for a year and won a total of four football letters and three in track. As a schoolboy Zebel earned a sizable reputation at Mount Hermon before enrolling at Harvard.

O'Connell figures to make a strong bid for the varsity's quarterback berth. He has a good arm and the physical size (6-1, 190 pounds) to do the job. A 1964 graduate of Newton High, O'Connell later attended Mount Hermon. In all he amassed four baseball letters, three in football and one each in track and basketball.

Harvard opens its 10th season under Coach John Yovicsin on Sept. 24 at the Stadium against Lafayette. The Crimson is pointing for its eighth consecutive winning season and its eighth straight finish in the Ivy League's first division. Last year Harvard placed third with a 3-2-2 Ivy record and compiled a 5-2-2 overall mark.

"We have some outstanding performers returning," Yovicsin says, "but we must fill some gaps and develop considerable support to be among the leaders again." The Crimson's brightest stars are offensive tackle Steve Diamond and halfback Bobby Leo, both among the East's top players.

Crosby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Crosby of 48 Ruthven road, concentrates in government. DeBettencourt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeBettencourt of 18 Sterling street, majors in history. Zebal is the son of Stephen Zebal of 15 Baldwin street. O'Connell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. O'Connell of 9 Fair Oaks avenue.

Young Women Needed As Red Cross Aides In Vietnam

Opportunities for young women to serve as recreation aides with U. S. servicemen in Vietnam are now open through the American Red Cross, the Newton chapter advises.

In announcing a national recruitment drive to fill 100 positions, the Red Cross said increased troop strength has brought a request from the Department of Defense for additional Red Cross staff overseas.

Personnel already assigned to South Vietnam totals 206. The staff includes field directors who help servicemen with emergency communications concerning family situations, transportation, and personal counseling.

Recreation aids work in military hospitals or in the Clubmobile program to arrange entertainment, games, and other social activities.

In hospitals, military officers consider the Red Cross recreation program as part of therapy. Dramatic skits and arts and crafts are geared to the needs and interests of the individual patient.

The Clubmobile program, also operating in Korea, takes young women in teams of two, for weekly trips to military field units. Under military supervision, Clubmobile girls organize such games, skits, and social hours as field conditions permit. The purpose of the program is to bring a period of American-style relaxation to servicemen.

Qualifications for Red Cross recreation aides include a minimum age of 21, graduation from a four-year college, and experience in group leadership at playgrounds, camps, or in college activities. Skills in art, music, or drama are helpful.

Maintenance, uniforms, and cost of travel on assignment are furnished by the Red Cross. Salaries are based on experience.

Interested applicants are requested to call the Greater Boston Red Cross at 262-1234, extension 243, for interviews. A national training program will be held in Washington, D. C., from September 12 to 23, and from October 24 to November 4.

The Red Cross said those accepting the positions may consider them opportunities for career growth in the American Red Cross or as training for a planned career in the recreation field.

Girl Scouts In 3-Day Parley

Senior Girl Scouts from all of Massachusetts, including 23 girls from nine towns in Bay Path Colonial Council, are now holding a three-day conference at Gordon College in Wenham. The theme is "Values to Hold, Worlds to Explore," which is the same as that for the National Council meeting next October. This conference program has been planned and arranged by girl representatives from the 11 Girl Scout councils in the state.

The conference opened with an international ceremony in the chapel led by girls from Montachusett Council. The following sessions will center on talks, discussions and debate on: The World of Religion, World of War and Peace, The Social World, The Career World and The World of Yourself. Other activities include a talent show, group singing and a closing inspirational ceremony to be done by Senior Scouts from Hawthorne Council and their Council President, Mrs. Sargent Wellman.

Senior Girl Scouts from Newton attending are Marcia Cohen and Christine Laning.

Mrs. Cramsie Is Re-elected

Mrs. Evelyn Cramsie of Broderick Brothers, 636 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, a past vice president and treasurer of the Newton Real Estate Board, has been re-elected as director for Council of the Brokers Institute of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board.

She was the institute's secretary in 1964.

In 1965, she received the Realtors Achievement Award for professional conduct and ethics.

Takes Army Medical Course At Sam Houston

Reform Groups To Combine In Selichot Service

The second annual Union Selichot Service for Boston area Reform congregations will be held on Saturday evening, Sept. 10, at 10:30 p.m. at Temple Shalom, 175 Temple St., Newton. The services will be co-sponsored by New England Council, Union of American Hebrew Congregations and New England Region, Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Guest speaker for the service will be Rabbi Albert S. Goldstein, spiritual leader of Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline.

Commenting on the service, Rabbi Jacob Lantz, president of the New England Region, Central Conference of American Rabbis, said, "For many years we have recognized that the Selichot Service, reintroduced by many Reform congregations across the country, can be a spiritually enriching experience for our people in our time."

Falling a few days before the High Holy Days, this moving service opens the hearts of Jews to the forthcoming days of penitence and self-evaluation. It is a service whose purpose is to sensitize us to the spiritual mountain peaks of Rosh Hashono and Yom Kippur. With the co-operation of all the congregations in the Boston area, Reform Jews of our community shall join together and share this meaningful religious experience.

An invitation is extended to all who desire to attend.

RECENT DEATHS

Joseph P. Drum

A solemn Mass of requiem for Joseph P. Drum, 84, of 108 Kennedy Cir., Newton, a retired engineer for Swift & Company, was offered Tuesday, Aug. 30, in the Church of Our Lady.

Mr. Drum, who was born in Taunton, and had lived in Newton for the past 20 years, died Aug. 26 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

He was a member of the Holy Name Society, Attleboro Lodge of Elks and Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary A. (Reilly) Drum; two sons, Edward F. of West Medford and Harold J. Drum of San Francisco, and two grandchildren.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Tauton.

Joseph L. Meagher

A solemn Mass of requiem for Joseph L. Meagher of 92 North street, Newtonville, an Army veteran of World War I, was offered Tuesday, Aug. 31, in the Church of Our Lady.

A clothing salesman for many years, and until his retirement employed at the Raytheon Company, Mr. Meagher died Aug. 27 in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, after a long illness.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Kathryn L. (Larner) Meagher; a son, William J. Meagher of Reading; three grandchildren, and two sisters, Miss Helen Meagher of Milton and Mrs. Thomas (Lucy) Foley of Falmouth. He also leaves several nieces and a nephew, the Rev. Thomas J. Foley, a Maryknoll father stationed in Bolivia.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Thomas F. Boyd Jr.

A funeral Mass for Thomas F. Boyd Jr., 19, of 116 Carver road, Newton Highlands, was sung Wednesday, Aug. 31, in St. Philip Neri Church.

He died of injuries received the night of Aug. 27, when struck by an automobile in Falmouth.

Born in Brighton, he went to Newton High School, and was an honor student at the Boston College School of Business Administration.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Boyd, and two sisters, Janet and Nancy Boyd.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Florence M. Faucher

A solemn requiem Mass for Miss Florence M. Faucher, 67, of 1075 Washington St., West Newton, a practical nurse, was offered Tuesday, Aug. 30, in St. Bernard's Church.

Miss Faucher suffered a heart attack in her home Aug. 27, and died soon after arriving at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Born in Berlin, N.H., she had been a West Newton resident for the past five years.

Survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Grace Minnick, Miss Laura Faucher and Miss Marie Faucher, all of West Newton, and three brothers, Wilfred of Somersworth, N.H., Lorenzo of Pittsfield and Joseph Faucher of Berlin, N.H.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Bertha A. Beattie

A solemn Mass of requiem for Mrs. Bertha (Tierney) Beattie, 81, of 17 Charles St., Auburndale, was offered Saturday, Aug. 27, in Corpus Christi Church.

Mrs. Beattie died Aug. 25 in a Wellesley nursing home after a long illness.

A native of Barre, Vt., she made her home in Auburndale for eight years.

She leaves a son, Robert T. Beattie of Palo Alto, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Mildred B. Horn of Auburndale; a sister, Mrs. Angela Keough of Burlington, Vt; two brothers, E. Raymond Tierney of North Quincy and T. Paul Tierney of Woodstock, Vt., and three grandchildren.

Mr. Troope died Aug. 24 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a short illness.

Born in Bridgetown, he had lived in Auburndale for more than 40 years.

Newtonite To Study Life In Soviet Russia

The Citizens Exchange Corps of 550 Fifth Ave., New York City, announces that Robert Cunniff, 33 Brookline St., Newton Centre, has been accepted for participation in the CEC 1966 program of study-exchange visits.

He will be part of a cross-sectional group of 165 Americans who will study contemporary Soviet life in the classroom and on the streets of Moscow and Leningrad.

The first part of each day in the USSR is spent in CEC Field Institute seminars, lectures and field trips conducted by professors from leading universities who will work with the cooperation of Soviet professors.

In the afternoon, participants meet Soviet counterparts in occupation and interest. These informal meetings permit a free-wheeling interchange of views.

The Citizens Exchange Corps program has been recognized by Vice President Humphrey as "of great worth in our endeavors to promote world peace and understanding," and by the Soviets by their embassy's first secretary, who wrote to express his "hope that CEC will succeed in accomplishing its vast projects in the years ahead and help the peoples of the Soviet Union and those of the United States of America to understand each other better."

(7) Courts—An iner court shall have a minimum dimension at least equal to 1½ times the average height of the surrounding walls and shall have an opening at ground level with a minimum height and width of 18 feet to permit access to service and emergency vehicles. An outer court shall be open to the full extent of its width throughout and shall have a width at least equal to the average height of the surrounding walls, and a depth no greater than its width.

(8) Business services—In accordance with the provisions of section 25-26, the Board of Aldermen may, when it deems it necessary because of the number of persons to be accommodated on the lot or tract, allow business facilities for the individual convenience of the residents such as barber shops, beauty parlors, tailors, shoe repair shops and similar personal services, newsstands, drugstores, food shops, dining rooms and similar retail uses, medical and related professional services to be conducted within a multiple dwelling; except that dining rooms with related facilities may be conducted within a building attached to and made an integral part of a multiple dwelling building, and shall not exceed two percent of the gross floor area of all buildings containing dwelling units; provided that there shall be no entrance to such a place of business except from the inside of the building; that there shall be no signs or advertising material pertaining to such business services outside of any building and no illuminated sign in the windows of the business facilities, and the gross floor area of the business services including dining rooms and related facilities shall not exceed five percent of the gross floor area of all buildings containing dwelling units.

(9) Building locations—No building shall be closer than twenty feet to any other building on the same lot.

(10) Landscaping—the front, side and rear yards required by this section, as modified by paragraph (6) hereof, shall be landscaped with lawns, trees, shrubs, and other plantings and shall be properly maintained in a sightly and well-kept condition.

Amendment 3. Amend section 25-9 "Same - business A districts," by deleting therefrom paragraph (a) (10) which reads as follows:

(10) apartment houses and apartment hotels

Amendment 4. Amend section 25-9 "Same—business A districts," by adding following paragraph (b) (6) (a) thereof the following new paragraph (e) to read as follows:

(6e) apartment houses and apartment hotels confirming to the provisions applicable thereto in residence EE districts under section 25-6.1 herein.

Amendment 5. Amend section 25-10 "Same - business B districts," by adding following paragraph (b) (4) thereof the following new paragraph (4a) to read as follows:

(4a) apartment houses and apartment hotels conforming to the provisions applicable thereto in residence EE districts under section 25-6.1 herein.

Amendment 6. Replace section 25-13 "Minimum lot areas and widths," paragraph (c) with the following new paragraph:

(c) Except as provided in section 25-6 (c) and section 25-6.1 (a) (1) (as applicable to business A and B districts) no new buildings shall be constructed and no buildings shall be altered, extended or reconstructed to provide living quarters for more than one family for each three thousand square feet of lot area in private residence and residence D districts and for each twelve hundred square feet in residence E, residence EE and business A and B districts.

Amendment 7. Replace section 25-15, "Height regulations and exceptions," with the following new section:

Sec. 25-15. Height regulations and exceptions.

Except as provided in sections 25-6.1, 25-7, 25-9, 25-10 and 25-17.1 no buildings or structures shall be constructed, altered, enlarged, entended, re-constructed or raised so as to contain more than three stories or exceed in any part a height of forty feet in any single residence, private residence or residence D District, or to contain more than six stories or exceed a height of sixty feet in a residence E, business A or B, as well as to residence EE districts, limited manufacturing or manufacturing district, except in the case of chimneys, ventilators and other projections required above the roof, and towers, spires, domes and ornamental features and pitch roofs on non-residential buildings, except by permission of the board of aldermen in accordance with the procedure provided in section 25-26 in the case of buildings other than residences.

HAS
JOBS

You have read about shirts, dresses, blouses that can be thrown away when they become soiled. Surgeons are wearing throw-away operating gowns. Airplanes have throw-away head rests. We MAKE NONWOVEN FABRICS, one of the most talked about industries today.

We can hardly keep up with customer demand. We have bought and built buildings, enlarged present plants . . . and have interesting production jobs available. Prior experience is not essential.

Our future in the civilian market is unlimited. Oh yes, we also supply some of our materials for military production.

Get into a young industry that offers long range security . . . in war or peace time.

Mosquitoes Are Fussy About Tastiest Humans

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you are a sickly old man with a pale complexion, sweaty palms, clammy skin, low vitality and a fetish about bathing, congratulations.

You're the type of person least likely to be bitten by a mosquito.

Or so it says in this press release I recently received.

It says that mosquitoes are discriminating in their choice of victims. When confronted with a human smorgasbord, they will concentrate on the tastiest dish.

I had heard that before but I always thought it was an old wives' tale, mainly because it was first told to me by an old wife.

One evening when I was a child, an old wife and I were sitting out on the veranda. She was playing a mandolin and singing "Moonlight Bay."

After a while she said, "Let's go back into the house. These mosquitoes are driving me crazy."

"They must be good music lovers," I said, whereupon she smote me on the noggin with the mandolin.

Other evidence that mosquitoes have their likes and dislikes was supplied by a study made some time ago by Union Carbide Corp., whose products include an insect repellent.

It showed that mosquitoes go mainly for people who are healthy, young, active and temperamental; have dark complexions, dry palms, and warm skin; wear dark clothing and strong perfume, hair tonic or shaving lotion; and bathe no oftener than once a day.

On the basis of this study, the company drew up a test that people can take to determine whether or not they are mosquito-prone.

Anyone scoring between 85 and 100 would cause a mosquito to roll his eyes, lick his lips, and exclaim "c'est magnifique." For anyone in the 0-25 range, the reaction would be "yuck."

I took the test and scored a 65, indicating I am in the "yummy" bracket. I am not entirely convinced, however, that this proves anything. The study may have omitted the factor that is most likely to cause a mosquito to attack.

Despite my relatively high delectability rating, I went for years without being bitten. Then, last month I made a vacation trip to Florida. I was visiting some people who live on a lake front and one night we had a cookout down by the shore. Ot the suggestion of an old wife in the group, we sang a couple of choruses of "Moonlight Bay." I haven't quit scratching yet.

Youthful Television Star Is Unspoiled By Success

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood
Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Little Billy Mumy, the juvenile star of "Lost In Space," is probably the only actor in Hollywood who bicycles to work.

Billy, 12, lives only a few minutes from 20th Century-Fox where the series is filmed. And while his buddies pedal to school Billy heads in the opposite direction to the set. It's just one of his devices for remaining one of the gang.

An actor since age 6, Master Mumy lives at home with his parents in the chic Cheviot Hills section of West Los Angeles.

His father, Charles Mumy, built the house last year, a spacious contemporary residence of Palos Verdes stone with four bedrooms and four baths.

Billy's room is large enough to include a pool table and a television set in addition to bookcases filled with his collection of ancient and valuable comic books going back several decades before his birth.

He's decorated his room with corner beds to give it more the appearance of a den than a bedroom and the walls are covered with photographs of various comic super-heroes.

"Billy is a very serious collector of those books," says his mother, Muriel. "He keeps them all in plastic covers."

YOUNG MUMY has a 19-year-old half-sister, Linda, attends college in Santa Barbara, so he has the run of the house — usually in concert with a gaggle of sneaker-and-bluejean-clad buddies.

His allowance is restricted to $5 a week, one dollar of which he puts away in savings for periodic splurges on comic books.

In addition to his acting talent Billy plays the guitar well and has made several personal appearances for the Boy Scouts and the YMCA, singing folk music and accompanying himself on the guitar. He doesn't care for rock n' roll.

Red-haired and freckle-faced, Billy is remarkably unspoiled for a child star and generally shrugs off shop talk.

His day begins at 7:30 when he bounces out of bed, more often than not skipping breakfast — much to his mother's despair — and hops on his bike for the studio. Billy is before the cameras by 8 or 8:30 and enjoys the noon-hour lunch break with fellow members of the cast.

He dashes home at 6 p.m. to join his mates in baseball games or a frolic in a neighbor's swimming pool. He is also an accomplished tennis player.

The Mumys try to pursuade their active son to hit the sack by 9 or 10 o'clock, but he fights it.

"Fortunately, Billy is a quick study," Mrs. Mumy says. "We wouldn't allow him to work if he had difficulty studying his lines. But he loves acting and wants to be a serious dramatic star when he grows up."

Billy's father, in addition to other activities, owns a huge cattle ranch near Bishop, Calif., a five-hour drive from Hollywood. Billy has two horses at the ranch but rarely has enough time away from the studio to enjoy the great outdoors.

THE YOUNGSTER may be one of the richest 12-year-olds in the country. His parents have invested his earnings in a trailer park in Oxnard, Calif. and a nearby property with eight houses on it. He also owns an apartment house.

"Billy will never have to worry about college," Mrs. Mumy said. "A percentage of his income has been put in trust and still more money has gone into government bonds."

Billy is unaware, too, of his wealth.

His idea of a gourmet meal is a hamburger and ice cream. His playmates think of Billy as just another kid while his co-workers in the CBS-TV series treat him just as they would any other professional actor.

"Billy started out so young in show business that it has never gone to his head," Mrs. Mumy says. "He likes working, but when he walks off the set that's the end of it."

Khrushchev, by Edward Crankshaw (Viking $7.50): The widely publicized photograph of Nikita Khrushchev pounding his shoe on the desk at the United Nations will not easily be forgotten.

It appeared to confirm a widely held view that Khrushchev was indeed a bumpkin who had fought and wheedled his way to the top. But others saw him as a shrewd interpreter of both the Communist and Western worlds with a chameleon-like ability to adapt to circumstances.

This biography sheds new light on the complex nature of Khrushchev. Crankshaw, an acknowledged authority on the Soviet Union, describes the rise of the now deposed Red leader from his log cabin origins in Kursk, through the ranks of the Communist network, to become the ruler of 200 million Russians and ideological leader of millions in other lands.

There are fascinating accounts of the bitter political in-fighting by, for and against Khrushchev in his struggle toward the top.

Calling Khrushchev, the "first Western-style politician in Russian history, Crankshaw credits him with being a dreamer for Russia "with a profound instinctive patriotism with its roots in the source of all Russian patriotism — Russian soil.

But Crankshaw notes, with no lack of detail, that Khrushchev drove his minions and the Russian people generally in a ruthless and often cruel fashion to achieve his ends. Unquestionably Khrushchev was simultaneously a manipulator and a product of the tumultous epoch in which he lived.

Perhaps Crankshaw sums it up best when he describes Khrushchev as "a peasant, a ward politician, a power-seeker on a grand and ruthless scale, as well as a dreamer and, towards the end a statesman . . ."

Indian Summer, by John Knowles (Random House $4.95): This novel treats of a common form of frustration that is encountered by people who "live their lives out of season," that is, their roles in life differ from the roles they are prepared to play and would be content to play.

In this story Cleet Kinsolving finds himself at loose ends after serving in the Air Force through World War II. He hankers to make a career of flying planes and yet is drawn through circumstances back to his home town in Connecticut. There he is pulled into the orbit of the wealthy Reardons as an assistant to his boyhood friend Neil in a job that pays well but bids fair to submerge his identity and freedom.

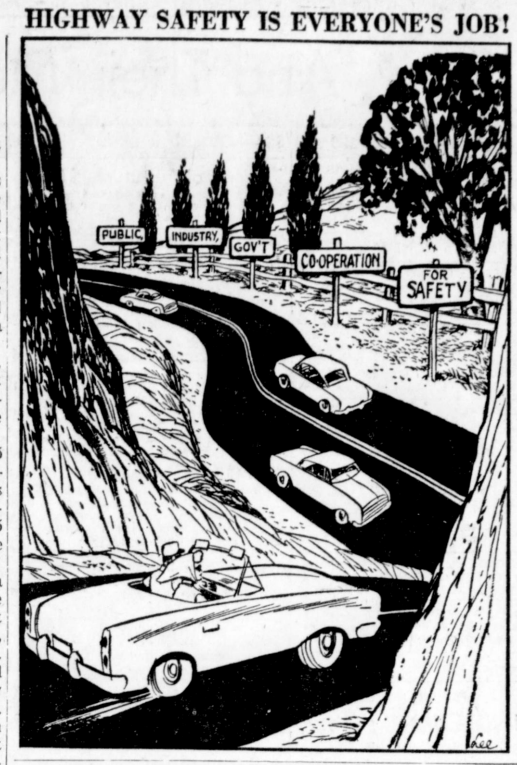

Escape is Cleet's problem and he's luckier than most of the book's characters in wrenching himself free before it is too late.

The Naked Image, by Harold Clurman (Macmillan $6.50): Most American theatergoers know of Clurman as a director with a considerable record of success, but it is probable that only a small number are aware he also is a critic and a student of the theater in this country and abroad.

His new book is a collection of "observations on the modern theater" — reviews, reports and comments previously published in newspapers or magazines and now gathered between hard covers for the first time.

Ceramic Show At New Ocean House

The 9th annual Boston Ceramic Show, sponsored by the New England Ceramic League, Inc., will be held Sept. 9 thru 11 at the Exhibition Hall of the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

Hours on Friday and Saturday will be from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Thousands of visitors from all parts of the country and Canada will attend this show. Over 2000 exhibits of ceramics, china, and porcelain will be on display.

There will also be amateur and professional competitions, with trophies to be awarded in each category.

A special section will be devoted to the handiwork of children as well as ceramics by members of the Golden Age Clubs.

Free Boating Classes Start On Sept. 12

The Charles River Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, will commence free boating classes on Monday evening, Sept. 12, at 7:30. The classes will be held at Rindge Technical High School located near Harvard Square, Cambridge.

Students desiring further information may attend these classes without obligation on Sept. 12 or the following Monday on Sept. 19. Those who wish to enroll free may do so at the dates specified.

The United States Power Squadrons, a non-profit organization founded in 1914, has educated thousands of students in all phases of boating and navigation. The free classes offered will provide the student with all the basic boating information necessary to help him skipper any craft in a safer and more knowledgeable manner.

Further information may be obtained by calling 396-7150 or 484-6696 in the evenings, or by writing to Charles River Power Squadron, 21 Merchants Row, Boston, Mass. 02109.

The Active Life by Dan Eams

Cambodian Ruler Goes Hollywood; To Push Country

PHNOMPENH, Cambodia (UPI) — Cambodia's roly-poly ruling prince Norodom Sihanouk has turned movie producer to display his country to the world.

And he has volunteered his son, his daughter, and several leading generals as well as much of the Cambodian army to the task.

Sihanouk's movie, called "Apsara" (Heavenly Dancers), will be a full-length romantic feature in color.

Not only will it show how good Cambodia is, but it will demonstrate just what "evil aggressors"—the Americans, South Vietnamese and Thais—surround this country.

The movie is about a General Rithi, played by real-life Lt. Gen. Nhiek Tioulong, who falls in love with star dancer "Kantha Devi," played by Sihanouk's daughter, and abandons his mistress to ask for her hand.

Kantha, who is in love with a young air force pilot, dares not refuse her mother's command to marry the general, but immediately after the wedding ceremony tells him of her troubles.

In the moment the general pauses to think about the situation, tension flares up on the border as South Viet Nam bombs a village on one side of Cambodia and Thailand steps up pressure on the other.

The young air force pilot is wounded when his MIG is shot down by the "aggressors" but he recovers and the general good-heartedly allows Kantha Devi to go to her lover, taking up with his mistress once again.

Sihanouk's film concentrates on presenting the Cambodian countryside in its best light, and on showing off the Russian and Chinese armaments with which he has equipped his military machine in the three years since he began to break off relations with the United States.

Young Mother Tells Of Her Dislike For Two Sessions

A Newton mother of four school-age children who at one time did student teaching in Newton schools has written to administrators of the school system here giving her reasons for disliking double sessions.

Her letter follows:

"I have lived in Newton only one year, but in this time I have heard increasing discussion about the school schedule. I have several thoughts on the subject, and I do hope you will take the time to read this letter.

"When I was a grammar school student, I fully appreciated the Brookline school system. There was a continuity to my days. My mental energy was devoted to study, and my physical energy at recess after lunch with my friends. I was not rushed four ways every other day. Yes, we had cafeterias, but they were not essential. The out-of-doors in the spring and the gym or classroom in the winter would have been sufficient. The important thing is that I was with my contemporaries at lunch time, not rushing along busy streets.

"As a student teacher at Wheelock College, I taught in two different Newton schools. I soon discovered that the children were bright and attentive in the morning, but were nowhere near as productive. The children were tired and distracted. By 3:30, a late hour for young children, everyone was over-anxious to leave. On Tuesdays and Thursdays there often wasn't enough time to complete everything.

"And now, as a young mother of four children, I cannot see the need for them to make four trips to school. For mine, it is a 15-minute walk, crossing Parker street each time. The double session just doubles the chances for accidents — and what for? For a rushed lunch — usually a sandwich that could go with them to school. Now that 15 minutes has been taken from the lunch time, there is absolutely no time for relaxation; only time to watch the clock and scamper back to school exhausted.

"I know changes bring problems. I also know that any difficulty can be solved by the sincere effort of interested people. The administration has only to call on any of hundreds of Newton mothers, if they choose.

"I do hope you will read this through with some serious thought. I am only one of so very many who feel this way, and we hope you will keep an open mind about the problem and reach a favorable decision."

The foregoing letter was signed by Emily (Mrs. Michael) Lipof, 110 Oxford road, Newton Centre.

No Clues Yet In Holdup Of Payroll Here

Newton police were still without clues today in the $1700 payroll robbery last Friday at the construction site of the Newton incinerator on Rumford avenue, at the Waltham-Newton line.

George Gatchell told police he was bringing the money in envelopes from the Corrigan Construction Co. office at 47 Norwood street, Dorchester, for the construction workers at the site.

He drove the company station wagon into a parking area at the rear of the incinerator where he was approached by two men. An armed man approached Gatchell, smiled and said: "This is a stickup."

Gatchell ,police said, thought he was joking and walked away.

He got about 20 feet and the gunman shouted ,"I'm serious. Give me the money or I'll shoot." He repeated the warning twice.

Convinced, Gatchell walked back toward the station wagon and tossed the container of cash into the front seat. The two men then got into the company car and drove off.

Police said the bandits drove to River street, West Newton, a half-mile away, and transferred to another car parked at the curb with a third man in it.

Descriptions of the bandit pair were sketchy, except that both were presumed to be in their early 20's.

Wave Of Thefts Continues Here

The theft of diamond rings, a hospital bed and a clarinet were reported to Newton police last week.

Mrs. Robert T. Schwartz, 28 Frederick st., Newtonville, told police of the missing rings, valued at $1750.

A hospital bed valued at $1000 was taken from the garage of Mrs. Sidney E. Gelb, 17 O'Rourke path, Newton Centre. She said the lock on the door was forced.

The theft of a clarinet and case, valued at $150, was reported by Mrs. Michael M. Cooper, 27 Stiles ter., Newton Centre.

Local Women Prominent In CJP Appeal

Mrs. Samuel B. Feinberg, 24 Lockwood Rd., West Newton, will serve as co-chairman of attendance at the 71st annual dinner meeting of Combined Jewish Philanthropies, to be held Sunday, Sept. 18, at 6 p.m., in Boston's Statler Hilton.

She will be assisted by Mrs. Ralph L. Karol of 11 Wendell Rd., Newton Centre.

Mrs. Feinberg is a past president of the Ledgewood Home for Jewish Children, and is a member of the board of directors of the CJP Woman's Division.

Mrs. Karol also serves on the Woman's Division board, and is co-chairman of the Newton CJP drive.

Medicare In Nursing Homes Under Discussio

Sidney R. Neustadt of Newton will be one of the participants in a state-wide, all-day session for nursing home officials and administrators to be held Wednesday, Sept. 14, at Hotel 128 in Dedham, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes, Inc.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss problems relating to Medicare that will become effective in nursing homes on Jan. 1.

Candidates To Be Featured At 'Night' Sept. 9

Tickets for the Newton Democratic City Committee pre-primary candidates night and rally on Sept. 9 went on sale today with the ditribution to ward committee members of more than 1000 tickets.

The affair will be held at Newton High School, and will include presentations by all statewide candidates as well as those seeking office in Newton.

A showing of the documentary film, "The Making of a President-1960" will be shown. Door prizes will be awarded to those atending.

According to co-chairmen Paul King and Dr. Burton D. Levine, more than 600 persons are expected to attend. Proceeds will be used to finance the campaigns of local candidates. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Pointless Rioting A Menace Newton Police Chief Says

"Force must be met by Force," Police Chief Philip Purcell declared in a statement on rioting and its control issued in his capacity as president of the International Association of Police Chiefs.

The chief's statement follows:

"When pointless provocation and rioting become synonymous with legitimate protest demonstrations, our country is in trouble.

"When sincere advocators of equal rights are overshadowed by false messiahs and extremists with selfish motives, it is time to draw guidelines to separate the right from the wrong.

"Increasingly, the police of this Nation are being called upon to stand in the no-man's land between factions of opposing beliefs. Historically, traditionally and correctly, the police in America have had the responsibility of fighting crime and insuring the security of citizens. In no sense are the police a military force to be used in putting down riots and revolution. It is obvious that the police cannot effectively cope with what is rapidly becoming open warefare involving thousands of persons utilizing firearms, Molotov cocktails and other lethal weapons.

"When such outbreaks have occurred and reached a point beyond being a disturbance, it has been necessary for the National Guard to be called out. If these riots continue to increase in intensity, ferocity and frequency, the police, no matter how well trained, cannot be expected to contain them.

"It is time professional provocateurs stop their revolutionary tactics. It is time for the highest authorities in our land to let them know that force must be met with force, that criminal violations will not be tolerated and that those who spawn violence and perpetuate it will be punished.

"Unless the police have this type of support and assurance, the security of our communities will be in even graver jeopardy."

Boys Club Wins Twi Title In 5

Newton Boys Club won the Newton Twi American Division championship with a 10 to 2 defeat of Lindstrom Transportation last Sunday afternoon in Allison Park.

Six runs by Boys' Club in the sixth inning just about spelled the victory.

The best-of-five series went five games.

Final Summer Series Service Set For Sunday

The last in the series of Newton Union Summer Services will be held next Sunday, Sept. 4th, when the Rev. Boyd Johnson of the Union Church in Waban, will preach at the First Unitarian Society at West Newton, at 10 o'clock. Music will be furnished by Clendenning Smith, organist, and Paul W. Wiggin, tenor.

The Rev. Johnson is a native of New Jersey, and a graduate of Dartmouth College and the Princeton Theological Seminary. He also earned a Masters Degree at Temple School of Theology, serving at the same time as assistant minister in the Presbyterian Church in Broomal, Pa., and pastoral counselor at Trenton State Hospital and the Philadelphia General Hospital. He was also a participant in The Ministers in Industry Institute at McCormick Theological Seminary.

In 1959 and 1960 Rev. Johnson was assitant minister at the American Church in Paris, where he was responsible for student work. Before coming to the Union Church in Waban he was pastor of the First Congregational Church of Woodbridge, N.J.

During that time he served as president of the Greater Woodbridge Ministerial Association and represented the Protestant clergy in the Woodbridge Rotary Club. He also served on the Christian Education Committee of New Jersey for the Middle Atlantic Conference and the Christian Education Committee of the Elizabeth, N. J. Presbytery.

During the week beginning Sept. 1st, Rev. Johnson will be on call for those wishing pastoral care, and he may be reached through the Union Church in Waban.

Sacred Heart College Wins Merit Award

A Newton College of the Sacred Heart admissions "pocket booklet" has been awarded a certificate of special merit in a national Honors Competition for Publications, sponsored by the American College Public Relations Association.

The booklet—one of a record 695 entries in the competition—was judged as outstanding by a jury of professionals chosen for their experience and competence in the publications field.

Ronald C. Brinn, of Waltham, director of public relations at Newton College, accepted the award at the Association's recent annual conference in Boston. Fifty-one other colleges and universities across the country were also cited for achievement in publications during an Awards Luncheon at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

Other New England award-winners in the publications category were Amherst College, Boston University, Clark University, Colby College, Mount Holyoke College, Rhode Island School of Design, Ricker College, Trinity College, Tufts-New England Medical Center, and the University of New Hampshire.

City Employees Vote For Official Representatives

Representatives of the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission conducted elections to Newton City Hall on August 23rd to designate the exclusive bargaining representatives for city employees under the newly enacted municipal collective bargaining law (Mass. G.L. chapter 149 sections 178 G through N).

he commission had previously divided Newton employees into four major groups to be individually represented for collective bargaining. Unit A composed of the labor force of the city elected Local 800, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, as its representative by a vote of 356 in favor and 7 against.

Unit B composed of the foremen in the various city departments elected the Newton Foremen's Association as its representative by a vote of 20 in favor and 2 against.

Unit C composed of the clerical and City Hall based employees elected City Hall Associates as its representative by a vote of 38 in favor and 31 against.

Unit D composed of the wire inspectors elected Local 103, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers AFL-CIO as its representative by a vote of 3 in favor and none against. In a previous election earlier this month the Public Health Nurses designated the Massachusetts Nurses Association as their bargaining representative.

Tuesday's election was supervised by George M. Doyle, Labor Relations Commission examiner in charge, Martin E. Greenblatt, assistant city solicitor, and observers from the various labor organizations seeking designation.

Partnership Teachers Idea Has Doubled

The Partnership Teaching Program of the Woman's Industrial and Educational Union in Boston, which solved the dilemma of women who want to teach, but cannot do so full time because of family responsibilities, has more than doubled this fall.

Mrs. Shirley Frant, a Grade 5 Partnership Teacher in Waltham, who lives at 131 Westchester Rd., Newton, was a member of a panel of three who discussed the program at a recent orientation meeting.

Six members of the program will be teaching in the Newton public schools for the 1966-67 school year.

Mrs. Sandra Lerner, 7 Hyde Ave., Newton, attended the orientation meeting.

Hot Primary Fights Expected To Draw More Than 15,000 To Polls

More than 15,000 Newton voters are expected to go to the polls next Tuesday to play their part in settling exciting battles for Dmeocratic and Republican nominations for high public offices.

Because of the interest aroused by the Senator, Governor and Attorney General, the Democratic voters will come out in substantially greater numbers in Newton than will the Republicans.

However, the struggle between Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler and veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 10th district, which is attracting national attention, is expected to produce a bigger than normal GOP turnout.

The polling places in Newton will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. on Tuesday.

A total of 13,730 voters—10,470 Democrats and 3,260 Republicans — went to the polls for the primary two years ago. A substantially larger number should come out Tuesday.

The contenders in the big Democratic primary clashes all have groups of supporters working in their behalf in Newton.

Mayor John F. Collins and ex-Governor Endicott Peabody both are making all-out drives to carry Newton in their campaigns for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator.

Thomas Boylston Adams, the third candidate in the Democratic Senate field, will be a poor third in Newton but does have scattered support across the city.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack and former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell, embattled opponents in the contest for the Democratic nomination for Governor, have been doing their utmost to persuade Newton Democrats to ballot in Tuesday's primary.

Newton has a "favorite son" candidate in the race for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, but whether he will be able to carry his home city is uncertain.

Ex-Governor Foster Furcolo, now a Newton resident, is attempting a political comeback as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General and is involved in a three-way fight with former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo.

Another "favorite son" contender, automobile dealer Herbert L. Connolly of Newton, is expected to carry the city over Joseph E. McGuire of Worcester in their fight for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

The fourth Democratic state-wide contest between State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko and Raymond S. Jordan for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State is also expected to bring out a heavy vote.

MASS. DRAFT QUOTA JUMPS IN OCT.

THE DRAFT will take 46 more Massachusetts men in October than was originally planned, as a result of a hike in the national draft call from 46,200 to 49,200 men.

Lt. Col. Remo Gandin, state manpower officer, said the state draft call for October had been raised from 717 to 763 men as a result of the national increase announced Wednesday.

In November, the state must provide 827 men for the draft, Gandin said. This is the largest number since last December, when 1,018 were called in the state. The national draft call for November will be 43,700 men.

ANOTHER SESION IRKS LAWMAKERS

MASSACHUSETTS legislators went back to the campaign trails Thursday, some a little upset at Gov. Volpe.

Before they adjourned, Volpe told them he would call a special session after the Nov. 8 general election to deal with "vital" matters killed during the regular session.

Some 109 of the 240 representatives and seven of the 40 senators have opponents for the Sept. 13 primary and nearly all the legislators will run for reelection in November.

The governor outlined numerous bills in the fields of public safety, highway safety, crime fighting and mental health which he said must be debated again.

LOANS TRIAL DOCUMENT VANISHES

A DOCUMENT brought to court by a representative of the State division of small loans has mysteriously disappeared, counsel for Martin J. Hanley, former deputy banking commissioner, said Wednesday in Suffolk Superior Court.

Hanley is one of 15 individuals and corporations on trial on charges of bribery and conspiracy in connection with the regulation of small loans.

Atty. Robert F. Muse told the court the document was one of those brought in by Robert S. Leadbetter, state rate analyst. He said the document in question was a letter relating to a 1962 call for a hearing on small loan interest rates.

10 SEIZED IN ATLANTA CROWD

ATLANTA POLICE rushed a squad into the riot-torn Negro district late Wednesday, as a mob was forming, and arrested 10 Negroes who disobeyed orders to disperse. There was no attempt—as happened Tuesday—to overturn the police wagons. The riot squad was withdrawn from the area, but remained on the alert. An armored car also stood by.

ASTRONAUTS REHEARSE SPACE WALK

ASTRONAUTS Charles Conrad and Richard F. Gordon rehearsed a 107-minute space walk with dummy space machines at Cape Kennedy Wednesday in smooth-rolling preparation for Friday's Gemini 11 missions.

"No problems" was the report from officials. Weathermen gave a preliminary all-clear for blastoff of Gemini 11 at 10:25 a.m. (EDT) Friday, 97 minutes behind an Atlas booster assigned to put an Agena target satellite into orbit.

RENT SUBSIDY LAW SIGNED

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has signed into law a $13.9 billion appropriations bill that contained $22 million for rent supplements.

The President called it "the single most important breakthrough in the history of public housing."

Johnson announced rent supplement projects in 22 cities including Boston, Falmouth, Mass., Cape Cod and Farmington, Conn.

VIET NAM WAR OBJECTOR GUILTY

A 10-OFFICER court martial Wednesday found Army private Dennis Mora, 25, of New York, guilty of refusing to go to Viet Nam to enter a war which he claimed to be immoral.

The Fort Dix, N.J., court deliberated for less than 30 minutes after hearing two days of arguments and testimony. Mora could receive a maximum penalty of five years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

LBJ GETS $3.5 BILLION AID BILL

FINAL APPROVAL was given a compromise, one-package $3.5 billion foreign aid authorization bill by the Senate Wednesday and the measure was sent to the White House.

The bill, approved 217 to 127 by the House Thursday, is far short of the long-range program asked by President Johnson. It lacks many of the reforms that he urged, but the President gets all the money he sought for the first year.

REDS STEP UP VIET POLL TERROR

VIET CONG units stepped up guerrilla probes around Saigon Wednesday night in a surge of activity designed to sabotage Sunday's national elections. They launched two attacks just outside the capital's city limits.

Government officials also announced they had arrested a 15-year-old boy who tossed a bomb into an election rally at Hue Tuesday night injuring 27 persons. They said he was preparing to touch off a second explosive blast when police nabbed him.

VIET VETS' BENEFITS ENDORSED

THE ADMINISTRATION endorsed legislation Wednesday which would extend full wartime benefits to veterans of the Viet Nam war.

All persons who have been members of the military services since the Gulf of Tonkin attacks on Aug. 5, 1964, would be eligible for the increased benefits. They include increased disability compensation, medical benefits and pensions, $250 burial allowances and—for certain disabilities—$1,600 toward the purchase of a car.

A U.S. spokesman said one guerrilla unit hit the headquarters of the South Vietnamese 5th Marine Regiment near the Tan Son Nhut air base. They lobbed 15 rounds of mortars at the headquarters and a U.S. and Vietnamese reaction force struck back.

Annual Achievement Award To Be Given Mayor Basbas

Hon. Monte G. Basbas, Mayor of the City of Newton, will receive the 1966 Achievement Award at the Eighth Annual Achievement dinner of the Newton Chamber of Commerce to be held Tuesday, Sept. 27 at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill, starting at 6:45 p.m.

Mayor Basbas, an outstanding civic leader, served as City Clerk in Newton from 1953 to 1965.

Announcement of the award to Newton's Chief Executive was made last night by William P. McNamara, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Basbas is a 1944 graduate of Dartmouth College, where he majored in government and received his LL.B. degree in 1949 from Boston University Law School.

Prior to attending Dartmouth, he graduated from Manchester, N.H. Central High School and Kimball Union Academy.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Tuesday Is Do-or Die Day For Many Demo Contenders

The political stakes will be unusually high for a number of candidates in next Tuesday's primary.

Some will win party nominations which will enable them to go on to run in the November election.

Others will encounter defeat and disaster which in some instances will bring an end to their political careers.

For the first time in the history of the Commonwealth the State Constitutional officers this year will be elected for four-year terms.

That means it will be 1970 before the losers in the September primary and the November election will ko of Salem and Representative James H. Kelly of Jamaica Plain has aroused scant interest in Newton.

Secretary of State Kevin H. White and State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane both are unopposed for Democratic renomination.

The Republican primary battle between Congressman Martin and Governor's Councillor Heckler may well hinge on the size of the GOP vote cast in Newton.

Polls and surveys have indicated that Mrs. Heckler will top Martin in Newton, but she cannot roll up a sizeable plurality in the city if the total cast is small.

Only 3260 Republicans turned out in Newton for the primary two years ago. Mrs. Heckler's supporters are hoping to get more than twice that number to the polls next Tuesday.

If they succeed, it will be a big boost to Councillor Heckler's chances of defeating Congressman Martin.

Newton is one of the communities where Mrs. Heckler must make a good showing if she is to win, since Martin is expected to poll a good vote in the Bristol County end of his district.

The size of the Republican vote cast in Newton could be one of the keys to the outcome of the Martin-Heckler contest.

Five candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the councillor district now represented by Mrs. Heckler.

In the order in which their names will appear on the ballot they are John J. Craven, Jr., Paul J. Donahue, Owen Gallagher and Peter A. Kerr, all of Boston, and Charles L. Regan of Wellesley.

Two Republicans vieing for the GOP nomination for the seat Mrs. Heckler is giving up to run for Congress are Walter H. Palmer of Weston and Roger F. Turner of Walpole.

One Democratic House contest will be settled in Newton next Tuesday. Three candidates are seeking two nominations for the House in the fifth Middlesex district.

Representative Irving Fishman of 1547 Beacon St., Newton, is considered virtually certain to achieve Democratic renomination in that district. Battling for the second nomination are Mrs. Claire Arafe of 28 Brierfield Rd., Newton, and Edward H. Pendergast, Jr., of 18 Copley St., Newton.

Representatives Joseph G. Bradley and Paul F. Malloy are unopposed for Democratic renomination in the fourth Middlesex legislative district.

Two candidates are listed on the ballot as seeking the Republican nomination for the State Senate in the Norfolk and Suffolk senatorial district which includes Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton.

They are William A. Lincoln of 340 Hammond St., Newton, and Patrick E. McKenna of Brighton. However, Mr. Lincoln has made no campaign since announcing his candidacy.

Adult Education Center To Have Local Teachers

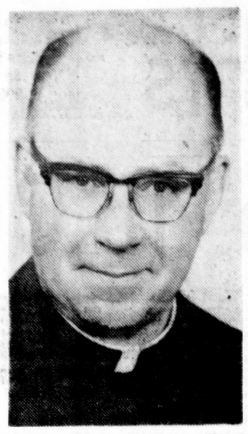

Thomas Ryan, 304 Islington Rd., Auburndale, and Dr. Kenneth Wolf, 84 Leeson lane, Newton Center, have joined the faculty at the Cambridge Center for Adult Education.

Thomas Ryan will be teaching a course called "National and International Affairs," discussing current domestic issues—medicare, the draft debate, the civil rights struggle, the poverty program, and in foreign policy—Vietnam, Communist China, Japan, East Europe and NATO, along with examining how American policy will be affected by the outcomes of the next national elections and presidential race. Mr. Ryan is exceptionally well-qualified to teach this course since he specializes in national and foreign news as an editor for the Boston Globe, having been in the newspaper business for 37 years.

Dr. Wolf will be performing and analyzing selected piano sonatas of Beethoven, exemplifying successive phases of the evolution of the Master's style in his course, "Sonatas of Beethoven." In this series, with live piano music performed by Dr. Wolf, the discussion will center on the way in which technical and stylistic elements are assembled by Beethoven into an aesthetic whole in representative works of his three periods. Dr. Wolf, who teaches Anatomy at Harvard Medical School, has had 15 years experience as a concert pianist and has studied composition with Paul Hindemith at Yale and piano with Schnabel and Goldovsky.

VERY REV. JAMES HILL

Anniversary Day At Seminary Set For Next Sunday

The annual Anniversary Day of the African Mission Fathers of Dedham will be held on the spacious grounds of their Queen of Apostles Seminary in Dedham on Sunday afternoon, September 11th.

The Very Rev. James B. Hill, SMA, supervisor of the Promotion House of the Seminary, announced that the event on Sunday will mark the 20th year of the mission order in Boston and New England.

The several thousands who are expected will be treated on the Queen of Apostles Seminary's beautiful grounds on Common street to a huge open air variety show. The talent will feature star names of the entertainment world—vocalists, musicians, comedians, and dancers.

Children are welcome, and they will enjoy the ponies and the mechanical rides. All ages will have been trying their skill for valuable prizes at the various games and contests. Refreshments of all kinds, including a barbecue dinner, will be available all day.

Admission is free, and free bus transportation will be provided from Dedham Center, Dedham Line, and the Charles River Terminal.

Newton High's Football Season Is Scheduled

Saturday, Nov. 5, at New Bedford, 1:30 p.m.; Friday, Nov. 11, at Waltham, 1:30 p.m.; Thursday, Nov. 24, Brookline, 10:30 a.m.

Reginald Smith is faculty manager of athletics at Newton High, and James Ronayne head football coach.

Sea Scouts In Fall Round-Up Of New Members

Newton Sea Explorers, Ship 13, B.S.A., is conducting a fall round-up. Boys who are 14 to 18 years old are invited to enjoy a program of fun and adventure by joining Ship 13, which is sponsored by the Newton Lions Club.

As a part of the 1966 fall round-up of the Norumbega council, boys are invited to attend any regular meeting of the ship which is held every Friday night from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., at the Sea Explorer building, 958 Watertown street, West Newton.

Information about sea exploring is available from John T. Evans, skipper, 85 Otis street, Newton, LA 7-4638.

The theme for the 1966 fall round-up is "Follow the Rugged Road to Adventure." Special exploring activities planned by Ship 13 for this year include attending in June the Canadian National Sea Explorer regatta in Montreal, in conjunction with visiting Expo. 67, also in Montreal.

Harmonizers Sing So Others May Speak

Kimball R. Garland of 10 Columbus Terr., Newton Highlands, will sing on stage with the Boston Chorus in Symphony Hall, Boston, Saturday, Nov. 10.

The occasion will be the "Parade of Champs," a charity show produced by members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

Ticket reservations for the three-hour production are available at Symphony Hall box office or from any member of SPBESQSA.

Among the several charities that will draw benefit will be the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kans., known as "Speech Town, U.S.A." For that reason, the barber shoppers say with pride, "We sing that they may speak."

Knights -

Invitations will be available from all the officers. Please contact the officers for invitations by September 15.

The following officers will be installed: Grand Knight, Hanford T. Crosby Jr., 842 Chestnut street, Waban, 527-8643; Deputy Grand Knight, Gino I. Angelone, 314 Langley road, Newton Centre, 332-7669; Chancellor, Ralph J. Salvucci, 28 Cummings road, Newton Centre, 332-1437; Recorder, Arthur D. Milano, 296 Winchester street, Newton Highlands, 332-3522; Financial Secretary, Robert L. Herhen, 11 Riverside park, 361-7010; Treasurer, Raymond A. Perry, 1249 Beacon street, Waban, 332-4928; Lecturer, Arthur G. Melville, 245 Cypress street, Newton Centre, 332-0990;

Warden, Eugene D. Drennan, 287 Homer street, Newton Centre, 332-0776; Guard, Manuel S. Godino, 11 Woodhaven road, Waban, 527-2037; Guard, Anthony L. Scaltrito, 63 Grafton street, Newton Centre, 527-2373.

The offices of Advocate and Trustee, due to late resignations, will be elected at the regular business meeting on September 14, and be installed with the other officers.

JOSEPH G. BRADLEY

Re-election Bid By Rep. Bradley

Rep. Joseph G. Bradley, of Newton, is unopposed in his bid for re-election to the House from the fourth Middlesex district.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Bradley stated: "I ask for the support of the voters of this district in order that I may serve another two years in the House of Representatives.

"I feel that my legislative record and my record of service to the community and to the state, has earned for me the privilege of being sent back as your representative in November."

Bradley is currently serving as vice chairman of the Committe on Insurance, vice chairman of the Committee on Low Income Housing, and a member of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs.

In addition to those assignments, Bradley received widespread recognition for his work as the chairman of the Commission on "Potentially Harmful" Drugs. The report of this commission, of which he was the main draftsman, was forwarded to the Federal Drug Administration in Washington. This report coincided closely with the recommendations of Dr. John Goddard, recently appointed director of the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

Rep. Bradley was elected to the House after six years of service on the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Married to the former Jacquelyn Maynard, of Wilmington, Vt., they have seven children and reside at 33 Maple avenue, Newton.

Six Local Youngsters At Audubon Day Camp

Six Newton youngsters are attending the Drumlin Camp in Lincoln, which is one of eight of the Massachusetts Audubon Society's natural history day camps.

They are: David, Diana and Jonathan Levy of Auburndale; Jeffrey Maclure, Peter and Vincent Stanton of Newton, and Neil Husher, Richard Wilson and Katherine Ziegler of Waban.

VA Advises Veterans On Loan Transfer

Massachusetts veterans who have received GI loans for the purchase of homes were reminded today that they remain personally liable on their note and mortgage when they sell their homes if the new buyer merely continues the payments on the GI loan.

William F. Connors, manager of the Veterans Administration Office at Boston advised veterans that liability continues until the loan is paid in full or until veterans are personally released by the VA on the obligation.

"The VA has guaranteed and approved many home loans in the area under our jurisdiction," Connors said. "We have experienced cases where veterans have sold their properties and were led to believe they had no further responsibility for the mortgage debt."

He warned veterans who may be behind in their payments due on GI loans to be very careful before agreeing to offers by strangers to make up their back payments if the veterans will sign contracts.

Connors said that if such a proposition is made, veterans should ask the holder of their mortgages or the Loan Guaranty Division of the VA at Boston for advice on the validity of the offer.

He stressed that the veteran remains personally liable for the payment of his GI loan if it is not paid by someone else. Even though the buyer takes over the mortgage and agrees to make the payments, until the VA provides a written release from liability, the veteran is held responsible.

professor of the School of Education and training associate at the Human Relations Center, Boston University.

Myrtice L. Fuller RN of Natick, director of the school, will present the 1966 Class. Greetings to the graduates will be conveyed by William S. Brines of Wellesley, hospital director.

Awards to outstanding graduates will be presented by Miss Anna Helfer RN of Brookline, president of the Alumnae Association of the School of Nursing, and by Mrs. Winslow H. Adams of Auburndale, president of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association.

A baccalaureate service for the 1966 class will be held on Friday at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls.

The school of nursing admitted its first student in 1888. The hospital received its first patient 80 years ago, in 1886. The fully-accredited hospital is a formal teaching affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine.

Proclamation Honors Patriots

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has designated Sunday, October 23, Hungarian Freedom Fighters Day.

In proclaiming the day, the Mayor explained that the people of Newton were sympathetic toward the efforts of the people of Hungary to free themselves from the chains of communist totalitarianism.

Oct. 23, the Mayor pointed out, will mark the 10th anniversary of the day that the Hungarian people won their freedom, only to lose it later when crushed by the brutal power of the Soviet army.

The proclamation urges all citizens of this city to pay special tribute to "these loyal and brave people."

West Newton Mother Is A Pioneer At Northeastern U.

"Ma Carry," (Mrs. Robert B.) Hall of 41 Berkeley St., West Newton, is pioneering in a new kind of partnership at Northeastern University.

She will be an assistant to the director of programs at Northeastern, where she is also a part-time student in sociology. She will share the post with a Lexington woman, Mrs. Lucia Kingery.

The position is a "model" of the kind of work opportunities many housewives are seeking: one job to be shared by two women who want to work but cannot afford the time for a fulltime job.

Helping to pioneer in this area, Virginia Bullard, director of Northeastern's women's program, opened her assistant's post — previously held by one woman—to Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Kingery. They will split the hours of the job to suit their individual homemaking schedules.

Mrs. Hull, a mother of four, is also active in community organizations. She is secretary of the Newton Community Center Board and a member of the Newton Youth Center Advisory Committee.

In the past she has served as a Girl Scout leader, den mother, vice-president and secretary of two Newton PTAs and of the Newton PTA Council, member of the Republican ward and city committees, chairman of city registration and delegate to the State Republican Convention.

She has also worked as a volunteer at Metropolitan State Hospital, Fernald School and the State Archives Museum.

At Northeastern she will assist in counselling students, planning special events, conferring with faculty and handling administrative duties in the two-year-old Programs for Adult Women.

The programs include credit, non-credit, and graduate courses available on a part-time basis at the university's Burlington and Boston campuses. To accommodate homemakers' schedules, most classes meet once a week during day time hours when children are in school.

Political Highlights

have another opportunity to bid for state-wide office. By that time most of them will have slipped into obscurity.

So it will be do or die politically next Tuesday for a number of prominent public figures, especially on the Democratic side of the fence.

No one realizes this better than the candidates themselves who are pulling out all the stops as they come down the closing stretch of their primary campaigns.

Greatest public attention will be centered Tuesday on the outcome of the battles for the Democratic nominations for Governor, U S. Senator and Attorney General.

Considerable interest also has been aroused by primary fights involving two Congressmen, one a Republican, the other a Democrat.

Mayor John F. Collins apears to be leading ex-Governor Endicott Peabody in a close race for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack is considered virtually certain to gain the Democratic endorsement for Governor.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti is well on his way to becoming the Democratic nominee for Attorney General, with ex-Governor Foster Furcolo second in that contest and former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo third.

For Mayor Collins his campaign for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator has been an uphill, come-from-behind endeavor.

If Collins emerges the winner when the votes are tabulated next Tuesday night — as virtually all the pollsters and experts now predict — he will have won the hard way.

Peabody, who had a commanding lead in the early summer, has played it cool and careful in his efforts to protect that lead.

He has dodged and sidestepped invitations and challenges by Collins to a public debate although when Peabody himself was campaigning for the Governorship in 1962 he repeatedly challenged Governor Volpe to a debate and made Volpe's refusal to debate the big issue of the campaign.

Peabody has conducted a cautious campaign, remaining aloof from combat and controversy to as great a degree as possible, concentrating largely on buttonholing voters, shaking their hands and asking their support.

Collins has made his big gains by presenting his record as Boston's Mayor, by speaking out forcefully on controversial questions and by taking firm stands on hard issues even though he didn't please everybody when he did so.

He aroused some hostility and criticism when he served notice that he would not tolerate sit-ins after business hours at Boston City Hall and when he opposed civil disobedience as a means of attaining Democratic objectives.

But Collins is one who says what he thinks and does what he believes is right, campaign or no campaign.

While he is being criticized in some quarters for his assertion that a citizen cannot be free to decide which laws he will obey and which he will defy, the fact is that Collins has done more to improve conditions in the predominantly Negro sections of his city than any other Mayor in the United States.

Unlike Collins, Peabody has remained silent on such issues as civil disobedience rather than take a chance of rocking the boat.

The Collins-Peabody contest is the closest of all the big state-wide races and is the one which will be watched most carefully Tuesday night. But if the polls and surveys are right, Collins is now in the lead and is coming down to the wire in a blazing finish.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York obviously has tried to give former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell some quiet, behind-the-scenes help in his fight with former Attorney General McCormack for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

A recording of a tribute paid by Bobby Kennedy to O'Donnell at a recent fund-raising dinner in New York has been played on the radio but isn't quite clear enough to make a major impact.

A public relations man also was sent in from New York to try to get O'Donnell's campaign into high gear.

While O'Donnell seemingly has gained some ground in the last 10 days or two weeks, McCormack still has a very comfortable lead and is too far out to be overtaken.

O'Donnell has been unable to overcome the handicap that his name is not well known to the rank and file of voters in Massachusetts.

Some people realize that he was an aide to the late President Kennedy. This, of course, is O'Donnell's big selling point. But most persons don't relate him to the late President to the extent that they would vote for him.

O'Donnell has made a hard, determined fight, but the polls indicate that it was a hopeless battle from the time it started.

Bellotti Seen Winning Attorney General Race

Francis X. Bellotti will win the democratic nomination for Attorney General by a very decisive margin over ex-Governor Foster Furcolo.

Furcolo is attempting to mount an 11th hour drive, but it is a case of too little too late.

Bellotti is much too far ahead for Furcolo to be able to catch him.

Furcolo's big problem has been that he was unable to raise the funds to finance the kind of campaign it was necessary for him to wage in order to have a real chance of winning.

He also has been hurt by the fact that a number of officials who served in his administration when he was Governor were indicted.

The fact that most of them were cleared when they were tried in court apparently has not softened the impact of the original indictments on Furcolo's once potent ability to win voter support.

This is unfair, but it is a hard political fact which is reflected in the poll returns.

Former Attorney General DeGiacomo, who has not made the hard-hitting campaign he was expected to wage, is running a poor third in the Democratic Attorney General race.

Thomas Boylston Adams is also a negligible factor in the Senate contest.

Adams never had any prospect of winning, but he might have rolled up a creditable test vote on the basis of his total if he had sought a pro-opposition to the war in Vietnam.

Instead, he has tried to project himself as a candidate with a chance of achieving nomination and election which, of course, he is not.

Democratic leaders already are privately assessing the potential strength of a Democratic State ticket which would be headed by Collins, McCormack and Bellotti. They have concluded that it would be a pretty potent combination.

Most Democratic chieftains believe, incidentally, that Collins, who has demonstrated he can wage a tremendous campaign, would be a greater asset and help to their State ticket than would Peabody.

Pundits Puzzled By McGuire-Connolly Race

The political pundits are somewhat puzzled by the struggle between Joseph F. McGuire of Worcester and automobile dealer Herbert L. Connolly of Newton for the Democratic nomination for Liteutenant Governor.

Connolly is believed to have the edge in the Greater Boston area, while McGuire is extremely strong in central Massachusetts.

An interesting fight for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor is being waged between State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko of Salem and Representative James H. Kelly of Jamaica Plain.

Kelly, a veteran member of the House of Representatives who has been getting strong support from many of his Democratic colleagues, has made a vigorous and intensive campaign and is considered to have a real chance of capturing the nomination.

The Kelly-Buczko contest probably should be rated as a tossup.

At least one candidate endorsed by the Democratic State Convention has been toppled and defeated for nomination in each of the last seven primaries. That probably will prove to be true again next Tuesday.

If past history repeats itself, there also will be some surprises and some upsets when the returns are counted Tuesday night.

Martin-Heckler Race Tops Republican List

The clash between veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin and Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler is the only contest which will generate any major excitement in the Republican primary on Tuesday.

Present indications are that this may prove to be a close race and that the candidate who does the best job of getting his or her supporters to the polls next Tuesday will win.

Surveys of voter sentiment indicate that Councillor Heckler is leading Congresman Martin in Newton, Wellesley, Needham and Westwood but Martin is out front in the lower end of his district in Bristol County.

Councillor Heckler had had a difficult problem in attempting to attract public attention to her contest with Martin and make the voters understand the basic issues involved without launching what might be construed as an attack on Martin.

Martin, who will be 82 years old in November, is feeble and is no longer able to give the people of his district energetic and vigorous representation. He was not recorded on about half the rollcalls and many of the major issues last year.

In a sense it is a case of history repeating itself because in 1924 Martin ran against an 83-year-old Congressman in the Republican primary and campaigned against him on the issue that he was too old, that he could not give his district the service it should get and that he should step aside for a younger man.

Now Martin, who has been in Congress for 42 years, has been making written appeals to the voters of his district to give him one more term.

If there is a good turnout of Republicans in that district Tuesday, Councillor Heckler should win. If the vote is small, particularly in Newton, Needham, Wellesley and Westwood, Martin may gain renomination.

The Republicans may be hard pressed to hold Martin's seat in the November election if he survives Tuesday's GOP primary and gains renomination.

The issues of his age, his inability to provide vigorous representation, his record of absenteeism last year and the fact that he was not recorded on many important matters, will count heavily against him when a big vote is cast in the November election.

Patrick H. Harrington, chairman of the Bristol County Commissioners, a war hero and an attractive public figure, probably will win the Democratic nomination in the Martin district.

Harrington would be a much stronger candidate against Martin than has been Edward F. Doolan, Martin's customary opponent whom the aging Congressman has defeated six or seven time.

Doolan and Manuel J. Rodrigues of Stoughton also are seeking the Democratic nomination in the Martin district, but Harrington is expected to capture it. If he does and Martin is renominated, the Republicans will have something to worry about.

Another well known Congressman being challenged in Tuesday's primary is Democratic Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge.

O'Neill, however, should prevail easily over former State Public Works Commissioner Jack P. Ricciardi of Wellesley and Samuel A. Cammarata of Somerville.

Ricciardi is much better known than Cammarata, but he resides in Martin's district, not in O'Neill's. Why he decided to run against O'Neill, who is one of the most popular Congressmen in Massachusetts, is a bit of a mystery.

Dr. Cook Has Good Advice On Leaves Disposal

Some pertinent remarks, timed as the annual chore of getting rid of fallen leaves faces residents of the city, are issued by Health Commissioner Fale H. Coo, M.C., as follows:

"Leaves are beginning to fall. The smell of burning leaves brings pleasant memories to many. But that same smoke can choke the asthmatic and may even be lethal to the victim of emphysema.

"That is why the City of Newton is progressing as rapidly as possible toward the day when all leaves will be either composted or incinerated under conditions of complete and hence smokeless combustion.

"Each individual citizen can help in this wey: Secure from any one of the Street Department Division Headquarters (Elliot Street, Newton Highlands; Auburndale Avenue, West Newton; Crafts Street, Newtonville) large burlap bags at 20 cents each. Rake all leaves (no trash, please) into these bags, tie the tops, and put out with the weekly trash for collection. The bags will be emptied and returned to you with your trash cans, ready to use again.

"Speaking of smoke, one word may be added: Black smoke coming from any chimney is a sign of incomplete, wasteful, dangerous combustion. This winter check your furnace flue. If smoke is seen when your burner ignites be sure to have your furnace checked right away. The cooperation of each citizen will make and keep Newton's air pure and healthy."

"We in the Democratic Party consider him a tremendous asset."

Senator Edward M. Kennedy

"In his seven years in office, Mayor Collins has changed the face of Boston. More than that, his efforts have given a new pace to Boston and a new sense of confidence in this grand old city. For he has not only provided honest and efficient government, which is so important, he has sought out new ideas and the ablest experts and backed them up and taken his programs to the people . . .

"We have been extremely fortunate to have a man like him as our Mayor. People throughout the Commonwealth admire what he has done in Boston. Certainly we in the Democratic Party consider him a tremendous asset."

Young Local Skippers Sail Winning Craft

Three local lads, Biff Wallack of Newton Centre, Mike Schwartz of Newtonville and Freddy Kaye of Newton Highlands, saw to it that the sailing team of Camp Manitou in Oakland, Me., remained undefeated this season.

They skippered winning sloops in the East Lake and inter-camp invitational regattas.

The racing over, the boys proudly presented the Paul Revere bowl and silver tray trophies to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marcus of Newton, the camp directors.

Dr. Michael Sheff of West Newton, is a co-director of the sailing program at the camp.

Rep. Malloy Is Not Opposed In Primary Voting

Rep. Paul F. Malloy, of 66 Wildwood ave., Newtonville, is unopposed for the Democratic re-nomination for the House from the fourth Middlesex district, in next Tuesday's primary. The district includes Newton wards 1, 2, and 3 and ward 6 of Waltham.

Elected to the House for his first term two years ago, Malloy, an attorney, is clerk of the Legislative Committee on Banks and Banking. This committee studied and recommended for passage the Instalment Sales Act, which Rep. Malloy said was "called by the newspapers the most vital piece of consumer legislation passed by the General Court in the past two years."

In June, Rep. Malloy was named to the newly-formed study group on the laws relative to Eminent Domain proceedings. He stated "that with ever-increasing land takings for public uses and urban redevelopment reaching into most communities of the Commonwealth, the time has already passed for ensuring adequate compensation and protection to owners and tenants affected by land takings.

"When re-elected," Malloy said, "I pledge my continued support for reform in the fields of civil rights, mental health, education, civil service, gradual dissolution of county government within our Commonwealth, and state control of local public welfare."

Rep. Malloy is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, attended Suffolk University, and received his law degree from Portia Law School. He is a practicing lawyer at 259 Walnut Street, Newtonville, and 50 State Street, Boston.

Malloy was the 1966 recipient of the "Newton's Outstanding Young Man of the Year" Award, given by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce. In June, he was recipient of the Public Service Award of the Senior Citizens and Associates of America, "in recognition of his faithful and loyal service to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and support of legislation designed to make life a little more pleasant for our retired elders in the twilight of their lives."

He also received the Citation of the Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO, on behalf of the working men and women of Massachusetts, for his labor voting record for the years 1965-1966.

Malloy is a member, Newton Democratic City Committee; member, Ward 3, Newton Democratic Committee; member, Newton Young Democrats Club; committee member, 1965 Mayor's Charity Festival; sponsor, Newton North Little League; member, Newton Chamber of Commerce; member, Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce; social member, Italian American War Veterans, Post 40 and Post 50; member, Knights of Columbus; member, B.P.O. Elks; member, Waltham Loyal Order of Moose; member, Saint Bernard's Holy Name Society; member, Massachusetts Bar Association.

Rep. Malloy is married to the former Sally Quinn of Newtonville. They have two children and reside at 66 Wildwood ave., Newtonville.

Newton Women Named To Key Posts In Group

Fourteen Newton women were named to key posts according to an announcement by Mrs. R. Sheldon Stein, president of Brookline Hospital Women's Auxiliary at the group's first executive board meeting held last week at the hospital.

The following committee chairmen were named: Mrs. Alan Ferestien, chairman of membership; Mrs. Arthur Baker, chairman of the retention committee; Mrs. Barney Fagelman and Mrs. Herbert Starr, chairmen of hospital personnel; Mrs. Irving Busny and Mrs. S. L. Schlager, chairman of Auxiliary hospitality; Mrs. James V. Sidell, chairman of public relations; Mrs. Albert A. Miller, chairman of by-laws; Mrs. Albert A. Miller, Mrs. Irving Albertson, Mrs. Lawrence Kvitka, Mrs. Phillip Smith and Mrs. James V. Sidell, chairmen of finance and auditing; Mrs. Robert LeVine and Mrs. Robert Kessler, chairmen of the mailing committee; Mrs. Frank Brezniak, Mrs. Rubin Epstein, Mrs. Manuel Rosenfield, Mrs. Jules Seletz and Mrs. James V. Sidell, chairman of the nominating committee.

Michael A. Laven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack F. Laven, 77 Wood End Rd., Newton Highlands, and Jeffrey Elson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elson, 52 Byfield Rd., Waban, have entered Wesleyan University as freshmen. Laven prepared for College at Newton South High School, where he won letters in football and wrestling. Elson, a Newton High School graduate, won letters there in track and rifle. He was also a representative of the school government and a member of the band and choir.

Graduate Nurse 6-Week Seminar At N-W Hospital

Graduate nurses can learn about a wide range of professional topics beginning Tuesday evening, September 20, when Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross and Newton-Wellesley Hospital open a six-week seminar.

The public service programs will be held from 8 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. in Usen Auditorium, at the 260-bed teaching hospital. While the first session will be held on a Tuesday evening, the following five will be held on successive Monday evenings.

Any graduate nurse from Newton or Wellesley is invited to attend.

The seminar represents a pilot project in the two communities. According to Mr. Edward C. Michaud, chapter chairman of Newton Red Cross, similar continuing education programs sponsored by the Red Cross have received enthusiastic response.

Outstanding area physicians and nurses have agreed to describe new developments in the health care field, and to explore community health problems and needs.

The initial meeting will focus upon the role of hormones in sterility, infertility and menopause. The speaker will be R. Leonard White, M.D. of Weston, Chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Programs to follow will focus upon diagnosis and treatment of cancer, new trends in nursing, community health problems, current first aid concepts and mental health.

Information about the seminar is available from the Newton Red Cross Chapter.

United Fund Names Taplin New Chairman

John F. Taplin of 15 Sewall St., West Newton, will be Newton's community chairman in this fall's Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign, it was announced by Cameron S. Thompson, chairman of the Bay Area Division.

Mr. Taplin, chairman of the board of Bellofram Corporation, Burlington, was follow-up chairman in Newton during last year's fund drive. He will be assisted in the campaign by his wife, Virginia.

A graduate of M.I.T., Mr. Taplin served as a technical aid in the Office of Scientific Research in Washington during W.W. II. He is a member of the Society of Mechanical Engineers, and is the author of a textbook on "Automatic Regulation."

Mr. Taplin is also a co-operator of the Hillside School, a trustee of the Unitarian Church in Newton, chairman of finance of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, a member of the National Fluid Power Group, and a director of Walter Channing, Inc.

He has served as a cub master for the Cub Scouts of Newton, sharers in the MB-UF.

Goal for the 1966-67 Mass. Bay United Fund campaign has been announced as $12,750,000. The campaign, which supports 340 health, welfare and youth-related agencies, will be conducted in 64 cities and towns in the Mass. Bay area.

MAYOR JOHN F. COLLINS

Collins In Closing Drive For Democratic Senate Nomination

Mayor John F. Collins, campaigning at top speed this week for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator, spoke out on the issues of the rising cost of living, the necessity for law and order and the pressing problems of the urban crisis.

Newspaper polls and surveys have shown Collins to be gaining ground and making a strong finish, and virtually all the political experts are picking him to win in Tuesday's primary.

In discussing both the rising cost of living and the mounting interest rates charged persons seeking to borrow money, Mayor Collins pledged that if he is elected to the Senate he will be "as careful in protecting the pocketbooks of the people of Massachusetts as I have been in watching over the tax dollars of the citizens of Boston."

Collins has urged the federal government to broaden its investigation into rising food prices and has promised to work for "an orderly and reasonable reduction in interest rates for the sake of a sound economy, to curb inflation, to prevent recession and to safeguard the family budget."

In his speeches on law and order, the Boston Mayor declared that civil rights and law and order are mutually compatible. He added "I hope the day never comes when we have to choose between the two, for then we shall have neither", he asserted. "Unfortunately, a few people seem to believe that civil rights can only be attained through attack on law and order," the Mayor observed.

"I am the first to approve dissent and debate — but I must reject civil disobedience as a means of attaining democratic objectives," Collins stated.

The Mayor said that if each person "is free to decide which laws he will obey and which he will defy — then the result can only be anarchy, the end of al lfreedom and the very death of democracy."

"I also reject," Collins continued, "the George Rockwells and the Stokely Carmichaels of this nation. I repudiate their doctrine of power, white and black. These men are dangerous agitators, each of them a threat to white and Negro alike. Anyone who speaks in terms of 'power' seeks only to foment racial strife, to foster violence and cruelty and to promote man's inhumanity to man."

Collins also called for an end to "the so-called peace marches and demonstrations that we have witnessed during the debate over Viet Nam." He said the marches and demonstrations have "contributed nothing to this important debate," and added. "All they do is stiffen the resolve of the enemy while we seek to bring them to the conference table."

Collins asked the demonstrators and marchers to consider that their demonstrations give aid and comfort to the enemy, distress to the vast majority of Americans and bring discouragement to our men who are fighting in Viet Nam for what they believe are valid reasons.

Turning to the urban crisis which he states affects Massachusetts most seriously, Mayor Collins said, the cities "have the problems and the federal government has the resources. The solution lies in moving massive federal resources to the cities to correct the situation."

Collins noted that 84 per cent of the Commonwealth's population live in urban or urbanized areas and are affected to a great degree by the problems of the urban crisis which he listed as poverty, slum conditions, education, traffic, mass transportation, water pollution, housing, crime and the problems of youth, of the elderly, the mentally ill and the mentally retarded.

Recreation Area Contract To Newton Firm

A $297,600 contract for construction of the Nonantum athletic and recreational area on the Newton-Brighton line, was awarded by the Metropolitan District Commission to L. Coletti & Sons, Inc., of Newton.

The second lowest bidder was Gil-Bern Construction Corporation of Canton with a bid of $314,185.

M.D.C. Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr., said the new facility, on the bank of the Charles River, will supplement the newly completed $460,000 skating rink and service building scheduled to open in November.

The new recreational area will include an illuminated softball and Little League field and a combination football and soccer field. The facilities are scheduled for completion for the 1967 season.

Also to be installed are a 30-foot, double boat-launching ramp and a parking area for 86 vehicles, being provided by the State Public Access Board, at an estimated cost of $40,000.

Original Boys In Reunion At Camp Manitou

Eleven of the original 53 campers at Camp Manitou in Oakland, Me., gathered there recently for a 20-year reunion.

They were among the charter campers who, in 1947, with its founders, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marcus of Newton, established the camp, whose enrollment has grown to 150, principally from the Newton area.

Among those on hand for the festivities—many wearing their original camp uniforms were Robert Danziger, Steven Dephoure, Richard Diutsh, Mitchell Leven and David Slater, all of Newton.

There to greet them were "Aunt Sis" and "Uncle Henry" Marcus and associate directors Saul Nechtem and Myles Marcus.

Firm Plays Role In Health Tests Set By US Army

A Watertown medical electronics firm is playing a vital role in a series of Army war games high in the Colorado Rockies being conducted in an attempt to determine the cause of mountain sickness.

Important to the medical research study of troops on Mt. Evans, Colorado, some 14,000 feet above sea level, is a blood gas analyzer developed and manufactured by Instrumentation Laboratory Inc.

Through a continuing program of analyses of ultra micro samples of blood taken from the soldiers a team of Army doctors and medical technicians will be trying to determine if the acid base balance of an individual is responsible for causing high altitude sickness.

Prior to the actual field situation, eight members of the medical team, part of the U. S. Army's Institute of Envoronmental Medicine stationed at the Army Laboratories at Natick, Mass., were taught the fundamentals of operation of the IL Blood Gas Analyzer at the Watertown plant.

Following the training seminar, the research team traveled to Fort Bragg, N. C., where blood analyses were made on each of the 40 "special forces" troops at close to sea level conditions.

The medical team then left for Colorado Springs to begin the trek up the rugged mountain by truck ahead of the troops so that its members could be acclimated to the drastic altitude change before testing the soldiers.

Also of concern to the medical research group will be determinations of oxygen and carbon dioxide content in the blood of the soldiers, which will also be provided by the IL Blood Gas Analyzer.

With the results of the tests, the Army hopes to ultimately find a means of treatment and cure of the disease which has plagued fighting men for many years.

Even in altitudes much lower than the 14,000 feet at which the research group will be working altitude has a decided effect on an individual, causing listlessness and making it difficult to work.

At higher altitudes, mountain sickness, marked by headache, nausea and vomiting, renders a person almost completely useless until becoming accustomed to breathing the thin air around him.

Obviously, altitude sickness becomes even more increasingly serious in a combat situation — thus the Army's interest.

Finding a treatment and cure for altitude sickness will prove a valuable asset to our fighting men as well as play an important part in making it possible for persons to live more comfortably in high altitude environments.

J. E. Steinberg Display Head For Filene's

Services for Julius E. Steinberg, 57, of 77 Athelstane Rd., Newton Centre, display director of Filene's Boston and branch stores, were held Monday, Sept. 5, in Brookline.

Mr. Steinberg died unexpectedly Sept. 3 while playing golf at Blue Hills Country Club, Canton.

A native of Chelsea, he joined Filene's in 1927 as a stock boy, and worked his way up to the point at which he was nationally known in the display-design field.

He was the first president of Filene's Independent Employes Union, and president of Filene's Credit Union. He was also former chairman of the Display Directors Group of the Associated Merchandising Corporation.

He was a graduate of Chelsea High School, and attended the New School of Design and the School of Practical Art in Boston, also Fitchburg State College. In recent years he lectured on design-display at Lesley College, Chamberlain School of Retailing, Northeastern University, and the School of the Museum of Fine Arts.

Devoted to charitable causes, he was the former chairman of the Red Cross, Red Feather and United Fund Display Committee. He was a member of the Greater Boston Public Relations Committee of Combined Jewish Philanthropies, Boston Chamber of Commerce, National Society of Interior Decorators and Industrial Designers, National Association of Display Industries, Benton Lodge of Masons, Blue Hills Country Club, and Temple Emanuel of Newton and its brotherhood.

As a young man, Steinberg placed highly in the national 10,000 meter walking championship and was former senior golf champion at Blue Hills Country Club.

A free-lance cartoonist, he contributed to a number of newspapers in Chelsea, New York and Boston.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Bertha (Kaufman) Steinberg; two daughters, Mrs. Annmarilyn Goldkrand and Susan Gayle Steinberg, both of Newton Centre, and a sister, Ruth Steinberg of Brookline.

Roberta Barbara Marks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Marks, 47 Broken Tree Rd., Newton Centre, and Nancy Jean Gilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Milton M. Gilson, 265 Jackson St., Newton Centre, both in their senior year at Wheaton College, Norton, were named to the Dean's List for the first semester of the 1966-67 school year. Also named was Linda Marilyn Winn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Winn, 92 Deborah Rd., Newton Centre, who is in her junior year. All three girls prepared for college at Newton South High School.

DANCING SHOULD BE A PART OF EVERY CHILD'S EDUCATION

Gloria Castano To Resume Fall Dancing Classes

Sidney Hill Country Club announces its third season of Creative Dance for Children, age three to twelve, as Miss Gloria Castano resumes her fall dancing classes on September 13th.

Miss Castano has studied with Martha Graham, Merce Cunningham, Anna Sokolow, and Ted Shawn as well as at he Dance Circle of Boston and the Boston Conservatory.

She has performed with The Dancemakers and has traveled extensively through Europe and the United States as a performer.

For several seasons, she has attended the Children's Laboratory at Connecticut College. She also continues her work with the YW-YMHA, New York, for the Creative Teaching of Dance to Children.

Modern dance technique, ethnic dance and Labanotation are included in the program. Labanotation is now a universally accepted form of written dance notation devised by Rudolph Laban in Germany in the 1920's.

These written symbols of movement, in time structure, are used not only in every field of dance but in any instance where movement may be recorded from ballet to swimming, to even, shaking hands.

Old works choreographed by the masters can now be preserved accurately and used by the more advanced students interested in composition and choreography.

Miss Castano's classes begin on September 13th. For information phone 491-2147. Non-members are welcome.

Studies Completed By First N.U.'s Rehabilitation Class

Northeastern University's rehabilitation administration program is the only one of its kind in the nation, according to Dr. Reuben J. Margolin of 28 Halcyon Rd., Newton Centre, chairman of the Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education, which sponsors the course.

The first class working toward a master's degree in rehabilitation administration has completed its studies, and its 22 members will officially receive their degrees next June. Their work in the program ended this month, however.

The master's program, Dr. Margolin explained, is designed to offer training in all pertinent aspects of rehabilitation.

"Until now," he said, "universities have offered only specialized programs in particular aspects of rehabilitation. As a result, there is currently an acute shortage of people able to manage entire rehabilitation programs, including the growing number of federally-sponsored projects such as sheltered workshops and rehabilitation centers."

Dr. Alan B. Sostek of 28 Turner Ter., Newton, coordinator of the rehabilitation administration program, said that in addition to receiving medical rehabilitation training, students in the program are also trained in group dynamics, organization and administration theory, state and federal financial management and public and community relations.

"Not only does our program inpart knowledge," Dr. Sostek remarked, "but it also increases the sensitivity and understanding of the students."

A rehabilitation administrator trained at Northeastern will assume leadership positions in hospital rehabilitation programs, state and federal rehabilitation organizations, sheltered workshops, rehabilitation centers and university rehabilitation programs, Dr. Margolin said.

"Their job," he added, "is to administer organizations which assist clients in returning to productive employment commensurate with their abilities and disabilities.

"Beyond that," he continued, "they'll be responsible for rehabilitating their clients for 'total living' — helping the clients adjust to everyday living despite their disabilities."

The rehabilitation clients, Dr. Margolin explained, include physically and mentally handicapped, disabled welfare recipients, juvenile delinquents, criminals, narcotics addicts and alcoholics.

The rehabilitation administrator, in running a program to help such persons, is responsible for general administration, finances, personnel, recruitment, program development, social services and medical rehabilitation.

Dr. Margolin reported there is an enrollment of 25 fulltime students in the program for this academic year, and nearly 50 part-time students.

About a thirl of the fulltime students come to the program without any experience, and they will take two years to earn their master's. They will spend nine months in inhospitals, clinics and rehabilitation centers concentrating in areas that particularly interest them.

The other members of the class have had experience in various phases of social work, law, psychology or education, and will take a year of classroom work to earn their degrees.

Northeastern's Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education, now a year old, views its rehabilitation administration program and rehabilitation research institute as just the start of a number of new academic programs.

Starting this fall is a master's degree program for teachers of the emotionally disturbed and master's and bachelor's degree programs for speech and hearing specialists. Contemplated are new programs leading to doctoral degrees and more master's and bachelor's programs.

Two Breaks

There were two breaks reported to Newton police over the holiday weekend, and both yielded an assortment of sterling silverware to the thieves.

At the home of Abraham Wilson, 269 Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, the intruders jimmied a door and got away with a silver service for 12. Also included in the loot was a mink stole, a pair of diamond earrings and two cases of whiskey.

It was reported by Stanley Epstein, 171 Dorset road, Waban, that silverware was taken from his home by thieves who jimmied a cellar door.

Attorney John J. Craven Making Strong Drive For Gov's. Council

Attorney John J. Craven, Jr., of Hyde Park this week received the endorsements of a number of Democratic leaders as he neared the close of a vigorous drive for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the second councillor district.

He is seeking the seat in the Governor's Council which Councillor Margaret M. Heckler is giving up in order to run for Congress.

Craven is the son of former Representative John J. Craven and City Councilwoman Katherine Craven, both of whom were formerly associated with Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the late President.

Regarded as one of the most promising young men in the Democratic party, Craven is a graduate of the Roxbury Latin School, Harvard College and the Portia Law School. He has been admitted to practice before both the State and Federal Bars.

A veteran, Craven served in the 11th Armored Cavalry. A number of young men who served with him are working energetically in his campaign.

Craven is campaigning in the big second councillor district which extends from Newton to Brockton and includes Dedham, Needham, Norwood, Canton, Sharon, Walpole, Medfield, Foxboro, Dover, Westwood, and the Roslindale section of Ward 18 Boston.

"I am deeply grateful for the response to my candidacy during the past several weeks, when I have visited the different sections of this big district and for the many promises of support from Democratic voters," Craven declared.

"My promise to these people is that I will fulfill in every respect the confidence they place in me," he said.

"If I am nominated by the Democratic voters next Tuesday, I am confident that I can win back for the Democratic party the seat in the Governor's Council which is now held by a Republican," Craven asserted.

"If I am elected in November, it will be my purpose and objective to provide dedicated, honorable and energetic service for the people of the second councillor district," Attorney Craven stated.

While the powers of the Executive Council were curtailed two years ago, it still performs many important functions and offers many opportunities for public service. I intend as Governor's Councillor to be of the greatest possible service to the people of the second councillor district if they elect me to serve them as their Councillor," Craven concluded.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

Pray one for another. —(James 5:16)

When those near and dear to us are unhappy or unsuccessful, we may long to help them in every way we can. However, first we should pray for guidance and good judgment so that our help is as effective as we want it to be. Our prayers quicken the Spirit of Christ within them. Our prayers quicken in us the faith that Christ is guiding them in the way of their highest good.

- Stop when School Bus stops
- The license to drive is a privilege, not a right. Honor it.
- Set a good example to your children and other young people.
- Install and use approved safety equipment at all times
- Start your trip in plenty of time to avoid the big rush!
- Signal to other drivers, give them ample time to act
- Remember, hand signals give you a double margin of safety!

- Carry emergency warning flares and lighting equipment
- Heed the tips of organizations such as National Safety Counci American Automobile Assoc. and Insurance Companies
- Plan to enjoy driving for a long time. Drive Safely!
- Obey traffic and road signs. They are for your protection!
- Keep your car in good mechanical shape. Maintenance pays!
- Never drive when below-par, over-tired, not alert

- Watch children on bicycles
- Anticipate, be on guard for other drivers' wrong moves
- Keep both hands on the wheel, eyes faithfully on the road
- Keep within the posted speed-limit. Remember, speed kills!
- Observe the "Golden Rule." Treat the other guy like yourself!
- Be especially watchful for youngsters darting into traffic

Miss Eleanor O'Leary Wed To Mr. Alfred Bornemann

Miss Eleanor Anne O'Leary of 70 Waban Hill road, Chestnut Hill, became the bride of Mr. Alfred Bornemann of Reading, Pa., at a recent single ring ceremony in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill.

(Jeffries Photo)

MRS. A. BORNEMANN

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. O'Leary of 70 Waban Hill road, Chestnut Hill. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Irma Bornemann of Reading, Pa., and the late Albert Bornemann.

Rev. Lawrence Ryan, S.J., was the officiating clergyman, and a reception followed at the Officers' Club, Hanscom Air Force Base. The Papal Blessing was bestowed upon the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie fashioned with an empire waist and a chapel-length train. Embroidered Swiss appliques adorned the sleeves and bodice of the gown.

Her fingertip veil was caught to a pillbox headpiece which had matching Swiss appliques, and she carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Mrs. Thomas Howe of Virginia Beach, Va., was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Lt. (j.g.) Edna Tierney of Cambridge, Lt. (j.g.) Margie Stupak of Allentown, Pa., Miss Rita Rosenbower of Brighton, and Mrs. John McNiff of Boston. Little Mary Ellen Howe, niece of the bride, of Virginia Beach, Va., acted as flower girl with Patrice Anne Molloy of Ohio.

Lt. Michael Willsey, U.S.N., served as best man, and ushers included Mr. Carl Thomas Howe, U.S.N., of Virginia Beach, Lt. Paul Liardi, U.S.N., of Newport, R.I., Lt. Cmdr. Daniel J. Howe, U.S.N.R., of New York, and Lt. (j.g) Thomas Rygh, U.S.N., of Virginia Beach. Young Patrick Daniel Howe, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

After returning from a wedding trip to Majorca, Spain, Mr. and Mrs. Bornemann took up residence in Portsmouth, Va.

The bride is a graduate of Mount Alvernia Academy and Boston College School of Nursing. Her husband graduated from Pennsylvania State University.

Miss Feinberg Married To Mr. Silverstein

The marriage of Miss Illene Joy Feinberg, daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Feinberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., to Michael Silverstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Silverstein of 40 West Gate road, Newton Centre, took place recently at Temple Mishkan Teflia, here.

Following the double-ring ceremony, there was a reception at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

Given in marriage by Mr. Sam Beller of New Brooklyn, N.Y., the bride wore an off-white gown of peau de soie. A becoming headpiece held in place her illusion veil. Her flowers were orchids.

Miss Barbara Silverstein of Newton Centre, sister-in-law o fthe bride, was honor maid. Miss Susan Drucker of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the other attendant.

Neil Feinberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., served as best man.

After a trip to Bermuda, the couple will live on the West Coast.

The bride, a graduate of Midwood High School and City College, has been an IBM supervisor for M. Rubin and Sons New York.

Mr. Silverstein is a graduate of Newton High School and Burdett College. He is now a salesman.

Officers Inspect DAV Convention Sites

State Commander J. Edward Theriault of Newton, accompanied by other officers, including John E. Bouchard and Margaret G. Sharron, S.V.C., of Newton Chapter 23 Auxiliary, visited Northampton and the Chicopee areas to look over sites for the 1966-67 state convention of Disabled American Veterans.

At Star Island

Mrs. William Ripley of 83 Pleasant St., Newton Centre, was one of 225 registrants at Star Island, off Portsmouth, N. H., for the second week of the Unitarian - Universalist Life-on-a-Star Conference for families and individuals.

PLAN 'CELEBRITIES NIGHT' — Shown at recent initial meeting of leaders for 17th annual Celebrities Night for benefit of Jewish Memorial Hospital to be held in December are, left to right, James Krigman, public relations, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Samuel Andelman, program book chairman, Newton; Miss Bess Kessler, program book chairman, Newton; and George Roberts, general chairman, Newton.

Miss Linda Sue Shaprio Wed To Mr. Arnold Lewis Tarmy

Temple Reyim in Newton was the setting for the recent marriage of Linda Sue Shapiro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shapiro of Waban, and Mr. Arnold Lewis Tarmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Tarmy of Chestnut Hill.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Philip Kieval, assisted by Mr. Howard Shapiro, a student-rabbi, who is the brother of the bride.

Mrs. Marilyn Myers, sister of the groom, was matron of honor and Miss Deborah Shapiro, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Eileen Shapiro and Miss Lois Bernstein.

Mr. Arnold Myers, brother-in-law of the groom, was the best man. Ushers were Richard Winer, Kenneth Rudnick, Ralph Katz, Leonard Katz, Howard Davis and Roderick Gilbert.

A graduate of Newton High School and the University of Massachusetts, the bride will teach mathematics in the Natick school system.

The program is a graduate of Newton South High School, attended M.I.T., and is presently a member of the class of 1967 at Boston University, where he is majoring in engineering management.

Following a trip to Bermuda and New York, the couple will reside in Framingham.

MRS. ARNOLD TARMY

Design Expert To Be Newton Kiwanis Guest

Newton Kiwanis President Robert Tennant, and Program Chairman Sherm Daniels, announce that on Sept. 14, a regular luncheon meeting will be held at Vallee's Steak House featuring a very special program of immediate interest to most business men.

Program chairman for the day, Gene Taucher, will introduce guest speaker, Joseph Selame, corporate design consultant. Mr. Selame's Newton based firm is noted in the New England area for trademarks and identity programs established for companies such as Stop & Shop, Inc., Channel Seven-T.V., Brigham's, Inc., and many industrial firms. Recently the Boston Globe described Selame as "a designer with a deft touch."

A comprehensive slide talk will describe the relationship between symbols, corporate colors and identity systems. Selame will put forth his contention that every business, even if it consists of one man, has a company image, for better or worse.

All members and invited guests are welcome.

David Young of Newton Highlands, a recent graduate of Northeast Institute of Industrial Technology, Boston, has been placed with the Kennet Corporation, Needham, where he is working as an engineering draftsman.

Teachers Exchange Vows; Living In Shrewsbury

Our Lady of the Angels Church in Worcester was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss Anne E. Kelly to John J. Hartnett.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kelly of Worcester and Mrs. John P. Hartnett of 1 Raeburn terrace, Newton Highlands, and the late Mr. Hartnett are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Gerald Dion officiated at the 11 o'clock nuptial at which two rings were exchanged. The Yankee Drummer Inn was the scene of the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of re-embroidered silk organza appliqued with Venice lace daisies and styled with an A-line skirt and a watteau train.

A becoming band made of similar appliqued lace held in place her imported English illusion veil. She carried a cascade of Alba lilies, ivy and stephaotis.

The maid of honor was Miss Sara A. O'Reilly of Worcester. Miss Mary M. Rogers, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. John H. Koliss, both of Worcester, were bridesmaids.

Paul J. Hartnett of Norwood, served as best man for his brother. Ushering were John R. Kelly of Worcester, Robert P. McDonough of Medford and Charles J. Ruma of Pennsylvania.

Florida was the honeymoon destination of the couple, who are now living in Shrewsbury.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from the University of Massachusetts. Mrs. Hartnett is teaching in West Boylston High School, while her groom is a teacher-coach in the Marlboro schools.

Louise E. Swartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Swartz, 91 Littlefield Rd., Newton Centre, is one of four Newton girls who have entered the freshman class of C. W. Post College, Long Island University. The others are: Jan I. Zozofsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Zozofsky, 75 Hatfield Rd., West Newton; Carol J. Zamcheck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Zamcheck, 58 Druid Hill Rd., Newton Highlands, and Irene P. Zaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zaff, 23 Drew Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Area Compared

France is about three times the area of Missouri.

Regis Alumna, Miss Shinnick Weds John Francis Mitchell

Miss Joanne Shinnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis F. Shinnick of 22 Middle street, Newton, and John Francis Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Mitchell of 166 Bonad road, Chestnut Hill, were married recently at Our Lady Help of Christians Church, here.

The Rev. Adrian O'Leary celebrated the 12 o'clock noon nuptials at which two rings were exchanged. The Sidney Hill Country Club was the scene of the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of peau de soie, appliqued with daisies and designed with a detachable Watteau train.

A matching pill box cap was caught with a short illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honor was Miss Ann Marie Tenneson of Weston, cousin of the bride. Miss Kathleen Mitchell and Miss Marion Fahey, both of Chestnut Hill, were bridesmaids.

Joseph Murray of Brookline served as best man. The ushers were Peter Tenneson of Weston and Bernard Goodwin of Brookline.

After a honeymoon in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell are now at home at 174 Newtonville avenue, Newton.

A graduate of Regis College, the bride received her master's degree from Northeastern University. She is math teacher at the Framingham South High School.

Mr. Mitchell was graduated from Burdett College. Now attending Northeastern University, evening division, he is associated with NASA.

Newton Centre Home For Gilbert Ardvino and Bride

At a 3 o'clock ceremony in the Sacred Heart Church, recently, Miss Dorothy L. Kerivan became the bride of Gilbert D. Ardvino.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kerivan of Newton Centre and Warner, N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Ardvino of 39 Warren street, Newton Centre, are the groom's parents.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in an empire gown of silk organza and imported Chantilly lace fashioned with a Cathedral-length train.

A matching lace and crystal headpiece was caught with her bouffant illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Mrs. Marianne Conway was her sister's matron of honor. Another sister of the bride, Mrs. Donna Lambert of Medway, Mrs. Thelma Gregorio of Newton, sister of the groom, Miss Claire Groden, also of Newton, and Miss Jean Ferris of Wellesley were bridesmaids.

Roger Gregorio was best man. The ushers were Richard Lambert of Medway, Alan Advino, brother of the groom, Herbert DeDoming and Leon J. Rousseau, all of Newton.

After a trip to Carlton Beach in Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Ardvino will live in Newton Centre.

SWIMMING POOL SECTION

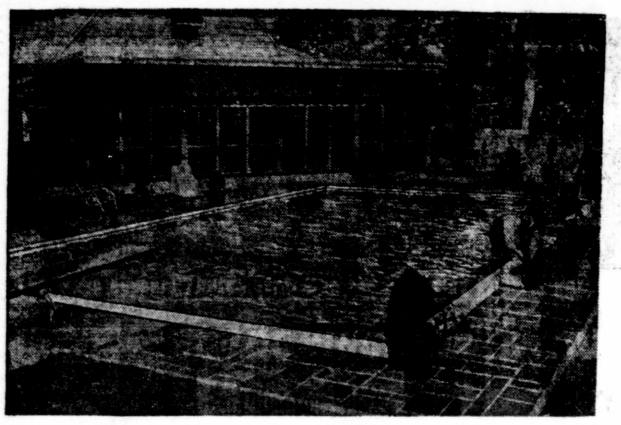

Gene Hurley Pools Pioneer Fall Installations

Gene Hurley, President of Hurley Swimming Pool Builders, Inc., of Needham Mass., one of New England's most experienced swimming pool distributors, a true pioneer in the package pool industry, has developed with the national manufacturer, Pioneer Pools, the latest design in the residential market.

The new bowl shape construction gives the adults the maximum in depth for diving and the toddlers the maximum in safety in the perimeter of the pool. It also minimizes the vacuuming of the pool.

Gene Hurley also noted the vast improvements in the filtration of the Swim King Pools. The new speed filter is compact, and it filters with about 30 percent more efficiency.

All the new improvements in the swimming pool industry have brought the cost down to where the average home owner can now afford a family swimming pool. The average pool built in New England, fully equipped with ladder, diving board, and all the other necessary equipment, under normal conditions, would sell for $3500. At the present time, there is no waiting period . . . installations are begun immediately.

Mortgage banks are very cooperative in merging swimming pool mortgages in order to give the home owner the lowest possible monthly payment. The First National Bank of Boston, through the Installment Loan Division, have now broadened their home improvement loans to include swimming pools. Depending upon the equity of the owner in his property, it could be possible to finance his pool loan up to seven years with no down payment.

"Pool Records Smashed", Says Hurley

GENE HURLEY

1966 has set an all-time record for pool sales in New England, said "Gene" Hurley of E. F. Hurley Builders, Inc., Needham, Mass. Moreover, he expects business to continue up to the end of the year.

Early summer high temperature readings and oppressive humidity have contributed to the calls he and his associates for the "Swim King" Pioneer Pools have received. He cites as other reasons the growth of public awareness that the family pool gives the public all of the recreational relaxation that they formerly experienced without the inconveniences of driving to Cape Cod or to the mountains for these pleasures, and healthful features of swimming can be enjoyed all week long rather than just on week-ends or short vacation periods.

Hurley says that in all actuality fall is the ideal time to install a pool. He cites these reasons: there are few water-soil problems; ground has settled; there is no disruption of a newly seeded lawn; the customer receives more for his money; there are several more weeks of summer weather left — then the pool makes a backyard ice skating rink for all-weather pleasure.

Gene Hurley has long been identified with the family swimming pool. He is the New England distributor for the Pioneer "Swim King" pools. Gene has been recognized by the swimming pool industry for his many services and he now serves as Region I Vice President for the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Seal Is Quality Symbol

The official seal of the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England, Inc. (S.P.A.N.E.) is the symbol of quality, dependability and good business practices of its members.

When considering the installation of a pool, whether it be for a private home or for commercial purposes, the public should look for this seal as a guarantee of the product and workmanship just as the wise housewife depends upon the seals of guarantee.

S.P.A.N.E was organized just ten years ago with eight members. The burgeoning industry swelled membership to 120.

S.P.A.N.E. guides and polices the pool industry, demands it maintain the highest standards for the preservation of its reputation and the protection of the buying public.

Affiliated with the National Swimming Pool Institution, Washington, D. C., S.P.A.N.E. is bound by the pledge to provide quality components and superior workmanship.

Recognized across the country for the advances it has achieved, the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England, Inc., won the top award of the National Swimming Pool Institute.

The National Swimming Pool Institute Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Gene Hurley in recognition of "valuable service to the institute and a lasting contribution to the swimming pool industry" this past January in Houston, Texas.

2 Sessions Advocated

Editor of The Graphic:

Newton has two choices in seeking a direction which will subdue the Single School Session clamour. It can turn its ears toward the well-intentioned parent petitioners or it can look with both eyes at the children who are the unintended pawns in their parents' numerous contests with municipal school administrative authority.

I contend that a large number of parents have signed petitions without being adequately advised of the inequities which will follow the institution of a Single Session program. Inasmuch as the Commonwealth is not yet enforcing the Single Session plan, there is ample opportunity to debate and discuss all the ramifications of this important issue during the 1966-1967 school year.

One excellent forum for such discussion would be the P.T.A. meetings. It seems to me that the attempt to overwhelm the School Committee at its meeting was premature and unfair to thousands of residents who could not attend.

Ideal conditions for the Single Session are difficult, if not impossible, to attain. Principals and teachers have been reluctant to express this view publicly, perhaps because they are municipal employees. Yet, they are much more than employees in the ordinary sense of the word. Their previous association with the Single Session and with our children certainly give them awareness of the value of in-school lunch periods for the primary grade children.

Their private expressions of opinion indicates to me that our youngsters will lose a great deal under this proposal. The fact that some children reside a considerable distance from their schools poses a problem which could lead their parents to favor in-school lunches. However, the other grounds cited for a Single Session are essentially much ado about nothing. Can't we find the means to accommodate the very small number of children who live far from their schools? The use of far less energy than was expended in soliciting signatures on petitions could result in satisfactory car-pool arrangements, to cite one possible solution. The distance factor involves a few youngsters, not thousands, or even hundreds.

All of us want our children to acquire their school learning in the best possible environment. Is it presently feasible to provide separate eating places away from the classrooms in every school, or will the youngsters savour the post-lunch aroma of assorted tuna, ham and chicken soup in their classrooms? What happens to the attention span of a six or seven year old whose school day has not been broken up by his noontime visit to his home? How many youngsters will discard their lunches entirely because of lack of parental supervision? These questions can best be answered by teachers and school psychologists, and it seems to me that they have not been consulted or that their responses have been ignored.

There are other problems. How are the lunch periods to be supervised? There are more than 20 classrooms in the school which my children attend. Are we to employ more than 20 people for one hour each school day? Do we depend on volunter mothers who may be absent because of unanticipated appointments or illness? Do we compel our teachers to forego their lunchtime respite by ordering them to supervise our children at that time? Newton people have complained about teacher turnover in our city. One reason rarely heard is the fact that we require many time-consuming reports and meetings outside of regular school hours. Teachers resign to work in certain Greater Boston school systems where their day ends with the final school bell's sound. Do we seek to inadvertently add to the number of teachers who resign from their employment here?

Finally, our city will benefit substantially if the same people who signed the Single Session petition would direct their attention to the recent proposals of the Friends of the Newton Free Library. The Friends ask us to consider the construction of a new high school with a 4500 student capacity at a suitable site. This would free the Newton South High campus for use as a Junior College, affording a marvellous expansionist opportunity which will benefit the many young people who find the doors to other colleges closed. Further, the present site of the Junior College could then become the location of our new central Library. These proposals are worthy of serious study. They look toward the future needs of our city, with a projected savings of tax dollars.

MIT Professor Speaker For AJC Meeting

The Emma Lazarus Chapter, American Jewish Congress, will open the 1966-67 season with a meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 8:15, at the Newton Highlands Woman's Club.

Speaker will be Dr. Leonard J. Pein, professor of political science at M.I.T. His subject will be "Four Minority Groups," which will include the problem of Jews and Negroes in America and Orientals and Arabs in Israel. The meeting is open to the public.

Mrs. Ingrid Kisliuk of Newton is president of the chapter. Mrs. Leonard Gogos of Newton Centre and Mrs. Daniel Levenson of Newton Lower Falls are co-chairmen of programming.

Thresher Scores High Tax Levies

Former Newton Representative Irene K. Thresher, a candidate for County Commissioner, today listed the large increase in assessments on cities and towns and questioned the appropriations for Middlesex County for the past 15 years.

Mrs. Thresher stated:

"From 1950 through 1956 the appropriations for county expenditures varied only slightly from year to year, beginning in 1950 with the amount of $3,870,809. This amount rose gradually to the amount of $5,673,289 in 1956. But from 1957 the increase rose markedly until in 1966 the cost of Middlesex County operations jumped to $11,213,650.

The County Commissioners assess each one of the 11 cities and 43 towns in the county for their share of the county expenses. This is one more assessment on the local city and town governments over which they have no jurisdiction. The tax levies on the cities and towns sky-rocketed from $8,799,871 in 1965 to $11,774,119 in 1966."

Mrs. Thresher believes that the taxpayers in the cities and towns need to be alerted to this extraordinary draft on their resources, and should raise questions as to whether these county expenditures are essential.

Mrs. Thresher is a candidate to fill the unexpired term of the late William G. Andrew.

Peter B. Martin, son of Mrs. Juliana Martin, 42 Truman Rd., Newton Centre, has been awared a scholarship to Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. He is a 1966 graduate of Newton South High School, where he was a school government representative and holder of letters in football, track and wrestling.

O'Donnell Committee Meets To Plan Campaign Strategy

A large group of Newton Democrats supporting former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell for the Democratic nomination for Governor met last night at the home of Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell, O'Donnell's Newton campaign coordinator.

Alderman McDonnell introduced the candidate's brother, Warren O'Donnell, who addressed the gathering.

Mr. O'Donnell reviewed his brother's record and experience. He recalled that Ken had served as lead bombadier in 30 missions over Europe during World War II and was awarded the Distinguished Fyling Cross.

After the war, Kenneth O'Donnell entered Harvard College, where he majored in government and captained the 1948 Harvard football team.

Following his graduation from Harvard, O'Donnell began a long association in the campaigns of the late President John F. Kennedy, culminating in his service as special assistant to the President.

Warren O'Donnell pointed out that Senator Robert F. Kennedy has said of Ken O'Donnell:

"I can say quite honestly and openly that there wasn't a major decision that was made by President Kennedy during the period of 1961 to Nov. 22, 1963, that Ken O'Donnell did not share in . . . on any matter that needed counselor advice from someone with determination, courage and good sense. Ken was turned to."

KENNETH P. O'DONNELL

Mr. O'Donnell criteized Edward McCormack for his failure to accept Ken O'Donnell's challenge to debate their previous experience and positions on the issues. He said he felt that the Democratic voters would not want to put up a standard-bearer who refused to face his opponent. adding that he, therefore, foresaw an upset victory for Ken O'Donnell in next Tuesday's primary.

After Warren O'Donnell's talk, the group prepared plans for the final week's campaigning by telephoning, literature distribution and organization of poll workers.

Campaign Manager Predicts Senate Victory For Peabody

Endicott Peabody will win the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate in the September 13 primary election by a 150,000 vote plurality, it was predicted last night by his Campaign Manager Peter R. Beatrice, Jr., of Swampscott.

Beatrice, a Boston attorney who has served in a score of major state election campaigns, said he is basing the prediction on reports from his area coordinators throughout the state and recent polls conducted by various candidates.

The campaign manager also predicted that Peabody, the Democratic convention - endorsed candidate, will score an overwhelming victory in Boston, the home city of one of his opponents, and carry the majority of the large cities throughout the Commonwealth.

In explaining the reasons behind his estimate of Peabody's strength, Beatrice pointed to the former Governor's strong grassroots campaign and the work of hundreds of dedicated Peabody supporters "who have jelled into one of the finest campaign organizations ever assembled by a candidate."

Beatrice gained fame as a forecaster when he predicted, in newspapers throughout the state, that Peabody would win the Democratic State Convention endorsement by a wide margin. He was only 40 votes off his oficial count.

Peabody, who thrives on hard work and is considered one of Massachusetts' most vigorous campaigners, opened his tireless grassroots campaign shortly after announcing his candidacy last February, and has visited nearly every city and town since that time.

"He really enjoys meeting people," Beatrice declared. "He begins every morning, seven days a wek, at 6:30 and doesn't quit until after midnight."

"The former Governor believes strongly that a candidaae should go into the field and discuss the issues in an effort to learn the opinions and views of the people rather than tell the people what is best for them," Beatrice said.

"Peabody has always been concerned with the views of the people and his record as governor, passing 87 percent of his legislation, most of it dealing with health and welfare, the consumer and the workman, is proof positive," Beatrice said.

The Boston Attorney said another major factor "which spells victory for Peabody is the many endorsements he is receiving from labor unions and groups in the state." Beatrice said they include:

The Greater Lynn Labor Council; the South Essex Labor Council; the Greater Springfield Labor Council; the Greater Fall River Labor Council; the Greater New Bedford Labor Council; the State Industrial Labor Council; AFL-CIO; the Longshoremen's District Council of Greater Boston; and the Worcester Labor Council.

Reception For House Candidate 'Pat' Harrington

Patrick H. Harrington, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 10th District, will wind up his primary campaign at a reception to be given in his honor by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Traub and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Traub, both of Needham.

The reception will be held Monday evening, September 12, at 105 Woodbine Circle, Needham.

Residents of Needham, Newton, and Wellesley, all of which are within the 10th Congressional District, are expected to greet the candidate.

Mr. Harrington, a prominent lawyer with offices in Fall River and Boston, is a County Commissioner of Bristol County. He is also a Captain in the U. S. Naval Reserve, and has been attached to the Naval Air Stations at Squantum and South Weymouth.

THEODORE D. MANN

Rep. Mann Gets Aw'rd from Mass. Senior Citizens

A Public Service Award has been presented to Rep. Theodore D. Mann of Newton by the Senior Citizens and Associates of America.

At presentation ceremonies held at the State House, Rep. Mann was congratulated by representatives of the Association for many legislative achievements which he initiated in behalf of the elderly people of Massachusetts.

Charles C. O'Donnell of Lynn, who made the presentation, pointed out that Mann was the author of legislation calling upon insurance companies to notify policy holders over 65 years of age of their rights under Medicare as it relates to coverage presently provided.

"Rep. Theodore D. Mann," O'Donnelll declared," has explored every possible avenue to provide an orderly transition into the Medicare Program. "He is also to be commended for his efforts to make certain that similar medical coverage will be available to those who will be retiring from the state service in the future."

A proposal to have the state sponsor the dissemination of information regarding the rights and privileges available to elderly citizens under the Medicare Program was also introduced by the Newton legislator, it was noted.

Mann, completing his first term as a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives has served on the Legislative Committee on Insurance and Military Affairs.

He was appointed by the Speaker of the House to a Special Study Commission on Military Procurement as it relates to employment in the state. Recently, he was appointed to the important Study Commission concerning Solid Waste Disposal.

Prior to his election to the House of Representatives, Mann served in his home city of Newton on the Board of Aldermen for four terms.

Large Group Of Republicans To Support Heckler

A large number of prominent and highly respected Newton Republican leaders yesterday endorsed Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler for Congress and urged the Republican voters of the city to mark their ballots for her when they go to the polls next Tuesday.

They stressed that the 10th congressional district, which includes Newton, needs "active, modern and full-time representation in Washington."

At the same time they paid tribute to Councillor Heckler's "courage, energy, honesty and integrity," declaring that these qualities "lead us to feel she is the ideal choice to represent this district and Newton in Congress now and in the future."

Those championing Councillor Heckler's cause and urging her nomination next Tuesday as the Republican candidate for Congress in the district which takes in Newton include:

Former School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman, General Daniel Needham, Sr., School Committeeman Way Dong Woo, Alderman Warren A. Sutheriand, Alderman John Nixon, Alderman Jason Sachs and Alderman Alan S. Barkin.

They and the other supporters of Councillor Heckler declared that Newton needs full-time representation in Washington.

"We will get it with Margaret M. Heckler in Congress," they stated.

Arm From Car Hurts Cyclist On Beacon St.

A young motorcyclist who was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for a concussion, a whiplash injury to his neck and multiple contusions and abrasions, told police that as he was riding along Beacon St. a car overtook him and, as it passed, an arm was thrust out of it and struck him.

He lost control as a result, he said. His bike knocked down four feet of picket fence in Waban.

The cyclist was Payson Greene, 18, of 136 Jackson St., Newton Cent.

The case is being investigated by police officers Paul C. Lawrence and James T. Bradley.

Turner Presses Campaign For Gov. Councilor Post

Roger F. Turner, of Walpole, continued his intensive campaign this week for the Republican nomination for the office of Governor's Councillor in the Second Councillor District.

Turner, a practicing attorney for over 30 years, urged "all voters to recognize the consttutional importance of the office of the Executive Council and vote the candidate best qualified to defend and strengthen this office."

Turner said he became interested in the Executive Council about three years ago when he was asked to process litigation involving the statutory powers of the council.

"At first, this was just another case, but it developed into a double-barreled issue. Some of the best legal minds were involved in the issues and the appellate aspect of the case required extended time and study," Turner stated.

"I want to make one fact crystal clear," Turner said, "I accepted this assignment as a matter of public service upon asurance merely of reimbursement for reasonable disbursements of trial. I received no fee for my services," Turner emphasized," notwithstanding that the added involvement resulted in a considerable, and inevitable increase in time."

Turner said that during the past weekend he was asked in an informal conversation if he was the man "who sued the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts and caused them to spend a lot of money two years ago?"

"The implication that I caused the League to spend a lot of money and that the League was sued is unfair and simply not factual," Turner stated emphatically. "The simple answer is the League was not sued," he added.

"Let me add," said Turner, "that I have great respect for the League and its aims. Divergence of opinion on certain issues has sharpened my interest. I believe the open and frank dialogue of the League on social and political matters ought to be commended to officers of service groups generally.

"However," continued Turner, "I also believe that no candidate for high office is fair, either to the League or to himself, by splitting standards in a vain effort to gain votes."

Turner is a member of the American, Massachusetts and Norfolk County Bar Associations, as well as of the Lawyers Reference Services of the Boston Bar Assoc. and the Trial Lawyers Assoc.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
from The Bible

For as he thinketh within himself, so is he.
—(Prov. 23:7)

In life we always find what we look for and if we look for something beautiful in any circumstances we shall find it. In a sense, our happiness is in our own hands, because it is not what happens to us but how we react that is important in our experience. We suffer only when we resist something in our life. This is the cause of pain, and so the secret is to embrace the Spirit of God in everything.

Margaret Heckler Seeks Support Of Republicans and Independents In Her Bid for Seat in Congress

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler yesterday pledged to provide modern, streamlined and efficient service to the people of the 10th congressional district if she is elected to Congress.

"This is something the people of the 10th district are not getting now, and they shouldn't be obliged to wait until 1969 to get it," Mrs. Heckler declared.

Councillor Heckler campaigned vigorously this week in Newton, Needham, Westwood aand other sections of the 10th congressional district in quest of support in Tuesday's Republican primary.

Her campaign has been attracting national attention. Newsweek magazine recently predicted that Councillor Heckler will be nominated and elected as the next Congresswoman from the 10th district.

In order to furnish streamlined, efficient and up-to-the-moment congressional service in keeping with the tempo of the times, Councillor Heckler plans to operate a mobile congressional office which will regularly visit all communities in the 10th district if she is elected to Congress.

"The yearly visit to the postoffice no longer is adequate to meet the needs of the people in this era when they have many problems of a federal nature," she observed.

"It will be my purpose to bring the federal government closer to the people in Newton, Needham, Westwood, Wellesley and the other communities in the big 10th congressional district," Councillor Heckler declared.

"This can be done with the use of a mobile office which will visit each community regularly on designated dates," she added.

Councillor Heckler pointed out that the present Congressman maintains two offices, one in Washington and the other in Fall River.

"It seems somewhat unrealistic to expect that a resident of Newton, Needham or Westwood, who needs help on a federal problem, should be obliged to go to Fall River to get such assistance," she declared.

Mrs. Heckler reviewed her own record of service in the Governor's Council during the past four years.

"I think I have demonstrated that I have a capacity for public service, a desire to serve the people, that I provide vigorous representation, that I work hard and that I am a person of integrity," Mrs. Heckler declared.

Councillor Heckler emphasized that in these times a Congressman "must be prepared to meet hard problems, make tough decisions and answer roll calls all the time —not just half the time as Mr. Martin has been doing for the past several years."

She said that the other Massachusetts Congressmen answer an average of 89 percent of the rollcalls per year but that the Nov. 12, 1965, Congressional Quarterly reported that Mr. Martin answered an average of only 49 per cent of the rollcalls in the 88th and 89th Congress.

"In other words, the people of the 10th district were not recorded on 51 per cent of the issues which came before Congress during that period," Councillor Heckler stressed.

"We have the war in Vietnam, the soaring cost of living, high taxes and numerous other problems which must be met by the next Congress," she continued.

"The people of the 10th district should have a Congressman who will represent them in helping to meet these problems," she said.

Councillor Heckler declared that several considerations influenced her to give up her seat in the Governor's Council and stand for election to Congress.

"I believe the people of the 10th district need and deserve service and representation which they are not presently receiving. I am confident I can furnish that service, she asserted.

"There also is a very real danger that the Republican party will lose this seat in Congress unless it nominates a candidate who can make a real campaign and who can and will give competent, vigorous, on-the-job service," she warned.

"We cannot afford to wait two years for that service. We cannot afford to live in the past," Councillor Heckler stated . "If we do, we may find that the 10th district seat in Congress has been lost to our party.

"I have been campaigning in this district since early summer.

"If you agree with the statements I have made in support of my candidacy, please take the few minutes necessary to go to your polling place next Tuesday and mark your ballot for me.

"If we want active representation and real service in Congress, we cannot leave our responsibility as good citizens for someone else to fulfill. Both Republicans and Independents can vote in the Republican primary Tuesday.

"If you will take the time to cast a vote for me on Tuesday, you can be sure that as your next Congresswoman for the next two years I will give you the caliber and quality of congressional service which you need and should have," Councillor Heckler concluded.

Antonelli Cites Qualifications For Treasurer

Former Somerville city treasurer Rocco J. Antonelli, continues his campaign throughout Middlesex County seeking the Democratic nomination for the six-year term as Middlesex county treasurer. In 1962, he ran second to the recently deceased County Treasurer in a field of ten candidates.

"No one doubts that the county treasurer fight is one between Antonelli and the presently appointed temporary county treasurer," his campaign headquarters said today. "Antonelli came within an eyelash of victory in Middlesex County the last time he ran. He has been conducting a clean and presentable campaign stressing solely his outstanding qualifications for the position."

Mr. Antonelli stresses that his chief aim is to establish proper and effective administrative and financial procedures in the office of Middlesex County treasurer without circumventing the General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and cloaking the County's financial affairs with secrecy.

Throughout the County, he has explained the responsibilities of treasurer, the six-year term of office, and the fact that it handles over $13,000,000.00 per year belonging to the taxpayers of 11 cities and 43 towns.

"The Middlesex County taxpayers are entitled to have the county treasurer's office conducted as a public office, in public, with a public accounting of its receipts and expenditures by a qualified and experienced Treasurer," Antonelli stated.

You Can Make Time Fly, Too, On Plane Trip

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

HONOLULU (UPI) — The passenger has only himself to blame in these days of near-supersonic jet plane travel if he arrives at his destination feeling beat.

So maintains Paul Kendall, Pan American World Airways' mid-Pacific public relations manager. And he should know — he logs thousands of miles each year from his headquarters in Hawaii.

We flew here from Hong Kong with Kendall — about a seven-hour flight including a stopover in Tokyo—and overheard one of the disenbarking passengers says something about being exhausted.

"Exhausted?" Kendall commented. "Nonsense! He's probably bored and his muscles are protesting from immobility."

Well, how does the passenger combat boredom and fatigue on long flights, we asked. Kendall's a big fellow — over six feet tall and about 200 pounds.

Here are 10 tips from Kendall based on his own experience:

1. Change the position of your seat back occasionally. Place the pillow where the seat and seatback meet, NOT in back of your head. This will shift your weight and muscle tensions. But remember, there's probably someone sitting behind you. Look before you shift.

2. Bring a book of crossword puzzles, a deck of cards, a folding cribbage board or some other easily portable game. Your seat companion, whether traveling with you or not, usually will be happy to join you in a game of skill or wits. It will help make time fly.

3. Drop a card or pencil occasionally. After you've crouched, peered and fumbled under your seat a couple of times, you'll feel much better — you've unwittingly flexed your muscles.

4. Take your shoes off — it is perfectly proper in flight—and wiggle your toes. If your feet are inclined to get cold, carry a pair of travel slippers in your flight bag and slip them on.

5. Try to sleep. Bring a sleep mask with you. When you feel drowsy, adjust your seat belt as snug as you can and still be comfortable, cover up with a blanket and put the lights out by slipping on the mask. Every minute you nap, you're 10 miles closer to your destination. (Some stewardesses on request will remove the arm rests if the other seats are unoccupied and you can really stretch out.)

6. Read. Pan Am provides a variety of magazines on all flights or bring the book you've been wanting to read but haven't found the time or chance to.

7. Write postcards — lots of them. Pan Am stewardess will give them to you and mail them (free), postmarked from the city you are visiting. Besides keeping you busy, it will give you more time to enjoy yourself at your destination.

8. Catch up on your work if traveling on business. Take advantage of the absence of telephones and other disturbing factors and make up that long overdue expense account, speech or report.

9. Take walks. Before or after you eat, stroll to the end of the plane, rinse your hands, wash your face, comb your hair. You'll be using those muscles again.

10. Bring along a sweater in your flight bag, preferably a button-up type with long sleeves. You'll be more comfortable than in your jacket and warmer than in shirt sleeves or blouse. Prolonged inactivity in air conditioning could make one more susceptible to colds.

Kendall had a final word of advice: "Relax and enjoy the miracle of jet plane travel."

"Joe" Martin Seeks Final Term In House

Congressman Joseph W. Martin's campaign for Republican renomination for another term is nearing a close in the 10th congressional district which includes Newton, Needham and Westwood and stretches deep down into Bristol County.

A statement from Martin's campaign headquarters this week declared that the response to his candidacy by the voters "has been unprecedented."

It cited that Martin's accomplishments during his 21 consecutive terms in Congress "have been many and outstanding."

Listed as endorsing Martin's candidacy are thousands of voters in his own 10th congressional district and such outstanding figures as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Senator Margaret Chase Smith, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, and Senator Everett Dirksen.

Congressman Martin, in announcing his decision to stand for another term in Congress, stated:

"After consultation with my physicians, who have assured me I am in excellent health, I have decided to stand for a final term in Congress. I had carefully considered retiring at the end of my present term, but with our boys fighting in Vietnam and major problems afflicting our country at home, I could not conscientiously run out on my clear duty at this time. This, however, will be the last time I shall run for office.

"I am mindful of a deep obligation to the people of Massachusetts, who have honored me times without number. And I believe," Martin added, "I can be of greater service to them than a newcomer to Washington in the two critical years ahead.

"In Congress, experience and seniority create influence and prestige. One recent outstanding example of the results this produces has been my accomplishment, as ranking Republican member of the Science and Astronautics Committee, and in cooperation with Speaker McCormack, in bringing to our state the new $60 million Electronics Research Center, for which ground will be broken shortly in Cambridge. On completion, this installation will employ 2100 people directly. But more importantly," Martin continued, "it will be the source of much employment in related industries. It has already resulted in research and development contracts totaling $1,540,426 to Massachusetts companies, and this is just the beginning.

'The first segment of this great institution will be completed in 2 years and I would like to remain in Congres to see this through to a successful conclusion."

A special feature of Congressman Martin's campaign is a message from former Mayor Donald L. Gibbs of Newton. Dial 332-7647 and hear ex-Mayor Gibbs talk to you regarding Joe Martin.

Atty. Peter A. Kerr Cites Need Of Public Trust In Gov. Council

Attorney Peter A. Kerr, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the second councillor district, declared today that men of experience, honesty and integrity are needed in the Governor's Council in order to rebuild and restore public confidence in that body.

"I sincerely hope that the Democratic voters of the second councillor district will agree that I possess those qualifications and that they will vote for me when they go to the polls next Tuesday," Attorney Kerr asserted.

"Unfortunately," Attorney Kerr said, "some of the officials who have been elected to the Executive Council in the past have betrayed their trust and have given that body a bad name and a bad reputation. That cannot and must not be allowed to happen again."

Kerr expressed his thanks to Democratic legislators and other Democratic men and women who have joined in supporting his candidacy.

"I feel that my legal and business experience will be of value in the Executive Council, and I hope the people of the second councillor district have confidence in my honesty and integrity," Kerr stated.

Peter A. Kerr is a graduate of Boston College and Boston College Law School. He has been admitted to practice before both the State and Federal Bars. He is the brother of Monsignor George V. Kerr, chaplain of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

A veteran of World War II when he served with the Coast Guard on convoy duty and anti-submarine patrols in the North Atlantic, he is a member of the Fogg Post of the American Legion and the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., and John F. Kennedy Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is a member of the active Coast Guard Reserve.

Kerr is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

ROBERT H. LENOX

$1000 Grant For Student

Robert Howard Lenox of 46 Newtonville avenue, Newton, has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship for the 1966-67 school year by the University of Vermont College of Medicine.

Announcement of the scholarship was made by Robert J. Slater, dean of the college.

Mr. Lenox is a member of the graduating class of the medical school and was selected for the award by school authorities on a basis of academic qualifications.

Local Woman To Head CJP Dinner Group

Sidney Stoneman, CJP president, announces that Mrs. Samuel A. Levine of Newton Centre has been appointed co-chairman of the 71st annual dinner meeting of Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

The dinner will precede the CJP annual meeting, Sept. 18, in the Statler Hilton.

Long active in community affairs, Mrs. Levine is an honorary life trustee of CJP, and has twice served as campaign chairman of the Woman's Division. She was the first Boston chairman for the Hadassah Hebrew University Medical Center and the first life membership chairman of the Friends of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

A former national board member of the Brandeis University Women's Committee, Mrs. Levine served as national chairman of the Brandeis Library Endowment Fund and is a former member of the board of the Young Women's Christian Association, and the Newton Family Welfare Association.

She has also served as chairman of the Youth Aliyah Emergency Fund and co-chairman of the Newton Council of the Friends of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The CJP is the central planning, fund-raising and budgeting arm of the Greater Boston Jewish community. Its network of local, national, and overseas agencies provide a wide range of services in the fields of health, education, group work, family welfare and community relations.

Francine R. Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cohen, 88 Selwyn Rd., Newton Highlands, received an associate of science degree from the Junior College of Connecticut, University of Bridgeport. She majored in dental hygiene.

Detective Duff

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Howard Duff, who once played detective Sam Spade, will play a new gumshoe once again in the new video series "Felony Squad."

Jean Elaine Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Schneider, 202 Evelyn Rd., Waban, a transfer student from Lasell Junior College, is starting her junior year at Lesley College, Cambridge, where she will prepare for a career in elementary school teaching.

Lee Loumos Says:

People frequently ask me, "which is the best color TV on the market?" as though there is any one best set. Consumers' Research might play God and give a specific answer, but we have learned to be more circumspect in our response. There are many things to be considered, and our answer has to be a composite of many factors including the purchaser's desires. So we don't answer categorically without some qualifying explanation which I would be happy to pursue when you visit my store. I can, however, categorically say that no color TV is any better than the set-up and service it gets, and I am now immodest enough to say that's where we excel.

Miss Mary Ellen Knox Wed To Mr. Peter Arnold Mackie

The marriage of Miss Mary Ellen Knox of Manchester to Mr. Peter Arnold Mackie of Newton was solemnized at a recent afternoon ceremony in the Orthodox Congregational Church of Manchester.

Mrs. Mackie, who will be teaching in the Needham public schools, is the daughter of Mrs. Harland R. Knox of Manchester and the late Mr. Knox. Mr. Mackie, a guidance counselor in the Newton school system, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold M. Mackie of Danvers.

Rev. Gordon S. Kenison officiated at the double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harland R. Knox Jr., of Salem, the bride wore a gown of ivory linen designed with a portrait neckline, an empire waist, Kabuki sleeves, and an A-line skirt. Directoire lace accented the waist, sleeves, and the detachable chapel-length train.

Her veil was a mantilla edged with matching Directoire lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Nancy R. Manning of Manchester was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Harland R. Knox, Jr., of Salem, sister-in-law of the bride; Miss Susan H. Presson of Beverly Farms, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Richard W. Bamford of Manchester, Conn., and Miss Sara E. Cornell of West Newbury.

Little Robin E. Rollins of Danvers, niece of the bridegroom, and Miss Christl S. Dodge of Manchester were the flower girls.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. Paul G. Mackie of East Hartford, Conn., and sharing usher duties were Mr. Kenneth D. Rollins of Danvers, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Mr. John W. Hamlet of Attleboro, cousin of the bridegroom; Mr. John B. Knox of Curpertino, Calif., brother of the bride; Mr. Roger D. Brown of Newton, Mr. Orrin M. Colley of Duxbury, and Mr. Ronald B. Harrison of Hartsdale, N. Y.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Mackie will reside at 14B Sagamore way in Waltham.

MRS. PETER A. MACKIE

The bride was graduated from Story High School, Manchester, and from Boston University College of Liberal Arts, Class of 1964. She is a masters degree candidate at State College at Salem.

Mr. Mackie graduated from Holten High School, Danvers, received his bachelor of arts degree, cum laude, from Brown University in 1959, and his masters degree in 1963 from the Harvard Graduate School of Education, where he was elected to Phi Delta Kappa.

Infantidings

To Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Murray of 11 Highland terrace, Needham Heights, their second child, a son, Kenneth Edwin Murray, born on August 7 at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. He joins a brother, Richard James, in the family circle.

Sharing grandparent honors are Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Nash and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Murray, all of Newton Centre.

Miss Donna Gay Richmond Is Bride Of Dr. Carleton

The marriage of Miss Donna Gay Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Richmond of Newton Centre, to Dr. William Michael Carleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carleton of Providence, R.I., was solemnized at a recent evening ceremony in Temple Shalom of Newton.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman officiated at the six o'clock, double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Statler Hilton of Boston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made entirely of handmade Irish lace with a matching small pillbox headpiece. Her cathedral-length veil was appliqued with matching lace, and she carried her father's Bible with Eucharis lilies and glacial ivy.

Miss Leslie Joy Richmond of Newton Centre was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William H. Trethewey of Pittsburg, Pa.; Miss Linda L. Troberman of Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Ann Weatherby of Summit, N. J.

Serving as best man was Lt. (j.g.) Payson Whitney of Cheshire, Conn., and ushers included Mr. James Carthaus of New York, N. Y., Capt. David Smith of Portland, Ore., Mr. Richard Troberman of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mr. William Troberman of Providence, R. I.

Upon returning from a Caribbean wedding trip, the couple will reside in Chestnut Hill.

The bride graduated from Newton High School, Class of 1960, received her B.A. degree from Connecticut College for Women in 1964, and was awarded her M.Ed. degree from Tufts University in 1965. She is presently teaching in the Newton school system.

Dr. Carleton graduated from Yale College, Class of 1962, receiving the B.A. degree, and from Harvard Medical School in 1966, receiving his M.D. degree. He is now an intern at the Beth Israel Hospital.

MRS. W. M. CARLETON

Lt. Michael Coplan, Bride Living at Fort Lee, Va.

Now living at Fort Lee, Va., are 2nd Lieutenant Michael Bruce Coplan and his bride, the former Miss Renee Marcella Penn, whose marriage took place recently at Holiday Inn in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Penn of 79 Drumlin road, Newton Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. David Coplan of Bayside, Long Island, N. Y. are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Samuel Perlman officiated at the 1:30 o'clock single-ring service, which was followed by a reception.

Given away by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of organdy embroidered with valley lilies. Organdy petals, embroidered with pearls, formed the crown fastened with her triple-tiered elbow-length illusion veil. She carried her Bible with orchids.

Miss Elise Penn of Pawtucket, R. I., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, Miss Deborah Shusman of Longmeadow was the other attendant.

Stuart Coplan of Bayside, N. Y., brother of the groom, served as best man. Barry Penn of Newton Centre, brother of the bride, was the usher.

Cape Cod was the honeymoon destination of the couple.

The bride is a graduate of the Tufts School of Social Dentistry.

Mr. Coplan was graduated from the Boston University School of Business Administration.

Love . . . is not provoked . . . but rejoiceth with the truth. —(I Cor. 13:4-6)

If working conditions appear strained, a peaceful, soothing word from us may give others assurance. Regardless how irritated or unreasonable someone may appear, we must remember that love is not provoked. Instead of feeling hurt or angry we will bless them into the Father's care and keeping. Let's rejoice in His love.

You do not have to be a registered Democrat to vote in the Democratic primary:

independents & democrats make your vote count!

Every vote you cast for Thomas Boylston Adams, September 18, for U.S. Senate will be counted in Washington as a vote to end the war.

You know that often people don't vote in a primary because there are no issues and all the candidates are machine politicians.

This time, there is an issue.

This time, there is a candidate.

This time, you must decide to end the war.

Walter Lippmann, Dean of American political analysts says: "If they elect you, the voters of Massachusetts will honor themselves and they will serve not only Massachusetts, but the Nation."

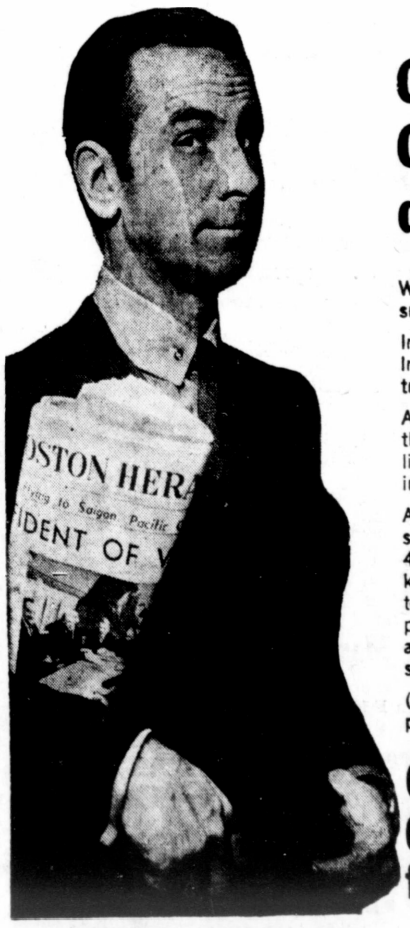

INDEPENDENTS AND DEMOCRATS / Every Independent and Democrat can vote on Primary Day, September 13, and make his vote count just by coming to the polls and picking up a Democratic ballot.

McKenna Sets Up Whirlwind Drive For State Solon

The man who says "life will still be fun" even if he isn't elected, is waging a whirlwind campaign for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the Norfolk-Suffolk Senatorial District.

But Patrick E. (Ed) McKenna, who runs three miles on alternate days to keep in shape, sincerely thinks that the voters "may be happier" if he is elected the Republican nominee in the district that embraces all of Brookline, Wards 1-6-7 in Newton and Ward 22, Brighton.

A professional engineer who lives on Pertshire rd., Brighton, he states his position clearly and succinctly:

"I seek no personal aggrandizement. Having received many personal honors, I know that these honors and the trust that generated them can only be fulfilled by a complete devotion to fairness, justice, and a respect for the rights of others.

"I have no commitment to any group. You (the voters) will be able to reach me as easily and as quickly if and after you elect me as you can now.

"I shall do for you what I have done for all those with whom I have associated; my attention, my interest and my complete effort will be yours.

"Promises are easily made and hard to keep. I keep mine."

McKenna has been active in Republican circles for years, being an active member of Republican Ward 22, candidate for Representative from his district in 1964, and a worker for the Republican State Committee at the 1966 pre-primary convention.

McKenna is also general manager of the Stahleker Steel Corp. and admits to being "good at horse shoes" and a fair golfer and sailor. He's a man who believes in keeping physically fit and works out often at the Cambridge YMCA where he is director and chairman of its Sports Council. He was winner of the "Honor Award" at the Cambridge Y this year.

A noted public speaker, he is in constant demand by Civic groups as well as by various affiliated engineering associations to which he belongs. They include the American Assoc. for the Advancement of Science; the American Metals Society; the American Welding Society of which he is past chairman; the American Ordnance Society and the Metropolitan Chapter of the Mass. Society of Professional Engineers.

ENROLL SPONSORS — Mrs. Robert Gordon and Mrs. Bertram Rodman, left to right, of Newton, are enrolling sponsors for "The Bells Are Ringing" luncheon of the Jewish Women's Health Association to be held in November.

Women's Health Group Sets Plans For Annual Luncheon

Newton members of the Jewish Women's Health Association are busily engaged in preparing for the "Bells Are Ringing" luncheon of the organization to be held on November 22nd at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

"The Recuperative Center in Roslindale is dependent on many such generous contributions for its maintenance," says Mrs. Irving Groper, luncheon chairman.

Mrs. Robert Gordon and Mrs. Bertram Rodman, of Newton, are enrolling sponsors for the luncheon.

The Gordons and the Hodmans reside within a block of one another in the Waverly road district of Newton. They have a total of six children, three in each family.

Mr. Robert Gordon is a prominent realtor who is well known for his philanthropic work throughout Greater Boston. Bob Gordon recently enjoyed the excitement of winning the Member-Guest golf tournament at Pinebrook Country Club, Weston. He and his wife will tour Israel this fall as members of a C. J. A. membership group.

Bert Rodman, treasurer of the Rodman Insurance Agency in Chestnut Hill, was a participant at the National Doubles Championship held recently at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Emanuel Couples Club To Present "Pajama Game"

Casting and auditions for "Pajama Game," to be presented next December in Temple Emmanuel Community Hall, will take place Sunday, Sept. 11. Auditions for the musical comedy also were held yesterday (Wednesday).

The show will be presented by the temple's Couples Club, and its presidents, Victor and Estelle Mitchell have extended an invitation to the entire temple family to join in the fun-and-fund-raising endeavor.

This exciting Broadway hit will be directed by Buz Ente, a talented member of the Couples Club, who has directed many successful theatrical productions in and around Greater Boston. Mr. Ente will bring his fresh and sparkling interpretation to this production.

Auditions and casting for all singing, dancing, and dramatic parts will take place in the temple vestry, 385 Ward St., Newton, at 8 p.m.

For further information, contact Mel and Gail Norris, show chairmen, at 244-8635. Working closely with Mr. and Mrs. Norris will be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weisberg, 1st vice-presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross, 2nd vice-presidents; and the following Board members: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Berkowitz, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Furman, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ross.

ALA Seeking Candidates' Views On Auto Insurance

Massachusetts' compulsory auto insurance will become a major election issue if the Automobile Legal Association has its way.

The ALA today called upon all candidates for high state office and the legislature to give their views on the controversial auto liability insurance system.

"Massachusetts motorists have been plagued for 40 years by an insurance system which punishes safe drivers," A. W. Query, Jr. of Westwood ALA's legislative counsel, said.

"During the past legislative session a number of bills were filed to correct the system, including bills by the Governor and the ALA to abolish compulsory insurance," Query said.

"The legislature, in its great wisdom, decided to keep the old system, which benefits the motoring public less than it does the auto insurance companies," he said.

The ALA official said that Massachusetts' voters should be "extremely interested in knowing how their elected officials have stood on the auto insurance question and what they feel should be done."

JOBS

You have read about shirts, dresses, blouses that can be thrown away when they become soiled. Surgeons are wearing throw-away operating gowns. Airplanes have throw-away head rests. We MAKE NONWOVEN FABRICS, one of the most talked about industries today.

We can hardly keep up with customer demand. We have bought and built buildings, enlarged present plants . . . and have interesting production jobs available. Prior experience is not essential.

Our future in the civilian market is unlimited. Oh yes, we also supply some of our materials for military production.

Get into a young industry that offers long range security . . . in war or peace time.

LIFE INSURANCE

John Hancock has challenging positions available now for college graduates . . . with or without business experience. We'll give you both formal and on-the-job training and excellent advancement opportunities.

PROGRAMMER TRAINEES

As the largest commercial user of IBM electronic data processing equipment in New England, John Hancock offers the best training program in the East to 4-year college grads with analytical aptitudes. No experience is necessary, only a keen interest in EDP and proven scholastic ability.

INTERNAL AUDITORS AND ACCOUNTANTS

Various work assignments within the Boston Home Office provide interesting challenges and opportunities for qualified college grads with accounting backgrounds. An aptitude for data processing is helpful, but not a necessary qualification.

These openings lead to management responsibilities and offer excellent starting salaries. There are generous employee benefits, too.

If you can answer yes to any of these questions, the National Research Corporation could be interested in you.

We are in the midst of a training program brought about by expansion (we are growing!). We feel that since most of our foremen and supervisors started with the company as trainees and have done such an excellent job, that when we need more men we should hire more trainees.

We offer excellent benefits, good starting wages, a chance for someone who is really willing to work to prove himself. Our work is not dependent upon government contract. Our work is stable. We have the following openings: Machine Operators, Chemical Processing Operators, Chemical Technicians, Mechanical Technicians, Mechanical Inspector, Q.C. Inspector, Stock Clerk.

High starting rate.

If you are interested in these opportunities, please contact Thomas Henshon, 332-5800, Ext. 208, for an interview.

Terrier Logs 50,000 Miles On Motorbike

By PHIL WHITE
United Press International

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Motorcycling these days seems to be going to the dogs.

Bob and Jean Downing, avid Cheyenne cyclists, will swear to it. The Downings own one of the world's most traveled dogs—on motorcycles.

Irving, as the dog is dubbed, has covered around 50,000 miles sitting on the gas tank of a motorcycle in front of the driver. The six-year-old registered wirehair terrior first got on a motorcycle when he was six weeks old.

Since that time, Irving has been the constant companion of the Downings whenever they ride. He goes in summer and winter. He's there on trips around town or on 500-mile highway excursions.

Irving is a natural canine cycler. He anticipates the turns and leans into them. On short trips, he just perches on the gas tank and manages to balance himself. On longer trips, he sits in a special basket made to fit the cycle.

For winter excursions, the Downings have outfitted their companion with a dog-sweater.

Trophy Winners

Bob, 44, and Jean, 38, have always been motorcycle maniacs. Bob has a "boxful" of trophies. He won second place at the Cherry Creek, Utah, Hare and Hounds race in 1965.

He won the first Elk Mountain, Wyo., race a few years ago. In that race the cycles go right up the mountain. Recently, Downing won another second place in a rugged "enduro" here. Jean also has won some trophies.

But the Downings' greatest thrill is riding with their canine companion. Irving's favorite spot, and Bob's is cross-country riding or cow trailing.

This involves no roads, plenty of bumps and lots of excitement. According to Downing, Irving has probably ridden more miles across country on a motorcycle than any dog in the world.

I am God... the Holy One in the midst of thee.
—(Hos. 11:9)

Let us dwell on the greatness and love of God. We think of Him as the power that holds the universe together, controlling the farthest star, as well as the most minute seed containing His life. Whatever we need, things, talents, capabilities, creative ideas there is no limit for God lives within us. He is our life, our intelligence, our energy, strength and health.

Registration Schedule Is Listed At Junior College

Newton Junior College will hold registration for full-time students Monday and Wednesday, September 12 and 14 at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Part-time students register, September 14th from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Accredited as a Junior College by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Newton Junior College offers opportunities to young and older adults to continue or to start work toward an Associate Degree on a full-time or part-time basis in any one of the following programs:

The Liberal Arts Program, Leading to an Associate in Arts Degree which provides the student with a broad and liberal background, rich in cultural knowledge and understanding. It also provides a basis for a variety of pre-professional courses such as community services, education, engineering and public relations, Satisfactory completion of the prescribed course sequence ordinarily meets the requirements for transfer toward the Bachelor of Art or professional degree.

The Business Administration Program, Leading to an Associate in Science Degree, is designed for further collegiate work in Business Administration or as a basis for advancement in any business occupation. It includes courses which give the student a broad background in both liberal studies and accounting, and provides opportunity for electives in either Liberal Arts or Business subjects.

The General Program, Leading to an Associate in Science degree, is a general program of courses suggested for those students who either have not decided upon a specific career or who want but two years of college education. The curriculum is largely exploratory in nature generous in elective offerings, and designed to serve the individual needs of the community college students.

The Data Processing Program, Leading to the Associate in Science Degree, is a sequence of courses to prepare student sto careers in Data Processing. Both the general education and technical training necessary for competence in the basic areas of machine operation, and programming are provided.

The Electronics Technology Program, Leading to an Associate in Science Degree, is designed to prepare graduates for various branches of basic electronics and to qualify them for upgrading within the industry. This program provides understanding of electronic principles and applications, including general design work and scientific report writing requisite for the Junior Engineering status.

The Nursing Program, Leading to an Associate in Science Degree, is designed to prepare students for general nursing positions at a semi-professional level. Graduates are eligible to take the examination necessary to become Registered Nurses in Massachusetts. Applicants include men and women, single or married, 17 years of age or older. A background including science, especially chemistry, is recommended.

The College announces multiple sections of Elementary French, Spanish, German and Plant Science. A course in Russian has been added to the College curriculum this semester.

Registration for late Afternoon and Evening classes will be held Tuesday, September 13th from 4:00 p. m. to 8:00 p.m. at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville. This program includes courses in the Humanities, Electronics Technology, Data Processing, Mathematics, English Composition, Psycholgy and Sociology.

More information about these courses and programs may be obtained by calling the College office — Woodward 9-0570.

Rabbi Rothman To Conduct All Holy Day Rites

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom of Newton, will conduct all services for the High Holy Days.

Elliot Rosenberg, chairman of Religious Practices, has announced that the practice of holding identical early and late evening services has been extended this year to Holy Day morning. The schedule is as follows:

Wednesday, September 14, the early Service will be held from 6:45 to 8:15 p.m.; the late Service from 9:15 to 10:45 p.m.

Thursday, September 15, the late Service from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Special Children's Services will be from 2:00 to 2:45 p.m.

City Republicans Launch Voter Registration Drive

More than five thousand Newton residents will this week receive a communication from the Newton Republican City Committee urging them to register as voters.

William A. Lincoln, chairman of the Newton Republican organization today stated that its city-wide program to encourage voter registration will be fully underway this week.

Lincoln stated that the Voter Information leaflet compiled by the GOP is now being distributed in the city together with a letter giving special dates set for registration. He said that this leaflet was being distributed as a public service to familiarize voters with statutory requirements and other details helpful to them.

In a communication signed by Mr. Lincoln, as chairman and by Mrs. Michael G. C. Bucuvalas, registration chairman for the Newton GOP, residents not yet on the voting lists are urged to register and are invited to avail themselves of assistance available by calling local Republican officials whose names are listed.

The program is being directed by Mrs. G. C. Bucuvalas, City Committee vice-chairman, assisted by the various Ward Registration chairmen. These are: Mrs. Dennis E. Myers, Ward One; Mrs. Frances Jonah, Ward Two; Ernest O. Sayfarth, Ward Three; Mrs. George Janes, Ward Four; Mrs. Stanley Epstein, Ward Five; Mrs. Malvin F. White, Ward Six; Miss Mary P. Cunningham, Ward Seven; and Bertram Promboin, Ward Eight.

Coast Showing For Chestnut Hill Man's Play

A play entitled "Let a Hundred Flowers Bloom," by Donald D. Dong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Poy Dong, 82 Louise Rd., Chestnut Hill, has been selected for production by Summer Stock Company in California.

Born in Hong Kong 27 years ago, the young playwright is a graduate of Harvard University, and is now studying Chinese at Stanford University.

The only member of the stock company not in residence, he commutes regularly from Wilbur Hall, Palo Alto, to confer with the play's director.

In the fall, Dong will enter Taiwan to study Chinese literature.

His play concerns the conflict between the family traditions of "old" China and the new political government's philosophy. It is written in poetic language, and combines aspects of Greek dramaturgy and the Noh drama.

Although it concerns China today and the Communist government, the play has a premise that applies itself to any individual who is forced to lose his customs and traditions under the auspices of a strong government.

Holy Day Rites To Be Held At Hancock Hall

In order to accommodate its membership, Temple Sinai, Brookline, will hold its High Holy Day Services at the John Hancock Hall, Boston, as in past years. The ample facilities of the Hancock Hall permit Temple Sinai to continue its practice of having parents and their children worship together in family groups.

Continuing its policies established many years ago, Temple Sinai welcomes to its services men and women of the United States Armed Forces, and out-of-town students attending colleges in the area.

Both, Rabbi Benjamin Z. Rudavsky, and Dr. Beryl D. Cohon, rabbi emeritus of Temple Sinai, will participate in the services and preach.

The schedule of services at Hancock Hall is as follows:

Rosh Hashanah: Wed. evening, Sept. 14, 8-10 o'clock—Rabbi Rudavsky will preach: "Where Are We Going?"; Thursday morning, Sept. 15, 10 a.m.: Dr. Cohon will preach: "How Tall Are You?"

Yom Kippur: Friday evening, Sept. 14, 8:15 o'clock — Rabbi Rudavsky will preach: "Sabbath of Sabbaths;" Saturday morning, Sept. 24, 10 o'clock, Rabbi Rudavsky will preach: "Why Jonah?"

Traditional Memorial services will be held the afternoon of Yom Kippur. Dr. Cohon will preach taking as his sermon: "A Well in the Valley of Baca."

The full congregational program of Temple Sinai resumes this week with sessions of the Temple Sinai Religious School beginning Saturday morning and Sunday morning, at 9:40 o'clock.

Sabbath eve services resume this Friday evening, Sept. 9, at 8:15 p.m. when Rabbi Rudavsky will preach. He will take as his sermon topic: "The Autumn Mood."

Single Session Group Discusses Plans Here

On August 30th a large group of parents gathered in Newton Highlands for another summer meeting of the single Session Committee. It was pointed out from the excellent attendance and the enthusiasm of those in the group that a single session proposal is gaining more momentum every day.

Mrs. Joan Saklad, coordinator, presided at the meeting where many new ideas were presented on how to use the public opinion so favorable to a single session.

Richard S. Fallows read a letter from the Chairman of the Newton School Committee. The letter invited five members of the Single Session Committee to participate in a thirty-member study group which will examine all aspects of the elementary school hours

Today, Thursday, September 8th, this Special Committee on the Elementary School Schedule will hold its first meeting. It is hoped that this study group can end its deliberations by December so that any proposals can be put into effect by the September 1967 school year.

At this meeting, Mrs. William Lanciloti, Mrs. Joseph Antonellis and Mrs. Harvey Seletsky mapped out further plans for an already extensive city-wide petition drive. There are now many business establishments that have petitions posted. They are: Newton Juniors, 1261 Center street, Newton Center; Waban Super Market, 10 Windsor road, Waban; Ligett's Rexall Drug Store, 1293 Washington street, West Newton; Walnut Delicatessen, Inc., 395 Walnut street, Newtonville; Newton Center Market, 1241 Center street, Mr. George's Hair Stylists, 39a Lincoln street, Newton Highlands; and Wellesley Pharmacy, 15 Washington street, Wellesley.

Mrs. Sanford Latner discussed plans to obtain signatures at supermarkets and stores today, Thursday afternoon, September 8th at The Star Market in Newtonville; Friday morning, September 9th at the A & P, Beacon and Walnut street, Friday morning, September 16th at Sklar's Market, 275 Center street; and Thursday morning, September 22nd at Sklar's.

It was further commented that there had been no reply from the Department of Education concerning the Committe's request to veto Dr. Charles Brown's new elementary school hours. These hours ask that the children be at school ten minutes earlier and return from lunch fifteen minutes sooner.

It was apparent at this gathering that the parents were uphappy with this added burden on their children. Several of these parents are social workers and educators who contributed added insight into this problem.

The Single Session Committee is looking forward to meeting with the special study group which will hopefully resolve the fifty-eight year old Newton elementary school hours.

Drive Is Set For Retarded Children Here

Newton's participation in the annual funds campaign for the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children has been scheduled for the period between Nov. 13 and 24.

Details can be had from the association's executive director, William A. Perry, at CO 6-4520.

The association's first open-meeting of the fall season will be held in the Commonwealth Motor Hotel, Kenmore Sq., Boston, this (Thursday) evening, at 8:30.

Jewish New Year To Start On Wednesday

As the sun speeds inexorably once again to its autumn equinox, Jews of Newton, like those everywhere in the world, turn to the synagogue for self-assessment and understanding at the time of the Jewish New Year.

Observation of Rosh Hashanah for this, the 5727th New Year, begins as the sun goes down next Wednesday evening, Sept. 14.

The Jewish New Year is markedly different in character from the joyous, exuberant celebration of other peoples. It is a profoundly serious day, during which Jews come together to pray, to examine their acts and their relationship to God and to each other, to remember the past and dedicate themselves to the future.

It is the first of the great "Days of Awe," a 10-day period culminating in the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur.

According to Hebrew tradition, during the 10-day period man's fate is written down on Rosh Hashana and sealed at last on the final, 10th day of Yom Kippur, which begins this year at sundown Friday, Sept. 23. Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashana for two days, most Reform Jews for one.

The traditional Rosh Hashana service centers around prayer and self-examination, but reached an extraordinary dramatic climax when the shofar (a hollow ram's horn, one of the oldest instruments known to man) is blown. The book of Leviticus refers to the sound of the shofar as a "blast of horns, a holy convocation."

The sound is piercing and powerful over the centuries —it has symbolized many things to Jews ancient and modern; a call to battle, the tearing away of the old year and the past through repentance and forgiveness, a plea to God that he remember man, and an alarm to rouse man from his moral indolence to an awareness of his responsibilities toward God and his fellow man.

Though the holiday is a solemn, introspective one, it is colored by an underlying joyousness in its traditional songs and the poetry which has been incorporated into the service.

The wish for a "sweet" year of happiness and fulfillment is symbolically expressed at the traditional evening meal; families dip a piece of bread or an apple into a bowl of honey in the hope that "sweetness" will flavor the coming year.

A prayer from the Union Prayerbook, used in Reform Jewish services, reads:

". . . . Open our eyes to the beauty of Thy truth and help us so to exemplify it in our lives that we may win all men for Thy law of righteousness. Gather all Thy children around Thy banner of truth that Thy name may be hallowed through us in all the world and the entire human family may be blessed with truth and peace. Amen."

Newton Family Wins $25,000 In N.H. Sweeps

Amberoid, favorite in the third annual New Hampshire Sweepstakes last Saturday at Rockingham, failed to come up a winner, so the Arthur Blank family of 155 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, didn't take home $50,000, but they did gather in the next best prize $25,000.

It was Arthur Blank's first visit to a horse track. His comment, after Buffle beat out Amberoid, was, "So I didn't win $50,000, but I'll settle for $25,000."

The Blank family held two tickets. One was in the names of Arthur and his wife, Dorothy. The other was in the names of their two youngest children, Michael, 16, and Susan, 11. It is likely that the couple's two older children, Stuart, 18, and Noreen, 21, students at the University of Massachusetts, will share in the winnings.

Blank, who owns Arthur Blank Company, Inc., in Allston, manufacturers of plastic sheeting, had the following added comment: "It's wonderful. It's the first time in my life I ever won anything."

15 Injured In Labor Day Exodus Accidents

Accidents reported in Newton over the Labor Day exodus period injured 15 persons.

There were six accidents, five of them last Friday, and one on the holiday.

Monday's crash, caused by a tire blowout on Route 128, sent the riders in two cars to Newton-Wellesley Hospital for treatment.

State police reported that a car driven by Windsor MacKinnon of West Roxbury blew a tire on the expressway's south-bound lane Monday afternoon. The car following that of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Blanco of Dorchester, was unable to stop in time, and there was a collision.

The Blanco couple was reported to be in good condition Tuesday morning. Blanco had several broken ribs and a cut forehead. His wife suffered a concussion and multiple abrasions.

Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon and two passengers, Mrs. Catherine F. Barnes of Dorchester, and Michael Horigan of Mattapan, were released from the hospital after treatment for cuts and bruises.

One of the persons hurt Friday was a pedestrian, Carl W. Brashears of 63 Jasset street, Newton, who told police the car that struck him did not stop. At Newton-Wellesley Hospital he was treated for a possible ankle break.

When two cars came together at Cabot and Langdon streets, Newton, the driver of one, Thomas V. Dalton of Brookline, 74-years-old, was shaken up. Also shaken up was Carol J. Flato, 23, of 24 Frederick street, Newtonville, driver of the other. Carol's mother, Mrs. Lillian Flato had a side injury.

There was a two-car collision in front of 27 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill. The drivers were listed by police as Mrs. Katherine Cassidy, of Pleasant street, Newton Centre, and Stuart S. McCallum, 103 Webster park, West Newton. Police took Mrs. Cassidy to Newton-Wellesley Hospital, where she was treated for injuries to her head and right shoulder. Carl Cassidy, 8, riding with Mrs. Cassidy, was treated for multiple contusions and abrasions. McCallum said he would see his own doctor for treatment of his injuries.

Mrs. Harriet R. Abramson, 19 Mayflower road, Chestnut Hill, one of two drivers whose cars collided at Route 9 and Sheldon road, Newton Centre, went to Newton-Wellesley for a checkup. The other driver, William F. Farrell of Hyde Park was not hurt.

Fat Fitzgibbons of 934 Watertown street, Newtonville, who was riding with Miss Ann M. Dorsey of 227 Jackson road, Newton, was treated for a lacerated scalp at the hospital following a collision opposite 16 Calbot street, Newton, betwen the car driven by Miss Dorsey and one whose driver was Jeffrey R. Hellman of 16 Clements road, Newton.

Peak Population Is Expected To Reach 96,000

Analysis of the figures in a population study presented to Mayor Monte G. Basbas by the city's Planning Department, indicates that Newton can look ahead to a projected annual population growth of one percent of the population, estimated this year at 88,514.

Under the present land usage program, the city will attain a peak population of 96,271. This figure is reckoned from projection use of privately owned land that could be used for 1877 dwelling units housing an average family of 3.45 persons.

However, should public parks, golf courses and other lands be taken for residential use, the saturation point could be increased to 100,000 persons.

However, a more realistic view of the situation points to a saturation level of from 92,000 to 95,000 persons.

Warren H. Morss, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Morss, 247 Temple St., West Newton, will enter Proctor Academy whein the Andover, N.H., school begins its 118th year.

Decisions Of High Court Help Police

The recent Supreme Court decisions that compel police to present evidence that is concise and has been obtained in a legal manner, tend to improve police work and do not impede the police in carrying out their duties, according to Capt. John N. McMullen, prosecutor for Newton District Court.

In a recent talk to members of Newton Kiwanis, the captain pointed out that for years the FBI has operated successfully under such strict guidelines as those set up by the decisions, which insist that civil rights must be protected.

Capt. McMullen has been in the police department for 25 years. He is a graduate of the FBI training school, and has taught police law in university extension.

Judith E. Neitlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner J. Neitlich, 59 Marcellus Dr., Newton Centre, is starting her junior year at Lesley College, Cambridge, where she is preparing for a teaching career in elementary schools. A transfer student from Lasell Junior College, she was a member there of the French, Spanish, Community and Science Clubs.

Heckler Vote Here Aids Win; Democrats Follow State Trend

The bitter Democratic fights held the spotlight in Tuesday's primary in Newton, but it was the city's Republicans who cast the ballots which made a national impact.

Newton's GOP voters, turning out in larger than expected numbers, helped to make possible the upset victory scored by Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler over veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin.

Mrs. Heckler, who defeated Martin by 3234 votes, picked up 2446 votes of her plurality in Newton. The city's totals were 4030 for Mrs. Heckler and 1594 for Martin.

William A. Lincoln of Newton, who barely lifted a finger in the primary, easily won the Republican nomination for the State Senate in the Norfolk-Suffolk senatorial district over Patrick E. McKenna of Brighton.

Lincoln, one of the State's most prominent Republicans, now faces a hard election battle with Democratic State Senator Beryl W. Cohen of Brookline.

The district in which Lincoln and Cohen will wage their fight includes Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton, the entire town of Brookline and Ward 22, Brighton.

Lincoln polled 3468 votes to 539 for McKenna on Tuesday. Lincoln drew 1405 votes in Newton, 1875 in Brookline and 188 in Brighton. McKenna received 140 votes in Newton,

Mayor Presses For MBTA Improvements

Mayor Monte G. Basbas this week continues to press for better service from the MBTA for the citizens of the City of Newton. A member of MBTA Advisory Board, Mayor Basbas has directed an appeal to Mayor John F. Collins, Chairman of the Advisory Board.

The Board is currently considering a proposed "Comprehensive Plan" which in the opinion of Mayor Basbas and his Transportation Committee does not adequately meet the needs of Newton residents.

New Police Role Is Seen Crime War Aid

Approval was voted Monday night by the Board of Aldermen to Mayor Monte G. Basbas' request that the City of Newton take advantage of a federal grant for implementation of a Police-Community Relations program, as an aid in the constant war on crime.

The grant, in an amount estimated at $11,600, comes under Section 3 of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act of 1965 that provides for the making of grants by the Department of Justice, Office of Law Enforcement Assistance, to local bodies and agencies.

The money is "to assist them in the provision of special programs to improve community relations between the police department and the general citizenry, and to limit the incidence of crime."

In submitting to the Board a resolution, adoption of which would authorize him to apply to Washington for the grant, Mayor Basbas explained his reasons for the request in the following letter:

"The purpose of this letter," it began, "is to acquaint you with the policies and requirements of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act and to present to you for your consideration a tentative Police Community Relations Program for the City of Newton.

"Newton has compiled a program within the scope of this Act with the general purpose of limiting the incidence of crime and of improving law enforcement. This program calls for the extensive training of 13 Newton police-

Republicans Set Up Plans For Election

Republicans of Newton are girding for some real action in the coming elecions. Chairman William A. Lincoln of the Newton Republican City Committee summoned all Ward Chairmen and organization leaders into executive session this week.

Plans were discussed to organize down to precinct level so as not to leave any stone unturned for the garnering of votes in the crucial contests ahead.

Ward chairmen were instructed to tighten up ward organizations thus triggering off a series of meetings throughout the city.

Police Chase Ends As Truck Overturns

A 17-year-old Newton Lower Falls youth, who was released on bail last week after being arrested as a suspect in connection with two burglaries, was taken into custody by Waltham police Sunday morning following a chase during which the panel truck he was driving tipped over and several shots were fired.

Martin J. McHugh, Jr., 17, of 2303 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls, was arraigned in Waltham district court Monday on a variety of motor vehicle violations. His bail was set at $2500, and his case was continued.

He was accused of using a vehicle without authority, of driving without a license in his possession, of failing to stop at a police officer's signal, of speeding and of assault by means of a dangerous weapon.

The latter charge stems from the accusation that young McHugh allegedly tried to run down Waltham Patrolman Bernard A. Chaisson

Aldermen In Area Changes Of Precincts

Action of the Board of Aldermen Monday night in voting unanimously to make changes in the city's voting precincts were calculated to save the city some $1300.

Ernest F. Dietz, Ward 6 Alderman, chairman of a committee on ward line changes, reported to the Board that his committee had acted favorably on suggestions of Alan W. Licarie, Election Commission executive secretary.

Under the new plan, as it was approved Monday night, street changes will be made in Ward 8 to keep Precincts 1 and 2 under the 2000 voter maximum state law prescribes.

Also, Precint 5 in Ward 1, Precinct 5 in Ward 4 and Precinct 4 in Ward 7 will be eliminated. Precinct 5 in Ward 4 will merge with Precinct 4 in Ward 4 for a voter total of 1619, and Precinct 4 in Ward 7 will merge with Precinct 3 in Ward 7 for a total of 1613.

Section 2 of the state law, Chapter 54, states that no precinct shall contain more than 2000 voters, and that the Aldermen, prior to the first Monday in October, shall merge or divide such precincts into conforming precincts to take effect Dec. 31.

The changes do not affect this year's elections.

METCO Project Has Smooth Start Here

Approximately 18,00 youngsters, attired in their spanking, new "Back-to-School" attire, returned to classrooms in the city's schools this week.

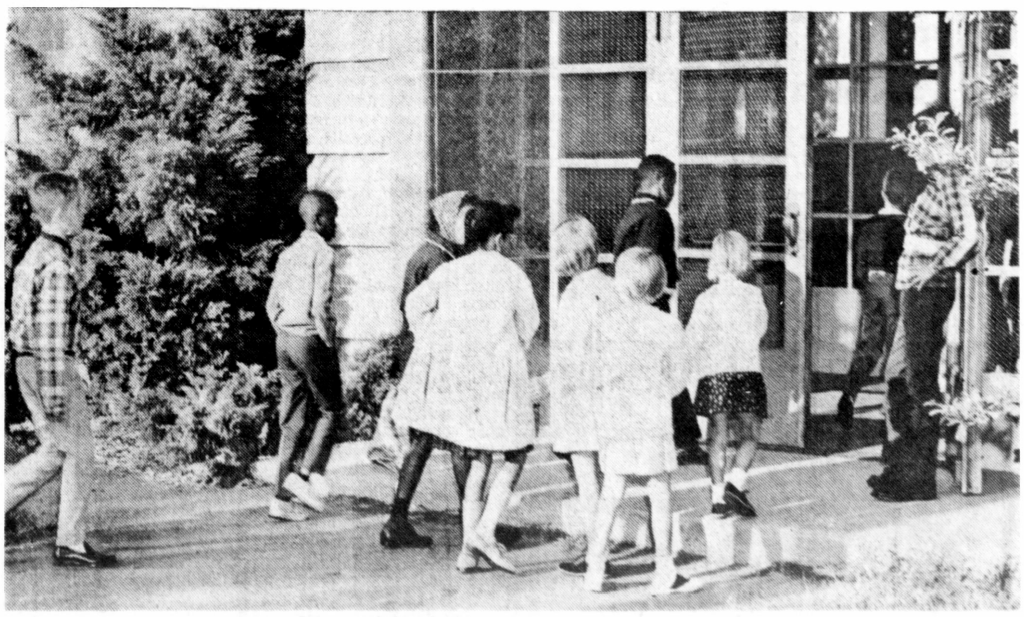

Stretching ahead is another school year with some nine months of books, lessons, home-work and discipline.

Unique this year at school opening was the launching of the METCO program. Without fanfare or incident, and minus any special ceremonies, 50 Negro youngsters from Roxbury and North Dorchester, were assimilated into the Newton school system.

They arrived by bus to begin their studies in local schools.

Newton is one of seven suburban communities participating in the METCO pilot program being financed by

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Democratic Primary Returns Boosted GOP Election Hopes

The Republicans have plenty to be optimistic about as they review the results of a surprise-studded Democratic primary.

The two Democrats who will head their party's State ticket have many wounds to heal and breaches to close before the November election.

If they don't succeed in pulling the pieces together quickly, they'll find the political road ahead rocky and uphill.

9 ARRESTED IN CONN. WELFARE MELEE

POLICE BROKE UP a near riot Wednesday at the Hartford, Conn., Department of Welfare and arrested nine persons demonstrating for increased welfare payments.

The melee broke out in a third floor corridor leading to the offices of Welfare Commissioner Bernard Shapiro who said he would speak with a token delegation but "not with a mob."

About 150 demonstrators had gathered in a downpour at a nearby intersection for a 10-block march to the state capitol where they were to present petitions to Gov. John N. Dempsey.

GEMINI PILOTS TURN 'CARTWHEELS'

THE TWO GEMINI astronauts spent three hours "cartwheeling" in space as the two space vehicles, Gemini 11 and the Agena satellite, whirled about tethered by a 100 foot line.

Space altitude champs Charles Conrad and Richard Gordon at first endured a wild, flailing, behavior by the twin satellites. "Hang on," cried Command Pilot Conrad, "Here goes the jerk . . Boinggg . . ."

The pilots were able to jockey their craft around until the tether was tight, and the two vehicles went turning around each other at a rate of about once every nine minutes.

OPEN HOUSING DEFEATED IN SENATE

THE SENATE dealt a death blow to the administration's civil rights bill and its open housing section after GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen denounced recent violent Negro street demonstrations.

The Senate smothered a Democratic leadership bid to halt a filibuster against the bill that began Sept 7. The vote on a cloture motion was 54 to 42, 10 votes short of the two-thirds majority required for approval.

MINIMUM PAY HIKE GOES TO LBJ

PRESIDENT JOHNSON won his biggest Great Society legislative victory of the year Wednesday with final congressional apprroval of a 35-cent increase in the federal minimum wage.

With the President's signature, the measure will raise the minimum hourly wage from the present $1.25 to $1.40 next February 1 and to $1.60 a year later. It also will extend coverage to an additional 8.1 million workers.

U.S. ORDERS GRENADA, MISS., SCHOOL PROBE

A FEDERAL JUDGE in Grenada, Miss., Wednesday ordered all schools there to close Thursday during a court hearing sparked by two days of white mob attacks on Negroes attending newly integrated schools.

About 90 Negro students, attended the third day of classes in two predominately white schools in peace Wednesday after being escorted by about 150 state troopers and FBI agents.

KLAN WIZARD GUILTY, TO APPEAL

A FEDERAL COURT jury of nine whites and three Negroes in Washington Wednesday found Ku Klux Klan leader Robert M. Shelton guilty of contempt of Congress.

Shelton, imperial wizard of the United Klans of America, announced he would appeal the verdict. Conviction carries a maximum sentence of a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

U.S. SUES REVIVED N.Y. PAPER

THE U.S. JUSTICE Dept. Wednesday sued the World Journal Tribune, Inc., in New York, charging antitrust violations in the corporation's acquisition of the New York Herald Tribune.

The complaint charged that the acquisition of the morning Herald Tribune substantially lessened competition and tended to "create a monopoly" in the publishing of daily newspapers of general circulation and daily afternoon newspapers of general circulation by giving the World Journal Tribune "a decisive competitive advantage over the only other daily afternoon newspaper in New York City, the New York Post, and to threaten the latter's continued existence."

BLUE CHIP STOCKS AID MARKET LIFT

The rise sent the Dow Jones industrial average soaring 10.75 to 806.23—its best level since it stood at 810.74 on Aug. 18. The gain on the day put the indicator up 21.35 since President Johnson proposed suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation rules last Thursday.

The New York Stock Exchange Index posted a gain equal to 41 cents in the average share price. Trading slowed to 6,250,000 shares from 6,870,000 shares Tuesday.

JAMAICA PLAIN COMBED FOR KILLING CLUES

THE SAVAGE beating death of an 88-year-old spinster went unsolved Wednesday as detectives combed the Jamaica Plain area for clues. Police hoped neighbors in the area may have noticed strangers lurking near her home at 167 Bourne Street.

Miss Alice Colleton was found dead Tuesday after a letter carrier noticed mail was piling up at her door and notified neighbors. Her home was ransacked and a telephone dangled from its receiver. Miss Colleton, a former Roslindale school teacher, had recently returned from a vacation in Maine.

MASS. MAN TRIED IN DRUGS SMUGGLE

A CAMBRIDGE lawyer, arrested in Southampton, England, on charges of possessing hashish, took part in "an act of international drug smuggling on the grand sale," the crown charged Wednesday.

Lawrence Dickson Yont Jr., 37, of Cambridge, was charged with possessing 545,000 grains of the marijuana-like narcotic, worth about $50,000 on the black market, and 76 pounds of hashish resin, with the intention of evading the Dangerous Drugs Act.

COP SLAYER WINS CHAIR STAY

CHARLES E. TRACY, convicted killer of a policeman, won a 90-day reprieve from electrocution Wednesday by vote of Gov. John A Volpe and the Executive Council.

The governor had sought a four-month stay but the council reduced it to three. Tracy was sentenced to die after his conviction December 14, 1963, for the slaying of a Boston patrolman who surprised him in the basement of a bank.

SOVIETS OPEN U. S. 'TOURIST SPY' DRIVE

RUSSIA accused the United States of using American tourists in a campaign of "total political espionage" and ordered the expulsion of a U.S. diplomat Wednesday. American officials said a Peace Corps worker was arrested when he strayed across Russia's border from Iran.

The U.S. Embassy said the Soviet Foreign Ministry had ignored petitions for the release of the corpsman, Thomas R. Dawson, 24, of Annapolis, Md., and had refused to allow American officials to talk with him.

YANKS CHASE "YELLOW STAR" REDS

U.S. AIR CAVALRYMEN swarmed through the Central Highlands in one of the largest helicopter assaults of the war Wednesday and a Communist division that had been terrorizing villagers turned tail and ran.

The "Yellow Star Division," composed of both North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas, put up only a brief fight before fleeing their "crow's foot" stronghold about 280 miles northeast of Saigon. More than 5,000 men of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division took off after them in hot pursuit.

Women Voters Open Meeting On Sept. 28th

The Newton League of Women Voters announces that its first Open Meeting of the year will consider the topic "Newton and the Urban Challenge."

The meeting, which is free and open to all, will be held on Wednesday evening, September 28th at 8:00 p.m. at the Claflin School.

The League has long been interested in the problems which must be faced in our urban society, and it feels that this subject should be of great concern to the citizens of our community as well.

Coinciding during this week also will be the League's annual membership drive and finance drive, when the League of Women Voters will seek funds as well as friends.

Science Service Lesson - Sermon Is On Matter

A Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" will be presented at Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah: "Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills, and from the multitude of mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel."

From the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following passages will be considered:

"Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal ,for matter is temporal and is therefore a mortal phenomenon, a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous. . . . The crude creations of mortal thought must finally give place to the glorious forms which we sometimes behold in the camera of divine Mind, when the mental picture is spiritual and eternal."

Temple Emanuel Youth Program Now Underway

Chester Rubin, Youth Activities Director of Temple Emanuel, announces that registration is now taking place in all phases of the Youth Program.

Temple Emanuel recently received the coveted Solomon Schechter Award for the "best youth program in the country." The Youth Program offers a full scale Scouting program through its Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer groups. There are, also, a number of interest groups with classes in dramatics, arts and crafts, cooking and Israeli dancing. A social dance class is sponsored by the Sisterhood for boys and girls in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades of public school.

We will again have a special program for 7th grade boys and girls, consisting of various activities and programs to take place on Saturday evenings. Among these will be roller skating, bowling, ice skating, movies, talent shows, visits to places of interest, supper parties and cultural and religious programs.

A Pre-USY group was started last year for 8th graders and will continue this season. The Temple Emanuel Pre-USY group received its National Charter last season and will participate in all the National USY activities.

The combined Bat Mitzvah parties will continue again this season.

The Athletic Program will take place on Thursday evenings at the Meadowbrook Jr. High School for boys in the 6th-12th grades. Last season our Varsity Basketball Team won double honors by winning the championship in both the BBNJCC and YMCA leagues.

The USY groups will vary their program this season, and will meet on Sunday evenings in order to allow the numerous teenagers from Temple Emanuel who attend HTC to participate also. The Sunday evening program will consist of a Service Club meetings, supper and group cultural and social events. There will also be several interest groups including a Choral group, Study group and Hebrew dance group. There will be eight separate USY clubs and each will vary its program according to the needs and interests of its membership.

A Leadership Training Fellowship group will also be sponsored for those boys and girls who are actively pursuing their Jewish studies at Hebrew Teachers College or at Temple Emanuel High School Department.

All young adults in thec ommunity of post college age are invited to join the Emanuel Club for a varied program of religious, social and cultural activities.

Programs for our senior citizens are also under the supervision of the Youth Activities Department and regular meetings are held each Tuesday in the Temple Vestry. All Golden Agers in the Newton community are invited to join.

The large staff of leaders in all phases of the Youth Activities program are carefully selected and are under constant guidance of the Youth Activities Director, Mr. Chester Rubin. Rabbi Albert I. Gordon is supervisor of the entire program assisted by Rabbi M. David Weiss and Leonard L. Matthews, Chairman of the Youth Activities Committee.

Newton Music School Opens September 30

The All-Newton Music School will open on September 30. A non-profit organization, it was founded in 1911 by Elizabeth Fyffe. She, together with a group of public-spirited people of Newton, believed that music study of a high quality should be made available for children and adults.

The school offers private instruction in all string instruments, all woodwinds, saxophone, harp, piano, voice, brass instruments, classical guitar and recorder. Every instrumental and voice student has the right to a musicianship class which gives him a good theoretical foundation.

For young children there are pre-instrumental music classes, giving the child the necessary ear training, elements of sight singing, rhythm and melody.

In addition, the school offers a wide array of courses for adults. A sight-reading course for adults offers an opportunity of learning to read music by sight and developing the power of perceptive hearing. It should be a help to both singers and instrumentalists.

A recorder beginners class and recorder workshop are offered one evening a week. Guitar-folksinging is open to both children and adults on Saturday afternoons.

The school's dance department consists of creative dance classes for children under 8 years of age and ballet classes for children above this age. A modern dance course is offered to adults.

In addition to the established weekly workshop for recorder for adults, a chamber music and chamber orchestra course is planned one evening a week.

For the first time in the history of the music school a class in jazz improvisation both for children and adults has been added to the many other courses.

The school will be glad to send catalogues at request. Telephone 527-4553. Registration for old students opens September 19; for new students it opens September 21.

Newton Native Gets Awards For Weaving

Mrs. Lucille D. Tushin, a native of Auburndale and former resident of Randlett Pk., West Newton, but now of Gloucester, won five ribbons at the Topsfield Fair for her hand weaving.

Her entries comprised a two-piece dress with blue skirt and contrasting lighter blue top, set of place mats, baby blanket and a rug and table mat.

Mrs. Tushin took her initial instruction in weaving at the adult education classes of the Newton schools under the tutelage of the late Miss Myra Davis. For the past two winters she has been a member of the Schoolhouse Weavers in Dunedin, Fla.

She feels that weaving is the most practical of all hobbies as there is a limitless number of useful articles that can be made on a home loom.

men in public speaking, publice relations, and police techniques and then using these men to systematically lecture the school-age population and adults associated with civic and benevolent organizations on the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

"The Federal government has informed us that 'action oriented' projects, that come under Section 3 of the statute, as our Police-Community Program does, are being sought at this time by the Department of Justice. There have been very few applications in this area.

"It should be noted that this statute will fund almost all of the expenses associated with the project. They require the city to furnish some facilities (such as buildings, etc.,) and some equipment (such as automobiles) but beyond that, they will finance it.

"Our program will cost, it is presently estimated, approximately $11,600. Of this, about $4000 will be used for the training program at Newton Junior College. The remainder will cover the transportation costs and wages of the men, plus the cost of 5000 reprints of the 'Guardian' booklet, which will be distributed during the lectures.

"I have enclosed for your consideration a copy of a draft resolution to be adopted by the Board of Aldermen so as to enable the City of Newton to apply for this program."

Monday night, on a 21 to 1 roll-call vote, with two members absent, the Board authorized the Mayor to make the application to Washington for the grant.

The lone dissenter was Alderman John P. Nixon, who in debate that followed Alderman Paul J. Burke's presentation of the item for consideration, expressed the opinion that in adopting the resolution the Board would be "going a little far afield."

Terming the grant project "a boondoggle," Nixon decried what he called the tendency on the part of local authorities to grab for any federal grant offered, regardless of its value.

The Alderman, who is chairman of the Board's committee of Finance, asserted that any money expended for the purpose of police improvement might better be applied to the hiring of additional officers to patrol the city and prevent crime.

He then proposed an amendment to the resolution to refer it to the Police Study Commitee.

The Nixon amendment was rejected on a vote of 4 to 18, with two absent. Those voting in favor of the amendment were Winslow C. Auryansen, Ernest F. Dietz, George L. Hicks and John P. Nixon. The absentees were William M. Glovsky and Edward C. Uehlein.

Changes Ways

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) —Having lived as a vegetarian and teetotaler for 60 years, Swiss "peace apostle" Max Daetwyler, 80, has revealed he has started drinking wine and eating meat.

The bearded veteran of many one man peace missions around the world defended his change of mind by saying "only fools insist on errors."

Lincoln disclosed the formaion of a Special Finance Committee which is expected will be successful in coming up with the funds needed to finance the committee's expanded election activities.

The Executive Committee voted approval of the election year budget prepared by Treasurer Howard Whitmore III and Louis I. Egelson, Jr. City Committee vice-chairman.

Approval was also voted for the opening and manning of Newton's Republican Election Campaign Headquarters.

Reporting on the current city-wide GOP registration program, Chairman Lincoln paid warm tribute to members who worked through a long, hot summer to prepare the massive mailing. He named the following:

Mrs. Michael C. G. Bucuvalas, Registration Chairman; Miss Christine Bucuvalas, Michael C.G. Bucuvalas, Mrs. Peter Bucuvalas, Miss Virginia Bucuvalas, Mrs. Morgan Campbell, Mrs. Peter J. Carris, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Citron.

Also: Mrs. Melvin B. Clayton, Mrs. Robert Edwards, Mrs. Stanley Epstein, Mrs. Harry Gootman, Mrs. Charles Henes, Mrs. Arno Heyn, Mrs. Eugene M. Hirshberg, Mrs. Francis Jonah.

And Mrs. Hyman Marder, Mrs. Joseph McNay, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Norris, Mrs. Francis Rosendorf, Ernest Seyfarthm, Mrs. Mildred E. Simms, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Toyias, Mrs. Dorothy B. Tracy, Miss Susan Vinnicombe, Mrs. Malvin F. White.

The mailing of the GOP Information Leaflet and a special letter concerning registration is now complete, thanks to the efforts of these people, Mr. Lincoln stated, and is now in the mail reaching some 5000 homes in Newton.

The long session dealing with a number of campaign problems and issues was attended by: William A. Lincoln, Chairman, who presided; State Committeewoman Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. Michael C. G. Bucuvalas, Melvin B. Clayton, Louis I. Egelson, Jr., Edward Hallett, Jr., William R. Horner, David A. Lurensky, Representative Theodore D. Mann, Julius L. Masow, Stanley Miller, John P. Nixon.

And Wigmore A. Pierson, candidate for the House of Representatives; Mrs. Maynard M. Slessinger, Warren A. Sutherand, Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Elizabeth Walsh, Joseph Walsh, Howard Whitmore, III, Henry J. Wilson, and George Withington.

Political Highlights

As it is, both Governor John A. Volpe and Attorney General Edward W. Brooke must be rated at this stage as favorites as they prepare for the critical November election battles.

About the only bright spot in the Democratic picture as the primary returns were tabulated was the gracious concession speech of Boston Mayor John F. Collins and his pledge to support the entire Democratic State ticket.

It must have been a stunning shock to Collins to lose his home city of Boston to ex-Governor Endicott Peabody.

But he accepted his defeat graciously when he declared that as Mayor of Boston for nearly seven years he has tried to do what was right, that he had tough decisions to make and that the decisions he made weren't always politically popular or expedient.

That probably is the answer to Collins' defeat. It poses the question whether a Mayor of a city such as Boston can do the things he believes must be done and still survive politically.

Peabody proved the best vote-getter in the Democratic senatorial race. But the Democratic voters didn't nominate the best campaigner as their party's candidate for the U. S. Senate.

Without taking any credit away from Peabody for the decisive primary victory he won over Collins, there is no question but that Peabody carried Boston because of the hostility Collins aroused by the tough decisions to which he referred.

Peabody now has a big chance as he squares away for his election battle with Brooke. He will have the active support of Senator Edward M. Kennedy, who will because of the neutrality he maintained in the primary, because of the neutrality he maintaind in the primary, as well as the backing of Mayor Collins.

However, it's likely that he will be obliged to wage a different kind of campaign against Brooke than he did against Collins if he is to have a real chance of winning.

While former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack defeated former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell to gain the right to stand against Governor Volpe in November, McCormack did not display the vote-pulling power polls and surveys had indicated he possessed.

O'Donnell drew an unexpectedly big vote and ran ahead of McCormack in some areas where McCormack had been expected to roll up decisive pluralities.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy's move in going out of his way to aid O'Donnell's cause at the dedication of the new John F. Kennedy Federal Building resulted in a tremendous 11th hour swing to O'Donnell.

This occurred after the polls and surveys had been completed. It made the McCormack-O'Donnell contest into a real race, and it left many of the experts talking to themselves and wondering what had happened.

How much Bobby Kennedy's open support of O'Donnell embarassed his younger brother, Senator Ted Kennedy, who was strictly neutral in all the primary clashes, can only be a matter of conjecture.

It will be extremely interesting to see if Bobby Kennedy comes into Massachusetts to join his younger brother in stumping for McCormack, Peabody and the other members of the Democratic State ticket.

The political powerhouse in Tuesday's primary was former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti who blazed his way to a crushing victory over ex-Governor Foster Furcolo and former Assistant Attorney General DeGiacomo in their three-way contest for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Bellotti was the one big Democratic candidate who ran strictly according to form in the primary and who did exactly what the polls indicated he would do.

Whatever political magic Bellotti possesses, it certainly produces votes in a Democratic primary. One explanation may be that Bellotti is able to marshal an army of devoted supporters who will work in almost fanatical fashion for him.

Bellotti now moves on into a stiff election battle with Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson, one of the most attractive candidates on the Republican side of the fence.

For Foster Furcolo the primary probably marked the end of the political road.

Furcolo had served two terms as Governor, one as State Treasurer, had been an outstanding member of Congress. But in his attempted comeback Furcolo never really got his campaign for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General off the ground.

His indictment — even though he was later cleared in court—and the indictment of a number of men who served in his administration, most of whom also were acqutted of wrongdoing proved too big a handicap for Furcolo to overcome. He also was unable to raise the money to finance the kind of campaign he needed to wage in order to stand a chance against Bellotti.

Former Assistant Attorney General DeGiacomo, who would have made an excellent Attorney General, is not a professional politician, was unable to get his campaign moving to the point where he was ever really in the fight.

A sidelight to the senatorial contest was that historian Thomas Boylston Adams gave the Democratic voters an opportunity to express their opposition to the war in Vietnam, and they didn't express it.

The hard fact, however, was that the vote polled by Adams probably was not an accurate reflection of public sentiment toward the Vietnamese war.

Most people, whatever their views on the war in Vietnam, obviously didn't consider it a campaign issue.

Adams also had no chance of winning, and most people were not willing to throw away a vote on him for the purpose of protesting the policies of the Johnson administration in Vietnam.

Adams told the people a vote for him would be a vote of no-confidence in the Johnson administration.

So political writers across the nation may well interpret the primary returns in Massachusetts as a rousing vote for confidence for LBJ.

It certainly would be stretching things to the breaking point to make any such interpretation.

Councillor Heckler Wins Over Joe Martin

In most sections of Massachusetts the Republican primary was so quiet and uneventful that few GOP voters bothered to go to the polls. But in the 10th congressional district the Republican voters produced an upset which commanded national attention as Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler defeated veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin.

It was unfortunate that Martin, who will be 82 in November and has known all the honors a Congressman can achieve, did not bow out of office gracefully instead of being dumped out by the voters.

To most political observers it seemed apparent that Martin was persuaded and prodded by the people around him to stand for renomination for a 22 term on Washington's Capitol Hill.

Old Joe's request for "just one more term" had a certain sentimental appeal down in Martin's Bristol County strongholds. But it didn't carry much weight with the Republican voters in Newton, Needham, Westwood and Wellesley who realized that the feeble and aging Martin no longer is physically able to give his district the kind of representation it should get.

Councillor Heckler won her fight in those four communities.

The returns from Newton, Needham and Westwood gave her a plurality of 5101 votes over Martin and enabled her to go on to win the Republican nomination by 3234 votes.

In Needham Councillor Heckler topped Martin almost 4-1, polling 2544 votes to Martin's 685.

Newton went into Mrs. Heckler's column by a margin of better than 2½-1, giving the lady councillor 4039 votes and Martin 1594.

Westwood Republicans voted almost 3-1 for Councillor Heckler.

This was a spectacular political triumph not only for Councillor Heckler but also for her legion of women supporters who called in the baby sitters, rolled up their sleeves and showed the masculine politicos a few things which must have made them sit up in respectful attention.

Mrs. Heckler's only hope of defeating Martin was to get a big vote out in Newton, Needham, Westwood and Wellesley. She and her backers had to do it by sheer hard work because there were no other contests to draw out the Republican voters.

They did it in as impressive a bit of political organization work as you'll ever see.

It would be interesting to know how many Republican husbands were told by their wives in Newton, Needham, Wellesley and Westwood that they'd get no dinner until they went to the polls and voted on primary night. You can be sure the number was substantial.

Councillor Heckler and her army of feminine supporters now must get ready to march into an election battle for Mrs. Heckler faces a formidable Democratic candidate in Bristol County Commission Chairman Patrick H. Harrington of Somerset.

A lot of men will move back out of harm's way as the ladies move into action.

There's an element of sadness when a political career comes to an abrupt end in the manner Congressman Joe Martin's did in this primary even though there's little doubt that Joe Martin should have bowed out voluntarily.

But Joe Martin is no object of pity.

He can retire from Congress on a maximum pension, and he's comfortably fixed for the rest of his life.

Martin has served in Congress for 42 years. He has been both Speaker and Republican leader of the national House. He has presided over GOP national conventions.

He was bitterly resentful when his own party members dropped him as their leader in the House because they felt he was no longer able to furnish the energetic leadership which was needed.

Joe Martin remained on in Congress to get his revenge by ousting Charles Hallack from the GOP leadership after Halleck had deposed him. He had his day of revenge. But he simply tried to stay in Congress too long. The Republican voters were unwilling to give him the one more term he requested—not when they could nominate pert, peppy Margaret Heckler.

Politicos May Move To Strip Power of Voters

For the first time since the pre-primary convention system of endorsing candidates was revived back in 1954 all the candidates picked up by the Democratic State Convention in June were victorious in the Democratic primary.

That could and may lead to a move on Beacon Mill to abolish the primary.

If it does, it should be strongly resisted.

The politicians already have more than enough power in determining who the nominees of the two political parties should be for the top statewide offices.

An endorsement by a Democratic State Convention is worth a tidy bonus of votes in a primary.

But the final fight to pick the nominees should remain with the voters and should not be taken from them. There is a dangerous drift in that direction.

Lee Loumos Says:

The best thing I can say about most of the new TV shows is that they are in color. Several have promise of being good entertainment, but as yet my favorite is still a carry over from last year, namely "Run for Your Life". The plot has consistently been credible and the acting has been excellent. I hope the writers of this show don't run out of steam and end up with the usual drivel just for the sake of putting on a show. I think a producer would be smart to eliminate some of his shows when he finds he has run out of good ideas, don't you? Anyway, I am particularly pleased to see so many daytime color shows, at least now my service men can usually depend on having color on the air almost anytime during normal working hours.

City Officials See Vietnam Training Course

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, former Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and Harold T. Pilsbury, city purchasing agent, were included with a group of mayors, city managers and other city officials from throughout the Commonwealth, who visited Fort Devens yesterday (Wednesday) as members of the Mayors Association.

They toured the fort's famed Viet Nam Village tactical training course, and witnessed a demonstration of an ambush patrol in action, hand-to-hand combat techniques and Viet Cong interrogation methods.

The visitors also observed conditions as are lived by our American fighting men in an active combat environment, simulated at the Viet Nam training center.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE RADIO SERIES

Students today probably face more academic pressure than in any previous generation. And many seem haunted by the fear of failure. But it can be conquered, on a spiritual basis. Listen Sunday, Aug. 28 for the story of some college students who discovered how, through the power of prayer. The program is titled "LEARNING TO COPE WITH ACADEMIC PRESSURE."

Evening Courses Listed For Fall At Bentley Coll.

Courses in the several areas of business and liberal arts will be offered during the fall semester Evening Division of Bentley College.

Credits may be applied to the Bachelor of Science in Accounting degree, Associate in Science of Accounting degree, or the Certificate in Accounting.

Announcement of the Evening Division courses was made by Rae D. Anderson, senior vice president and dean of the college, as Bentley begins its 50th academic year with a combined enrollment in both day and evening divisions that is expected to exceed 4,000.

Courses will be presented at the college's Back Bay Campus on Boylston St., although two classes, "Introductory Accounting" and "Business Finance", will also be given at Waltham High School as well as in Boston. The college has just completed site preparation work on its new 102-acre campus in Waltham. Simultaneous construction of 12 buildings totaling 350,000 square feet and costing $13 million will begin later this fall. Occupancy is scheduled in two years.

Registration is currently taking place at 921 Boylston St. daily from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. and on Saturdays from 9 to 12 noon for introductory classes starting Sept. 19 through Sept 22.

The other professional courses to be given in Boston include "Advanced Accounting", "Cost Accounting", "Auditing", "Income Taxes," and "Controllership."

Liberal arts courses are being offered in the areas of economics, English, government, history, law, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, and science.

Local Booters Beat Norwood

The Newton Soccer Club downed the Norwood Kickers 2 to 1 in an exhibition game Sunday afternoon on Hawthorn Field.

Walter Weber kicked a goal in the second half. Early in the first half, Julio Coppola booted the ball between the posts for the first score.

Next Sunday, Newton opens its New England Soccer League season with a home game against Fall River.

Holy Day News Is Issued By Temple Sinai

Temple Sinai Religious School in Brookline announces that bus service for Newton children requiring transportation will be available.

Classes from Kindergarten through Grade 10 (confirmation) are meeting for enrollment of new students this week.

The Sabbath of Repentence will be observed at the temple tomorrow (Friday) evening. Rabbi Benjamin E. Rudavsky will preach, taking as his subject, "Turning Isn't Easy." The choir will be directed by Evelyn B. Roskin.

The congregation will return to Hancock Hall in Boston for its Yom Kippur services.

As in previous years, a formal service for the younger children of the Religious School is conducted in the Temple during the High Holy Days. Music for these services conducted especially for the children is provided by the School Choir directed by Evelyn B. Roskin.

Hebrew classes of the Temple Sinai Religious School will begin Tuesday, Sept. 20.

He was nevertheless sentenced to 18 months for stealing letters and money orders from the Transport Ministry and for assault on a policeman.

Eliot Church Women Plan Celebrity Lunch Oct. 4th

Mrs. Philip Horne, President of the Eliot Church Women's Association, announces that the annual Celebrity Luncheon will be held in the church parlors on Tuesday, October 4, at 12:15 p.m. preceded by the Executive Board meeting at 10:30 a.m. and a reception for the honored guests at 12 noon.

Dr. Mildred Buchanan Flagg will be Mistress of Ceremonies (E. M. C. EE.), and she with the many Newtonites and friends from surrounding towns who have already made reservations, will lend prominence to this affair.

Guest speakers include: Mme. Induk Pahk whose subject will be "My Country and My People." Mme. Pahk is an internationally famous Korean woman who founded the Induk Vocational School of self-help for boys in Korea, and a lecturer of over five thousand speeches to women's church and community groups while crossing North America 44 times from ocean to ocean. She is also the author of "September Monkey" and "The Home of The Tiger."

A musical interlude will be provided by Mrs. Grace Warner Gulesian, a composer and member of A.S.C.A.P.. She was recently awarded a national prize of the National League of American Pen Women for Music of a song written by one of our association members. Mrs. Gulesian will play the music with another association member, Mrs. Patricia Ann Harper, a mezzo-soprano and choral member of the Handel-Haydn Chorus singing the song.

They will also present Mrs. Gulesian's famous music for "House by the Side of the Road," written by Sam Walter Foss. The association will be proud to welcome Molly Foss, the poet's talented daughter of Somerville.

The Reverend Kenneth B. Murphy, Pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church in Charlestown, and President of Rescue Inc. will be a source of inspiration to his audience. Rev. Murphy will tell about the non-profit, non-sectarian organization devoted to thwarting potential suicides of all faiths from all economic areas. Since his appearance on the panel program April 7, 1963 there have been many requests for his return.

Program chairman, Mrs. Joe Garrity is also in charge of decorations. She is being assisted by Mrs. Ashley D. Burt.

Luncheon committee members are: Mrs. Lootfi Gayzogian, Mrs. Arthur Norley, and Mrs. Robert B. Russell.

Science Degree, Nursing Diploma For Newton Girl

A Newtonville resident, Annette M. Kasabian of 548 California St., recently received a nursing diploma from Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing and an associate of science degree from Northeastern University at commencement exercises in N.U.'s Ell Student Center.

One of 24 graduates, she was enrolled in the Alternate Nursing Program, co-sponsored by Mass. General and Northeastern. Under the program, which began in 1962 and graduated its last class this year, girls from Mass General School of Nursing took liberal arts courses at N.U.'s University College, the evening undergraduate college. During this time they also got their clinical education at hospitals in the Greater Boston area.

Northeastern had initiated the program as its first venture in nursing education. In 1964 the university established its College of Nursing and now offers a three-year program leading to an associate degree and five-year program leading to a bachelor's degree, with both qualifying the students to become registered nurses.

GOP Teen Club To Meet Sunday September 25th

Wins -Chance To Ride in N. E. Championships

The New England Equitation Championship Committee announces that Judy Kumin, 40 Bradford Rd., Newton Highlands, completed her qualifications for riding in the finals of the championships, which will be held at the "1747 Farm" horse show in Weston Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17 and 18.

In order to qualify for the finals, each rider must win at least two first-place ribbons or one first and two seconds at authorized trials held each year throughout New England.

Last year thousands of children under 18 competed, but only 30 qualified. Judy was the 22nd rider to qualify this year.

Music Theatre For Children At 'Y' Sept. 29, 30

The eleventh production of the Children's Music Theatre at the YMCA in Newton will be starting on Thursday and Friday, September 29 and 30.

The Primary Company for 5½ to 8 year olds will meet on Thursday afternoons starting at 2:45 p.m. while the Intermediate Company for 9 to 14 year olds will meet at 4 p.m. on Fridays.

The goal of each company of young thespians is to produce a musical by mid January 1967. To date a great variety of plays have been put on including the well-known one, "Rip Van Winkel" and originals which were developed cooperatively by the youthful actors and their advisors, Mrs. Paul Mosses, the groups' directors, Mrs. Fred Wolff, the musician, and Mr. John Duane, the choreographer.

This proven program has a two fold purpose of theatrical education and dramatic fun for each youngster.

Registrations are now being accepted and further information may be had by calling the Adult Division of the YMCA at BI 4-6050.

Garden Reception Followed Moln-Cowhig Wedding

Gold vases filled with white gladioli and pink carnations decorated the altar of Mary Immaculate Of Lourdes Church in Newton for the recent marriage of Miss Ann Dolan Cowhig to Bruce S. Moln.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter William Cowhig of 60 White Pine road, Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moln of Gaastra, Mich., are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Daniel F. Riordan officated at the 3 o'clock afternoon ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the garden at the home of the bride's parents Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of white silk organdy over taffeta. The basque bodice had a circlet neckline. The dome-shaped skirt was bordered at the hem line with Belgian lace.

Her matching lace crown was caught with an elbow-length bouffant illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and miniature carnations.

The maid of honor was Miss Mary Elizabeth Cowhig of Newton. Miss Ellen Therese Cowhig of Newton was bridesmaid. Mrs. Thomas H. Dolan Jr., of Woburn was honorary matron of honor.

James Piwarski of Pontiac, Mich., served as best man. Ushering were John M. Power of New York City and Thomas H. Dolan Jr., of Woburn.

After a trip to Montago Bay, Jamaica, the couple will make their home at 608 High street, Ann Arbor, Mich.

The bride attended Mount Alvernia Academy, Regis College and the Eastern Michigan Graduate School.

MRS. BRUCE S. MOLN

The groom attended Northern Michigan University and is a dental student at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, class of 1968. He is a member of the Taft Society.

Gail Patterson Becomes Mrs. David William Libby

Miss Gail Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freeman Patterson of 25 Claremont street, Newton, recently became the bride of David William Libby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole William Libby of Clinton, Me., at the Union Church in Waban.

Dr. Joseph C. McDonald officiated at the 7:30 o'clock evening service. A reception followed in the garden at her parents' home.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta. The empire bodice had a sabrina neckline and long wedding-point sleeves made of Chantilly lace. The redingote skirt terminated in a chapel-length train.

The rose headpiece of silk organza, embroidered with seed pearls, held in place her bouffant illusion veil. She carried a cascade of miniature white carnations, daisies, roses and stephanotis.

Miss Joanne Gordon of Readfield Depot, Me., was maid of honor. Miss Nancy Connell of Auburn, Me., Miss Ann Files of Portland, Me., and Miss Lois Libby of Old Town, Me., were bridesmaids. Young Denise O'Leary of Newton was flower girl.

Joseph Garwood of Orono, Me., served as best man. The ushers were two brothers of the bride, David L. Patterson and John S. Patterson, both of Newton, as well as Mark Libby of Waterville, Me., cousin of the groom.

After a trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Libby will live in Old Town, Me.

The bride, who is attending the University of Maine, is the granddaughter of Mrs. F. F. Patterson of Newton Highlands.

GAIL PATTERSON

Mr. Libby is an alumnus of the University of Maine, where he is now doing graduate work.

MRS. MOSES EPSTEIN

Former Head Of Hadassah Speaks Here Sept. 21st

A former National Hadassah president, Mrs. Moses Epstein, will interview three young Hadassah physicians from the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center in Jerusalem on stage at the opening Boston Chapter meeting on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 21, at the Temple Israel Meeting House on the Riverway.

At a reception at 12:45 p.m. preceding the meeting, members and guests are being invited to meet Mrs. Epstein, the doctors, their wives, the 1966 Donor Luncheon chairman, Mrs. William M. Ginsburg, and the new chapter president, Mrs. Arthur Zanditon, both of Chestnut Hill.

Mrs. Epstein has been involved in history-making events here and abroad for more than three decades. She is currently Hadassah's liaison at the United Nations.

The physicians to be interviewed are in this country on special research projects in their fields. Dr. Hosea Ben Zion Aronson, originally from South Africa, is at the New England Medical Center. Dr. Eliezer Kaplinsky who arrived in Palestine in 1943 with the 800 Teheran Youth Aliyah children is at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and the Harvard School of Public Health. Both he and his wife, Naomi, are graduates of the Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School. Dr. Eliezer Rachmilewitz, who is also at the New England Medical Center and a graduate of the Medical School in Jerusalem, was born at the Hadassah Hospital.

Another highlight of the meeting will be a tribute to Mrs. J. S. Gordon of Brookline, one of the most beloved veterans in Hadassah, locally and nationally. Mrs. Epstein will present her with a certificate marking the naming of the Jacob S. and Sadye Z. Gordon Clinical Laboratory for Cardiovascular Research at the medical center in Jerusalem.

West Coast Trip Followed Le Bow-Levitov Wedding

At Temple Shalom in Newton, Miss Eliaine Marilyn Levitov, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levitov of 81 Stanley road, Waban, became the bride of Jay Allan LeBow. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. LeBow of Pennsauken, N.J.

NANCY WIENER

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman officiated at the 6:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown made of ivory silk peau de soie designed with long sleeves and court train styled with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The triple-tiered French illusion fingertip veil was fastened to her coronation crown. Her flowers, arranged in a cascade, were orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Matthew Gilfix of Needham, matron of honor, is the bride's sister. Miss Judith Lukoff of Camden, N. J., was maid of honor, while Miss Barbara Isenberg of Marblehead, Miss Marlene Toby Sladkus of Tarrytown, N. Y., Miss Eve B. Steinberg of Brookline and Miss Joyce Horowitz of North Bellnore, N. Y., were bridesmaids.

Dr. Charles Mintz of Camden, N. J., served as best man. Ushering were Matthew E. Gilfix of Needham, brother-in-law of the bride, David Wittenberg of Jenkintown, Pa., Alan Marman of Philadelphia, Pa., Fred Ruttenberg of New Jersey, Robert Schwartz of Hartsdale, N. Y., and Gerald Houghey of Tauton Lakes, N. J.

Mrs. Esther Kupinsky of Boston, the bride's grandmother, and Mrs. I. Milask of Camden, N. J., grandmother of the groom, were also in the wedding party.

Following a trip to the West Coast, Mr. and Mrs. LeBow will make their home in Philadelphia, Pa.

The bride, who attended Boston University, plans to complete her studies at Temple University.

Mr. LeBow attended Diskinson College and was graduated from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania. Also a graduate of Harvard Law School, he will enter the Temple University Medical School this fall.

Nancy Wiener Future Bride Of M. H. Perlmutter

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wiener of Newton makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Ellen Wiener, to Mark H. Perlmutter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perlmutter of Mattapan.

Miss Wiener is a graduate of the Boston University School of Education.

A graduate of Suffolk University, Mr. Perlmutter is attending the University of Southern Illinois, where he is working for his master's degree.

A July 2 wedding is planned.

Small Girls Operate Stand For Retarded

Barbara Geller and Julie Azarnoff, ages 7 and 8, both of Newton Highlands, recently conducted perhaps the last of the summer lemonade stands in the city.

The little friends earned several dollars, which they contributed to the Association for Retarded Children.

DISCUSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE — Plans for the forthcoming "Membership Coffee" sponsored by the Newton League of Women Voters are being discussed by Mrs. Robert Barris, membership chairman, shown serving Mrs. Robert Wolsey. Looking on are Mrs. Proctor Houghton, League president; and Mrs. Sol Kaufman.

NANCY J. LURENSKY

Nancy Lurensky To Be Bride Of Michael Swidler

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Lurensky of Newton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Joan, to Michael S. Swidler, of Boston.

Miss Lurensky, a magna cum laude graduate, class of 1965, of Wheaton College, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She is presently a teacher in the Newton Public Schools.

Mr. Swidler, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Swidler, of Boston, received his Bachelor of Arts degree, class of 1962, from Middlebury College, Vermont. He holds a Master of Arts degree from Boston University where he did his graduate work. He is currently associated with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

A July wedding is planned.

Women Voters League Sets Plans To Add New Members

"Coffee and Conversation" will be offered by the Newton League of Women Voters to those interested women who would like to become acquainted with the activities of the organization.

Those who wish to attend will be welcome at the home of Mrs. Alan Goldberg, 31 Sheffield Rd., Newtonville, on Wednesday, September 21, at 8 p.m.

Says Mrs. Robert Barris, membership chairman, "We hope to attract the women of Newton who want to keep themselves and their government out of a rut." The "conversation" part of the evening will be concerned with the upcoming referenda issues.

Mrs. Barris heads the membership committee which also includes Mrs. Robert Wofsey, Mrs. Peter Jenney, Mrs. David Alpers, Mrs. Carl Hartwick, Mrs. Melvin Clayton, Mrs. Richard Lent, and Mrs. Samuel Their. For further information, please call Mrs. Robert Barris at 969-8459.

Dr. Flagg Helps Plan Pen Women's Lunch

Dr. Mildred Buchanan Flagg of 12 Hunnewell circle, Newton, was hostess at a recent luncheon meeting of the committee planning a Massachusetts tri-branch celebrity luncheon for members and guests of the National League of American Pen Women.

Mrs. Flagg, a past president of the Boston branch and currently president of the Boston Authors Club, will be mistress of ceremonies at the event to be held Oct. 17, at 12:15, at the College Club in Boston.

MRS. BARRY CAMPBELL

Miss Jeanne Kirkland Wed To Barry Leslie Campbell

Miss Jeanne Louise Kirkland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Kirkland of 822 Charles River street, Needham, formerly of Roslindale, became the bride of Mr. Barry Leslie Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew D. Campbell of Sciuate, R. I., at a recent ceremony in the Needham Congregational Church.

Officating at the double ring, 7:30 o'clock service was the Rev. Dr. Herbert Rhodes Smith, pastor of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess A-line gown of white organza designed in empire style with a lace bodice and front panel embroidered with tiny pearls. The removable chapel train was draped from a bow at the waist.

Her illusion veil was fashioned in bouffant style and arranged from a seed pearl-trimmed headpiece of a floral design. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and a white orchid.

Miss Mary Ellen McCaffrey of East Boston was maid of honor for the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth M. Kirkland of Needham, Mrs. Donald N. Kirkland of Salem, N. H., and Mrs. John W. Morrissey of Boston.

Presiding at the guest book were the Misses Karen and Alison Lyons of Needham.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. Bruce D. Campbell of Scituate, R. I. Ushers included Mr. Donald Campbell of Scituate, R. I., as well as Mr. Robert Kirkland and Mr. Jon Kirkland of Needham.

A reception followed at the church hall, after which the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Virginia and Washington, D. C. Their future residence will be in Newton.

The bride is a senior at Boston University and graduated from the Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing, Class of 1965.

Her husband attended the University of Rhode Island and graduated from Providence College School of Programming.

Trip to Italy Followed Gagliardi - Preziosi Bridal

A trip to Italy followed the recent marriage of Miss Ann Mary Preziosi, to Anthony Gagliardi, which took place at St. Bernard's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Preziosi of 56 James street, West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Francesco Gagliardi, of Brighton are the couple's parents.

The Rev. John J. Crane officiated at the 2 o'clock double-ring ceremony. A reception followed at Holy Trinity Armenian Hall in Cambridge.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza gown fashioned with lace appliques. Her rolled lace crown held in place a tiered illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and gardenias.

Mrs. Nina Taylor of Newtonville, the bride's aunt, was matron of honor. Miss Phyllis Preziosi of Medford, Miss Vickie DiSanzo of Brighton and Miss Pina Di Sanzo of Malden, were bridesmaids. Miss Carol Preziosi of West Newton, sister of the bride was junior bridesmaid.

Anthony DiSanzo of Brighton was his cousin's best man. The ushers were John Mead of West Newton, Angelo Grasso and Angelo LaRosa, both of East Boston. Stephen J. Sullivan Jr., of Weston was junior usher.

The couple plans to make their home in West Newton.

The bride, a graduate of Fitton Central Catholic High School, East Boston, attended Newton Junior College.

The Keynote Is Quality

VIEW OF WISCOM'S ELEGANT NEW SHOWROOM

A collection of furniture, keynoted with handsome accessories, is effectively displayed in a series of settings in an elegant new showroom brought to Brookline by Wiscom, a name respected in the home furnishing field for the past 50 years.

Wiscom will introduce its expanded line — furniture for living room, dining, bedroom, den, kitchen, as well as occasional pieces — in a remarkable sale at its new store at 111 Boylston St., Route 9 just west of Brookline Village which opened this week.

This Is Wiscom, the label for the new enterprise, is offering its customers a creative service with a collection of stunning wall decorations and lamps which complement the extensive selection of furniture.

The parent concern—Wiscom — has a showroom and factory for wrought iron furniture at 47 Southampton St., and Massachusetts Ave., in the South End. The firm has carefully built a reputation for excellent workmanship in the production of custom wrought iron furnishings, made to the individual customer's taste. A large group of the wrought iron merchandise is on display in the Brookline showroom where shoppers can select from countless styles and a virtually limitless color range for frame as well as upholstery.

All of the furniture and decorative accessories will be offered at true sale prices during the grand opening, according to Wiscom management. The introductory prices will be well under the usual prices which in the first place, are discounted from the normal price the shopper expects to find on furniture of this quality.

Wiscom is emphasizing merchandise in every line. The collection includes modern, colonial, French and Italian provincial as well as new styles inspired by Spanish cabinet-makers. The accessories represent a similar gamut — from colonial pine spoonholders and wall planters — to pierced brass braziers reminiscent of the glamor of the Far East.

Clowns painted on brightly colored burlap, suitable for a den or a child's room, impressive gilt candelabra that would enhance a fireplace wall, a stunning peacock in gold and blue are among the unique accessories which Wiscom has gathered from the exotic markets of the world for local shoppers.

The Wiscom collection includes colonial pine pieces from Tell City, dining and bedroom sets from American of Martinsville, from Broyhill and Lenoir House. Dinettes are from Brody and Chromecraft as well as from Wiscom's own factory. Wiscom can even supply bedding, ordered from Eclipse, in every size and price range.

There will be a full decorator service for shoppers interested in custom designed sofas or headboards and Wiscom's staff is trained to provide assistance in color and style as well as room arrangement.

The huge showroom sparkles with ideas for furnishing every room — whether in a mansion or a tiny honeymoon apartment. There is furniture scaled to size so that the small apartment will look spacious and the largest home can be appropriately decorated.

While the emphasis is on the middle price range, quality and taste are on the luxury level at Wiscom.

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN N. SCHEIBE

(Suburban)

Miss Tocci - Mr. Scheibe Wed at Our Lady's Church

Two rings were exchanged at the recent marriage of Miss Linda Carroll Tocci to Steven N. Scheibe, which took place at Our Lady Help of Christians Church, here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael P. Tocci of 17 Crescent square, Newton. The groom's the son of Mrs. Dorothy Scheibe of Brighton and Mr. Karl Schuebe of Falmouth.

The Rev. William F. Downes officiated at the pretty double-ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of silk organza and Alencon lace fashioned with an empire bodice which had a sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The sheath skirt had a detachable chapel-length train.

A becoming headpiece held in place her bouffant illusion veil. She carried traditional white flowers accented with greens.

Miss Cheryl Ann Tocci of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Joanne Simeone of Newton, Miss Ann Jarvis of Wellesley and Miss Barbara Antionellis of Newton.

Warren Muise of Newton was best man. The ushers included Robert Rand of Auburndale, William Harrigan of West Newton, Michael P. Tocci Jr., of Newton and Joseph Collins of Brighton.

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of the couple who are now living in Brighton.

Trip To Canada Followed Long-Nelson Wedding

A trip through New England into Canada followed the recent marriage of Miss Barbara Lois Nelson to Charles W. Long Jr. of 105 Waban park, Newton, which took place at the Phillips Congregational Church in Watertown.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Albert W. Nelson of Watertown and the late Mr. Nelson. The groom's parents are Mrs. Alfred Barnard of Dorchester and Mr. Charles W. Long.

Officating at the 2 o'clock double-ring service was the Rev. Harold S. Hannum. The Elk's Club, Watertown, was the setting for the reception.

Given way by her brother, Mr. Richard A. Nelson of Gloucester, the bride's long-sleeved gown of Chantilly lace had a chapel-length train. A becoming headpiece held in place her illusion veil. She carried traditional white flowers.

Miss Judith A. Nelson of Watertown was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Marion McLaughlin of Watertown, Mrs. Richard LaRoche of Chelmsford and Miss Linda Ramberg of Waltham were bridesmaids. Young Janice Lowe of Watertown was her cousin's flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Long will make their home in Bellingham.

The bride was graduated from Watertown High School.

Mr. Long, a graduate of Jamaica Plain High School, attended Northeastern University and Bentley College.

Miss Connolly - Mr. Johnson Marry In Waban Church

In St. Philip Neri Church, Waban, recently, Miss Joan Marie Connolly became the bride of Peter Blackwell Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Connolly of 19 Ridge road, Waban, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard B. Johnson of Madison, Ct., are the couple's parents.

The Rt. Rev. John L. Parsons, who officated at the 3:30 o'clock single-ring ceremony, was assisted by the Rev. Gerald Desmond

Escorted by her father, the bride's white silk organza gown, fashioned with a scoop neckline and controlled bell skirt, entraine, was appliqued with re-embroidered alencon lace

Her mantilla was outlined with same lace. She carried a bouquet of Eucharis lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Nancy M. Connolly of Waban was her sister's only attendant. David Johnson of Madison, Ct., served as best man for his brother, whose ushers were Robert Mitchell of Wilmington, Delaware, Michael Bothner of Fitchburg, Robert Widdowson of Hamilton, Thomas D. Connolly Jr., of Waban, brother of the bride, and Peter Courtney of New Haven, Ct., brother-in-law of the groom.

Mr. Johnson, a graduate of Bowdoin College, class of 1966, is attending the Rutgers University School of Business Administration.

Private Piano Classes Opened By Jean Carter

Mrs. Jean Carter, music opening of her private piano practice in Newton Highlands. Mrs. Carter received her training at Taylor University and at Indiana University School of Music where she received the Master's degree in 1960. At Indiana, Mrs. Carter was a student of pianist Sidney Foster.

When asked about her philosophy of teaching, Mrs. Carter stated that her objective is to motivate the individual student to develop the limits of his creativity by providing a foundation of correct musicmanship coupled with a growing appreciation of the best in music. "Each student requires an individual approach and flexibility of method in terms of his personality and ability."

In addition to private teaching, Mrs. Carter has taught music in Massachusetts public schools. Most recently she has been a member of the music faculty at Mount Ida Junior College where she taught music theory and piano. Mrs. Carter also directed the Mount Ida Women's chorus. Persons in the Newton area may recall her opera productions at Mount Ida. The most recent one was Prokefieff's "Love For Three Oranges" presented last Aprjl.

JEAN CARTER

Mrs. Carter is the wife of Curtis L. Carter, professor at Mount Ida and a Ph.D. candidate in philosophy at Boston University Graduate School.

Mrs. Carter is accepting students from pre-school through adults. Interested persons may call 527-6067.

Ethical Society School To Start

The Boston Ethical Society announces the 1966-1967 opening of its School for Religious and Ethical Humanism on Sunday, October 2 at 11 a.m. Classes and workshops will be held at 5 Commonwealth Avenue in Boston for kindergarten through ninth grade. There will also be a special high school youth group and baby sitting available.

Director of the school is Mrs. Pramod M. Soparkar, a graduate of Mount Holyoke College and the Eliot Pearson School Department of Child Study at Tufts University. Mrs. Soparkar has been a member of the Ethical Society for many years and has taken an active part in its expanding educational programs.

The aim of the School for Religious and Ethical Humanism is to engage the child in experience and knowledge which will help him in his search for the highest ideals. The school uses as its source material literature and teachings from all the great religions, as well as seeking religious and ethical dimensions in so-called "secular" areas, which will encourage the child in freedom of religious thought. A respect for the difference in men and the responsibility of man for all mankind is stressed.

The school is open to nonmembers of the Society and interested residents of Newton are invited to contact Mrs. John Weaver at 332-8092 for further information.

Regular adult meetings will begin October 2 at 11 a.m. Guest speaker at the first meeting will be Algernon D. Black, leader of the New York Society and recently appointed chairman of the New York City Civilian Police Review Board. On succeeding Sundays, speakers will include authorities in such fields as education, politics and social welfare, as well as leaders from other Ethical Societies.

Rites -

Participating in the service were Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr., minister of the Eliot Church; Rev. Charles H. Harper, director of Cooperative Metropolitan Ministries; Rev. William H. Nicholas, minister of North Church, Cambridge, and registrar of the Boston Association of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ.

Also Dr. Homer L. Jernigan, Methodist minister and chairman of the Department of Psychology and Pastoral Counseling of Boston University; and Mr. Kenneth Gleason, Chairman of the Board of Deacons of the Eliot Church.

In his sermon, Dr. Jernigan indicated that in addition to the obvious responsibilities given to the ordained minister, ordination also brings about a symbolic significance: that there is a "calling," that there is an "inclusion" as each man becomes one of a group, and that each man "has different gifts to be used in various ways."

Rev. Matteson will continue his studying at the Boston University School of Theology in the area of teaching and counseling on "new frontiers of the ministry to make the love of God more effective."

Special guests at the service were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius H. Matteson of Oakfield, New York, and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sall of Princeton, New Jersey.

"Dollars For Scholars" Is Theme Of Club Art Festival

Fall Festival Is Planned By Trinity Church

The Trinity Fall Festival will be held in the parish house of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, on Friday and Saturday, November 4th and 5th. A meeting of the planning board will be held at the parish house on Tuesday morning, September 20th, at ten o'clock, to discuss plans.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Elvyn K. Mentzer, with Mrs. Gardiner A. Smith as vice-chairman.

Other members of the planning board are: Mrs. Charles K. Wolpert, secretary; Mrs. Charles E. Bailey, treasurer; Mrs. John W. Merrill, publicity; Mrs. Amos Kent, decorations; Mrs. Alan J. Young, properties; Miss E. Nancy Cobb, tickets.

Members at large: Mrs. F. Hopewell Underhill, Mrs. W. Frank Fullerton, Mrs. Gordon A. Joslin. The Reverend Howard R. Dunbar, ex-officio.

"Dollars for Scholars" in the slogan of the Second Scholarship Fund Arts Festival to be sponsored by the Newton Center Woman's Club on October 23rd, in the ballroom of the club house at 1280 Center street, Newton Centre.

The noted artist of Gloucester, Roger Curtis, has again offered to hang the show and he will judge the exhibits with Harold Lindegren and Robert Douglas Hunter.

The Festival is free to the public, open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and open Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer, club president, is executive chairman of the Festival which will open on Sunday, the 23rd with a musical tea from 3 to 5 p.m. Mrs. Victor H. Baer is in charge of the refreshments.

The well known artist Florence Kostarelos has assembled over 200 artists featuring oils, watercolors, ceramics, and sculpture. To enter Art work in this Festival call Miss Kostarelos at 566-5588 or 566-5589.

the Federal government and private grants.

The children are enrolled in the Spaulding, Oak Hill, Countryside, Hyde, Claflin, Horace Mann and Williams Schools. Most of the visiting students are in Grades 3, 4 and 5, with three in the sixth grade.

The METCO youngsters assuming their places in Grades 3 and 6, form a small but significant segment of the 9,700 pupils who will be enrolled in Newton's 24 elementary schools .Their arrival is being handled in a routine manner by local school officials.

On Thursday and Friday of last week, meetings were arranged to introduce the METCO kiddies to their new environment in this city.

The seven participating schools were the sites of the meetings when the pupils and their parents met with the principals of the schools and were introduced to local "host families." Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent for pupil personnel, arranged the meetings.

The sophomore classes in both local high schools reported back to the classes on Monday, juniors and seniors on Tuesday. The seventh grade classes of four of the city's five junior high schools were in session Monday, Grades 8 and 9 answered the call to classes on Tuesday.

Has the Traveler gotten around to your house lately?

No traveler in history has gotten around as much as the Traveler. And no wonder.

Because the Traveler is Boston's one evening newspaper that never wears out its welcome . . . the one that's all news and new features every afternoon — and not just a warmed over version of the morning edition.

If you haven't gotten around to seeing the Traveler lately, don't fret. We'll see to it that the Traveler gets around to you.

Just call HA 6-3000 for home delivery.

The one evening newspaper that isn't old hat.

Community Peace Center Discusses War Issues

An ambitious program for the coming months—all aimed at improving community awarenes on issues of war, peace and international understanding—were outlined Wednesday, Sept. 7, at the executive committee meeting of the Newton community Peace Center.

The meeting was held at the home of Boston attorney Leonard Salter, chairman, 40 Old Colony road, Chestnut Hill.

An International Students Weekend in Newton, scheduled for Oct. 7-9, leads off events planned by the Peace Center. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Simon Scheff, the weekend "matches" international students in Greater Boston Universities with Newton host families. The students, staying as guests in typical U. S. homes, gain a good perspective on American life, and host families learn first hand about other nations.

Highlight of the international students weekend this year will be a square dance, slated for October 8 at Meadowbrook Junior High School. Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Payne will serve as callers. To date 15 Newton families have agreed to serve as hosts. Many more students can be effectively placed and interested families are urged to call Ms. Scheff at 332-5406 or the Peace Center 332-9110.

The Peace Center is also planning a series of public meetings, to be held in Newton throughout the fall and winter, on crucial national-international topics. Red China, Vietnam policy and current draft laws will be subject to scrutiny. Speakers and dates will be announced as the season progresses.

The meetings are in line with the Peace Center's purpose of encouraging grass-roots discussion and education on war-peace issues. The Peace Center is non-profit membership organization with an office in the Eliot Church, 474 Centre street, Newton.

The Peace Center announced that its executive secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill, will attend the United Nations — Washington seminar on "Peace: Ethics, Economics, and Politics," to be held in New York and Washington from October 17-21. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Hovey, who will serve as a representative from the Board of Chirstian Outreach of the Eliot Church.

Mrs. Hovey has recently been named secretary to the Peace Center's Advisory and Supporting Council. Another new officer is Mrs. Francis Fitzpatrick, treasurer.

Members of the Peace Center who attended the September 7 kick-off executive meeting were: Mr. Salter, chairman; The Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr., co-ordinator; Mrs. Fitzpatrick; Mrs. Proctor Houghton; Mrs. Hovey; Mrs. Merrill; Mrs. David Nemzoff; Mrs. Robert Peck; Mrs. John Samuel; Mrs. Rohna Shoul; Mr. Herbert Weiss, and Mrs. Charles Woodbury.

when the latter signaled him to stop.

Waltham police immediately set out in pursuit of McHugh. The chase ended when the panel truck, which McHugh allegedly had taken from a used car lot, tipped over.

Several breaks and robberies were reported in Newton during the past week.

Enterprising thieves carried away 50 pieces of jewelry from the Mill Cache Shop at 375 Elliot St., Newton Highlands, after using a 20-foot ladder to get into the store. The loot taken included pins, bracelets, key rings and other miscellaneous items.

Police said the burglars used a 20-foot ladder to reach a rear window which they broke to gain entrance to the shop.

Strong-armed robbers carried a 2-x-2 foot safe containing $250 out of the Sarni Cleaners at 2060 Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, Sunday night. They entered the establishment by prying open a rear door.

A thief who climbed in a front window of a home at 40 Middle St., Newton, ransacked two bedrooms and walked out a rear door with $60.

More Children

Washington — There are about 58 million children in the U.S. under the age of 18. The total represents an increase of about 18 million since World War II.

Material Answers Don't Solve Human Problems, Dr. Brown Says

Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, addressed a general faculty of some 1200 persons last week in Newton High School's auditorium, and examined the rapid rate of change affecting education and other facets of our civilization.

Dr. Brown was critical of the belief that the problems of our time can be solved by the spending of more money or by construction of a new building. "Too often," he said, "material answers are provided for problems that are human in dimension. A father too concerned with his own career and a mother too concerned with her social status are not going to give sufficient attention to the problems of children."

Schools are going to have to concentrate "on those things we can teach best," he said, calling for radical increase in work-study programs, not only for secretaries or landscape gardeners, but also "those who want to be electronics engineers or doctors."

"Are sports and recreation best left to the schools?" asked Dr. Brown "or should this part of a child's life become the responsibility of a recreation council, comprised of those many agencies that are involved in this process."

Driver eduction, even the arts, were mentioned as areas which might be moved at least partly out of the classroom.

Museums or specialized art schools can provide a more intensive learning experience in certain phases of a child's instruction, particularly, in the skills required to play an instrument. However, Dr. Brown said he was not in favor of removing the arts from the curriculum, only of increasing "our emphasis in certain respects, and working with others in developing programs that would relieve us of the total responsibility."

Mayor -

In his statement to Mayor Collins, Mayor Basbas said:

"Newton's Advisory Committee on Public Transportation has given intensive consideration to the program for Mass Transportation proposed by the Board of Directors of the Mass. Bay Transportation Authority in August, 1966.

"The Committee has evaluated the effects of this Comprehensive Plan on public transportation service generally and in Newton specifically and on Newton's share of the MBTA deficit which will be reflected in its tax rate.

"The Committee has concluded that the Program proposed to rush into the expenditure of more than one-third of a billion dollars without sufficient and proper documentation in nearly all of its phases. The Committee has voted unanimously to recommend that I reject the Program at this time on behalf of Newton and, after careful consideration, I have decided to follow its recommendation.

"It has been evident for some time that the MBTA urgently needs the sense of direction such a plan could give it, but I cannot in all good conscience approve a Plan that has not been properly prepared and which is based on such a serious insufficiency of pertinent data.

"Further, and in direct reference to the transportation needs of Newton and the highly important Western Corridor of the Metropolitan area, the Plan postpones urgently needed new cars for the Riverside Line until 1972 and totally disregards the crying need for roadbed and track improvements, without which any new rolling stock will be nearly useless.

"The plan does propose a trial period of express bus service on the Mass. Turnpike Extension between Newton Corner and Copley Square but makes no provision for parking facilities at Newton Corner and increased north-south bus feeder service in Newton to Newton Corner to enable its citizens to take advantage of the proposed express bus service. Without these two complementary factors, such servie will be severely handicapped from the start and may be doomed to failure.

"Lastly, the Comprehensive Plan fails to make provision for a study of the possible uses of the main line New York Central tracks adjacent to the Turnpike and their potential place in the total transportation picture.

"In summary, I want very much, as a member of the MBTA Advisory Board, to be presented with an adequate Master Plan for Mass Transportation, but feel I must reject this plan because of its substantial inadequacies. It is my earnest hope that the Board of Directors of the Board of Directors of the MBTA will resubmit at the earliest possible date a re-revised Master Plan which is adequately documented and which does take into account the urgent needs of the Western Corridor."

NHS Linemen Must Reduce

Jim Ronayne, Newton High football coach, has instituted a crash diet program for five linemen who, he believes, will show more promise if streamlined.

They'll be 104 pounds lighter for the September 23rd opener if all goes well.

The overweight lads are Jim McVey, 214; Pete Cully, 226; John Piselli, 255; Paul Weil, 227; and Mike Fraser, 227.

Eliot Church School Opens On Sept. 18th

Regular church school sessions at the Eliot Church of Newton will resume on Sunday, September 18. Grades 5-12, except Grade 9 (time of meeting to be decided), meet at 9:30, and the Nursery through Grade 4 meeting during the church hour at 10:45.

The following persons will provide leadership: Cribs and Creepers: Mrs. Maud Coulter assisted by parents; Nursery: Mrs. Gordon Hunt assisted by Sharon Hunt; Kindergarten: Mrs. Beverly Bolivar, assisted by Gretchen Hunt; Primary: Mrs. William Powers; Lower Junior: Miss Alice Corson; Junior High (Grades 7 & 8): Miss Julouise Paulsen; Grade 9: Rev. Harold Fray; and Senior High: Mr. David Eusden.

The theme of the first semester's study is "Responding to God's Love" during which the chilrren and young people willl discover how people in the Bible and early church responded to God's love.

Pop Warner Patriots Lose

Newton Patriots suffered a 20-8 defeat at the hands of the Brookline Rams in an exhibition Pop Warner Football Conference game last Sunday afternoon on Albemarle Field.

Newton scored first with a pass completion from Paul Grillo to Steve Chapman, and Chapman rushed the conversion for an 8-0 lead. But that was all for the local lads. The Rams rallied in the final period and scored a pair of touchdowns to put the game on ice.

Dividends on ALL THREE types of accounts are NOT subject to Massachusetts Income Tax

3. SYSTEMATIC SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Systematic Savings Accounts are for those who can save regularly, for extended periods. The dividends for this type of account are the highest of all . . . 4.80% a year for the 48 month period (½ of 1% over prevailing rate for 48 months) and 5.30% a year for the 96 month period (1% over prevailing rate for 96 months). With this very rewarding rate of return, you'll have an excellent reason to save like clock-work, all year 'round!

EVERYONE SHOULD HAVE 2 SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Everyone has different reasons for saving . . . but everyone should have two types of Newton Savings accounts to realize these thrift goals. A Regular Savings Account is best for your emergency or day-to-day needs . . . and either a Special Notice or Systematic Savings Account is the choice for those big, long-range goals. Open your two accounts now (or maybe even three)!

London's Carnaby Street Sets World Fashion News

By JOAN DEPPA
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — A three-block, narrow back street called "Carnaby" is the setting these days for the bulk of the fashion news London is making for the world.

Every week, not just twice a year, there is something new to wear in the street's shops and boutiques. And the Carnaby street regulars are there making the fashion scene.

The same switched-on crowd comes looking for the latest in outfits every week, and they come in pairs, male and female. Only very young girls shop together.

They browse through clothes in "mates," where mini-skirts hang side-by-side with paisley trousers for men.

They pause by John Stephen's custom tailor shop and discuss whether he should save and have a suit designed especially for him. They enter the chalk-white interior of "Foale and Tuffin" to inspect the latest Western-inspired trouser suits for her.

They scrutinize what their fellow shoppers wear — and what the salesgirls and salesmen wear, which is usually the best of the latest "gear."

Then they start trying on. In a Carnaby street boutique this can be pretty exciting.

The changing booths in "The Village Store" are, for instance, tent-like cubicles on a wicker-work base, hung with brilliant orange and pink art-nouveau drapes. Other shops have swinging doors, like those on a Wild West saloon, which leave head and shoulders and most of your legs exposed. They're not for the modest, but then neither is Carnaby street.

It is very important for the boyfriend to like what the girl buys and vice-versa. That is why they come shopping together. Modern young English males, unlike their bowler-hatted predecessors, have very decided views about women's fashions.

They approve of the above-knee mini-skirts, especially the new mini-mini-length which stops about a palm's width short of the hips.

They are becoming connoisseurs of dimples—in the backs of knees.

They are let down if their girl friend doesn't look like a well-dressed accessory to their own "switched-on" gear.

Field And Stream

By THE OUTDOORSMAN

The Division of Fisheries and Game has once again reclaimed Houghton's Pond in the Blue Hills.

The pond was first reclaimed in 1961, resulting in much improved trout fishing for four years. Because of the infestation of horn pout and sunfish, it recently returned to its former state.

Houghton's Pond is a submarginal pond, which means it has less than 10 percent trout water. During the critical summer months of August and September, all trout are restricted to that small area in the pond where the temperature never goes above 75 degrees, with the oxygen content of the water 5 ppm. or more.

On Tuesday of last week, Fish and Game specialists injected some 90 gallons of rotenone in the pond to destroy the existing population of bullheads (horn pout), sunfish and a few pickerel. During the balance of the week these Fish and Game men picked up and evaluated the results of the treatment in order to gain some information about the pond.

During the fall and winter, when the pond again becomes suitable habitat for trout, the Division will stock Houghton's with fingerling trout, raised by the Division by its own propagation specialists. These fingerlings will survive and will grow rapidly in Houghton's Pond without the former competing species of fish, and will be ready to enter the catch in about a year. Prior to opening day in the Spring of 1967, Houghton's Pond will be stocked with 220 pounds of trout nine inches or more in length, to provide top quality fishing once again for area fishermen.

DEER HUNTING REGULATIONS CHANGED

Massachusetts deer hunters will still be able to shoot either buck or doe, statewide, but will be required to exhibit their deer at an official state checking station during both the archery and shotgun season. They will also be required to allow some portion of the deer to be readily seen while transporting it on their cars. Approximately 36 checking stations across the state are planned. Director Jim Shepard stated they will be located so that no sportsman should have to drive more than 20 minutes to reach one.

These changes in deer hunting regulations were adopted by the Massachusetts fisheries and game board following a recent public hearing at Westboro before a capacity delegation of representatives of sportsmen's groups and individual hunters.

These changes eliminate the previous requirement that hunters report killing or wounding a deer in writing to the division of fisheries and game. Other proposals of the division, including zoning the state and restricting the kill of antlerless deer by a special permit system were not adopted.

Deer hunting dates and other pertinent regulations remain unchanged.

Beauty Queen Wins Title As Business Exec

By ALEX ADWAN
United Press International

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) —Catherine Burr Davis wanted to be a movie star, but gave up after three months and turned to the advertising business.

Today, at 28, the pretty brunette, a former "Miss New York City," is vice president of one of the southwest's largest advertising and public relations agencies, Ackerman Associates, Inc., here.

Miss Davis admits that she did not know exactly what an agency was when she applied for her first job in New York. That was in 1961 after she gave up the movie idea in favor of radio and television commercials.

A 1959 graduate of Texas Christian University, Miss Davis carried her fine arts degree in theater to New York with high hopes.

"I thought I was going to be a movie star, but after three months I wasn't," she recalled, "so I started making commercials. I met a lot of agency people that way.

"But when I went in to apply for the job, I did not even know what an agency was."

She was hired as an assistant in the radio-television department of a New York agency in 1961 and stayed for a year. Earlier, she had won the "Miss New York City" title for 1960. A runner-up, she got the crown when the original winner broke a leg.

In 1962, Miss Davis returned to the Southwest and first was employed as a receptionist at the Oklahoma City agency.

A keen interest in fashions and home furnishings led to one promotion after another, assistant radio-television director in 1963, radio-television director, account executive and vice president. She handles retail accounts, including the agency's biggest, mostly in the fashion and home furnishings fields.

What is the future of a career girl who reaches the top executive level of a big company at a tender age?

"Actually, I've been working toward being vice president of the agency," she said. "I'm sure I'll stay here."

The agency is Oklahoma's second largest in billings.

Child Marriages Flaunt Age Laws Among Egyptians

By MICHAEL DENNIGAN
United Press International

CAIRO (UPI) — Child marriages still are a problem in Egypt despite the law that makes the age of consent for a male 18 years, and a girl, 16.

Child, in fact infant, marriages continue to take place in villages where they have been the custom for centuries. They are particularly prevalent in small towns and villages in the area of Assiut, a city midway between Cairo and Aswan to the south.

According to a recent report on the subject, weddings between boys and girls of 9 or 10 years of age are not uncommon. Sometimes children are "wed" within days or weeks of their birth.

The Cairo magazine Akher Saa, in an account of the custom, reported that in one village at least a third of the primary school students were married.

These child marriages usually are a signal for joyful celebration on the part of the families involved. Shotguns are fired in the air, syrup is distributed to the neighbors and the good news is spread far and wide.

Efforts of the authorities to stop the practice have had little effect.

Villagers reject arguments against their age-old customs. They say that all girls really should be married on the seventh day after birth, while some even claim the wedding should be performed on the day of birth itself.

The custom derives from two main causes—protection of maidenly honor in a rugged country, and a land hunger.

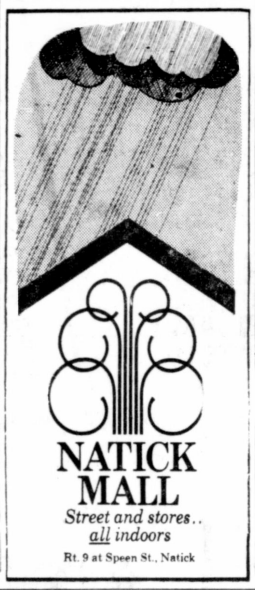

Infant or child marriage is a way of insuring there will never be any scandals impairing family honor when the girl grows into womanhood. And as in old days, such arranged marriages are a good way of increasing family land holdings by family merger. In land-scarce Egypt it is a cause for rejoicing when a child marriage can increase a family's farm by even one or two acres.

On the other hand, the authorities say such marriages also cause their share of troubles. One is that often the child bride and groom grow up together only to find themselves falling in love with some one else. This leads to family feuding and bloodshed — and in the past has been blamed for killings.

Interest To All Homeowners

Selecting a wall panelling is really no different from selecting a piece of furniture, a major appliance or other functional equipment. All are an integral part of modern living, all have to be chosen carefully and wisely, except that somehow you expect more from a wall. You know you'll have to repair and replace other equipment but you want a wall to last a lifetime. You would also like it to be unusually beautiful and you would prefer seeing it stay that way without any maintenance.

This is asking a lot, to be sure, but you have a right to expect all of these advantages from a panelled wall. Here is why . . . A Wall panel is economical to buy, install and maintain. Decoratively, it is one of the most beautiful materials in the world and structurally it is one of the strongest.

From the strictly practical angle, panelled walls offer immediate as well as long range economy. The panels are light in weight, easy to install. They go up quickly in either new or old construction. They do not need repair and are remarkably easy to maintain.

News Tips From Plywood Center

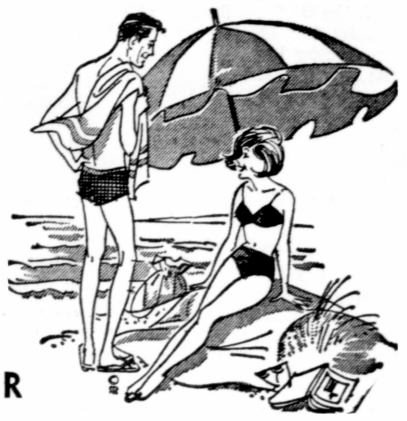

Restore original beauty to your wood furniture, panelling or woodwork by a new product sold at the Plywood Center. This product will quickly restore original beauty to dull, lifeless panelling, woodwork and furniture. It removes scratches, scuffs and stains, cleans, preserves and renews. Just apply with damp cloth and wipe it off. It is not a wax or a polish but contains natural oils that nourish wood, protect finish against drying and dulage. It will not dull glossy surfaces or put a shine on satin finishes. It's unbelievable but a fact. Visit the Plywood Center and try it out for yourself, you'll be amazed.

Move Mad To File Bill For Hearings Change

A resolution offered by Alderman Jack M. Roberts under which a bill would be filed at the next session of the Legislature to amend appropriate statutes to transfer to appropriate standing committees all public hearings in the area of public utility pole locations, street openings, storage of inflammables, acceptance of streets, construction of sewers and drains, and disposition of dangerous buildings, was referred by vote of the Board of Aldermen Monday night to its committee on Legislation for study and a report back to the full board.

In his resolution, Roberts expressed the opinion that "many items for which public hearings are required by the General Laws of the Commonwealth could more thoroughly be heard by the appropriate standing committee, thus giving citizens an opportunity to be heard in more detail."

Thus, according to Roberts, "the Board of Aldermen would have the benefit of the committee reports to provide the necessary facts in a more efficient manner."

The 15th annual Sports Night of the Newton South Little League will be held on Saturday, September 17th at the Waban Neighborhood Club, 1601 Beacon St., Waban, starting at 7 p.m.

Featured on the program will be Boston Red Sox pitcher, Roland Sheldon, and Kansas City Athletics third baseman, "Skip" Lockwood, a $100,000 bonus player from Norwood, Mass.

Boston Herald sportswriter Jack McCarthy also will be on the program and will show a film on the National Football League playoff game of 1965 between the Green Bay Packers and the Cleveland Browns.

Plaques will be presented to the South Major League champion Red Sox and the Minor League champion Millers. Refreshments will be served.

Messiah Guild Tea

There will be a tea for members and friends of the Guild of the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale, followed by one of the good programs planned for the season on Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 1:15 p.m., in the parish house.

MRS. SHULAMITH NEIMAN

Sisterhood Of Temple Starts Season Sept. 19

The opening meeting for the 1966-67 season of the Sisterhood of Congregation Beth El Atereth Israel of Newton will take place in the social hall of the synagogue, on Monday night, September 19th at 8:15 p.m. sharp.

Iinvocation will be given by Mrs. Max Vengrow. Mrs. Irving Goldberg, president, will give the opening remarks and then conduct the business of the Sisterhood.

The social part of the program will be turned over to Mrs. Myer Shore, chairman for the evening, who will present Rabbi Abraham Koolyk, spiritual leader of the synagogue. He will speak on a topic that will be timely at this New Year's season.

Mrs. Shulamith Neiman, an accomplished musician, who several years ago turned from the piano to the guitar and to folk-singing will be the artist for the remainder of the program. Mrs. Neiman has appeared on the platform of Jewish and non Jewish organizations presenting songs of many nations in the native languages.

The meeting is open to all of the husbands and to the friends of the membership and will be welcomed by the president and the officers.

Following the entertainment a coilation will be served by Mrs. Sydney Jochnowitz, chairman of Hospitality and her committee, Mrs. Jacob Alpert, Mrs. Hyman Kamen, Mrs. Marvin Schribman, and Mrs. Lester Wilker.

Local Operation Exodus Group at Reception

A reception to honor the staff of Operation Exodus will be held during a visit to the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum on Saturday evening, the 17th of September. The museum will be opened especially for this purpose by the courtesy of the trustees.

This event has been arranged by the Newton Committee for Operation Exodus. Guests will include many of the friends and benefactors of this worthy cause. In the receiving line Operation Exodus will be represented by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Byrant Rollins, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silva. The Newton committee will be represented by Mr. and Mrs. Hans Krieks, Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Shoul, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Maleson.

A musical program will be presented by Norma Guisto, soprano, accompanied by Robert Pettitt on the piano. Light refreshments and champagne will follow.

The Newton committee works to support in whatever capacities are needed by the staff of Operation Exodus and to assist it in a small measure with its great financial burden. Other members of the Newton committee who have arranged this evening are Mrs. John Cort, Mrs. David Nemzoff, Mrs. James Harrison, Mrs. Bernard Kramer, Mrs. Irving Schwartz, Mrs. Howard Zinn, Mrs. Lawrence Saxton and Mrs. David Weiss.

Want Coverage Under Medicaid For Retirees

On the heels of the recent stormy State House hearing on Medicaid coverage, Philip Kramer of Newton, national vice president of the Jewish Labor Committee, announces the appointment of a special committee of that organization to begin pressure for inclusion of "medical indigent retirees" under the plan.

Kramer, who is also a vice president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, said that "everybody at the hearing was rightfully concerned about medicaid for those on public aid and for children of the families on the fringe of poverty, but no one appeared to be concerned about the problems of medically indigent retirees."

About 25 percent of trucks in the U.S. are on farms.

United Church Women Plan For New Season

The United Church Women of Newton will hold a guest day for Presidents and Minister's wives of the 24 local churches tomorrow Friday, September 16th, at 9:30 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre. Miss Marion Wheeler, president of the United Church Women of Newton, and the Executive Committee will discuss "Who We Are and What We Do."

The Fall Board of Managers meeting will be held on Friday, October 7, at 9:30 a.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre. Mrs. George W. Brookheiser, Chairman of Christian Education, is in charge of the program of the day. She will present Mrs. Eugene Meyer and a group of women from Auburndale who will tell about "Living Room Dialogues" they have been holding for the past two years.

Mrs. Sumner Newcomb, Chairman of Christian World Relations, has arranged a series of Tuesday morning study groups in preparation for World Community Day. On October 11 at 10:00 o'clock the first meeting will be at the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Mrs. Patrick Loomis, Chairman of Christian World Missions, will present the books to be studied this year. The theme being "Affluence and Poverty: Dilemma for Christians" and for additional study "Canada."

On October 18 interested men and women will make a one day trip to the United Nations and the New Church Centre in New York. Reservations must be made for this trip not later than October 11 and may be made by calling 332-4540.

On October 25, the last meeting will be held at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Miss Edith M. Rideout is president of the women of the church. The meeting will be under the leadership of Mrs. Hayden of the Second Church, West Newton.

Mrs. Martin Luthy and the women of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church will be hostesses for the World Community Day to be held this year on Friday, November 4. Mrs. Emil Harty will speak on "Laity: Rights, Resources, Responsibilities" at 10:00 o'clock.

The Church World Service truck will be at the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church for its annual fall collection of good used clothing and blankets on October 18. Because of the recent earthquakes in Turkey, the need for good warm clothing and especially blankets is greatly needed. Women are asked to clean their closets and take items to the collection center.

Modern Statistics

LONDON (UPI) — Englishwomen in Victorian times spent 15½ years of their lives bearing children and died at the age of 52, a womens luncheon was told here Tuesday by Dame Patricia Hornsby Smith.

Today, she said, the average English mother spends three and one half years bearing children and has a life expectancy of 78.

GI Bill Blanks For Veterans Now Available

Application blanks for educational benefits under the new GI Bill are available at the Veterans Administration Contact Division, Room E-116, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Boston, plus all major colleges, universities, high schools and educational centers, the VA announced.

Information pamphlets and personal assistance in filling out the application can be obtained at the above VA office, at colleges and other educational institutions.

This post-Korean educational program is open to all veterans with more than 181 days active duty service, any part of which occurred on or after February 1, 1955. The veteran must have a discharge that is other than dishonorable, or if less than 181 days he must have been discharged or released for a service-connected disability.

These veterans will be eligible for one month of education for each month or fraction of a month that they were on active duty.

Courses may be taken at approved colleges and universities, vocational schools, correspondence school and at high school level. Approval of the institution will be made by the Mass. Dept. of Education. Foreign course approval will be by VA.

The VA will pay $100 a month to those veterans with no dependents who take full-time courses. Veterans with one dependent will receive $125 a month while those with more than one dependent will receive $150 a month.

Proportionate rates will be paid those taking part-time courses.

Earned income of the veteran will not affect his monthly VA payment.

Maximum education will be 36 months.

There is no deadline as to when a veteran must enter upon his education. VA payment will be made only to the eighth annual anniversary of his discharge from active duty with the exception that all veterans will be able to participate in the program until May 31, 1974, regardless of their discharge date.

Red Cross Chairman Are Named For Service In Coming Season

Edward Michaud, chairman of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross today announced the appointment of chairmen who will serve the chapter during the coming year.

Parker Wahn, president of the George H. Wahn Co. has been appointed chairman of the Disaster Program. He is a graduate of Harvard College, has been active in community affairs in Newton. He has given over 6 gallons of blood to the Red Cross, and has done a capable job in the Disaster Program during the past few years. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Newton Red Cross.

As Mr. Wahn's vice Chairman Mr. Michaud appointed James Campbell. He too has been doing a splendid job in this service. He has been active in Civil Defense and the Boy Scouts of Newton.

This coming year will see Henry J. Wilson, chairman of the entire Blood Program. Mr. Wilson had previously been vice chairman of the blood program, vigorously reactivating the participation of industries and organizations. Mr. Wilson had been in the sales division of the General Electric Company for the New England area. He is a member of the Board of Directors of Newton Chapter and has been on the executive committee of the Newton Republican Club.

Mr. Allston Budgell has been appointed Mr. Wilson's vice chairman. He is a graduat of Colgate College, and had been with the Wilson Company in their wool division.

Mr. Michaud also reappointed Mrs. Robert F. Krause as chairman of Military Family Aides. Her committee works directly with the military assisting servicemen in many capacities. She has been with Red Cross since 1937, when she worked with Mabel Boardman in Washington, D. C., developing the use of volunteers in this service. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, and is a member of the Michigan and Ohio Bar Associations. She too is a member of the Board of Directors of Newton Red Cross.

Donald Hoot has also been reappointed Chairman of Service to Military Families. He is a member f the Board of is a member of the Board of Cross. He had been in the busines of designing and installing electrical equipment for institutions.

Reappointed Chairman of Red Cross Youth is Mrs. Lorraine Holmes. At present she is the librarian at the Day Junior High School. She is a graduate of Emerson College and has received her degree of Master of Education from Boston University.

Mrs. Michael Cairo has long been active in Nursing Services. She received her degree in Nursing from the Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing in 1959, and has been active in Red Cross since 1961. She has assisted in the Blood Program, and has taught a number of courses in Home Care of the Sick and Mother and Baby Care courses.

Gilbert Champagne, safety officer of the Newton Police Department, is continuing as chairman of First Aid and Water Safety. This service has been one of the most active in the city of Newton and the services rendered at Crystal Lake during the summer schedule, the providing of teachers of swimming to the children as well as the newly instituted boating program are well known.

Mrs. Morris Harold Adler, has been reappointed after a lapse of a few years, Chairman of Public Information. She has been a volunteer in the Newton Chapter for 20 years, serving in practically every area of Red Cross activity. She is at present a member of the Board of Directors of Newton Red Cross. A native of New York City, she attended Columbia College and the City College.

Also continuing as Chairman of Publicity for the March Red Cross Campaign, is John N. Sullivan. He, too, is a member of the Board of Newton Red Cross. He is assistant vice-president in charge of public relations for the Newton Waltham Bank & Trust Company.

Stanley Epstein who is vice-chairman of Newton Red Cross has been appointed as Chairman of the Finance Committee. He is a native of New Bedford, and a graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Law School. He has also served as Chairman of United Fund in Newton.

Mrs. George P. Norton is again serving as Chairman of the Office of Volunteers. Long active in Newton Red Cross, she has served in the Blood Program, as well as in a number of Chapter activities. A native of Detroit, she has made Newton her home for many years.

Assisting her as vice-chairman of Recruitment is Mrs. Harold Whiteley. A native of Texas, she attended college in that state as well as in Georgia.

She has been active in Red Cross from the time she came to Newton from New York City. There she worked with the Welfare Department. This work has been responsible for he capable work in the Service to Military Families, as well as working in Disaster Relief when she has been called by National Red Cross to serve in various parts of the country.

James Nesbitt who has recently moved to Waban from Needham, has been appointed to the Region IV Planning Board of the Greater Boston Area of Red Cross. He is a recent addition to the Newton Red Cross, a member of the Board of Directors. He is assistant treasurer of New England Power Service Company.

Mr. Michaud had given considerable thought to these appointments and feels he has the nucleus of a good working team. It is is hope that in the coming recruitment campaign there will be volunteers attracted to the Newton Red Cross who will find it exciting and stumulating to work with these people. The present world situation has placed additional responsibilities on Red Cross ,and volunteers are needed to help in this work.

253 in Brookline and 146 in his home Brighton area.

The Democratic balloting in Newton produced a number of surprises.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, who won the Democratic nomination for Governor, topped former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell by only 271 votes in Newton. The city's returns gave McCormack 4944 votes and O'Donnell 4673.

Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody bested Mayor John F. Collins by better than a 4-3 margin in Newton, drawing 4509 votes to 3108 votes for Collins.

But what startled the political pundits was that Thomas Boylston Adams, who had no chance of gaining the senatorial nomination, received 2125 votes in Newton. This was regarded as strictly a protest vote against the war in Vietnam.

Former Assistant Attorney General Robert DeGiacomo ran ahead of former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti in Newton in the contest for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Newton apparently is the only city in Massachusetts which DeGiacomo carried.

Ex-Governor Foster Furcolo, a Newton resident, trailed in third place.

The city's totals in the three way Democratic Attorney General race were 3450 for DeGiacomo, 3260 for Bellotti and 2702 for Furcolo.

Newton automobile dealer Herbert L. Connolly received a big "favorite son" vote in his home city in his unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. Connolly topped Joseph E. McGuire in Newton just about 2-1, polling 5724 votes to 2908 for McGuire.

Representative Irving Fishman and Edward H. Pendergast, Jr., won the two Democratic nominations for the House of Representatives in the fifth Middlesex legislative district.

Fishman finished first by a wide margin, polling 3700 votes. Pendergast was second with 2183. Mrs. Arafe ran third with 1557 votes.

An interesting sidelight to the Republican balloting in Newton was that Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson, who is standing for election to the Attorney Generalship, was the top vote-getter in the city and that Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, the Republican nominee for U. S. Senator was "cut" by several hundred Newton voters.

The complimentary vote totals Newton gave the top unopposed Republican candidates were 5269 for Richardson, 5231 for Governor John A. Volpe, 5044 for Francis W. Sargent, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor; 5021 for John J. Buckley, the candidate for State Auditor; 4852 for Raymond M. Trudel, candidate for Secretary of State; 4773 for Brooke and 4720 for Joseph E. Fernandes, the candidate for State Treasurer.

That Brooke, whose name was listed first on the Republican ballot, received fewer votes in his home city of Newton than five other members of the GOP State ticket and only 53 more than Joseph Fernandes who has been involved in a liquor license dispute came as a big surprise.

Walter H. Palmer of Weston won the Republican nomination for the Governor's Council in the second councillor district in a landslide over Roger F. Turner of Walpole.

Palmer topped Turner 10-1 in Newton, polling 4484 votes to 444 for Turner.

Palmer and Attorney John J. Craven, Jr., of Hyde Park will battle it out in the November election for the seat in the Governor's Council which Mrs. Heckler is giving up to run for Congress.

Craven won the Democratic nomination for the Executive Council in the second district. In Newton, however, Craven ran third, with Charles L. Regan of Wellesley leading the five-candidate field by a wide margin.

PLAN KICK-OFF BRUNCH — Noemi No. 11 United Order True Sisters plan Kick-Off Brunch and Fashion "Sneak Preview" Sept. 20 at Valle's Steak House, Newton. Key figures preparing plans are, seated, left to right, Mrs. Samuel Prince and Mrs. Sumner Balder, luncheon chairman, and Mrs. Marion Gertel, president, standing. New Orthopedic Ambulatory Clinic at Children's Hospital Medical Center benefits from event.

He Gives Army Men New Start In Life

Many people would like a second start in life. Few ever get it.

However, right now in Germany some fortunate Americans are getting a chance to set their lives on a new course and a Newton resident, Dr. Albert Kahn, is helping make their dreams come true.

The lucky ones are a group of U. S. Army men who are preparing for a career in teaching after they doff their uniforms and retire from the military service.

The men are enrolled in a Boston University overseas graduate program in education established last fall in army education centers in Stuttgart and Munich. When they finish the program, usually within two years, the participants will have completed all course work to qualify them for teaching at a secondary level.

These army men have been bolstered in their quest for a new career by the Newton man who knows what it means to switch careers in midlife.

Dr. Albert Kahn, assistant professor of education at Boston University, who recently returned from teaching in the program, has been teaching for only the past seven years.

Dr. Kahn became interested in teaching through the University of Chicago's adult education "Great Books Program." It was this interest in adult education and education in general that led to his matriculation at Boston University in 1958.

Within four years, he had earned his doctorate in education and, by the time he went to teach in Germany last September, was acting chairman of the foundations department at the School of Education.

In Germany, Dr. Kahn taught a course called, "The School and its Program." Like all the other courses, this was designed especially for the army program. It dealt with the philosophical and historical aspects of educations and also explored the problems of curriculum development.

The course, along with one, The Role of the Teacher," given by Dr. Gilbert Wilson of the School, seemed to be a mind-opener for the students.

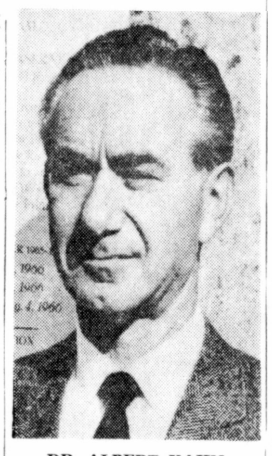

Dr. Kahn said he felt some of the men might have gone into the program originally as a way of insuring them some security after retirement.

But once they had examined critically some of the stereotyped ideas of education and the educator, "they began to realize the creative possibilities in education and how education could mean for them a vastly enriched second career in life," he said.

"One of the students' difficulties in the beginning was to recognize the fact that teaching for military purposes may not be the same as teaching for public education. Students came to realize the existence of different points of view in education and the vast number of possible approaches to help another individual to learn."

While he was in Europe, Dr. Kahn traveled extensively and visited a number of educational institutions both in Europe and Africa.

He said that in his opinion the superiority of European education over American education is a myth.

DR. ALBERT KAHN

"People are not being educated in Europe for change and new problems," Dr. Kahn said. "Education over there is still largely for the upper classes and is firmly entrenched in traditional value systems."

"American education provides more opportunity for more people to deal with a larger variety of problems associated with personal and social growth."

He added, moreover, that he felt American students are second to none in curiosity, concern for knowledge and the application of this knowledge to problem solving.

Some 70 participants are currently enrolled in the University's Master of Education degree program in Germany. About half of these are army personnel. The remainder are teachers working in the schools for children of army personnel, and civilians connected with the army. The program is conducted in cooperation with the General Development Unit of the United States Army.

It is the second graduate program offered by Boston University in Europe. The first was established in Heidelberg, Germany, in 1964 by the Graduate School, and leads to a Master's degree in international relations.

Booklet On Gout Available

Gout, one of mankind's oldest and most painful diseases, is the subject of a new booklet, "Gout, a Handbook for Patients," published today by the Arthritis Foundation.

The 12-page booklet discusses questions concerning the nature of gout, what triggers an attack, the tendency of gout to run in families, and many other aspects of the disease. The modern drugs now available to control gout are also mentioned.

The booklet is free and may be obtained by writing to Arthritis, Box 2161, Boston.

Youth Concerts Subscriptions Deadline Friday

Mrs. Herbert Kotzen, 45 Fenwick Rd., Waban, local chairman for Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall, announces that subscriptions for the 1966-67 series must be returned by Friday, Sept. 23.

The Newton PTA Creative Arts Committee will distribute application blanks in all Newton schools, grades 5 through 8, Monday, Sept. 19.

The Youth Concerts, with Harry Ellis Dickson conducting 60 members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, have been sold out each season since they began in 1959. Two series of three concerts are presented on Saturdays at 11 a. m. at Symphony Hall. Newton schoolchildren will attend Series 2, scheduled for November 12, January 21, and March 18. Tickets are sold by the series only, at $5 for three concerts.

The hour-long programs are planned to stimulate young people's interest in good music by presenting both classical and contemporary compositions played by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in the tradition-filled atmosphere of Symphony Hall. In addition, the Ancient Instruments Room, with its priceless collection of rare ad unusual instruments, is open to the young concert-goers; Laning Humphrey of the Symphony staff will give informal talks on the history of the instruments and will demonstrate their use.

YMCA Adult Education Fall Classes To Start Sept. 26

Louis Morrison, chairman of the Adult Work Committee, announces that the fall semester of Informal Education Classes will start the week of Sept. 26 at the Y.M.C.A. in Newton.

Several new classes have been added to the already popular list and new instructors have been added to the staff to offer an exciting challenge to those adults who want to get out and learn.

The new classes are as follows: Speed Reading, taught by Mr. Arthur L. Wallace, well known local authority on reading skills who with special instructional equipment can help increase reading abilities along with comprehension.

Yoga, which proved very popular when offered on an experimental basis, is now being offered in the morning as well as in the evening and will be taught by Mr. Shri Khanna who is conducting many classes in institutions in the greater Boston area.

After a year's absence from the roster of classes, Fencing with Foils is returning under the direction of Fencing Master Henry Harutunian now of Watertown who was coach of the winning 1960 and 1964 U.S.S.R. Olympic teams and instructor of World Champion Valentian Chernigov.

It was with regret that the services of Mrs. John Livingston and Mr. Richard Yarde were lost to us in the field of Art, but the cares of home are understandably of greater importance to Ellen Livingston and Mr. Yarde has been promoted at the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Art so that there is a greater demand on his time as an instructor.

Mrs. Lockwood Dennis, formerly of Seattle, Wash., and now of Newton, will instruct the art classes. Mrs. Dennis' background was obtained through undergraduate work and extended study at Washington State University while her experience in teaching in the Seattle Public Schools, the Ryther Center and the Seattle Creative Center.

The Conversational courses in the foreign languages of French and Spanish will be taught by Mrs. Richard Sunstein and Mr. Francis Argento, both of Newton.

Other popular courses continuing under able and proven teachers are: Contract Bridge both for beginners and reviewers by Mrs. Forrest Maddix and Mrs. James McIntyre, with Mr. Robert Deomis giving special Duplicate Bridge lessons; Dressmaking both in the morning and evening will be handled by Mrs. Mary Bonica; Investments for neophites and for students of the Current Market trends will be conducted by the genial gentlemen from Harris, Upham & Co., Mr. Richard Caruso and Mr. Kenneth Seth. Mr. Robert Gahtan returns for third season of Folk Guitar lessons. Slim Jane with Mrs. Jean Gruhn and Flower Arranging lead by Mr. Roger Carpenter of Eastman's will undoubtedly continue to interest the ladies of suburbia.

Hobbiest take special note that Mr. Creighton Stanwood will be starting his Enameling class immediately after his demonstration of Enameling at the State Fair in Springfield.

Once again the opportunity is offered by the "Y" to those adults over 25 years of age to Learn to Drive through cooperation with the certified instructors of Garber's Auto School.

Four experiences in Ballroom Dancing will be offered under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. William Riley. Something for every couple from the simple Fox Trot and Waltz through Advanced Latin Dance steps.

For further information regarding classes and activities for active adults call the Y.M.C.A. in Newton, BI 4-6050.

Pop Warner Fund Drive Gets Chamber's Nod

The Solicitation Control Committee of the Newton Chamber of Commerce has notified James P. Treddin of the police department, a director of Newton's Pop Warner Football League, that the league's campaign to raise funds for its equipment and operating expenses has been given a vote of approval.

The Pop Warner League, now in its sixth year, encompasses a youth program that serves more than 250 boys from 8 to 13 years of age. The six teams cover the entire city. They are fully equipped, and the schedules calls for competition with teams in other cities.

The struggle to keep the program continuing has been a long hard one financially, and continues as the number of boys who participate increases. The cost of the program runs approximately five-thousand dollars a year for equipment, insurance, officials and other necessary expenses incurred in operatin the program. The coaches and officials of the Pop Warner program donate many hundred hours of their time and enegry to make the program the success it is.

Following are the league's officers:

New 'Village Ballet' Is Continuing

This summer, "The Village Ballet Workshop" was formed and sponsored by the Brookline Ballet School, 222 Washington St., Brookline, in conjunction with other ballet schools, and is open to professionals and advanced students of classic and modern dance.

The artistic director, Princess Tatiana Ouroussoff, formerly Mlle. Tatiana Granzeva, Danseuse du Ballet of the famed Marynsky Theater Ballet, (now called Leningrad Kirov Ballet) has just returned from France and Italy, where she was guest teacher in professional schools during July and August. She has prepared an interesting ballet repertoire for the first year of workshop-study.

Miss Pamela Feri appeared professionally this summer with her pupil, Robert Tomasello of the Village Workshop, and also conducted Dance Masters of America and the Dance-Teachers Club of Boston, and attended their convention with special teachers' classes.

She has studied in New York City and is a former pupil of the Centre de Danse, Cannes, France, and has danced both here and abroad. A young dedicated teacher with exceptional ballet training since early childhood (15 years), Miss Feri teaches classes which are both diversified and challenging.

This Spring, Miss Feri was choreographer and director of dancing at the annual vareity show at St. Mary's Parochial School, and The Brookline Ballet School awarded scholarships to Michelle Siebert and Nancy Sweeney, two pupils taking part in the show, in view of their outstanding potential.

Registration and auditions are being conducted every afternoon, and as in the past year, full scholarships for boys age 7 to 19 are again available to those with artistic potential and serious intent.

Berman Sees Public Apathy To School Plan

Harold Berman, Newton School Committee chairman, has expressed disappointment over the community's apparent apathy relative to a proposed program for maintaining the city's status as a possessor of a top school system.

The plan was envisioned by the School Committee as a part of an effort to attract high grade teachers. It would have cost the city an extra $1 million annually over a four-year period. Last June, Mayor Basbas gave warning that it would contribute a $100 tax rate within five years.

Other members of the School Committee say they have heard only a few comments from taxpayers pro or con.

"Patterns," the school department news letter, discussed the proposal in its issue last June. The news letter was mailed to every Newton home. One committee member said he knew of several residents who failed to read it.

Named Chaplain At Dickinson College, Penn.

Appointment of Dr. Lawrence T. Yeo, a recent graduate of Duke University Divinity School, as acting chaplain of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Penn., has been announced by President Howard L. Rubendall.

Dr. Yeo, a Methodist, lives at 11 Brae Burn Rd., Auburndale. His father, Dr. J. Wendell Yeo, is vice president of Boston University for student affairs and formerly the academic vice president.

The younger Dr. Yeo was graduated from Newton High School in 1959, and is also a graduate of Wesleyan University, class of 1963.

At Dickinson he will conduct the services in the college church, direct the several religious programs and social projects of the chaplain's office and teach a course in the department of religion.

His appointment was effective as of yesterday (Wednesday).

6-Week Seminar For Nurses Set By Newton-Wellesley Hospital

Sponsored by the Newton chapter of the American Red Cross, in cooperation with the 260-bed community hospital, the series of weekly public service programs is designed to inform both the working nurse and the nurse who has been away from her profession.

The first program, at 8 p.m. in Usen Auditorium at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, will introduce R. Leonard White, M.D. of Weston, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at the teaching hospital. He will describe the role of hormones in treating sterility, infertility and menopause.

Mrs. Michael Caira, R.N. of Newtonville, chairman of nursing services for Newton Red Cross, noted the seminar is open to any graduate nurse from Newton and Wellesley. She urged interested nurses to register for the seminar by telephoning the chapter house, 527-6000.

Programs to follow will deal with a wide range of topics and will introduce area authorities.

On Monday evening, September 26, Gerald G. Garcelon, M.D. of West Newton will lead a panel discussion about current concepts of cancer treatment. The surgeon heads the hospital's tumor clinic and is chairman of the medical staff executive committee. Panel members will include Joseph Hanelin, M.D. of Natick, chief of radiology at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and Hugh M. Pyle, M.D. of Weston, oncologist at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and New England Deaconess Hospital.

On Monday evening, Oct. 3, new trends in nursing will be described by Miss Elizabeth Ketchen, R.N. of Natick, assistant director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing, and by Mrs. Marilyn Prouty, R.N. of Cambridge, assistant director of nursing services.

Principal health problems in the community will be the topic on Monday, Oct. 10. The speaker will be Hale H. Cook, M.D. of West Newton, director of public health for the City of Newton.

Frederick M. Davies, M.D., Wellesley surgeon and chairman of the hospital's disaster committee, will discuss current first aid concepts on Monday evening, Oct. 17.

The final program on Monday, Oct. 24, will focus on community mental health problems and will present William E. Stone, M.D. of Lexington, medical director of the Newton Mental Health Center.

A Community College At South High Suggested

Mayor Monte G. Basbas is not in favor of the most recent proposal that has sprung up to add confusion to the high school situation — a suggestion that Newton South High School be converted to a state community college.

Says the Mayor: "Newton can't afford to let a building that cost approximately $8 million go for a song—about a third of what the city spent to construct it."

However, the Mayor says he will meet with Theodore Chase, the state community college official who is responsible for the proposal to get all the facts before making a final decision on the matter.

Prior to the community collefe proposal, a committee set up by the Mayor had proposed that a 2500-student school be built on the expanded location of Newton High, and that a 500-student addition be constructed at Newton South High. The Mayor went along with that, and so did the School Committee.

Another recent proposal was made by a three-member group of library and school officials that involved the building of a 4500 central high school, construction of a library on the present site of Newton Junior College, and locating the junior college at what is now Newton South High.

Then, virtually out of nowhere, has come the community college proposal to complicate matters further.

In Equity

No. 49127
(SEAL)

To Henry J. O'Meara, formerly of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives:

GREETING:

Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court, by George Berfield and Lois Berfield, of said Newton;

WE COMMAND YOU, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of November next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and receive what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.

Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.

The plaintiffs represent that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land in said Newton, being Lot No. 19 on a plan by Charles A. McManus, Civil Engineer, dated July 1, 1916, revised December 12, 1916, recorded in Middlesex South Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 256, Page 13; and further represent that on November 5, 1940, the Gardner Savings Bank made an entry to foreclose a mortgage, the same being duly recorded on December 4, 1940, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure deed being dated February 18, 1941, duly recorded on February 20, 1941, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure and foreclosure deed having been made without first obtaining permission from any Court to foreclose under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended; and further represent that at the time of said foreclosure, no owner of record was in the military service and entitled to the benefits of said Act. And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiffs that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be give by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said Newton, the last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of November next.

Witness, ELWOOD H. HETTRICK, Judge of our Land Court, the eighth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty six.

90 Miles In 6 Hours Vietnam Flight Time

By ELIZABETH HALSTEAD
Untited Press International

PHAN THIET, South Viet Nam (UPO) Ten years ago it took four hours to drive from Saigon north to the city of Phan Thiet, 90 miles away.

Today it takes six hours to fly there.

Phan Thiet, one of South Viet Nam's manufacturing centers, is located near the coast in Binh Thuan Province.

Though the city is controlled by the government and is in fact the capital of the province, the Viet Cong harass nearby villages and occasionally even enter the city.

Several weeks ago a Viet Cong terror squad attacked a police station inside the heart of the City, then blew up a hotel two blocks away.

Phan Thiet is still one of those cities essentially inhabited by Vietnamese. Although there is a U.S. advisory team stationed here, as yet there are no actual combat troops working out of the city.

Because it is not a key military point at the moment, Phan Thiet is placed low on the list of aircraft stops.

Most flights run by the Military Assistance Command do not even stop at the small airstrip outside of Phan Thiet. Visual Reconnassance flights are flown in Binh Thuan by air force and army pilots. Occasionally they fly to Saigon.

There is a provincial representative for the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) working out of the city.

Every Saturday he is "given" a helicopter to fly to other sections of his provvince, places he could not travel to by land because of the Viet Cong.

There also is a flight to Phan Thiet by Air America, contracted by AID. However, this flight provides the traveler a tour of most of the central highland area and the beaches of Nha Trang, all even further north from Saigon, before stopping at Phan Thiet.

One recent flight to Phan Thiet flew past Phan Thiet, stopped at Nha Trang, then Banmethout, the Montagnard capital, then the resort town of Dalat, back to Nha Trang, then to Phan Rang, a U.S. Air base on the coast and finally, as it was getting dark the plane landed at Phan Thiet as U.S. Phantom jets were attacking a Viet Cong force raiding a village two miles north of the town.

Though comparatively near to Saigon, Phan Thiet is at the other end of a highway patrolled by Viet Cong guerrillas.

Any traveler who dares to venture along the highway, Vietnamese as well as American, would be certain to meet at least one band of guerillas. From a Vietnamese the Viet Cong would exact taxes. From an American, probably his life.

This is the story for much of Viet Nam. The only way to travel anywhere is by plane. The roads still belong to the Viet Cong.

JOBS

You have read about shirts, dresses, blouses that can be thrown away when they become soiled. Surgeons are wearing throw-away operating gowns. Airplanes have throw-away head rests. We MAKE NONWOVEN FABRICS, one of the most talked about industries today.

We can hardly keep up with customer demand. We have bought and built buildings, enlarged present plants . . . and have interesting production jobs available. Prior experience is not essential.

Our future in the civilian market is unlimited. Oh yes, we also supply some of our materials for military production.

Get into a young industry that offers long range security . . . in war or peace time.

New Colors, Stripes Feature Fall Shirts

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Mod shirts worn chiefly by teen-agers form only a small percentage of the dress shirt market this fall, but the Carnaby Street imports have had a tremendous influence on the shirts offered for older men.

The most notable effect is the revived popularity of French cuffs, often in contrasting colors. Other new trends are extremely wide spread collars, flapped pockets, longer points for button down traditionals and a much higher roll or flare.

White shirts have yielded ground and most of the shirt manufacturers are showing a new pumpkin shade plus orange, pink, a darker pink, a blue- or gray-green and a true green. The same colors carry over into stripes which tend this fall to wide track—nearly two inches apart.

Chambray was popular last spring in deep blue but comes this fall in blue, burgundy and bright yellow. Pima cottons also are in deeper shades. The trend in oxfords is for a more rugged look — basketweaves, herringbones, twills and whipcords.

Small tattersall checks are shown in many traditional lines this fall but with a difference. There are solid color shirts with tattersall collars and cuffs and tattersall bodies with solid shirts and collars. The cuffs are French and often shaped, Mod-style. The collars are widespread.

Both department and specialty stores estimate that more than 50 per cent of the shirts they sell this fall will be permanent press.

A rundown of some of the big manufacturers:

Gant shows pumpkin colors in both solids and stripes, reports pink very strong. There is a collar the same length as a button down which can be pinned, BD pockets, fine tattersalls, chambrays in colors that include green and burgundy and bold open stripes.

Hathaway adds such colors as peach, tavern green and stone pink (bright) to its oxfords. Liverpool stripes are two colors on solid, including a pumpkin and black on blue. Oxfords come in monks cloth, a hobnail oxford and twills.

Wren shows a whipcord BD widetrack stripe, solid whipcord BD in yellow, burgundy and gray, chambray BD in burgundy, yellow and green-gray, oxford BD in stripes and checks and a double wide track on whipcord in such color combinations as blue/yellow and pumpkin/gray.

Jayson features a high roll BD and a spread in mint green, melon, pumpkin, pink and deep blue, a widetrack stripe in multi colors, a whisky colored chambray with a two-button French cuff, some in contrasting colors and with rounded corners.

Excello shows cutaway French cuffs on pima cotton in maize, pink and French blue in widespread collars, a model it calls "switched on" and is—a very high collar band of white pique on a raspberry chambray body.

Van Heusen angled its brawnier oxfords for the college campus but has found them popular with older men. It has added widetrack stripes and colors to its once all-white Vanopress fabrics. The colors include blue, wine, green, rust and a blend of gold and green. London Gear is pure Mod.

Eagle adds some new colors—pumpkin, sage green, old wine — to its other colors, and reports a trend toward deeper ground in its traditionals. The roll on the traditional BD is more exaggerated and there are chambray stripes.

Creighton's newest colors are pink and melon and reports blue chambray increasingly popular in solid and stripes and with flap pockets and more flare to the BD roll. Shepherd and tattersall checks are in along with wide track stripes.

Lion of Troy showed contrast collars and cuffs, wider spread collars and cuffs on tattersalls and candystripes. Mod type shirts are 4½ inch flowered prints with epaulets and flapped pockets.

Yankee Artists Have An Ivory Tower In Rome

By ERNEST LOTITO
United Press International

ROME (UPI) — The villa at 5 Via Masina, high on Rome's Janiculum Hill, is well-manicured, tranquil, cool even in the hot summer. Just right for relaxed study, contemplation and creativity.

And those are exactly the things that have occupied a select group of American architects, painters, sculptors, writers and other artists there each year for more than 50 years. For the villa is the American Academy in Rome.

The Academy is not a school and offers no prescribed program or course of study. Rather, as an academy brochure notes, "It presents artists a gift of freedom to work and reflect in an atmosphere removed from the demands of the art market and many of the pressures of American life."

Fellows have used the gift well. Leslie R. Bassett, for instance, wrote the composition that won him this year's Pulitzer prize in music while he was an Academy fellow in 1963. Ralph Ellison and poet John Ciardi did some of their best writing while on fellowships.

Like their predecessors, this year's group of 29 fellows was chosen by juries assigned the task of evaluating applications.

"The object," says Academy vice-director Joseph J. Deiss, "is to find the brightest Americans in various fields and to give them a chance to spend an anxiety-free year in Italy, which is the font of the Greco-Roman tradition."

The financial resources of the Academy come from endowment funds, individual gifts, and yearly contributions of $250 to $500 each from American colleges and universities.

"We receive no funds from the United States government," explained Deiss, "although we do have a U.S. Government charter."

The U.S. Congress chartered the Academy in 1905, and over the years the charter has been amended to keep pace with increases in land values. A bill to enable it to increase its land holdings from $10 million to $25 million was introduced recently by New York Republicans Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Rep. Theodore R. Kupferman.

"There was a time when we had no married fellows and no females," said Deiss. "Now we have both. In fact, one-third of the fellows this year are married."

The single fellow would seem to have the best of it at present, for in addition to the $3,650 stipend the fellowship carries he gets free room and his meals at bare cost. The married fellow is given $600 allowance to rent an apartment and the help of the Academy in finding lodging, but housing in Rome is not cheap.

The subsidized food is available to married and single alike.

At Academy expense, fellows are taught Italian. They also have each year an outstanding list of resident professors to help them with whatever they may be doing—one in each of the fields represented.

Each year the artists, for instance, are given the chance to exhibit their works. The musicians get an opportunity to perform with and have their works played by some of the best orchestras in Europe.

Tiny Ones Take Finance Study In Test Project

MODESTO, Calif. (UPI) — About 125 first and second graders attend summer school to discuss goods and services, production, income and savings—or economics, pure and simple.

The simplified economics course is a pilot program at Fremont School. There is no testing. Students are graded on class participation.

There is "very little writing because many cannot spell the words they think of," said the teacher, Mrs. Carolyn Kerl. She said the course and the idea are good.

"It gives the children a chance to think, to verbalize, to contribute, to participate—although it is over the heads of some of them," Mrs. Kerl said.

She now recommends the course for second graders, but not for first because "the attention span is short with little children and even a single year makes a difference."

But the students for the most part are attentive, she reported. They listen and they respond.

The course is called "Our Working World — Families at Work." Dr. Lawrence Senesh of Purdue University wrote the resource texts three years ago to test whether significant ideas in the social sciences can be made meaningful to children in the primary grades.

Ocean Flights

New York — At any given moment there are about 25 planes flying over the Atlantic ocean, either headed toward the U.S. or to a foreign port.

—o—

Passenger Cars

Three of four traffic crashes involve passenger cars.

Aldermen Take Action On Routine Docket Matters

Action by the Board of Aldermen at the regular meeting last Monday night in City Hall included the following:

Two appropriations requested by City Treasurer Archie R. Whitman were approved. One was for $35,000 to cover the mounting interest costs of the current year. The other was for $6500 to cover cost of data processing payrolls.

An offer of $13,500 by Nunzio F. Leone for land on Watertown St., Newton, was denied. It was pointed out that the land adjoins the Stearns School property, and that the School Department might find it of use.

Approved was a request of the director of public works for an appropriation of $6000, the cost of additional quantities of sanitary fill at the Rumford avenue disposal area. Alderman Paul J. Burke declared that because of the great amount of rubbish dumped there, neighboring residents had a cockroach problem, so the proposed fill was a must.

Both the Finance and Public Works committees reported adversely on a request of the director of public works for $12,000 for construction of a drain and sewer in Ridge road, Waban. Abutters had raised strong objection to the project at a recent public hearing, and Monday night the full Board voted to deny the request.

A similar public works request for $5500 for sewer construction in Parker terrace, Newton Centre, was given approval.

Items reported by Alderman Jack M. Roberts of the Street Traffic committee were acted on as follows:

Held for the Traffic Commission were two items, one a request by Patricia Asaff, 93 Hancock street, Auburndale, to make Hancock street one way from Woodland road to Grove street, and the other a request of Mrs. Robert R. Elder Jr., 281 Cypress street, Newton Centre, and others, for recision of the no parking ordinance on the south side of Cypress street.

No action necessary was the report accepted on a petition for a pedestrian operated traffic light at the Hubbard's Drug Store intersection in

Single Sessions Group Holding Its Petitions

The Single Session Committee of Newton called a special meeting on September 9 to discuss its present city wide petition drive. Since several of its executive board members are participants in the Special Study Group on The Elementary School Schedule, established by the School Committee, it was agreed that the circulation of petitions will be discontinued at this time while the entire situation is deliberated.

The Single Session Committee urges the entire community to become familiar with the many problems involved in changing the elementary school hours. This can be done by reading the local papers which will report on the workings and deliberations of the study group. Parents who are interested shoud feel free to contact the Single Session Committee to understand fully the group's position urging a five-hour uniform day.

It is in good faith that the Single Session Committee is discontinuing the circulation of petitions until the proposals of the Special Study Group on The Elementary School Schedule are formally presented to the School Committee.

Newton Corner. The matter is under study by the Traffic Commission.

Also under study by the Traffic Commission is Alderman Hopkins' petition for improved traffic control at the Newton Corner Massachusetts Turnpike intersection, and that matter was deemed to come under the head of no action necessary for that reason.

The Traffic Commission's recommendation that there be further study of traffic hazard alleviation at the Woodcliff Rd - Boylston St. crossover in Newton Highlands was accepted by the full Board.

Reappointments Are Confirmed

The Aldermen Monday night confirmed the following three reappointments by Mayor Basbas to unpaid positions:

Thomas J. Severini, 23 Howe rd., Newton Centre, as an associate member of the Board of Appeal, Building Laws, for one year from last Aug. 31.

V. Stoddard Bigelow, 49 Seminary ave., Auburndale, a member of the Board of Appeal, Zoning Laws, for five years from last Aug. 31.

John W. Castoldi, 21 Normandy rd., Auburndale, an associate member of the Board of Appeal, Building Laws, for one year from last Aug. 31.

Local Woman On Official Russian Trip

Mrs. Kay B. Stein of Newton is one of five women chosen by the Committee for International Friendly Visits to represent the United States on a three-week exchange visit to the Soviet Union this month.

The purpose of the committee is to help develop a clearer understanding among people of the world through meaningful personal contacts, and thus encourage an atmosphere of trust and intelligent cooperation in dealing with problems confronting our communities today.

During their stay in the Soviet Union the American women will be the guests of the Soviet Women's Committee.

They will be entertained by Russian families in private homes, meet community leaders, visit factories, schools, hospitals, and have opportunities to view many facets of Soviet life not usually seen by the tourist.

Mayor Monte Basbas has given Mrs. Stein a letter of greetings to bring to mayors and citizens of the Soviet Union in which he says:

"I am very pleased with this wonderful exchange program which allows the citizens of your country and those of my country to visit with one another in each other's homes. This type of program can only help better understanding between the various countries that participate."

A resident of Newton for sixteen years, Mrs. Stein is an active member and former vice-president of the Newton League of Women Voters, membership chairman of Voice of Women—New England, Co-chairman Newton - Brookline chapter of Voice of Women, member of the steering committee Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, and a member of the Newton Peace Centre.

She is married to Dr. Harold J. Stein. They live at 19 Druid Hill Road, Newton Highlands and have two teenage children, David and Ellen.

Lawn At City Hall Site Of Art Exhibits

The annual outdoor art exhibit of Newton Art Association, Inc. ,will be held on Saturday, Sept. 17, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., on the lawn of Newton City Hall.

This will be a juried show of members' works, including oil, pastels and watercolors. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend and select the best pictures whose artists will receive awards at the close of the day.

The first prize is the James King Bonnar Memorial Award. This event is under the direction of Robert P. Wheeler of Waltham.

In case of rain, the exhibit will be held the following Saturday, Sept. 24.

Gath Pool Open Through Sunday

John B. Penney, Recreation Commissioner for Newton announces that the new Harry Gath Swimming Pool is open this week through Sunday, September 18 from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

Commissioner Penney stated that the water is heated to 80 degrees.

The committee will coordinate work with the Newton Fire Department, the School Department, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, businesses, stores, service clubs and industrial plants to focus attention on fire safety during the week of Oct. 9-15.

Mayor's Threat Is Paying Off

Mayor Basbas' "get tough" threat against persons who are delinquent in their payment of auto excise taxes, is paying off, according to a report by City Treasurer Archie R. Whitman.

The Treasurer says that Deputy Tax Collector I. Frederick Kaufman, a Newton constable recently appointed to chase tax evaders, has been doing a remarkable job, and some of the bills he has collected date back to 1962-63.

Julian Roberts, another deputy collector, concentrates on the current excise bills.

Great Books Group Ready For New Season

Mrs. Anthony L. Cimo, 200 Mill St., Newtonville, announces that Newton's Great Books Discussion group is about to begin the season's bi-weekly meeting.

Leader of the local group is Richmond G. Albert, 200 Fuller St., West Newton.

The Great Books Foundation is a nonprofit organization established to provide adults with a means to continue their education free through reading and discussion of the best sellers of all time—from the Bible to "Hamlet" and "Huckleberry Finn."

Groups usually comprise from 12 to 15 persons who meet for two hours every other week. Newtonites interested in serious readings and lively conversation are urged to get in touch with the local leader or call Mrs. Cimo at the Boston Public Library, CO 7-2211.

Tremont Temple To Install Pastor

Frances M. Parkhurst of Newton, chairman of the board of directors of Tremont Temple Baptist Church in Boston, and H. Elmore Blanton, also a Newtonite, chairman of the church's board of deacons, will take part next Sunday (Sept. 18) in the 6:30 p.m. installation of the Rev. A. Paterson Lee of Toronto, who begins his Tremont Temple pastorate that day.

Teens Honored For Hospital Services

A sizeable contingent of Newton teenagers were among the young people who amassed more than 4500 volunteer hours of service at New England Deaconess Hospital this summer.

Mrs. Irma A. Kellner, director of volunteers, revealed the amount of dedicated work performed by these young peopel at the hospital during the summer vacation season at a Pizza Party held in their honor.

Emphasizing how greatly Deaconess depends on the youth who give valuable hours after school and during vacations, Mrs. Kellner presented each volunteer with the American Hospital Association Certificate of Appreciation.

Those credited with more than 50 hours received the Hospital Teenager Volunteer pin. After refreshments were served, Miss June Kerr, a memory expert, delighted everyone with her entertaining prformance.

Volunteers began the season with an orientation program in June and then chose to work in Central Supply, the Coffee Shop, the Gift and Flower Shop, messenger service, patient service, the Medical Library, the Patient's and Employee's Library, Medical Records, the Dietary Department, the volunteer office, with the Courtesy Cart or as a tray server.

From Newton, Suzana Barros, Jill Einstein, Allan Goldstein, Laurence Krasnow, Donald Levin, William Miller, Laurence Young, Pamelinda Lee, Nancy Andler, Margorie Gephart and Cheryl Kline worked in the Coffee Shop.

Alexandra Banks and Ellen Boynick served in the Gift Shop. Lois Levine, Karen Richman and Sara Sloane were tray servers. Marjorie Kaplan served in two areas, the Coffee Shop and the Library.

Phyllis Rosenthal and Carolyn Scott worked in the Coffee Shop and with the Courtesy Cart. Phyllis Bloom divided her time between the Gift Shop and the Courtesy Cart.

Susan Birnbaum helped in the Gift Shop as well as the Coffee Shop and Rhonda Goldstein served in the Gift Shop and took around the Courtesy Cart. Susan Jackson helped in the laboratories as well as the Library.

Rev. Bessie Stratton Preaches Here Sunday

The many Eliot Church friends of Bessie M. Stratton, former Director of Religious Education at the Church, will be pleased to hear that she is in the east and will be preaching at Eliot Church on Sunday, September 18. The Rev. Miss Stratton is a graduate of Yankton College in South Dakota and the Boston University School of Theology.

During the twenty-five years of her ministry at Eliot Church, she grew to know many families and young people and holds them in fond remembrance.

Other churches Miss Stratton has served are the First Congregational Church in Wilmette, Illinois, the Church of the Beautitudes in Phoenix, Arizona, and the Church of the Lighted Window in La Canada, California. A gifted writer, a producer of many dramatic productions (including the well remembered 100th anniversary pageant of the Eliot Church) and a beloved Christian worker are some of the reasons why Miss Stratton is so well remembered.

Following the church service a coffee hour will be held in the church parlor to give her the opportunity to greet her friends.

Newton Takes Teacher Whom Boston Fired

A young teacher who touched off protests by Negro parents more than a year ago, when he was dismissed from the faculty of Boston's Gibson School, has been given an appointment in the Newton school system.

Jonathan Kozol has been assigned to a fifth grade class at the Davis School here.

A former Rhodes Scholar, he was a fourth grade teacher in the Gibson School in 1964 and 1965, but was let go during a controversy that developed over the reading of a work by the Negro poet Langston Hughes.

Since that time he has served as a tutorial director with the War on Poverty, supervising a program for 250 Roxbury youngsters, and has taught high school English at the Urban School in Boston. He was an English consultant this summer in the pre-college program of Educational Services, Inc.

Jewish Congress President To Be In Hub Sept. 22

Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld of Cleveland, national president of the American Jewish Congress, will address a combined meeting of the boards of the New England Region and the women's divisions at a luncheon Thursday, September 22, at 12:30, at the Combined Jewish Philanthropies Building, 72 Franklin street, Boston.

This meeting will mark the first appearance of Rabbi Lelyveld in Boston since his election as president on May 1, when he succeeded Rabbi Joachim Prinz of Newark. The meeting has been arranged to give the leaders of the New England Region, both men and women, an opportunity to meet Rabbi Lelyveld and to talk with him.

Lawrence S. Locke of Weston, president of the New England Region, will be chairman of the meeting; and Morris Michelson of Brookline, past president of the region and currently co-chairman of the national governing council, will introduce Rabbi Lelyveld.

Rabbi Lelyveld is a native of New York City and a graduate of Columbia University. In 1955, he received an honorary doctorate from Hebrew Union College. Prior to his appointment as rabbi of Fairmount Temple, Cleveland, he was national director of the Hillel Foundation and executive vice-president of the America-Israel Cultural Foundation.

He is chairman of the Committee on Justice and Peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and vice president of the American Jewish League for Israel.

Newton Lions Take Part In N.Y. Conclave

Approximately 60,000 attended the event from all over the world.

A special honor was bestowed upon the Newton Club when two members, President Alfred Mouser and Zone Chairman Elliot Beverly were selected to carry the huge banner which headed the Massachusetts delegation.

Rev. Nelson Has Returned From Moscow

The Rev. J. Robert Nelson, 63 Oakwood Rd., Newton Centre, Professor of Systematic Theology at Boston University School of Theology, returned from Russia last week, after attending a meeting of the Faith and Order Commission of the World Council of Churches.

The members of the commission were guests of the Patriarchate of Moscow, and it was the first time the group was ever entertained in Russia.

Dr. Nelson intends to deliver a paper and to be one of a select international church group giving consideration and study to the various theological issues regarding church unity in our time.

Dr. Nelson has been occupied with ecumenical issues since his association with the World Council of Churches at which time he served as the Executive Secretary of the Commission on Faith and Order.

He is author of several well received books of church unity and he has been a participant in ecumenical meetings all over the world.

He is currently involved in movements for renewal of the church, particularly as he serves as president of the young activists of the Methodist Church, a group known as Methodists for Church Renewal. Last spring he delivered the first of a series of Lowell Lectures on Vatican II.

Newton Corner Has A Spilled Gasoline Scare

Gasoline, spilled from a truck following an accident on the bridge at Newton Corner and the toll road extension constituted a hazard in the area throughout last Monday morning.

Four radio calls were received by the Fire Department within the half hour following the accident at approximately 8:45 a.m. Apparatus that responded to the radio calls and a box alarm included a special foam truck to clean up the streets.

Police, firefighters and Edison employees joined in the battle to render the area safe.

A pumping truck was finally summoned to transfer the gasoline truck's load, as the vehicle was still leaking hours after the accident.

Registration for the Adult Education Program at Newton Junior College will be held during the week of September 19-22, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at Administration Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville.

The program, open to all adult residents of Newton and neighboring communities, includes academic, cultural, and general education courses without credits or prerequisites.

The courses are designed for adult citizens who wish to continue their formal education in evening classes at the College. The program is sufficiently broad in scope to provide ample opportunity for adults to promote self-develoepement, to meet specific educational needs, or to fulfill a particular cultural or civic goal.

The courses offered are: Beginning French, Intermediate French, Advanced French, Great Literature, Great Music, Beginning Italian, Intermediate Italian, Advanced Italian, Modern Mathematics, Operadventures, Psychology of Human Behavior, Public Speaking, Beginning Russian, Advanced and Scientific Russian, Beginning Spanish, and Advanced Spanish.

Of particular interest is a new course, The Suburb and the Inner City: Newton's stake in Boston, which deals with the question of how Newton is affected by what goes on in Boston and vice versa. The following topics will be covered: How is Newton affected by Boston problems in such areas as public education, real estate taxation, urban renewal, mass transportation, air and water pollution, outdoor recreation, crime, and political corruption? Each course meetts one night a week from 7:15 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. during the academic year from September 26th to December 8, 1966, and from January 3, to March 23, 1967. Registration must be made in person.

LISA M. ORAY

Lisa Oray On 'Jody Jordan' Fashion Board

Lisa Margit Oray, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oray, 28 Monadnock Rd., Chestnut Hill, has been chosen as a member of Jordan's Fashion Board.

Little Miss Oray was a recent finalist in the Jody Jordan Fashion Contest for girls seven to 11 years of age. She, with fourteen other board members, has won a one-year reign on the Fashion Board. 1600 young applicants competed for the honor.

Lisa is a fourth grade student at the Ward School. The Orays are recent arrivals in Newton coming to this city a year ago from New Orleans, La.

A brother, Marc Oray, 18, is a graduate of Newton High School, Class of 1966. He is entered as a freshman this fall in the College of Basic Studies at Boston University.

Lisa has two sisters, Miss April Oray, 23, of Richmond, Va., who received her master's degree in education last year at B.U., and Mrs. Leo (Nancy) Lowentitt, 22, of New Orleans.

Lisa Oray, Newton's most recent addition to the Jody Jordan Fashion Board ranks, is 4 feet, 5 inches tall, with long, brown hair and blue eyes. She attended Tuft's University Creative Dramatics Club for young people.

As a member of the Fashion Board, the Newton lassie will enjoy an exciting year which will include modeling in the Jody Jordan Club shows and attending monthly meetings. She also receives a back-to-school prize.

GRADUATE — Miss Linda Keene, daughter of Mrs. Robert B. Keene of 584 Grove St., Newton, was one of a class of 53 nurses who were graduated Monday, Sept. 12th, from the New England Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing in ceremonies at John Hancock Hall, Boston.

Jacque Lynne Orrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Orrill, 146 Florence st., Chestnut Hill, is a freshman at the University of Massachusetts, where she is a psychology major.

Petition For Apartments Is Withdrawn

James A. Miller of the Planning Board, who was expected to appear before the Board of Aldermen at the meeting Monday night with a petition for a new zoning district, "Residence EE," did not attend.

The petition is part of a long range plan to adjust all zoning in the city. The new EE Residence District would allow high rise apartments six stories in height, provided the overall height does not exceed 60 feet

However, despite Miller's absence, Residence EE District came in for mention Monday night, when the board adopted a proposal by Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner of the Committee on Claims and Rules that the Construction Finance Corporation be given leave to withdraw without prejudice two petitions in order that the corporation can resubmit the matters under the proposed Residence EE District zoning.

One of the petitions was for a change of zone from Single Residence B to Business A District, land at 2130 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls. The other sought permissive use for construction there of an apartment building approximately 100 feet tall and containing some 138 units.

Considerable opposition was voiced to the petitions at the time they were given a public hearing.

Eleven Chosn For Jury Duty By Aldermen

The names of 11 residents were drawn by the Aldermen Monday night for service as jurors.

2 Arrested As Result Of Alert Police Work

Newton police have been commended for their alert work and efficient investigation which led to the arrest of two men charged with breaking into the Langley Food Shop in Newton Centre.

The praise was voiced by Judge Julian L. Yesley in Newton district court as he bound Robert J. MacKenzie, 28, of Dorchester and Joseph A. Bucchiere, 40, of Saugus over for the Grand Jury in East Cambridge.

Patrolman Michael A. Volpe, started the chain of events which resulted in the apprehension of the two men when he observed a station wagon with a low number plate parked in the vicinity of the Langley Food Shop.

Volpe, who was on his way to report for duty, jotted down the registration number of the car.

He subsequently heard a report from police headquarters that the Langley Shop had been burglarized, and he immediately called in the registration number he had recorded.

An investigation disclosed that the automobile was registered to Rita Bucchiere of Saugus.

Newton Police Sergeant William C. Olds and Patrolmen Paul J. Fitzsimfons and Volpe were sent to Saugus to check on the station wagon.

They located the vehicle and found a 500-pound safe in it, which had been taken from the Langley Food Shop. Later they recovered $3000 in cash and other papers which the safe had contained.

With the assistance of two Saugus patrolmen, the Newton police officers arrested Bucchiere and MacKenzie.

Arraigned in Newton district court on charges of breaking and entering in the nighttime, larceny and possession of burglary tools, Bucchiere and MacKenzie pleaded innocent.

However, Judge Yesley bound them over to the Grand Jury after a probable cause hearing.

A Newton man was arrested Monday and arraigned in Newton district court on charges of setting fire to a building at 31 Paul street. Neil J. McCallion, Jr., entered no plea. His case was continued until next Monday, and when he was unable to post $5000 in bail he was sent to the House of Correction.

N.E. Beauty Crown Won By Local Girl

Taking another step forward along the scented path to feminine fame, Miss Marilyn Richmond, 19-year-old Newton beauty was crowned "Miss New England Photographer of 1966" at the annual convention of the Professional Photographers Association of New England held at the Tarleton Club in Pike, N. H., last week.

It was a long and toughly-contested road to the coveted title and crown for the lovely young Newton girl.

Sponsored by Jenny Nourse of the Nourses Studio of Photography in Quincy, Marilyn entered the "Miss Massachusetts Photographer" contest several months back.

More than 200 young and comely maidens were entered in the contest and from among this field of feminine charm and pulchritude, 12 finalists were selected.

A panel of judges comprising professional photographers from New York, New Jersey and New England finally picked Newton's lovely Mariln as the winner and "Miss Massachusetts Photographer for 1966."

Daily-Double Hits New Hospital Peak

It's been almost a daily-double at Newton-Wellesley Hospital during recent days, with little blessings coming in pairs,—and often.

The hospital recorded the birth of four sets of twins, over a span of a half-dozen days. This represents the largest number of twins accommodated by the hospital at one time in 30 years, according to veteran nursery department personnel.

The parade began on Saturday, September 10th when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graf of 35 Hunnewell Avenue in Newton discovered they were the parents of twin boys, raising the total of children in their family to five boys. Mr. Graf is an industrial engineer at the Waltham plant of the Polaroid Corporation.

The next day, September 11th, the stork presented a girl and a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Parker of 73 Forest Street, Winchester. The Parkers have a girl and a boy at home. He is an engineer with New England Telephone Company.

Volpe Seems To Be Leading As Governor Battle Begins

Governor John A. Volpe appears to be well ahead of former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack at this point in their fight for the first four-year term in the Massachusetts Governorship.

If McCormack is to defeat Volpe, there is little doubt that he must come from behind to do it, and that will not be easy.

However, at this stage in the 1962 gubernatorial race the polls showed Volpe holding a commanding lead over Endicott Peabody, but Peabody managed to surge home a winner by a razor-thin margin in a close contest which was not settled until the morning after election.

On paper McCormack today is at least as strong a candidate as Peabody was in 1962 and probably stronger. This understandably causes the McCormack camp to hope and believe that McCormack can do in 1966 what Peabody did in 1962. Time may prove them right.

JOHNSON BEEFS UP STATE DEPT.

THE STATE DEPT.'S top echelon, riddled by resignations and transfers, was given a shot in the arm Wednesday when President Johnson named Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to succeed Undersecretary of State George W. Ball as the No. 2 man in the department.

Katzenbach moved into a lower position. Johnson told a news conference that he did not consider the move a demotion, "for one of the most competent and selfless men I know." Said Katzenbach: "Nothing is more important than working for world peace."

Eugene V. Rostow, 53, older brother of White House adviser Walt Rostow and a former Yale Law School dean, will succeed Thomas C. Mann, who resigned, as No. 3 man. Foy Kohler, U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, will succeed U. Alexis Johnson, as deputy undersecretary for political affairs. Johnson is now the new ambassador to Japan.

Katzenbach's successor as Atty. Gen. was not named, but Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark becomes acting attorney general until the President fills the vacancy.

CHRYSLER LIFTS '67 AUTO PRICES

CHRYSLER CORP. late Wednesday announced it will increase prices on 1967 cars about $97 per car. The action came only hours after President Johnson said he "regretted" boosts by Ford Motor Co. averaging $25 per car.

Chrysler, third largest of the "Big Four" auto firms, blamed new safety devices as the cause of the increase. Some Chrysler models will cost as much as $350 more than last year's cars. General Motors was expected to announce price increases Thursday or Friday.

NATIONAL DRAGNET FOR PERCY KILLER

POLICE throughout the nation were asked for their aid in tracking down the killer of Valerie Percy, daughter of Illinois GOP senatorial candidate Charles H. Percy.

Percy, his wife and four surviving children slipped out of Chicago to go into seclusion.

His campaign manager announced that political activities in the campaign to unseat veteran Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas were "suspended until Mr. Percy is ready to resume" and Percy campaign offices throughout Illinois "are closed until further notice."

RESERVES CALL-UP BILL PASSED

THE HOUSE passed and sent to the Senate Wednesday night legislation to let President Johnson call up as many as 198,000 reservists and National Guardsmen for active duty with draftees.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, (D-La.,) said the bill is aimed at 133,000 men assigned to reserve and guard units who have served less than four months on active duty and about 65,000 who are not members of organized units, have not had at least 24 months active duty, and have not completed their overall reserve duty obligations of six years.

'BLACK POWER' SCHOOL MELEE FAILS

A "BLACK POWER" crusade for all-Negro control of schools in Negro neighborhoods exploded outside a new Harlem intermediate school Wednesday when angry demonstrators attempted to prevent a white principal from entering.

Pickets, both Negro and white, menaced Principal Stanley R. Lisser, 40, at the entrance of $5 million Intermediate School 201. Lisser was not touched, but police arrested a demonstrator who sat down in his path to block his way. Five other Negro demonstrators — three men and two women — were held on disorderly conduct charges.

RED 'TUNNEL RATS' DRIVE MARINES FROM FORT

NORTH VIETNAMESE troops emerged from the ruins of a key Communist fortress Wednesday and forced back U.S. Marines who had briefly captured the village bastion with the aid of flame-throwing tanks in the third day of a furious see-saw battle.

It was the second time that American Marines had seized surface control of the An Dinh-Gia Binh village complex forming the southern terminus of the Communists' "underground railway" to the South, only to force the Leathernecks into withdrawing.

U.S. Marines had stormed through a wall of machine-gun, motar and recoilless rife fire and briefly seized the seething bunker and tunnel complex built under bamboo huts. But Communist "tunnel rats" emerged and made the fortress impossible to hold. Planes, artillery and warships pounded the area only 1,000 yards south of the line dividing North and South Viet Nam.

SURVEYOR II SPINS TOWARD MOON CRASH

AMERICA'S second attempt to soft-land a spacecraft on the moon appears doomed today as Surveyor II dashes, tumbling violently toward a crash-landing and destruction. Surveyor project officials pored over telemetry data from tracking stations to learn what caused the failure of one of the steering engines to ignite.

LET ASIA SETTLE VIET WAR, MARCOS PLEADS

PHILIPPINE President Ferdinand Marcos, speaking with the support of Thialand and Malaysia, urged Wednesday that settlement of the Viet Nam war be left to Asians.

Marcos before the UN General Assembly recommended creation of a political counterpart to the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE) within the framework of the United Nations.

CONGRESS PHONES TAPPED, PROBERS TOLD

CONGRESSIONAL telephones were bugged, an electronic expert claimed Wednesday at a Boston wiretapping hearing. He also said it was possible to tap White House telephones.

Bernard B. Spindel of Holmes, N.Y., who was fined $500 five months ago for alleged eavesdropping, testified before a special state legislative commission investigating electronic snooping.

Spindel said a source, which he refused to identify, told him the master telephone lines to Capitol Hill in Washingto were secretly monitored, perhaps by a Justice Department agency.

In Washington, a Justice Dept. spokesman said there is "absolutely no basis for the allegation."

Spindel said the source told him of a special telephone branch line leading from the main congressional circuits to "an old building." "One of the tenants of the top floor of this building was a Justice Dept. agency," he said.

VIRUS VACCINE DANGERS CITED

A NOTED BOSTON cancer specialist said Wednesday a virus found in the Salk anti-polio vaccine can produce cancer in animals and can transform a normal cell into one with "malignant features."

Dr. Norman Lenson, director of the Massachusetts Cancer Control Clinic, said, however, that "the likelihood of any serious repercussion from use of the Salk vaccine is very slight."

Dr. Lenson said his medical peers do not believe the 50 million people who have been exposed to Salk vaccine will one day develop cancer.

"I hold myself in reservation," he said. "My tongue is in my cheek."

He said the Salk vaccine no longer is used and has been replaced by the Sabin anti-polio vaccine which does not contain the virus. He urged more caution in the use of virus vaccines.

Ward 4 GOP Committee Makes Election Plans

Republicans of Newton's Ward Four Committee under the leadership of Ward Chairmen Joseph and Betty Walsh met during the week to step up GOP activity in the area. In response to City Committee Chairman William A. Lincoln's call for immediate and vigorous action, members of the committee turned out in force and got their plans underway for the effective support of GOP candidates in the coming November elections.

Ward Finance Chairman George Shapiro brought members up to date on developments in the current finance drive sponsored by the Republican State Committee and enlisted active local support.

Plans were made for the continuing registration of voters in conjunction with the city-wide GOP Voter Information program. Coordinating personal calls with the mailing of more than five thousand leaflets to city residents, members of the committee will assist those desiring to register by furnishing assistance and advice upon request.

Volunteer assignments were undertaken by members of the committee to perform innumerable election chores, including mailing, telephoning, manning the polls and other duties.

A guest of the committee, Walter Palmer, GOP candidate for the Governor's Council, addressed the meeting. He discussed Republican programs and outlined his own campaign efforts.

Mrs. George Shapiro was voted in as a new Associate Member of the Ward Committee. Those attending the meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walsh, Committee Chairmen, on Arapahoe Road, included:

Howard B. Branch, Phyllis Butler, Louis I. Egelson, Jr., Dorothy Holdridge, David Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Janes, Maude Janis, D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr., Payson Le Baron, Evangeline Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. George Michaels, Anthony Medaglia, Walter Palmer, Candidate for Governor's Council; Roberta Selleck, Mr. and Mrs. George Shapiro, Warren A. Sutherland, Olive Winterhalter.

The series of Ward Meetings in each of the eight wards of Newton will continue with the accent on getting out the vote in support of GOP candidates.

and became a senior vice president last November.

In 1960 Mosher was named "Young Man of the Year" in Newton; in 1964 was selected one of "Then Outstanding Young Men in Boston," and in April of 1965 was named one of four "Ooutstanding Young Men of Massachusetts."

He has specialized in commerical loans at the bank. His nomination as one of the "Outstanding Young Men of New England," which refers to his career, reads:

"This rapid advancement in a field that is noted for its conservativeness necessity of seniority for advancement, and lack of initiative in recognizing and rewarding talent, is self explanatory and sufficient justification for the outstanding leadership and accomplishment this candidate has displayed."

A member of the boards of Newton, Taxpayers Association, Boston Council of The Boy Scouts of America, Newton Chamber of Commerce, he is an associate member of the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals.

He is also a trustee of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital, secretary of the Boston College Alumni Association, vice-chairman of the Northeast Area Council of Boys' Clubs.

He is a director of the Newton Boys' Club, Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Newton Community Chest, and has been active in many fund-raising and charitable drives in Newton.

He is active in St. Bernard's parish in West Newton and belongs to the Men's Club. A native of Newton, he was educated at the Davis School, Warren Junior High School and Newton High School.

Mr. Mosher also attended the School of Financial Public Relatinos at Northwestern University.

He and his wife, Thelma, have three daughters, Mary Beth, 8; Susan, 7; Michelle, 3; and a son, Giles 3rd.

Teen-Age Girls Keep Small Lad Clear Of Harm

Mrs. William J. Sheehan, 64 Gray Cliff rd., Newton Centre, would like to make public a little story that shows up teenagers in a really good light.

This is Mrs. Sheehan's tale:

"Because of the alert action of three teen-age girls named Christine DeFazio (Beacon st., Newton Centre), Donna McIntosh, and Karen Pignatelli (also Newton Centre), little Tommy Sheehan, age 3½, was safely returned to his grandparents on Gray Cliff rd.

"The girls had seen Tommy walking along in a supposed voyage of exploration. (He had disappeared in the flick of an eyelash from the backyard of his grandparents, and had headed for Newton Centre, which is quite a distance from Gray Cliff rd.

"They thought he was too small to be walking alone, so they trailed him everywhere he went.

"Meantime, his grandparents who had missed him for an hour, had frantically called the police.

"Tommy was able to tell the girls his name, and they took him into Brigham's and called all the Sheehans in Newton Centre until they finally reached the right ones.

"We arrived in the police cruiser and picked Tommy up.

"Thanks to the kindness and quick thinking of the three girls, he was prevented from meeting possible harm."

Boys Club To Open Season On Wednesday

Newton Boys' Club will officially open its fall and winter season program on Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 2 p.m.

The Club will be open daily, Monday through Friday, from 2 to 5 p.m., and from 6:30 to 9 p.m. On Saturdays the hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All boys between the ages of 7-18 years are elegibile for membership. They should register as soon as possible and sign up for the favorite projects they plan to undertake this coming season.

A record membership of 624 boys was served this past year. Alterations have been made in the club rooms, in the outdoor play area and several additional craft and game room projects have been added in order to insure the best possible available facilities and accommodations for the increasing membership.

Outstanding Speakers For Meeting Of Women Voters

In its first Open Meeting of the year, to be held at the Claflin School on Wednesday, Sept. 28 at 8 p.m., the Newton League of Women Voters will offer to the community the opportunity to hear two outstanding speakers on the subject "Newton and the Urban Challenge."

The league will present Dr. George Goodwin, chairman of the Dept. of Government at the University of Massachusetts in Boston; and Dr. Norton Long, chairman of the Dept. of Politics at Brandeis University.

Dr. Long, James Gordon Professor of American Community Govt., was awarded the degrees of A.B., A.M., and Ph.D. from Harvard University in 1932, 1933 and 1937, respectively. He was an instructor at Queens College (1940-42), and a Professor at Western Reserve (1948-1955), at Michigan State University (1955-58), and at Northwestern University (1958-64). Dr. Long has served as assistant to the administrator in the Office of Price Administration (1942-46), and assistant administrator of the National Housing Administration (1946-48).

From 1961-63, Dr. Long was a staff consultant to the Governor of Illinois. He is currently involved in a comparative study of federally supported anti-juvenile delinquency programs in nine cities. Dr. Long's book "The Polity" was published by Rand McNally in 1961.

Dr. George Goodwin Jr. is a graduate of Williams College (1943), and received his Ph.D. from Harvard University in 1955. He was in the Air Force from 1943 to 1946.

His academic experience has been at the University of Mass., Amherst (1947-62), the University of Rhode Island (1962-65), and since 1965, he has been a professor at the University of Massachusetts in Boston, as chairman of the Department of Politics. Dr. Goodwin's publications have been "Intermunicipal Relations in Massachusetts," 1956; "Massachusetts Politics" (with Earl Latham), 1960; and a Completed Manuscript on Congressional Committees.

He was for ten years a member of the Amherst Planning Board, and New England Director of the National Center for Education in Politics.

Both of these men are extremely well-qualified to discuss the growing challenge that government faces in solving the immense problems of our urban society.

Says Newton vice president Mrs. Joseph Apelbaum, "For a long time the League of Women Voters has been concerned with the area of intergovernmental relations. On the local level this year, we are trying to assess whether today's governmental set-up is adequate for tomorrow's demands."

This problem should be of concern to every citizen, and the public is urged to attend this open meeting. Chairman of the meeting is Mrs. Ernest Picard, and the members of her committee include Mrs. Apelbaum, Mrs. Charles Pfund, and Mrs. Nicholas Wolfson. The Claflin School is located at 465 Lowell ave., Newtonville. For further information, please contact Mrs. Picard at 969-5673.

DR. NORTON LONG

The speakers at the meeting, Dr. Long and Dr. Goodwin, will view the situation from the vantage point of Newton, its relationship to the surrounding communities and to the core city; the difficulties in accomplishing solutions; and blueprints for tomorrow.

Four Speakers Will Highlight Lecture Series

A fall series of four evening lectures by leading Unitarians will highlight the Adult's Program Committee schedule at The First Unitarian Society in Newton starting Oct. 5.

Dr. Leslie T. Pennington, minister, announced that the series will seek to answer some of the many questions asked by both new and old members of the Society.

Each of the four visiting lecturers is a widely-known author.

Taking part in the series are: Dr. Jack Mendelsohn, minister, Arlington Street Church, Boston, Oct. 5; Dr. C. Conrad Wright, lecturer on American church history, Harvard Divinity School, Oct. 11; Dr. Homer Jack, director, Dept. of Social Responsibility, Unitarian - Universalist Association, Oct. 18, and Rev. Theodore A. Webb, executive director, Massachusetts Bay District of Unitarian-Universalist Churches, Oct. 28.

All Departing Servicemen To Get Send-offs

The newly formed Newton Servicemen's Send-off Committee has decided to extend its warm send-off to all newly enlisted servicemen.

Lawrence R. Kadis, secretary of the committee, extended a send-off, and presented A.W.O.L. bags to John S. McLean, 646 Chestnut street, Waban, and Paul Epi, 35 Aberdeen street, Newton Highlands.

These boys were recruited by S.F.C. George Fulton, U.S. Army Recruiting Station, Waltham, last Tuesday. They enlisted on the Buddy System and will take basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

All contributions gratefully accepted by Leroy Boudreau at the Newton National Bank, Newton Centre, to aid in financing the efforts of the Send-Off Committee.

About 3,500 children under age 15 die of cancer yearly.

Thirty-third Degree Masons Meet Today

More than 1200 Thirty-third Degree Masons from the 15 northeastern and mid-western states will attend the annual session in Boston of the Supreme Council of Scottish Rite Freemasonry for the Northern Jurisdiction of the United States. It will be held between today (Thursday) and Thursday, Sept. 29.

Among those expected to attend are the following 33d degree Masons: Earl W. Taylor, Newton Centre; Thomas G. Walters, West Newton; Frederick L. Pike, Newton; Henry S. C. Cummins, Newton Centre; Louis J. Roazen, Chestnut Hill; Elmer C. Bartels, Newton Centre; Carl C. Peterson, Waban, and Leverett Salton stall, Chestnut Hill.

During the session, the Thirty-third Degree, awarded for outstanding contributing to Freemasonry or for dedicated service to humanity reflecting credit on Freemasonry, will be conferred upon 161 Masons chosen by the Supreme Council for this highest honor.

Presently there are living only 150 Masons in Massachusetts who have received this honor.

Newton To Be Featured In Charles River TV Program

On Saturday, Sept. 24, televiewers may see the Charles River upstream from Watertown dam to Hopkinton, Part V of the Country-Cide documentary series. The WBZ-TV Channel 4 program is scheduled for 1:30 p.m., but may come on later, depending on when the baseball games end.

The camera will eye the municipal dumps in Newton and Waltham; the sewage disposal systems of Milford, Millis, and Franklin; the lowering water table at Echo Lake, source of the Charles; Mine Brook in Franklin; Chicken Brook in West Medway.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, definitely at 1:30 p.m., a follow-up commentary on the film program will feature panelists Vincent N. Merrill, president, Boston Society of Landscape Architects and a Charles River Watershed Association, Inc. director; Roger Rondeau, sanitary engineer, Massachusetts Department of Public Health; and Jack Chase.

The Country-Cide programs are prepared by WBZ's Dinny Whitmarsh and Michael Hartford. At the May 1966 Governor's Conference on Natural Beauty Mr. Whitmarsh became aware of the need for public education on resource problems, of which the Charles River is an example. With help from the Metropolitan District Commission, the Department of Public Health, and CRWA, he and Mr. Hartford are trying to meet that need.

Newton's representative to the Charles River Watershed Association, Mrs. Arno H. A. Heyn, was elected Clerk at the organization's incorporation meeting in Walpole. The non-profit corporation increased its interim 9-member board of directors to a broadly-based 21-member board, thus giving more adequate representation to the 33 cities and towns all or partly in the 300 square mile watershed.

Peter W. Larson continues as co-ordinating director of the corporation and the treasurer is William Greene of Dover, auditor and public accountant.

The new directors are: Richard Alexander, Natick, planner and landscape architect; Mrs. Robert Arnold, Needham, League of Women Voters Charles River Valley Study Group; Loring Conant, Dedham, Trustee of Reservations; Charles Frary Jr., Needham Conservation Commission; Barry Hynes, Boston City Councillor; Dr. Howard McIntyre, president, Cambridge Boat Club; John Moot, co-chairman, Save Memorial Drive; Peter Nash, Dedham, management specialist; Franklin Sanders, Wellesley Conservation Commission; James True, Waltham, Boston University special assistant to the president; Daniel G. Wheeler, Medfield, Cabot, Cabot, and Forbes.

Original directors besides Mr. Merrill and Mrs. Heyn, are: Kenneth Wood, Norfolk, CRWA president; John Boyer, Hopedale Conservation Commission; Nicholas DiSalvo, Dedham Conservation Commission; Aaron Hill, Walpole Conservation Commission; Daniel Hinkley, Medfield Conservation Commission; Mrs. Henry Russell, Dover, LWV Charles River Group; and George Wallace, Natick Conservation Commission.

Board members are helping Wayne Hanley and James Breagy of the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Conservation Services Center to prepare an illustrated brochure on the Charles River to stimulate additional CRWA membership.

Charles River Watershed Questionnaires have been answered by a number of communities. Copies of Newton's completed questionnaire has been sent to the mayor's office, the Newton Planning Department, Newton Conservators, Inc., Massachusetts Audubon Society, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Metropolitan Area Planning Council, Metropolitan District Commission, and the Department of Natural Resources.

A recent directors' meeting passed Mr. True's resolution congratulating the MDC for undertaking reconstruction of the Watertown dam — to include a fish ladder — and for the taking of "Nuttings - on - the - Charles," 84,000 square feet of water and upland, to prevent construction of a proposed high-rise apartment house on the site once occupied by a dance hall on pilings in the river at Waltham.

On motion by Mr. Nash of Dedham a resolution of appreciation has been sent to the MDC for completion of the $16,000,000 South Metropolitan Sewerage System Project with the final connection on June 29 of the 84,000 feet of trunk sewer extending from Framingham to the Hyde Park section of Boston.

The sewage which was entering the Charles River at the Dedham outfall now goes to the MDC's Nut Island Treatment Plant in Quincy. The overall Metropolitan Boston Pollution Control Program by the MDC is estimated to cost over $110,000,000. Now in the final stages of construction, this project has been designed to eliminate the discharge and overflow of raw sewage and mixed sewage and storm water into the three main tributaries of Boston Harbor: the Charles, Mystic, and Neponset Rivers.

Mr. Nash stated that within days after discontinuance of the Dedham outfall, there was noticeable improvement in the river near his home.

Capt. J. J. Healy On Hawaii Duty With Air Force

Doctor (Captain) John J. Healy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Healy of 37 King st., Newton, has completed the orientation course for officers of the U.S. Air Force Medical Service at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

The doctor, who recently came on active duty, was given instruction in specialized aerospace medical subjects and administrative procedures of the USAF Medical Service.

He is being assigned to Hickam AFB, Hawaii, to practice as a pediatrician with the Pacific Air Forces, the nation's combat-ready air arm guarding the 10,000-mile Bamboo Curtain.

Dr. Healy received his B.S. degree in 1958 from the University of Notre Dame, and his M.D. degree in 1963 from New York Medical College.

8 Public Hearings Draw Partisans To City Hall

Numerous upraised hands indicating opposition appeared in the closing moments of several of the eight public hearings Monday ngiht in City Hall at a joint session of the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee and the Planning Board.

A total of 50 persons objected to two petitions of Charles C. Nardone.

Nardone sought permission to erect four garden type apartment buildings containing 34 units on 121,756 square feet of land in a Residence D District on Boylston street, Newton Centre, at the site of the old Hurley Farm, near Parker street.

Objectors included the following, who had signed a letter of protest received by Claims and Rules: Mary Sullivan, 24 Hurley place; Nicholas Companaro, 65 Hagen road; Dr. Morris E. Chafetz, 108 Hagen road, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Topol, 40 Olde Field road, all Newton Centre.

Dr. Chafetz also appeared in person to protest. Others who voiced objections were Herbert Bamel, 22 Olde Field road, and Dr. Albert Schilling, 159 Carleton road, Waban.

Objections were based on claims that granting of the petition would lead to an increase in the already heavy traffic in the area, and would decrease the valuation of the 87 dwellings in the immediate vicinity.

Representing the petitioner, J. Alan Lobell, 3 Nardone road, Newton Centre, said his home was adjacent to the property in question, and he had seen plenty of evidence that Nardone was an excellent builder. He added that children would be no problem to the abutters because people with growing families would not be able to afford the rents of the proposed luxury apartments.

There was some confusion a little later, when Nordone's architect, who had not been in the room to hear Lobell's remark, declared that the apartments would be ideal for raising a family.

Franklin N. Flaschner, committee chairman, then explained that the statements need not be considered contradictory as there are still some persons with growing families who are well off.

More confusion developed when it became apparent that no two persons addressing the committee had the same set of plans. The chairman then halted proceedings, saying that the plans produced left much to be desired, and that the committee could not pass on the petitions until revised plans were in its hands. The petitioner promised to submit the revised plans promptly.

There was no opposition to a petition of Mobile Oil Corp. for erection of 10 tire merchandisers "to provide a necessary tire display unit and present maximum cleanliness and appearance" in the operation of the service station at 2095 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. The petition also called for erection on each merchandising unit of a 2 ft. 6 in. sign at the end of completed rows.

No opposition developed to a petition of Newton Community Center, Inc., and the First Unitarian Society of Newton for permissive use for a nursery school to accomodate 30 children, including a number of culturally deprived, at 1326 Washington street, West Newton. Anthony J. Bibbo, 179 Chapel street, Newton, executive director of the Community Center, appeared in behalf of the petitioner.

Two petitions of Benjamin Fastov for a residential building in excess of six stories or 60 feet, but not in excess of 10 stories or 89 feet, at 280 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, and for parking facilities for 136 cars belonging to tenants, met with some objection. A letter of objection had been received by Claims and Rules from Mrs. Camilla M. Winter, 261 Boylston street. And Leon Cameron, 66 Englewood road, voiced the objections of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Association.

Travel, he said, has had a marked increase along Boylston street, and on Florence street, and granting of the petitions would result in an even greater increase.

Barry Fastov, 56 Monadnock road, Chestnut Hill, appeared in behalf of the petitioner, as did his associate, Myron C. Roberts, 1555 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, former president of the Boston Real Estate Board.

Roberts said that the proposal had had the approval of the Oak Hill Improvement Association, and, he said, the petitioner pledged his continued effort to do a creditable job, which he hoped could be started as soon as possible.

Edward M. Hallett Jr., 18 Bontempo road, Newton Centre, president of the Oak Hill Improvement Association, expressed his organization's approval of the petition.

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, chairman of Claims and Rules, who conducted the hearings, asked for a show of hands, and five property owners from the immediate area raised hands in opposition. Ten hands indicated approval.

National Research Corporation presented modifications to its petition for permission to construct a graded and paved parking lot on Charlemont street, Newton Highlands, for the use of its day shift employes only. The new plan, it was explained by Oliver L. Hayes of Weston, the petitioner's representative, contained changes made as a result of several meetings with neighbors to the east on Charlemont street, and the intention was to bring the parking lot into harmony with their desires. The south lot was limited to 77 cars, where it was previously 96 cars, and the north lot was reduced in size from 88 cars to 71. Also, a 10-ft. high stockade fence would be erected to give the neighbors maximum protection, and hemlocks six to eight feet high would be planted 10 feet apart in front of the fence. In addition, behind the fence (the western side) poplars will be planted 10 feet apart, and three large oak trees near the end of Charlemont street would be retained.

As set forth in the original petition, the entrance to the lot will be provided with a chain, and the lot will be closed at 6:30 each evening. Edwin M. Hallett Jr., president of the Oak Hill Improvement Committee, expressed approval of the petition. No hands were raised in opposition, and three were raised in favor.

A petition was presented bearing the names of 426 abutters opposed to a petition of Garden City Country Club, Inc., doing business as Chestnut Hill Country Club, for construction of a new front entrance and a shelter for parking lot attendants. Opposition was presented verbally by several residents of Algonquin road.

They included Rose Berlin of No. 59, Anthony and Katherine Borghetti of 52, and Jack Schneiferman of 55. Also opposed was Mrs. Alfred Litauer, 32 Woodchester drive.

Objections for the most part were to night parking of the club's clientele along Algonquin street.

Paul Karger, 37 Baldpate Hill road, Newton Centre, the club's manager, said the purpose of the proposed construction was to make it possible for patrons of the club's evening functions to leave in an orderly and quiet manner with the aid of parking attendants, instead of leaving all at once with accompanying noise. The sounds of departure, he said, would, under the plans, be confined to indoors and would be inaudible outside.

The show of hands indicated one in favor and 14 opposed.

Atty. Haskell C. Freedman, former chairman of the Newton School Committee, appeared as representative of Pasquale Franchi et als, petitioner for a change of zone from Limited Manufacturing District to Residence D District for land on Farwell street, Newtonville, for six additional apartments in addition to the 76 now on the land. A second Franchi petition sought approval of a revised site plan to obtain additional landscaped open space for placing parking accommodations on adjoining land.

No opposition developed to the Franchi petitions.

The big New England convention at the Tarleton Club was ahead. In this one, Miss Richmond, carrying the Massachusetts banner and title, would be pitted against the winners in the five other New England States. From among the six finalists would emerge the top winner, Miss New England Photographer."

Another panel of equally talented, trained and discerning judges, observed the half dozen eye-appealing finalists for three days.

This was not a bathing suit contest. The girls were judged in evening gowns and street attire on personality, charm, as well as beauty of face and figure, and intelligence. Their photographic qualities also were considered in selecting them.

Marilyn Richmond was declared the winner and was crowned with the tiara to signify her triumph. The ermined robe with sweeping train, and bouquet of gorgeous roses, held with a great shimmering, silk ribbon, were her other colorful queenly accessories.

As "Miss New England Photographer for 1966" Marilyn received a beautiful trophy and gifts from all six New England Governors. She will make personal appearances throughout the six-state area for the year of her reign.

The lovely winner is the daughter of proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Richmond, 32 Littlefield Rd., Newton Centre.

She is a Newton South High School graduate and a graduate this past June of the Chandler School for Women in Boston. She is a medical secretary and laboratory technician at Tufts University School of Medicine. She was a finalist in the "Miss World" contest last year.

Marilyn has one brother, 15, a student at Newton South High School. The beauty winner is an outdoor girl with swimming and skiing her favorite activities. She also is keenly interested in painting and sculpture.

The New England queen was crowned at the convention coronation ball by the 1965 Queen, Miss Ann Rubenstein of Holden, Mass.

Jane W. Wojdyl, of Hartford, "Miss Connecticut Photographer," was runner-up.

The other finalists were: "Miss Maine," Ida May Nicoll, of Bath; "Miss New Hampshire," Frances Houlihan, of Seabrook; "Miss Rhode Island," Carroll Ann Langella, of Johnston, and "Miss Vermont," Pamela Keith, of Burlington. All the contestants were sponsored by professional photographers.

All six finalists are college or specialty students, or graduates. Marilyn Richmond, a graduate of Chandler School; Miss Wojdyl, student at Central Connecticut State; Miss Nicoll, Morse High School graduate; Miss Houlihan, student at Western New Mexico University; Miss Langella, St. Xavier's High School, and Miss Keith, student at the University of Vermont.

JAMES N. GABRIEL

James Gabriel Resigns Post For Campaign

James N. Gabriel, Republican nominee for District Attorney of Middlesex County, resigned his post as assistant attorney general this week to devote full time to his campaign after winning the GOP endorsement in last week's primary election.

Gabriel's resignation was accepted with regret by Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, who praised the Cambridge resident for his "outstanding contribution to the work of this department."

Married and the father of five daughters, Gabriel served as an assistant to Brooke since 1963.

In accepting the resignation Brooke said, "nothing has afforded me deeper satisfaction as attorney general than the realization that men of your singular professional capacity would make the necessary sacrifices to assume leading roles in our common fight to insure honest, effective government for our Commonwealth."

In a letter to the Republican nominee, Brooke thanked him for his able assistance the past three years and wished him every success in his fight to oust the incumbent Democratic district attorney.

A practicing attorney for 17 years, Gabriel has been president of the Cambridge Young Republican Club for six years, chairman of the Cambridge Republican City Convention for four years and a delegate to the GOP state conventions.

The 43-year-old resident of Sacramento st., Cambridge, is an Air Force veteran of World War II. He is presently a major in the Judge Advocate's Dept. of the Air Force Reserve.

On September 12th and 13th, matters were quiet at the hospital. No twins were born, but five additional infants checked in, all singles.

On September 14th, twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shraison of 35 Murdock Street in Brighton. The newborns are in addition to two girls and a boy born previously to the Shraisons. He is a mechanic employed by Gaston Andrey in Brookline.

On September 15th, twin girls also were born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Robohm of 27 Woodward Street, Newton Highlands. The Robohms were camping in Nashua, N.H., when a sudden visit to the hospital was indicated, and twins presented themselves unexpectedly. Mr. Robohm is a computer salesman with the Cambridge office of IBM.

As of Friday noon, September 15th, none of the mothers had selected a name for the five girls and three boys, save for incorrect ones. Most had mis-guessed the gender. In one instance, a name chosen for a boy was useless with twin girls.

The newborn weight of the infants ranged from a high of six pounds, 12½ ounces for one of the Graf boys to a low of four pounds for the Parker girl.

Doctors issued good reports about the infants and the mothers. Mrs. Parker was discharged from the 260-bed community hospital, a formal teaching affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine, on Friday, September 16th. Mrs. Graf anticipates going home on Sunday, the 18th.

However, the daily-double is not at an end. Maternity department personnel were alerted to the arrival of another mother during the coming week who, her physician indicates, may have twins.

"All this seems very timely," said hospital director William S. Brines of Wellesley. "On Thursday evening, September 29th at 7 p.m., the hospital is launching another free five-week course for interested expectant parents, teaching them about infant and maternal care, from the onset of maternity through the baby's first year."

Political Highlights

But a big difference is that Volpe now is a much more potent adversary than he was four years ago when he was seeking reelection to a second term.

Volpe in 1962 was over-confident, took his reelection for granted, thought he could coast home an easy winner and wound up by losing a fight he probably could have won with a better and more energetic campaign.

This time Volpe is taking nothing for granted. He's assuming that he has a tough battle, and he's running scared. When he does that, he's a hard candidate to bring down.

Ironically, Volpe has twice won the Governorship when great Democratc tides were rolling across Massachusetts.

In 1960 the late John F. Kennedy, in winning the Presidency, generated a tremendous Democratic trend in his home State, but Volpe survived it to gain election as Governor.

President Johnson and Senator Edward M. Kennedy rolled up massive pluralities in the Bay State two years ago, but Volpe won in spite of them as a staggering number of voters crossed party lines to ballot for him.

Volpe has two terms in the Governorship behind him, is a more skilled campaigner now than he was in 1960, 1962 or 1964 and has the respect of most of the people of the Commonwealth. Whether that respect will be translated into votes in the ballot boxes is a big question which remains to be answered.

This is the big problem which confronts McCormack as he moves into what promises to be an uphill fight.

In McCormack's favor is the fact that this is basically a Democratic State although a vast number of voters are disposed to split their ballots.

Senator Ted Kennedy, of course, will be a big factor in this election campaign. He should be able to swing many of the people, who supported former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell, behind McCormack.

Ted Kennedy's influence in this campaign, and his drive to help elect the man he defeated for the U.S. Senate in 1962 will be the cause for considerable concern at the Volpe headquarters.

McCormack in the primary sought to pitch his fight against Volpe rather than O'Donnell. This had the effect of lessening the feeling aroused by the McCormack-O'Donnell clash, but none of the issues McCormack used against Volpe proved very effective.

McCormack and Volpe are the strong men of their respective State tickets. Their battle in the weeks between now and Nov. 8 will be the highlight of the state-wide election contests. Before it is concluded it is certain to attract interest beyond the boundaries of the Commonwealth.

GOP Cutting of Brooke Difficult to Explain

It is impossible at this stage in the election campaign to pinpoint the reason Attorney General Edward W. Brooke was "cut" by a very substantial number of Republican voters in the recent primary.

The answer to that question would go a long way toward revealing what Brooke's prospects are of becoming the first Negro U.S. Senator since Reconstruction days. The trouble is that right now no one really knows the answer.

Brooke is probably right when he rejects the suggestion that his relatively poor showing in the primary resulted from the so-called "white backlash." There was no evidence of a "white backlash" in the primary voting.

If Brooke was "blanked" by right-wing Republicans who are still angry over his refusal to support Barry Goldwater for the Presidency in 1964, Brooke has nothing to worry about.

He was overwhelmingly re-elected Attorney General two years ago in the same election in which Goldwater was decisively defeated and when the feeling in the GOP right wing over Brooke's refusal to have anything to do with Goldwater was stronger than it is today.

But the explanation probably isn't as simple as that. There was no cutting of Brooke in the primary two years ago when it was well known that he wanted no part of Goldwater.

Some of the reasons for the knifing of Brooke by the members of his own party may be found in his book.

His proposal for reverse income tax payments, for example, displeased and even shocked many Republicans and may have cost him their support.

This was why one faction within the GOP sought to find a formidable candidate to stand against Brooke at the Republican State Convention.

That was why a significant protest vote was cast against Brooke at the GOP conclave when he demonstrated little interest in wooing the support of Democrats who hadn't backed him in the primary.

On the basis of his showing in the primary Bellotti shapes up as an extremely formidable and potent contender.

But he is opposed by one of the brightest young stars in the Republican party.

Elliot Richardson could have won reelection as Lieutenant Governor easily and overwhelmingly.

Characterically, he passed up a soft fight and picked a stiff one, realizing the gamble he was taking when he did so.

While Richardson now is primarily known for his record as Lieutenant Governor for the past two years, he also has served as United States Attorney, a Assistant Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in President Eisenhower's administration and for a period was acting head of that department and participated in meetings of the Eisenhower cabinet.

Bellotti, who came out of nowhere to win election as Lieutenant Governor two years ago, has managed to build up the biggest, most active and devoted organization of any candidate standing for office in this campaign.

Like Peabody, he believes in getting out and meeting the voters, and he does it from before dawn until after midnight.

The energetic Richardson will put on a counter meet-the-people campaign of his own but probably will utilize television more to get his message to the voters than will Bellotti.

It will be several weeks before the Richardson-Bellotti battle reaches the stage where any voting trends are evident. But it will be one of the most interesting of the state-wide fights, and it may prove one of the closest.

New York—One-third of the cancer deaths in the U.S. could be avoided by early detection and treatment.

While the controversial views expounded by Brooke in his book probably will cost him some Republican votes, they may attract him an even larger number of Democratic votes.

In his two successful campaigns for the Attorney Generalship, Brooke has demonstrated an ability to draw Independent and Democratic support.

The fight between Brooke and Endicott Peabody is almost certain to see Brooke picking up some Democratic backing and Peabody digging into the Republican vote.

The winner will be the one who digs the deeper.

Brooke's chances of winning election as U.S. Senator really depend on whether the people think as highly of him as Attorney General as they did two years ago.

If they do, his other political worries will be trivial ones.

There'll be no "white backlash" vote in a contest between Brooke and Peabody.

Peabody certainly will make no issue of Brooke's refusal to support Barry Goldwater or of proposals contained in Brooke's book.

But he presumably will mount an attack upon Brooke's record as Attorney General, and the outcome of the Brooke-Peabody fight probably will depend on what judgment the average voter makes concerning that record.

Brooke in most respects is a better campaigner than Peabody. He is the better speaker of the two, comes through better from a public platform and projects better on television. Peabody excels at meeting the individual voters.

This should help Brooke as he presents his record to the voters and, presumably, as he defends it against the criticism Peabody is expected to level at that record.

If Brooke has political problems, so, too, does Peabody.

Where Brooke was "cut" by a substantial number of Republicans, about half the Democrats who went to the polls in the primary voted for either Mayor John F. Collins or Thomas Boylston Adams.

Peabody undoubtedly will get the big bulk of the Collins vote because of the Mayor's endorsement of him, but most of the Adams votes are likely to go to Brooke.

Indeed, Peabody may have trouble holding some of the votes he received in Boston because of feeling, real or fancied, against Collins.

As Brooke and Peabody square away for their campaign, the impression exists that each has problems in his own party and that their fight remains to be won and lost in the weeks ahead.

Bellotti, Richardson Prepare For Hot Fight

Great interest is sure to develop in the struggle between Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti for the post of Attorney General.

Bellotti is doing his utmost to avoid a repetition of the mistakes he made in his election campaign two years ago

Lee Loumos Says:

No doubt you have been reading of the many price increases recently put into effect on color TV. In fact, one company has raised its prices twice. Apparently we have matured as an industry and now all our technological developments are not enough to counteract the general trend of higher labor and component costs. For 18 years I have seen TV prices drop while the product has constantly improved. From now on, it looks as though TV prices will keep pace with the general price level. For our part, we have a sizeable inventory bought at lower levels and we will not increase our prices until our current inventory is gone. For the foreseeable future, I don't believe that you will be able to purchase color TV for less than you can right now. So why don't you come in tonight and take advantage of our inventory?

Annual Halloween Celebration Planning Is Already Underway

Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney announces that Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester of Auburndale will once again serve as general chairman for Newton's annual city-wide Halloween celebration, the city's 26th.

Dr. Sylvester will work with Mrs. Robert B. Toher who has been named to succeed Mrs. Robert H. Garon as program chairman.

Dr. Sylvester, who lives at 81 Woodland road, will be serving his 12th year as head of this nationally known observance.

A native of Boston, Dr. Sylvester has been a resident of Newton for many years. He attended the Somerville schools and graduated from Browne and Nichols School. The son of a physician, Dr. Sylvester received his bachelor of science degree from Tufts and his medical degree from the Boston University School of Medicine. After graduation he served with the U. S. Army before joining the staff of Newton - Wellesley Hospital.

He is a Fellow of the American Medical Association, a member of the Massachusetts Academy of General Practice and college physician for Lasell Junior College.

A director of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association and Morgan Memorial, Dr. Sylvester is general chairman and a board member of the Boston Wesleyan Association. He is active in Newton Y.M.C.A. work, a trustee of the Centenary Methodist Church and has held office in PTA organizations.

Mrs. Toher, who makes her home at 102 Waltham street, West Newton, has been with the Recreation Department since 1952, part-time, and on a full-time basis since 1964.

She has been active in both Boy Scout and Girl Scout work as well as Parent Teacher Association affairs. Mrs. Toher is a member of the Newtonville Methodist Church Women's Society for Christian Service and a member of the board of the Newtonville Woman's Club.

The new program chairman is the wife of the administrative assistant for the M.I.T. Instrumentation Laboratory, Robert B. Toher.

The Recreation Department each year sponsors this Halloween program for thousands of Newton children, from kindergarten through high school. Mrs. Toher will coordinate planning with the many civic groups and city departments who work in conjunction with Recreation Department.

Underwood Parents Are Given Tea Bid

Parents whose children are new to the Underwood School are cordially invited to meet the staff and teachers at tea on Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 2:30 p.m. at the school.

The tea, which is being given by the Underwood School P.T.A. will provide an opportunity for the new parents to meet with their children's teachers and to become acquainted with the P.T.A. Board and each other.

A. NEWELL GARDEN

Garden Is New PR Manager At Raytheon Firm

A Newell Garden of Newton has been promoted to the newly created position as manager of media services in Raytheon Company's public relations department.

He will be responsible for planning, implementing, and coordinating publicity programs for the company and for its divisions and operations.

Garden has been manager of publicity for the company's commercial divisions since 1958. Prior to that, he served as assistant to the director of public relations. He joined Raytheon in 1953 as assistant manager of the publications department.

Garden and his family reside at 20 Hunter St., West Newton. There are two children, Laurie, 14, and Jeffrey, 11. Mrs. Garden is the former Elizabeth Y. Muirhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Muirhead, 34 Winthrop St., West Newton. Mr. Garden is a native of Elmhurst, L. I., New York.

He served in the U.S. Coast Guard for eleven years before entering industry. From 1950 to 1953 he was public information officer on the staffs of Commander Eastern Area and Commander, Third Coast Guard District at New York. He also served as a line officer aboard cutters in the Arctic and North Atlantic.

Garden received his naval engineering degree from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in 1946 and has done graduate work in public relations at Boston University.

He is a member of the Public Relations Society of America, the Publicity Club of Boston and the U. S. Coast Guard Commandant's Advisory Panel on Public Information.

He is also a member of the American Society of Naval Engineers and is chairman of the safe boating committee of the New England Marine Trade Association.

Lecture On New Morality At New Junior College

"A New Morality for the New Generation" will be discussed by Dr. Graham B. Blaine, Jr. at the first All-College Convocation to be held by Newton Junior College at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, September 27, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut Street in Newtonville. This Convocation is open to the public.

Dr. Blaine, Chief of Psychiatry at the Harvard University Health Service, has a distinguished background. After graduation from Harvard University at Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons, he trained at Bellevue Hospital in New York and the Austen Riggs Foundation in Stockbridge, Mass.

In addition to service in the U.S. Army, Dr. Blaine has been a consultant in Psychiatry at Williams College, staff member at the Riggs Clinic in Pittsfield, Assistant Psychiatrist of the Adolescent Unit of the Children's Hospital in Boston, and Associate Director of the Harvard University Project on Religion and Mental Health, as well as other notable appointments.

Among his numerous professional affiliations are the Academy of Religion and Mental Health, the Mental Hygiene Committee of the American College Health Association, and many medical societies.

He is also a director of the Family Society of Cambridge and the Big Brother Association of Greater Boston, as well as Trustees of the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School.

A lecturer and writer of note, Dr. Blaine has published numerous articles on adolescence and religion and psychiatry. His most recent books are: "Sex on the Campus" and "Youth and the Hazards of Affluence," published in May, 1966.

In the All-College Convocation program last year, Newton Junior College presented a theologian's view on the New Morality. Dr. Blaine will present the psychiatrist's view.

Carol Anne Carson Is Bride Of Mr. Robert L. Davenport

Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls, was the setting for the recent wedding of Miss Carol Anne Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Carson of 76 Norfolk street, Needham, to Mr. Robert Lawrence Davenport of Newton Upper Falls. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davenport.

Rev. Daniel F. Riordan officiated at the two o'clock, double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Colonial Inn, Medfield.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of Chantilly lace designed with long sleeves, a tight fitting bodice, and a scalloped neckline. A border of lace trimmed the bottom of the dress, which had a bouffant skirt and chapel-length train.

Her bouffant veil was caught to a satin headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses with a white orchid.

Joyce Cavallero of Needham was honor attendant for the bride, and bridesmaids were Diane Alaimo and Ann Farrell, both also of Needham.

Serving as best man was Mr. Skip Plaisted of Newton. Ushers included Mr. Dennis Alaimo of Needham and Mr. James Nolan of Belmont.

The couple plan to reside at 947 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls.

Variety Of Exhibits Will Feature Gala Flower Show

Fifty-one original floral designs, conservation displays, horticultural specimens, educational exhibits and a colorful boutique will be featured at the Temple Shalom Garden Club flower show, "A Play on Words in Five Acts" on Tuesday, October 4 from 2 pm to 10 pm and Wednesday, October 5 from 11 am to 5 pm at 175 Temple street, West Newton. Proceeds will benefit conservation in the city of Newton in memory of Mrs. Melvin Darack, who authored the schedule for the program.

Exhibiting in the Invitational Class of this standard flower show will be one member from the Newton Center Garden Club. The Temple Garden Club, the Easton Garden Club and the Emanuel Garden Club of Rhode Island.

Eighteen Temple Shalom Garden Club mebers will enter floral designs; fifteen will submit table arrangements for a breakfast, midnight snack, cocktail buffet, luncheon and formal dinner. In the section "The Building Blocks" fourteen juniors, age eight to sixteen will enter their own arrangements.

"Keeping New Boston Beautiful," a conservation display, will show the park development of Charlesgate East by Moriece and Gary Landscape Architects. Planned with the cooperation of the Newton Conservators, another exhibit will illustrate that "in Newton, a Garden City, Wetlands are not Wastelands". Juniors will present their own conservation display "Keeping Our Temple Tidy."

Exhibited in "A Play on Words in Five Acts" will be specimens of many flowers, trees, and plants grown in this area. Any member of a Federated Garden Club is invited to enter horticulture.

A major display on carnations will be presented by the Temple Shalom Garden Club with assistance from the New England Carnation Growers Association and the Waltham Field Station.

"Whats in a Name?" will show the methods of classifying and propagating carnations. Also featured in the show will be a boutique of distinctively designed items made by the members.

"A Play on Words in Five Acts" will be staged in a theatrical atmosphere with the box office in a Prelude Garden setting by J. M. Berkson Landscaping, Inc. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by contacting Mrs. Robert Levin, 60 White Oak road, Waban, BI 4-0844. Sherry and punch will be served.

President of the Temple Shalom Garden Club is Mrs. Lester Steinberg. Chairman of "A Play on Words in Five Acts" is Mrs. Leo E. Wolf. Newtonites To Attend Ground Breaking Rites

Newton members will participate today in groundbreaking ceremonies for the half - million dollar diocese center of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Brown St. and Route 30 in Weston.

The 90,000 sq. ft. stake (diocese) center structure will serve the needs of nearly 4,000 members of the religious sect in the Greater Boston area which includes Newton. It also will serve as a chapel for Weston Ward.

Among the Newton members expected to take part in today's exercises will be, Gregoria Banios, Hector Kelley, Winnie McKenvin, Gail and Lawrence Ulrich, Mrs. Alan MacRoberts and James and Jeannette Franklin.

Ceremonies will be held at 4 p.m., with Dr. Boyd K. Packer, assistant to the Quorum of Twelve Apostles, officiating.

The stake center in Weston will be the largest of four in the Greater Boston area constructed by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Missionaries serving the Newton area are Elders Lawrence E. Simmons and Wayne Peck. Both are from Salt Lake City, Utah.

Candlelight Ceremony For Miss Lavers And Mr. Jones

Miss Donna Ruth Lavers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Raymond Lavers of 20 Elsworth street, West Newton, became the bride of Mr. Richard Carlson Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harald W. Jones of 338 Charles River street, Needham, at a 7:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony on Saturday evening, Sept. 10, in the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Rev. John Lilly officiated at the double ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of silk organza designed with an empire waist and a detachable chapel train. The bodice had long wedding point sleeves covered with Alencon lace.

Her headpiece of seed pearls, Alencon lace and silk organza rosebuds held in place an elbow-length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of glamelias, ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. Warren G. Ellis of West Newton was her sister's matron of honor.

Serving as best man for his cousin was Mr. John Benson of Westwood. Ushers included Mr. Warren G. Ellis of West Newton and Mr. Richard Adams of Hingham.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Virginia and Pennsylvania, the couple will reside in Waltham.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and the Newton - Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing, where she is also employed.

Her husband was graduated from Needham High School, attended Wentworth Institute, and is presently in the U. S. Coast Guard.

ENTHUSIASTIC COMMITTEE meets to discuss final plans for the "Charity Ball" which will take place on Saturday evening, Sept. 24, at the Blue Hills Country Club, Canton. Proceeds of the eagerly-awaited event will benefit the Queen of the Apostles Seminary in Dedham. The meeting took place at the Westwood home of the John Thibauts.

JAMES G. STRATHERN

Buick Agency Purchased By J. G. Strathern

James G. Strathern, who grew up in Newton and attended Newton schools and now makes his home in neighboring Wellesley, has just purchased the stock of the Harry Lee Buick dealership.

Strathern pointed out that he has renamed the agency West Buick and reminds all his Newton friends that West Buick is located right on the Newton - Wellesley line on Route 9.

Jim Strathern graduated from Newton High School in the Class of 1949 where he played baseball and hockey. He graduated from Bowling Green University where he pitched in the tough Mid-American Conference.

For the past several years he has been in the advertising business as vice president and general manager of one of the countries leading advertising agencies.

Strathern is married and has three sons

Fall Bridal For Miss Valtz, Mr. Watson

Planning to wed in late November are Miss Sheila Anne Valtz and Ralph Evans Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Valtz of Newton Centre make known the engagement of their daughter to the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Watson of Palm Beach, Fla.

Miss Valtz was graduated from Smith College.

Mr. Watson, a graduate of Brown University, is associated with the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York.

Military Training

Formosa has a compulsory military training program.

"Charity Ball" To Benefit Queen Of Apostles Seminary

A large gathering is anticipated at the festive "Charity Ball" to be held on Saturday evening, September 24, at the Blue Hills Country Club, Canton, with the proceeds benefitting the Queen of the Apostles Seminary in Dedham.

Preparations for the event were completed at a recent meeting of the dance committee, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thibaut in Westwood.

Highlights of the gala affair will include selections by the nationally-known tenor, Luigi Vena, dinner, and music for dancing by Ruby Newman.

As an added feature of the evening, Dr. and Mrs. Julian Chisholm of Dedham have donated a pedigreed Pekinese male puppy to be awarded along with a color television set and choice liquors.

Reservations should be made immediately with Miss Emma Krauth, 240 Stoney Lea road, Dedham, or with any member of the committee.

Dedham members assisting with arrangements include Mrs. Gertrude Geishecker, Mrs. Bernard Maney, Miss Emma Krauth, Mrs. Julian Chisholm, Mrs. Alfred Podolski, Mrs. William Street, Mrs. Robert Maloney, Mrs. Robert Flynn, Mrs. Ralph Whelan, Mrs. Stanley Lipp and Dr. John Burns.

Westwood people include Mrs. John Thibaut, Mrs. Kenneth Ritchie, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Aleck Will, Mrs. George Criss and Richard Ferrarra. The South Shore was represented by Frank Nagle, Mrs. Joseph Thibaut, Mrs. Robert Dandrow and Miss Ann Connolly.

Miss Diane Hahn Becomes Mrs. Marvin M. Glick

At the Congregation Beth - El Atereth in Newton, recently, Miss Diane Lee Hahn became the bride of Marvin M. Glick.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hahn of 31 Cotter road, Waban. Mr. and Mrs. James P. Glick of 203 Winslow road, Waban, are the groom's parents.

Rabbi A. Koolyk officiated at the 6:30 o'clock afternoon service, which was followed by a reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white silk lined gown designed with a circular train. A pill box cap, marked with precious lace, held in place her bouffant illusion veil. She carried a cascade of lily orchids.

Mrs. Joel Bornstein of Sharon was her sister's matron of honor, while Miss Marcia Litman of Newton was honor maid. The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Glick of Newton, sister of the groom, Miss Judi Hyzen of South Brookline, Mrs. Barry Kursman of Framingham and Miss Jan Rubin of West Roxbury.

Another sister of the groom, Miss Amy Glick of Waban was junior bridesmaid.

Martin K. Rosendorf of Framingham served as best man. Sharing usher duties were Barry Kursman of Framingham, Alan Gordon of Newton Centre, Joel Bornstein of Sharon, brother-in-law of the bride, as well as three cousins of the groom, Harvey Gelven of New Jersey, Mark Davis of Mattapan and Sumner Stone of Lexington.

Kenneth Hahn, of Waban, brother of the bride, was junior usher.

Completing the wedding party were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Sarah Stone of Brighton and Mrs. Sophie Hahn of Mattapan, and the groom's grandmother Mrs. Anna Keesan of Mattapan.

After a trip to Nevele, Ellenville, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Glick will live in Framingham.

The bride attended Northeastern University, while her husband is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, where his fraternity was Alpha Epsilon Pi.

MRS. MARVIN M. GLICK

Daughters Of British Empire Meet On Friday

To open the 1966-67 season of activities for the Daughters of the British Empire in Mass. the State Board members will meet on Friday, Sept. 23 at the home of the State President, Mrs. Francis H. Achard, 74 Warren st., Newton Centre.

Following a dessert-luncheon, board members will outline and discuss plans for the coming year which will include fund-raising activities towards the support of its Eastern District Victoria Home in Ossining, New York; ways in which D.B.E. members anticipate continuation of participation and cooperation in community efforts; and otherwise drawing up a schedule of operation for the coming months.

Members of the board, in addition to Mrs. Achard, include Mrs. Louis C. Stein, Newton Centre, 1st vice president; Mrs. Clarence M. Logan, Waban, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Harris Bass, Newtonville, historian and 3rd vice president; Mrs. Herbert B. Dwight, Newton, recording secretary; Mrs. Norman H. MacConnell, Newton Centre, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Austin A. Chute, Sudbury, treasurer; Mrs. George B. Rowlings, Weston, organizing secretary and registrar; Mrs. Laurie L. Witter, Newton Highlands, standard bearer, and Miss Ruth Burns, ex officio.

This State Board meeting will precede those of the State's 4 Chapters, meetings of which will take place the first week of October. The Chapters and their Regents are: Hampton Court, Mrs. Arthur G. Merwin, Brookline; Maritime, Miss Ruth Burns, Newton Centre; Temple Court, Mrs. Herbert B. Dwight, Newton; and Wedgwood, Mrs. Matthew Jaeckle, Island of Nantucket.

Waban Clothing Exchange Opens On October 5th

The Waban Clothing Exchange, formerly Angier School Exchange, will open Wednesday, October 5th, in the basement of the Waban Branch Library, 1608 Beacon street, Waban. The parking lot basement entrance will be used, and the exchange will be open every Wednesday that Newton schools are in session. Selling hours are 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

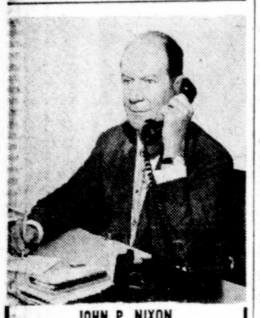

Proceeds will be used for a scholarship fund, and for the purchase of equipment and/or promotion of activities for the Newton Free Library system, and any other educational project approved by the executive board. Co-directors for the 1966-1967 season are Mrs. Roderic E. Hall and Mrs. David D. Nickerson. Treasurer is Mrs. Christy R. Ruffo, and Mrs. Milton B. Paul is secretary.

Scholarships were awarded by the Exchange at the close of the 1965-1966 season to the following Waban residents: Elizabeth Brown of 20 York road, who will be a freshman at Lasell Jr. College; Leslie R. Weinrebe, 154 Oliver road, who is entering Clarke University; and Robert Owens of 46 Waban avenue, who will be a freshman at Boston College.

Freshmen Welcomed

Mrs. Gladys Beckett Jones, 294 Chestnut st., West Newton, president emerita and Dean of Students at Garland Junior College, represented the college at the recent luncheon to incoming freshmen given at the Harvard Club by the Garland Alumnae Association.

Home Reception Followed Williams - Olton Bridal

In the Grace Episcopaal Church recently, Miss Christina Olton and Michael D. Williams were married.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce Olton of Newton Highlands, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Williams of Kenmore, N.Y., are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Thomas Lehman officiated at the three o'clock ceremony. He was assisted by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Robert M. Olton of Cismont, Vt.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Wearing a white silk organza empire sheath, made with a full train, the bride chose a lace mantilla and carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids and baby ivy.

Mrs. Jules Labarthe Jr. of Pittsburgh, Pa., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Two sisters of the groom, Miss Martha Williams and Miss Elizabeth Williams, both of Kenmore N.Y. were bridesmaids.

Norbert Molder of Cambridge served as best man. The ushers were Patrick Kelly of Kenmore N.Y., Jules Labarthe Jr. of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Charles S. Olton of Schenectady, N.Y., brother of the bride.

The couple plan to live in Bloomington, Indiana.

Mrs. Williams was graduated from Newton South High School and DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind. She is a member of Pi Kappa Lamda and Alpha Phi Sorority.

Mr. Williams was graduated from Northwestern University. Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams received their master of music degrees from Northwestern University last June. He has been on the faculty of the preparatory department of the School of Music at Northwestern University. He is now a candidate for his doctorate in music literature at Indiana University.

Ronald Sigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sigel, 60 Oldham rd., West Newton, has begun classes as a freshman at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Penn. He prepared for college at New Hampton School.

Miss McCarthy, Mr. Reeves Become Engaged

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Marie McCarthy, to Thomas Donald Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Reeves of Newtonville, are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. McCarthy.

Miss McCarthy is a graduate of Mount Saint Joseph Academy and the University of Massachusetts. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bieler of West Roxbury and the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCarthy of Jamaica Plain.

Attending Boston College, Mr. Reeves is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Carney of Cambridge and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reeves of Newton.

A July wedding is planned.

Newton Temple Setting For Nimberg-Holmes Wedding

The marriage of Miss Ann Ruth Holmes to Gerald Nimberg took place recently at Temple Rayim in Newton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Holmes of 676 Dedham street, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nimberg of 35 Baird street,, Dorchester, are the groom's parents.

Rabbi Philip Kieval officiated at the 7 o'clock service. A reception was held at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white silk organza marked with pearl encrusted peau d'ange lace appliques. The empire bodice had a batteau neckline and cape sleeves. The shirred full-back skirt terminated in a chapel-length train.

The full-length French silk illusion veil was fastened to her matching crown. She carried her Bible with white orchids.

Mrs. Richard B. Nimberg of Brighton was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. The maid of honor was Miss Andrea Feinberg of Mattapan, while Mrs. Robert Silk of Newton and Mrs. Harvey Chasen of Brighton were bridesmaids. Young Debra R. Rabinovirz of Brookline was flower girl and Master Alan Richard Gordon of Newton was ring-bearer.

Richard B. Nimberg of Brighton, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Harvey Chasen of Brighton, Melvin Kimmel of Newton, Robert Kaufman of Newton, Steven Sutker of Everett, Anrold Bogomolny, Roland Holt and Marvin Kopp, all of Dorchester, as well as John Faro of Brookline.

(Ellis Field)
MRS. GERALD NIMBERG

After a trip to Puerto Rico and St. Thomas, the couple plans to make their home in Hyde Park.

The bride is a senior at the Boston University School of Education.

Mr. Nimberg was graduated from Boston Latin School and Worcester Polytechnic Institute, where his fraternity was Alpha Epsilon Pi. Now attending Northeastern University, where he is working for his master's degree, he is affiliated with Raytheon Company.

About one-third of rural roads in the U. S. are surfaced.

Miss Ellen Kates Married To Mr. Ronald Berkowitz

Temple Emanuel in Newton was the setting for the recent marriage of Miss Ellen Jane Kates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kates of Newton, to Ronald Berkowitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Berkowitz of Dorchester.

Rabbi M. David Weiss and Cantor Gabriel Hochberg officiated at the double-ring ceremony. A reception followed in the Community Hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk faced peau de soie sheath gown. Re-embroidered jeweled lace outlined the neckline, long wedding-point sleeves, natural waistline and court train.

Similar lace marked the pill box cap caught with her elbow-length triple-tiered silk illusion veil. She carried her Bible with a cascade of phalannopsis orchids, ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. Elaine Sack of Sharon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Ronald Berg, Manuel Brown, Arnold Bogomolony, Stuart Eckman, Harvey Garber, Joel Goldstein, Allen Robbins and Charles Silverman were the ushers.

Following a trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Jamaica Plain.

Vanity, Reserved Plate Holders Must File Soon

In na effort to assist motor vehicle owners to retain their distinctive initial or particular number plates, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin today issued the following reminder:

Holders of distinctive initial plates (Vanity Plates) are required to file applications before the end of September for reassignment of the same plates in 1967—the additional fee of $9 should be added to the regular registration fee.

Holders of reserved plates with four digits or less must file applications before the end of September to retain their numbers—the additional fee of $2 should be added to the regular registration fee.

Holders of reserved plates with five digits must file applications on or before October 14 with the Boston Office with the aditional fee of $2.

Unreserved applications may be sent in by mail to the Boston Office after October 3 with the regular fee.

"Applicants are urged to avail themselves of the courtesy service offered by the Registry in mailing plates free of charge," the Registrar said. "We are assigning additional personnel to process the reserved and distinctive initial plates but the cooperation of persons holding such plates is required if we are to have the 1967 plates out on time. Please make a note of the date which applies to you and get your application in before the deadline."

Legislation which becomes effective on Dec. 8 reduces the fee for the registration of gasoline driven automobiles used for the transportation of goods, wares, or merchandise to $5 per thousand pounds or fraction thereof of the gross weight of the vehicle plus the maximum load to be carried thereon. The minimum fee becomes $20 for such vehicles. This reduced rate does not apply to other so-called commercial vehicles or trailers.

BRIDGET WALSH

Bridget Walsh, William F. Wills Engaged To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Walsh of Gorthacolla, Moycullen, County Galway, Ireland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bridget Anne, to Mr. William F. Wills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Wills of 29 Oak street, Newton. The bride-elect is the niece of Mr. James Faherty of 39 Williams avenue, Dedham.

Miss Walsh attended Grealys College for Women, Galway, Ireland, and Point Park College, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wills is a graduate of Boston University, Class of 1963.

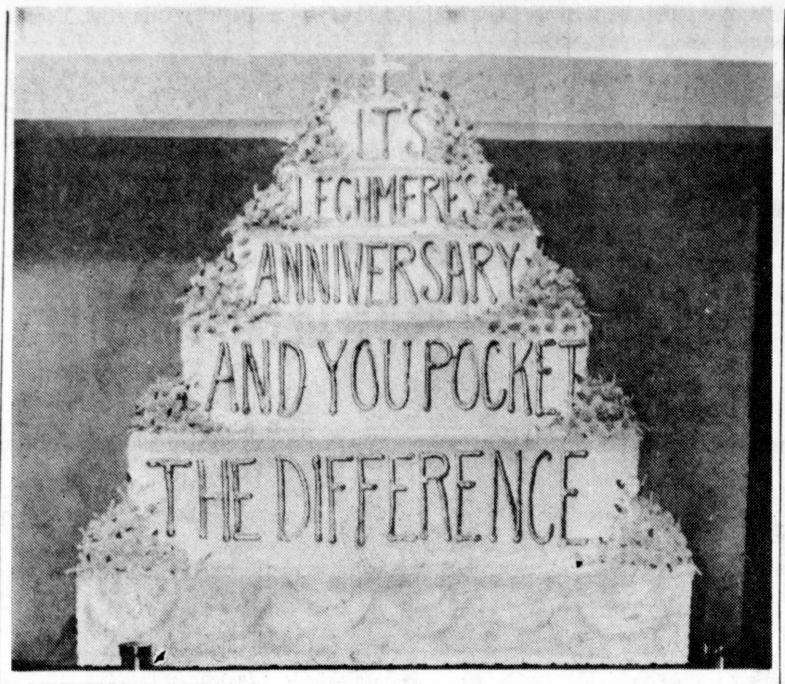

A May 6th wedding is planned.

Liebman Chapter Meets On Monday

At its first function of the Fall season, the Dr. Joshua Loth Lietman Chapter B'nai B'rith, of Newton, is planning a sherry hour for new members, on Monday evening, Sept. 26th, at the home of Mrs. Edmund Yaffee.

An original skit, entitled "The Milkman Cometh" written by Mrs. Sidney Lenson, will be presented by Mrs. Larry Margolis.

Membership chairman, Mrs. Stanley Horwitz and president of the Chapter, Mrs. Ruth Schuman look forward to greeting interested Newton residents.

ANNIVERSARY CAKE — A giant six foot anniversary cake will be on display at both the Dedham and Cambridge locations of Lechmere Sales, now in the midst of its anniversary sale. Lechmere's — "Where You Pocket the Difference" — is also featuring bigger and better sales values for customers.

Special Values Feature Of Lechmere Anniversary Sale

Special values in all of Lechmere's 52 departments are now being featured at both the Dedham and Cambridge locations of the sales giant now in the midst of its anniversary sale. Eighteen buyers who travelled the market places for months have helped guarantee an annual event bigger and better than ever for Lechmere customers.

A six foot high anniversary cake will be on display during the sale at each of the locations, with special values and demonstrations also scheduled throughout the stores.

Every department will mount a complete assortment fo every major brand. An important feature of Lechmere is that it deals in name brands, from tires to television to jewelry.

Lechmere claims to have the largest selection of TV color and black and white sets on display and in operation in all New England. Customers can choose from over 256 name brand models. The new enlarged TV department in the Cambridge store lets the customer choose models from every major manufacturer — RCA, Zenith, Emerson, Admiral Westinghouse, Philco, Olympic and others. And in Lechmere's special Color Studios you can watch programs under normal, home lighting conditions.

Lechmere's gourmet food shops, a delight for the connoisseur, have a wide selection of distinctive and delectable palate ticklers from such far away places as Germany, England, Austria, Hawaii, Italy, Japan, France, and many other countries.

Lechmere's gift shop is the window of the world . . . everything for graciuos living and giving. Whatever your pleasure . . . a salad bowl shaped from a single block of mahogany, crystal with stems so thin they are conversation pieces, original oil paintings, diamonds, pearls, sterling silver trays or pewter bowls, you'll find them at Lechmere. You can find brand name electric knives or electric sharpeners to sharpen regular knives.

Lechmere not only offers merchandise at traditionally low prices, it also offers convenient terms. Lechmere's Orange Credit Card is well known to thousands and thousands of New Englanders who know "you don't have to save up to save."

Immediate service is another Lechmere Sales feature. Company officials say: "Our sales staff will never try to hard sell a customer. Instead, the customer is guided towards the purchase that could best fit his needs. These people are experts in their field and know what they are talking about. No member of Lechmere's large staff receives a commission."

Lechmere is proud of the many national awards its advertising and merchandising has won. Lechmere was presented an award by Readers' Digest and NARDA for the most creative appliance ad in the country. The 1965 Pride Award from Dealerscope Magazine was presented to Lechmere's employes for best exemplyifying "pride in the products they sell, pride in customer service, and pride in their contribution to the appliance and housewares industry.

Two Promoted

Four women were given a civil service examination for promotion to senior clerk-typist in the Newton Assessing Department. Alice D. Johnson, 38 Jameson rd., Newton, and Marie C. Palmer, 36 Webster st., West Newton, passed the test. The others failed.

Iraq Photograph Exhibition Now At City Library

The Faces and Facets of Iraq, a compeling photographic display from Iraq, is on exhibit today at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre st.

American Friends of the Middle East have loaned some forty-seven works of Latif Al Ani, a professional Iraqi photographer, who offers in his collection both vasual pleasure and informational insight. His thoughtful studies have previously been on display in London, Geneva, Budapest and Baghdad.

Viewers of the collection, which will be at the Main Library through October 14, will be interested to see the contrast between photographers of ancient artisans and aged Arabs, and modern architecture conceived by space-age Iraqi people.

The Library offers to readers in connection with this exhibit a fine group of books on Middle Eastern culture, archeology, modern improvements, history and primitive peoples.

Youth Orchestra Members Attend Maine Workshop

Several young Newton musicians, members of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra took part in an eight-day Summer Workshop of the orchestra held at West Poland, Me.

Those attending from Newton were: senior orchestra, Jonathan Cline, flute; William Dornbusch, clarinet; Ann Drinan, viola; Daniel Starr, violin; Martin Yaffee, oboe; Janis Jacobson, viola, alt; and Steven Marvin, violin.

From the junior orchestra: David Firestone, oboe; Alicia Morgan, violin; Rowland Sylvester, alt. trumpet; John Berman, French horn; Scitt Cutler, clarinet; Abraham Dietz, French horn; Douglas Allan, oboe; Robert Yaffee, cello; Kathleen O'Donnell, flute; and Barbara Berko, violin.

The Newton members were among 150 musicians in the senior and junior orchestras, all high school and junior high, students who combined tennis, water-skiing, swimming and boating, with a full schedule of orchestra and chamber ensemble rehearsals, sectional practice and music sight reading, in preparation for their fall and winter concert schedule.

A thief who broke into a West Newton home and took a dozen light bulbs apparently left a half dozen eggs on the kitchen table.

Paul A. McGreenery, Jr., of 66 South Gate Pk., West Newton, told police that a thief had removed a dozen light bulbs from electric fixtures in his home and carted them away.

McGreenery said he found a half-dozen eggs on the kitchen stove which had not been there previously.

A burgler who entered the home of Mrs. Susan Caira of Williams St., Newton corner, not only took a diamond ring valued at $175 and a gold wedding band worth $13.50 but also lugged away a gas meter and an ash tray.

City Planner Miller Proposes An EE District For Apartments

City Planning Director James E. Miller, appearing before the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee at City Hall Monday night, recommended the creation of a new zoning district with controls for the erection of medium-rise apartment buildings in business areas.

Miller said he had been convinced for some time that zoning ordinances relations to medium-rise apartments in business districts are "inappropriate and inadequate and should be completely reconstructed.

"In 1964 and 1965, this department began an evaluation of the regulations of the Newton zoning ordinance regarding the location and construction of apartments. The first proposals emanating from this evaluation resulted in amendments to the provisions of Residence D districts which dealt with the measurement of height, the number of basement apartments and the required lot size per apartment unit," Miller declared.

"The construction of apartments in Business A and B districts may be accomplished with an absolute minimum of municipal controls under our present zoning ordinance," he said.

"The controls which are written into Business A and B districts are generally inadequate and are geared not to apartment standards, but to the needs of a wide variety of business uses," Miller continued.

"There are some reservations as to the desirability of apartment developments in the hearts of business districts in communities such as Newton," he stated.

Miller proposed the creation of "a new zoning district incorporating the best features of the business districts as they apply to apartments, as well as other desirable controls, and then completely exclude apartments from Business A and B districts, either as permitted or permissive uses."

The new EE District, he maintained, would allow the construction of "medium rise" apartments under desirable conditions of control and make "medium rise" apartments a permissive use in Business A or B districts subject to the same controls as in the proposed Residence EE District.

Yom Kippur is universally observed by all branches of Judaism by fasting from sundown to sundown, by prayer and by searching reappraisal of the individual's behavior in his relationship to his fellowman, and to his God.

It is the culmination of 10 days of intense self-examination; during which the individual Jew examines the year just past, atones for his shortcomings in relation to God and man, and expresses his hopes for strength and regeneration for the year to come.

The opening liturgy, sung during Yom Kippur Eve, is called the "Kol Nidre," a prayer for forgiveness written in the 7th-8th century. The melody which accompanies it, one of the most haunting and beautiful of all liturgical works, has its origin in the music of medieval Germany.

The "Kol Nidre" (which means "all vows") is a plea for God's forgiveness of human fallibility should man fail to keep the promises made to God.

The following Yom Kippur message is from Irvin Fane, chairman of the board of trustees, Union of American Hebrew Congregations:

"As we prepare to observe the Day of Atonement, the most sacred day in the Jewish calendar, we can see all around us the reflections of man's thirst for power.

"We can see it in our conquests of space, the automation of our industry, in the massed might of destructive weapons. But pursuit of power and the pursuit of personal pleasure lead us once again to a spiritual wasteland.

"When the norm of society is to make the world safe for the selfish, the Day of Atonement causes us to reflect on the poverty of self-worship and the need once more for every man to heed the ethical and moral teachings of faith and to turn his will toward the pursuit of Justice. We are asked to review our conduct over the past year and to turn a new leaf.

"What has each of us done to set an example as a responsible parent, as a citizen in the community, as a promulgator of the religion in which he professes beliefs?

"Unless every one of us opens his ears to the voice of his own conscience, the world can only become a less livable place for all of us. It is the lesson of this Jewish New Year that the future is our to make better or worse for ourselves."

Fall Luncheon Sept. 29 By League Of Catholic Women

The League of Catholic Women of the Archdiocese of Boston will hold its Annual Fall Luncheon at Sidney Hill Country Club on Thursday, September 29, with social hour at twelve noon and luncheon at one p.m. Following the luncheon, Mr. Robert T. Luddington, Director, Interior Decorating Department of Jordan Marsh Company, will give a lecture on Interior Decorating, with the theme, "The Return to Elegance."

Mr. Luddington's presentation will feature historical highlights in the field of design, as well as the current trends in color, form, textured and architecture. His lecture will be illustrated by fabrics, wall papers, rugs and accessories.

Mrs. Patrick J. Foley of Jamaica Plain, League President, has announced that the General Co-Chairmen of the Luncheon Committee are Mrs. James J. Monahan of West Roxbury and Mrs. William E. O'Connor of Jamaica Plain.

Assisting the committee are the new officers of the League who, in addition to Mrs. Foley, are: Mrs. John T. Finnegan, West Roxbury, Mrs. Francis J. Forrest, Norwood, Mrs. Hugh A. Carney, Arlington and Mrs. Frank B. Tallino, Chestnut Hill.

Reservations are being received at the League House, One Arlington st., Boston, and information may be had by calling the League House (266-1720).

Local committee members are: Mrs. Joseph H. Burke, Mrs. Clement J. Dore, Mrs. Frank B. Tallino, Mrs. George M. Shannon, Mrs. Peter T. Reuter, Mrs. William D. Moran, Mrs. Angelo Traniello and Mrs. Hugh C. Donahue.

Dirt, Pain, Sorrow, Next To Godliness Says Cleric

Dirt is next to godliness —not cleanliness, but dirt, pain, sorrow, prejudice, injustice, treachery.

This is what President Roy Pearson told students and faculty of Andover Newton Theological School on Tuesday at the convocation that marked the opening of the seminary's 1966-67 academic year.

"It is a fact too long neglected that the church has in common with the chimney sweep that it cannot do its job in comfortable surroundings or with clean hands. In this sense, cleanliness is not next to godliness: dirt is. Dirt, pain, sorrow, prejudice, injustice, treachery," President Pearson said.

The all-chool convocation at Andover Newton Theological School, oldest graduate theological school in the country, was held at 11 a.m. First classes of the new year convened at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Founded in 1807, the school is in its 159th year.

Speaking on the topic: "The Unangelic Mission," President Pearson emphasized that the church must do its work in ugly surroundings, stating that "the reason is not that God likes or is like them but that he so loves the human being who are enmeshed in them that he could not be God and not be next to them, not be God and stay in heaven, not be God and not spend most of his time in hell."

More than 350 men and women from 35 states and 10 foreign countries are expected to register at Andover Newton. Students will represent 240 colleges and universities.

Dr. Pearson declared, "With Watts and Harlem and Roxbury; with Viet Nam and China and Berlin; with alcoholism and drug addiction and gambling; with unemployment and poverty and slum housing; with sexual perversion and unwed mothers and broken homes; with world famine and bad schools and minimum wages and old age pensions — the Christian church is justifiably concerned or the Christian church is unjustifiable; it is responsibly engaged with them or it is not responsibly engaged with God."

A noted preacher and author, President Pearson stated, "the original mission of Christ was an unangelic mission, and standing on that fact, I want to make a few observations about the continuance of that mission in Christ's body, the church."

President Pearson pointed out, ". . . the world for whose reconciliation Christ labored was not the nice world of nice people doing nice things."

He went on to say, "The unangelic mission of the church is the mission of the church. It is the church putting its own little feet in God's great footsteps."

Dr. Pearson continued, ". . . if the mission of Christ, now charged to his body the church, is an unangelic mission, it will most often be performed in unangelic circumstances."

Vin Tuscher On Briefing Trip To West Point

Vincent J. Tuscher, 19 Craigie terrace, Newtonville, currently is attending a four-day briefing at the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.

Tuscher, information officer for the U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station at the Boston Army Base, heads up a group of 20 guidance counselors from Rhode Island and Connecticut attending the same briefing.

Purpose of the tour is to acquaint the educators with the scope and quality of a West Point education so that they may help students in planning for the future.

Newton Man Heads Boston Chamber Drive

Charles A. Connor of 19 Fairfield St., Newtonville, office and pension manager of the Robert S. Pitcher Insurance Agency, has been appoint chairman of the Contact Club of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

An Army veteran and graduate of Bentley College and Boston University, Connor will direct some 80 young business executives loaned to the Chamber on a part-time basis for a 10-week drive for new memberships.

The drive gets underway today (Thursday), with a kick-off breakfast.

Dress is informal and the music will be provided by Wilfred and His Orchestra. A gourmet supper will be served.

For further information, call Mrs. Singer at DE 2-0310.

Newt. Workshop Chartered As Non-Profit Organization

This summer the Exhibits and Display Comm. of the Arlington St. Church in conjunction with the Newton Workshop, sponsored eleven workshops in the fine arts and crafts for children and adults.

Schedules for the fall workshops have been completed and include Life Drawing by David O. White, Stichery by Alice Marcoux, Batik by Pauline Joseph, Ceramics by Joyce Goldstein, Oil Painting by Carol Lipsitt, Direct Plaster Sculpture by Tony Patterson, Childrens Workshop by Marjorie Beshers, Enameling by Lilyan Bacharach and a seminar on Contemporary Arch. by Jack Joseph.

This month the Newton Workshop received its charter from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts incorporating it as a non-profit educational organization. They are now in a position to receive donations of equipment and funds to finance a visual arts center to be located in the Newtons. Membership in the workshop is open to all.

Plans are already being made for a large display of work by the members as well as demonstrations of art techniques at the Poston Winterfest at the Prudential Center.

For information about membership and workshop schedules call 969-7992 or 332-2247.

Reality Subject Of This Week's Lesson Sermon

"Reality" is the subject of this week's Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The ways in which spiritual reality is revealed will be studied in several Bible passages, including these verses from Exodus and Galatians: "Behold, I send an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared . . . We through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith."

A corresponding passage from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, gives this definition of angels: "God's thoughts passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect; the inspiration of goodness, purity, and immortality, counteracting all evil, sensuality, and mortality."

Weekly Course On Finance At Technical High

Anthony Cloutman, account executive with Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., will conduct an investment course at Newton Technical High School Tuesday evenings for 22 weeks beginning Sept. 27, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The program has been designed to answer such questions as:

1 — How to select your investment objectives.

2 — When to buy and sell.

3 — How dividend stocks compare with growth stocks.

4 — How to get tax-free income.

5 — Which type of stocks and bonds are most suitable for average investors and why.

Registration can be made at the school. All material will be provided.

Air Academy Aspirants Are Urged To Make Application

High school juniors in Newton who are interested in entering the United States Air Force Academy upon graduation are reminded to apply for a nomination as soon as possible, said Major Robert Gluck, the Academy liaison officer in the Newton area.

Members of Congress have already begun to nominate candidates to the class entering the Academy in June 1967. The United States Senators and Representatives submit the names of their nominees to the Academy no later than January 31, 1967. Since nominating quotas are limited for each Member of Congress, the student should not delay his application.

Senators and Representatives are interested in nominating successful high school students to be considered for Academy appointments from their states and congressional districts.

A good scholastic standing, participation in extracurricular activities, and physical fitness are the most important factors considered by Congressmen in choosing their nominees.

Major Gluck is a member of the Air Force Reserve, not on active duty, who represents the Academy in high schools in the 10th Congressional District area. He urges students who are interested in the Academy to get in touch with him for information concerning the application procedures and entrance examinations.

Major Gluck may be contacted by writing him at 104 Dorcar Road in Newton, Mass. 02159 or by calling 332-2106.

Great Books Group To Open Seventh Year

On Tuesday, Sept. 27, one of Newton's most active Great Books groups will meet at the Newtonville branch library to begin its seventh year of readings and discussions under the Great Books Foundation curriculum.

Once more, under the leadership of Harold G. Wren, the group will convene every other Tuesday evening from 8 to 10 for what promises to be a most lively and provocative series of discussions.

New members are always welcome, and participation requires only that one have read the prescribed selections in the two-week intervals between meetings and be prepared to discuss the readings within the framework of the Great Books text.

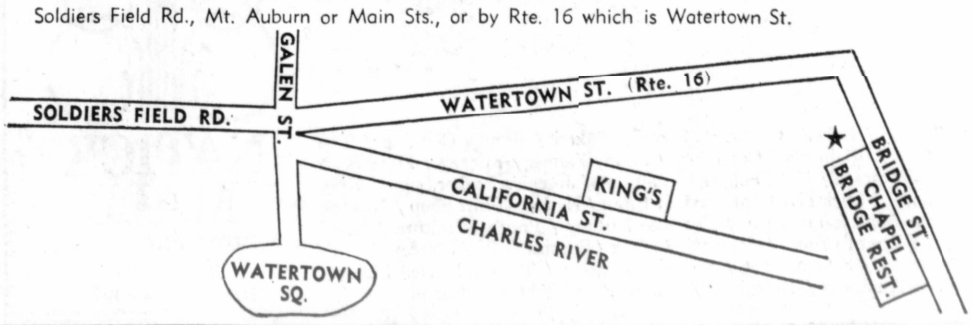

The first evening's discussion will encompass the "Gorgias" dialogue of Plato. For further information, telephone Mr. Wren at 332-0272 or Mrs. Barron at 527-5214.

Richardson Steps Up Tempo Of Attorney General Drive

Lt. Governor Elliot L. Richardson this week stepped up the tempo of his campaign as Attorney General.

At the same time Richardson stressed that he is seeking the Attorney Generalship on his record of public service and accomplishments while Lieutenant Governor, United States Attorney and Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under former President Eisenhower.

ELLIOT L. RICHARDSON
former Governor Christian A. Herter in 1955 and 1956 and for a period was counsel to Governor Herter.

Richardson graduated with honors from Harvard College and Harvard Law School. He was editor-in-chief and president of the Harvard Law Review and served as law clerk to Judge Learned Hand and Justice Felix Frankfurter.

His education was interrupted by his service in the Army during World War II. He saw 18 months of overseas duty, chiefly as a litter-bearer platoon leader with the 4th Infantry Division.

He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic service, the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Combat Medical Badge and the European Theatre Ribbon with five battle stars. He was discharged from the Army with the rank of first lieutenant.

After his military service, he returned to Harvard Law School where he achieved high honors. He began the active practice of law after serving as law clerk to Judge Hand and Justice Frankfurter, and in 1952 he was a lecturer in law at Harvard Law School.

Richardson began his public career as assistant to Senator Leverett Saltonstall in 1953, working in that capacity until the end of 1954. He was assistant to

In 1957 President Eisenhower named Richardson as Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. He participated in Cabinet meetings and was responsible for developing and submitting to Congress bills on education, social security, public health and juvenile delinquency.

Richardson was appointed United States Attorney by President Eisenhower in 1959. His work and record in that position won him widespread commendation.

As U.S. Attorney, Richardson undertook a far-reaching attack on organized crime, working closely with the FBI, the Narcotics Bureau, the Alcoholic and Tobacco Tax Division, the Intelligence Division and the Secret Service.

He gained convictions in 90 percent of the cases initiated and completed by him.

It was Richardson who launched an investigation of land-taking frauds in the Federal highway program which led to the Blatnik Committee hearings in Washington and national reforms in land-taking procedures.

Richardson started the investigation into the Boston Common Underground Garage scandal. He prosecuted the Thomas Worcester case.

A closer cooperative relationship has existed during the past two years between Governor Volpe and Lieutenant Governor Richardson than between any Governor and Lieutenant Governor in the history of Massachusetts.

Richardson has served as the Governor's coordinator of the State's health, education and welfare programs, utilizing to full advantage the experience he gained as Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

In so doing, Richardson has made the Lieutenant Governor's office an important working unit of the Volpe administration, breaking away from the traditional ribbon-cutting role of Lieutenant Governors in the past.

In outlining his qualifications for the position of Attorney General, Richardson pointed to the records he made as U.S Attorney, as Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and as Lieutenant Governor, and to the experience he gained in those posts.

"I believe that I have the experience, the ability and the training to serve the people of Massachusetts as their lawyer," Richardson Declared. "If I were not convinced of that, I would not be seeking the office."

Richardson expressed the conviction that the experience he has gained in such fields as health, education, welfare, social security and vocational rehabilitation would be of great value to him as Attorney General.

"In the weeks before election I will endeavor to present my record of public service to the people in as great detail as is possible so that they may be better able to form their judgment as to the merit of my candidacy for the office of Attorney General," Lieutenant Governor Richardson stated.

YOUNG VISITORS — Richard W. Schmader, president of International Equipment Sales Company, greets potential future employees during new plant tour in which 1600 employees and friends visited the IEC Needham facility. Among the equipment they saw in the new 40,000 square foot plant addition (just completed) was the IEC "Cytoglomerator" — equipment for freezing and storing red blood cells for periods up to two years or more. This new IEC equipment, which is providing blood supplies for troops in Vietnam and for U.S. Hospitals, also allows rare blood types to be stored for use whenever and wherever needed.

1600 Tour IEC Plant, View Blood Freezing Equipment

A new instrument which permits freezing and storing of red blood cells for periods up to two years or more was shown to 1600 employees and their friends at the opening of the new I.F.C. plant addition in Needham recently.

The "CYTOGLOMERATOR", or blood cell clumper, developed and manufactured by I.E.C. in cooperation with Dr. Charles E. Huggins of the Massachusetts General Hospital, is now being used to preserve and insure an adequate supply of blood for troops in Viet Nam. In addition, the new technique and equipment permits stockpiling the rarest blood types for use anytime and any place needed.

Richard W. Schmader, President of International Equipment Company, at Needham Heights Industrial Center, welcomed the unexpectcedly large turnout which included 1200 employees and friends and their combined 400 children. He led the tour of the new 40,000 square foot addition to the Needham plant.

Repeat Course For Expectant Mothers, Dads

A highly popular series of five weekly courses for expectant parents will be repeated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital beginning next Thursday evening, Sept. 29.

The free classes, sponsored by the hospital and held from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. in its Usen Auditorium, focus upon various aspects of baby and maternal care, before birth and after.

During May and June, similar classes had attracted more than 100 mothers and fathers-to-be. The enthusiastic response prompted the hospital to schedule the classes again.

Parents who attend the series of five Thursday evening programs will receive a diploma at the conclusion of the courses. In addition, refreshments are served each evening and door prizes are awarded..

Conducting the series again is Mrs. Genevieve Fitzpatrick, R.N., B.S. A graduate of Massachusetts General Hospital School of Nursing and Boston College, she has authored a textbook on gynecological nursing and several articles for nursing journals.

Joining her in the various sessions will be physicians from the hospital's active medical staff, as well as nursing and maternity department personnel.

The courses are offered to interested parents free of charge, and regardless of the hospital they may elect to utilize.

Information about the classes may be obtained by telephoning the hospital, 244-2800.

Explorer Scouts Hit N.H. Mountain Trail

Explorer Post 217 spent part of their summer on the Appalachian Trail in N. H. For the last two years the boys have hiked the Green Mountains in Vermont, but this year they took on a new challenge, The White Mountains.

The Explorers found the new area a completely different experience. The mountains were higher (4-5,000 ft.) and the trails steeper and harder.

Many of the boys completed 30 or more of the 46 4,000 ft. mountains in three weeks. Some of the mountains they climbed included: Franconia Ridge, The Presidential Range (including Washington), The Carters, and Mt. Isolation.

There were actually two groups of Explorers in the White Mountains. One group spent three weeks in the area and climbed 31 mountains. The other group spent one week on the trail and climbed elevten 4,000 ft. mountains.

The Appalachian Trail which runs from Maine to Georgia is kept up by the Appalachian Mountain Club. The Explorers stayed at shelters built and maintained by the AMC and the U. S. Forrestry Service.

The Explorers who attended the trip were Paul Naiman, Joe Greeman, Neil Dobro, Joel Hollis, Steve Ostrow, Barnard Cohen, Joel Loitherstein, Steve Goldman, Paul Elliot and Murray Solomon.

Paul Roberts, Post Advisor, Robert Gallant, Associate Advisor, and William Waters, Post Committeeman, accompanied the boys on the trip.

Recent Deaths

David Berkman

Services for David Berkman, 53, of 412 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, long identified with the wholesale liquor industry, were held Friday, Sept. 16, at Temple Isreal Meeting House.

Mr. Berkman, a native of Boston, died Sept. 13.

At the time of his death, he was vice president and sales manager of Sheridan & Fitzgerald, Inc., of Boston. A graduate of Boston University, he started as a shipper with William Zakon and Sons in 1934, and was Rhode Island state manager from 1938 to 1941. LAND COURT
In Equity
No. 49127
(SEAL)
To Henry J. O'Meara, formerly of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives:
GREETING:
Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court, by George Berfield and Lois Berfield, of said Newton;
WE COMMAND YOU, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of November next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and receive what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.
Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.
The plaintiffs represent that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land in said Newton, being Lot No. 19 on a plan by Charles A. McManus, Civil Engineer, dated July 1, 1916, revised December 12, 1916, recorded in Middlesex South Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 256, Page 13; and further represent that on November 5, 1940, the Gardner Savings Bank made an entry to foreclose a mortgage, the same being duly recorded on December 4, 1940, in Book 6453, Page 330; foreclosure deed being dated February 18, 1941, duly recorded on February 20, 1941, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure and foreclosure deed having been made without first obtaining permission from any Court to foreclose under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended; and further represent that at the time of said foreclosure, no owner of record was in the military service and entitled to the benefits of said Act. And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiffs that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be give by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said Newton, the last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of November next.
Witness, ELWOOD H. HETTRICK, Judge of our Land Court, the eighth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty six.

Mayor -

The 8 p.m. meeting has been called, Basbas said "In order that I and my staff may explain in depth and detail the proposed program and in order that the village may participate more fully in all aspects of the program."

The Mayor explained that a Concentrated Code Enforcement Program "has as its main thrust the bringing of an area up to the minimum code and public improvement standards of the community.

"To this end the federal government reimburses the city for two-thirds of the cost of the entire program including necessary public improvements such as streets, drainage and street lights.

"No betterments will be charged to the abutters. Loans at a low rate of interest are available to residents to aid them in bringing their homes up to code standards."

Basbas emphasized "a Concentrated Code Enforcement Program is not an urabn renewal project. An area designated as a code enforcement area is ineligible for such a project for six years."

The Mayor said, "in the past the Upper Falls community has stated its concern for certain neighborhood conditions. This program gives the city and the neighborhood, working together, the opportunity to rectify these conditions."

The proposed project in the Upper Falls area would be a three-year program, under the direction of a Code Enforcement Committee made up of directly-concerned department heads and staff personnel. A full-time project director-code enforcement officer, whose office will be in the project area and a full-time secretary will be required. Part-time help will include an attorney, a building inspector, a wiring inspector, a plumbing inspector, a fire inspector, and a sanitarian.

Rehabilitation loans at 3 percent annual interest will be made available. For those persons having an annual income of less than $3000, rehabilitation grants up to $1500 are available.

Mayor Basbas said "There are approximately 300 dwelling units in the Upper Falls area with some code violations. It is estimated that two-thirds of these units will request rehabilitation loans. It is further estimated that approximately 40 families or individuals will be eligible for rehabilitation grants of up to $1500.

"The total project cost over three years is estimated to be $618,000. The city's gross share would be $206,000 in public improvements and staff services. From this figure will be deducted any eligible non-cash credits." Basbas said, adding that it it not expected the program will receive federal funding before Jan. 1, 1967.

The proposed public improvements for the designated area include complete construction, plus drainage, of 13 streets at an estimated cost of $260,000, installation of new traffic lights at Chestnut and Elliot sts., at a cost of $8800, and improvements to 25 streets at an estimated cost of $151,800.

The 13 streets scheduled for complete construction are: Cottage st., from Columbia to Thurston; Ossipee rd., from Linden to Mechanic; Footpath, from Penn. ave. to Chestnut; Rockland pl., from Bolyston to High st.; Cheney pl. from Cheney to end; Cliff rd., from Oak to Linden st.; Shawmut pk., from Ossippe to end; Indiana ct., from Indiana ter. to end; Sullivan ave., from Elliot to Chestnut st.; Chilton pl., from High st. to end; Josselyn pl. from Elliot to end; Suban pl. from Margaret rd. to end and Elliot pl., from Elliot st. to the end.

The 25 streets scheduled for improvements to meet present day standards, such as installing curbing and improving sidewalks, including loam borders where none exist, include:

Champa st.; Chandler pl.; Charles st.; Chestnut st.; Circuit ave.; Elliot st.; Elliot ter.; Ellis st.; Frances st.; Hale st.; Indiana ter.; Keefe ave.; Linden st.; Lucille pl.; Margaret rd.; Mechanic st.; Oak st.; Ohio ave.; Pennsylvania ave.; Pette st.; Spring st.; Summer st.; Wetherell st.; Williams st. and winter st.

4 Faiths Will Occupy One House Of Worship

By JOSEPH H. HEBERT
United Press International

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) —Clergymen and laymen of four denominations are more than optimistic about what will become a new experience in ecumenical cooperation shortly.

This November will mark the beginning of construction of St. Mark's Church — a unique pilot project of worship, recreation and work under one roof for Catholics, Congregationalists. Episcopalians and Presbyterians.

The $400,000 structure in the heart of Kansas City's poverty pocket will be the first new church to be built in the "inner city" for more than 50 years.

The church complex which includes a gymnasium, will serve more than 15,000 persons — mostly Negroes — in a five-block district where clergymen say less than one-third of the population attend any church.

The new building, flanked on three sides by low-rent government-subsidized apartments is designed to rejuvenate church-going in the poverty ridden area.

Ministers call St. Mark's not only a new development in church cooperation but also in church activity with the four denominations providing more recreation and social facilities than ever before.

Now, many of the community's churches date back to the turn of the century and, as one minister said: "They hold little to attract the people of this neighborhood."

Father Lawrence McNamara, of the Catholic Charities, was one of a handful of clergymen who conceived St. Mark's several years ago and he has high and long-range hopes for it.

"This will show to these people that four denominations who once vied with each other can work together," he said. "It might show them that there is something to this thing called Christianity."

Ministers from each of the denominations said there is overwhelming support for the project although several noted there may be deep feelings against it in some quarters of their congregations.

"There is no strong opposition that I know of," said Father Vincent Lovett, editor of the Catholic Reporter, "We will try to stress those things that each denomination has in common instead of emphasizing the differences."

Father McNamara has spent much of his time in the eastern edge of the "inner city" where St. Mark's will be erected. He sees no straining of the faiths . . . at least for several decades yet.

"We must first convince the people here that there is something substantial in Christianity . . . since (in this neighborhood) they have severe doubts about it" he said.

"Two or three generations from now when these people come to believe that there is something to Christianity . . . then some problems may arise."

Workers will transform a desolate corner lot into a red-brick house of worship, which should blend in nicely with the high-rise apartments that surround it. St. Mark's will be ready by September, 1967.

Father McNamara says the new concept should get the community interested in the church.

"Above all . . . this church will be their own," McNamara says.

The new church will be within the Catholic parish of St. Aloysius. Catholic use of St. Mark's will be as a place of worship apart from the regular parish church.

Three-fourths of the cost of the initial structure will be paid through the sale of other church property in the area. The other $100,000 is being collected through business organizations and charities.

Ministers said the yearly cost of upkeep will be $100,000. This will include resident facilities for a corps of social workers and a clerical and maintenance staff. Each of the denominations will provide for the expense and dispatch one clergyman to the church.

The church's design and organizational structure has been keyed to the maintenance of the integrity of the denomination's worship. St. Mark's will be governed by two boards — one representative of the church congregation and another staffed with representatives from each of the four denominations.

The structure will be owned by the United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church, who along with the Episcopal Diocese of West Missouri, and the Roman Catholic Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph sponsor the project.

British Have Own Answer To The TV Dinner

By DEXTER COLE
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — America may have invented the TV dinner but it's taken the British to develop it into an art form.

At London's Arts Theater playgoers are handed a well-stocked lunch box as they take their seats for Strindberg, Pinter or Edward Allbee.

It's part of a policy to promote a Lunchtime Theatre Club for office workers with an hour to kill and nowhere particular to go.

For 17 cents membership fee and a $1 ticket, the culture hungry and the just hungry get a stall plus sandwiches, fruit and a big British bun.

The founders of the Lunchtime Theatre Club are English playwright David Halliwell, 29, and Canadian actor David Calderisi, 26.

Since the club opened July 11 nearly 1,000 persons have joined and daily audiences for the two lunchtime houses — at 12:15 and 1:15—are around the 100 mark and growing.

"We're delighted by the response," said Halliwell. "The success of lunchtime lectures and church organ recitals in London convinced us there was an untapped market for midday entertainment, but even we didn't expect such good results so early."

Sir Alec Guinness, Roger "The Saint" Moore and Donald Pleasence have chipped in donations to the 2000 pounds ($5,600) venture and Peter Sellers has promised to drop in for a sandwich and banana quite soon.

Besides directing most of the plays, Calderisi supervises the sandwich slicing and sometimes selects the fruit from the cockney "Apple Alberts" who park their stands in the streets of the West End.

"Apples and celery are banned from the lunch boxes for obvious reasons," said Calderisi, one-time engineering student at Montreal's McGill University. "We also avoid paper that crackles. When you are on stage there's nothing more disconcerting.

The playbill is changed every week and the menu every day.

With "A Resounding Tinkle" by N. . Simpson, for example, I munched my way through six tiny triangular ham sandwiches, unzipped a banana but shunned the bun.

"Ah, the banana, a blessed fruit," smiled Halliwell. "It's the quietest, least messy, no-smell fruit known the the theatrical profession."

Some club members have requested vegetarian lunches and others have suggested tuna fish sandwiches on Friday.

"We haven't considered all the religious ramifications of the lunch box," said Calderisi, "but I expect we'll get around to it. At the moment we see ourselves more as impressarios than restauranteurs."

One-act plays by established writers make up the first three months of the club's program. As most of the audience get only an hour for lunch, no show can run more than 40 minutes.

The biggest problem for the hungry out front is when to eat—before or after the lights dim? Most of the eating playgoers I observed were inhibited enough to wait for the curtain before diving inside their white paper boxes.

Calderisi said that the many Americans in London who had visited the club took to the lunch box idea more eagerly than the natives.

Whether this means the "Theatre of Nourishment" will follow the "Theatre of Cruelty" as London's next successful export to Broadway, he is waiting to see.

Maureen McCabe, St. Bernard's, Heads Library Reading Program

The Newton Free Library Summer Reading Program with the slogan "Build Your Library with Benny the Bookworm", came to a climax last week for over 650 children who earned reading certificates and attended parties in the eleven children's libraries in Newton.

Achievement certificates and Reading Award buttons were presented by the children's librarians to all boys and girls who had read and reported on 15 or more books during the summer. Many children read more than the required number of books.

The top reader in this city-wide program was Maureen McCabe in grade 4 at St. Bernard's Grammar School who read 168 books from the West Newton Branch.

Second honors went to Cathie Hebert in grade 3 at Murray Road School who read 146 books from the Auburndale Branch.

In third place was Rosemarie Webber in grade 4 at Lincoln-Eliot School who read 120 books from the Nonantum Branch.

The three top readers in each library in Newton are as follows;

Boys' and Girls' Library at

Boys' and Girls' Library at Newton Corner:

1. Annette Laferriere, Grade 6, St. Jean's 117 books; 2. Catherine Casey, Grade 3, Our Lady's 67 books; Mary Casey, Grade 6, Our Lady's 67 books; 3. Paula Cocuzzo, Grade 4, St. Jean's 51 books; Laura Hein, Grade 6, Underwood 51 books.

Auburndale Branch:

1. Cathie Hebert, Grade 3, Murray Road 146 books; 2. Shelley Rubin, Grade 7, Warren 102 books; 3. Laurie Rubooks.

Newton Centre Branch:

1. Kathie Magraw, Grade 3, Ward 85 books; 2. David Mollenkamp, Grade 3, Mason-Rice 75 books; 3. Susan Parks Cutler, Grade 6, Mason-Rice 70 books.

Newton Highlands Branch:

1. Donna Amicangioli, Grade 4, Sacred Heart 71 books; 2. Freddy Amicangioli, Grade 2, Sacred Heart 49 books; 3. Paul Yen, Grade 6, Countryside 42 books.

Newton Lower Falls Branch:

1. Cynthia Clark, Grade 6, Hamilton 52 books; Janet Ronich, Grade 6, Hamilton 52 books books; 2. Judy Keene, Grade 7, Warren 51 books; 3. Mary Barry, Grade 6, Hamilton 42.

Newton Upper Falls Branch:

1. Joyce Griffin, Grade 6, Emerson 51 books; 2. Nita Terlizzi, Grade 7, Meadowbrook 33 books; 3. Vera Kochs, Grade 7, Meadowbrook 31 books.

Newtonville Branch.

1. Diane Browne, Grade 8, Our Lady's 69 books; 2. Gardner Oleson, Grade 5, Claflin 61 books; 3. David Prince, Grade 3, Cabot 56 books.

Nonantum Branch:

1. Rosemarie Webber, Grade 4, Lincoln-Eliot 120 books; 2. Rocca Proia, Grade 9, Day 89 books; 3. Susan Blakeney, Grade 4, St. Jean's 82 books.

Oak Hill Park Branch:

1. Richard Moy, Grade 3, Memorial 99 books; 2. Lisa Moy, Grade 3, Memorial 68 books; 3. Susan Roberts, Grade 6, Memorial 67 books.

Waban Branch:

1. Larry Gould, Grade 7, Belmont Hill 84 books; Edward Shapiro, Grade 7, Fessenden 84 books; 2. Kenneth Gould, Grade 6, Pierce 45 books; 3. Suzanne Sudikoff, Grade 1, Angier 36 books.

West Newton Branch:

1. Maureen McCabe, Grade 4, St. Bernard's 168 books; 2. Sarah Kendall, Grade 6, Davis 63 books; 3. Denise Kelley, Grade 2, Pierce 60 books.

Music, games, and refreshments added to the fun at the parties in the gaily decorated libraries of Newton. Of the 2238 boys and girls who registered in June for the Reading Program, 655 successfully completed the program. Many of these are already looking forward to the 1967 Summer Reading Program in the Newton Free Library.

Theme Of Hope and Promise Expressed By College Head

CHARLES W. DUDLEY

A standing ovation was given President Charles W. Dudley of Newton Junior College at the formal opening of the college on Tuesday, September 20, when he challenged the students to "begin with seriously questioning what you are and what you want to be."

In his address entitled "September Song," Mr. Dudley said: " 'September Song' is popularly a melancholy lament of the twilight years . . . 'Our September Song' is a salutary, optimistic, and soaring theme of hope and promise, of renewal and beginning . . . It is indeed the occasion for establishing fresh perspectives and setting higher sights."

In a brief status report traditionally included in the address delivered at the opening convocation, President Dudley noted the addition of Walnut Hall to the college complex, providing more classroom accommodations, a soon-to-be completed language laboratory, and additional space now available for the Department of Counseling Services and the expanding college library.

"These modest changes," he remarked, "will serve to extend services, to increase efficiency, and to improve educational effectiveness." He added that "our single, greatest need is to have superior facilities uniquely and imaginatively designed to serve the many purposes of a comprehensive community college. Our planning and our energies will continue to be applied toward the accomplishment of this goal."

Two current issues were also discussed. In regard to the matter of accredition, President Dudley explained that Newton Junior College, the first public two-year college to be accredited in New England, has recently undergone a process of self-examination in preparation for renewal of its accreditation. "This re-evaluation," he said, "has prompted the college to take pause and look inward to itself, to view with new perspective its aims and purposes and the procedures for realizing them."

The second issue, the matter of the long-term future of Newton Junior College, is under study by the Junior College Study Committee, recently established by the Mayor, which will begin its deliberations within the next several weeks.

With the expressed purpose of stimulating the students in Setpember, "at the time of beginning and renewal, of replenishment and re-invigoration," Mr. Dudley urged that they, like the college, "undertake self-examination, self-study, and that this process be your guide and comfort in the academic year to come."

The formal All-College Convocation, marking the opening of the college, is an annual event, held at the Newton War Memorial Auditorium. In keeping with tradition, Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Dean of the college, welcomed the students and introduced the administrative staff and faculty of the college.

Leon P. Judge, Dean of Student Personnel, also greeted the students and introduced Richard Sturtevant, president of Student Council. Mr. Sturtevant presented the members of the Student Government.

Unitarian Society Resumes Young Peoples' Activities

The First Unitarian Society in Newton will open its doors on Sunday, Sept. 25 at 10 a.m. to welcome back 250 children, together with a number of new young people and their parents.

The year's activity will begin with a short service of dedication in the church, after which the young people will meet their teachers and begin together a new "Adventure in Discovery." The services will be conducted by Mrs. Arthur Laughland of Chestnut Hill, director of the Church School; Newton A. Teixeira of West Newton, chairman of the Religious Education Committee, and Dr. Leslie T. Pennington, minister of the Society.

The Religous Education program of this year is again aimed at helping the children discover things about the world around them, about themselves and others.

The Cultural Studies Group will start with Eric Sollee and Mrs. Kenneth Fremont-Smith, both of W. Newton and Parker Lord of Newtonville leading them to explore the life and culture of the Phillipines.

There will be two drama groups, one at the high school level and one for the junior high students, under the coaching of Chris Simonds of Arlington.

The church school staff includes residents of the whole Newton area, the high school team, Dr. Thomas A. Morris of Newtonville and Newton A. Teixeira of Newtonville; Ninth Grade, Stanley Kulik of Auburndale; Eighth Grade, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ress of Waban; Seventh Grade, Dr. Richard H. Lent of Newton Centre, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Hugo J. Hollerorth of Natick.

Sixth Grade, Mrs. Stephen Plank of Newton Highlands; Fiftr Grade, Mrs. Floyd Gilles of Waban and Dr. Iolanda Low of Newton; Fourth Grade, Charles Levy of Auburndale; Third Grade, Mrs. Thomas A. Morris of Newtonville and Mrs. Albert R. Schofield of Waban; Second Grade, Mrs. Sylvio P. Lassa of Waban; First Grade, Mrs. George A. Speers of Newton Centre and Mrs. George Stephen of W.N.

Kindergarten, Mrs. Robert F. Butterworth of Newton and Mrs. Arthur F. Lein of Newton Highlands; Primary Assistant, Mrs. Robert C. HONORS POP WARNER LEAGUE — Mayor Monte G. Basbas presents proclamation honoring Newton's Pop Warner Football League to Left Halfback Joseph Arnold, Jr., center, and Fred Delicandro, manager. Proclamation was presented by Alderman Paul Burke when league opened 1966 season recently.

Citizen's Civic Duties Are Discussed By Chief Purcell

Great emphasis has been placed on the rights of individuals but too little emphasis placed on that individual's "civic duties and obligations," Newton Police Chief Philip Purcell said this week as he called for closer co-operation between police and citizens.

Purcell aired his views Monday at a State House hearing held by a special Legislative commission set up to study and investigate causes and possible prevention of crime and violence. He appeared in a dual role as head of Newton's police force and president of the International Assoc. of Chiefs of Police.

Chief Purcell said citizens who avoid "getting involved" when they witness an accident or criminal act are short-changing themselves. "In the final analysis," Purcell said, "it's the people not the police who suffer.

"Law enforcement officials must form an alliance with the citizens and move forward together," he said. Despite rigorous training and modern methods of crime detection, police work is more effective when "you have the support, co-operation and encouragement of the public."

The Chief told the commission he believed the recent Supreme Court decision which affect the rights of persons in custody and curb police action, has had a detrimental effect and, perhaps, has encouraged crime.

However, he said police will continue to do their job according to the rules laid down by the court with the co-operation of the public.

He said he believes too little emphasis has been placed on what he termed "civic duties and obligations"- such as the obligation to serve on a jury or to come forward as a witness - while much emphasis has been placed on the rights of the individual.

Chief Purcell reminded the committee that in the past citizens were involved closely in law enforcement, but that gradually the interests of police and public were separated and the average person in this day and age does not feel an obligation to assist the police.

City Hall Greeting For 2 Boys Staters

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas recently welcomed to his office Newton's two representatives to Boys' State at Amherst,

Both of the boys — Theodore Maslowski of 22 Jefferson St., Newton, and Daniel Pagnano of 229 Adams St., Newton, were sponsored by American Legion Post 440 of Nonantum.

The boys attended Boys' State this summer. Ted Maslowski was elected State Senator and wrote for the State publication.

Dan Pagnano was elected Senator from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and went on to represent Massachusetts in Washington, D.C.

While in Washington at Boys' Nation, Dan was elected Secretary of the Interior and was nominated Vice President.

This nomination for Vice President of Boys' Nation is the highest national office achieved by any Massachusetts representative for many years.

Both Dan and Ted are seniors at Our Lady Help of Christians School, Newton, and were elected for their Boys' State offices because of their outstanding scholastic achievements.

Commander Joseph LaCroix, Newton Post 440 American Legion, and Past Commander C. Joseph Pasquarosa, Chairman of Boys' State, assisted Mayor Basbas in the welcoming ceremonies.

Two Eligible As Head Clerk

The names of N. Mae Crowley, 10 Hammond Pond pkwy., Chestnut Hill, and Faith M. Merrit, 42 Winchester st., Newton Highlands, have been placed on a State House civil service list of persons eligible for promotion to principal clerk in the State Division of Employment Security.

Dangel Reappointed

Governor John A. Volpe has announced his reappointment of Melvin J. Dangel, Ward 3 Alderman-at-large, as Master of Chancery of Middlesex County.

Mayor Congratulates Boys' Staters

Everett At Newton; South At Fitchburg . . .

Both Local High Schools Launch 1966 Gridiron Seasons Tomorrow

The 1966 football season kicks off Friday for Newton and Newton South high schools when the Tigers meet mighty Everett at Dickinson stadium at 3 p.m. and the Lions journey to Fitchburg for a 2 p.m. game.

In the entire league, Newton appears to have the toughest opening-game test, as usual, against Everett, the fefending Class A co-champion and Greater Boston titlist.

Newton lost to Everett, 6-30, last year but the Tigers were in the game 90 per cent of the way. This year, Coach Jim Ronayne has his fingers crossed, hoping that all hands will be physically up to snuff for the season's opener.

Since practice began, petty injuries have hampered the progress of the team. Warren Houston, Newton's backup quarterback behind Dick Dezotell, has given Ronayne reason to worry. A trick knee has hobbled the 5-10, 160-pound junior and, as a result, he's been unable to practice regularly. Two juniors, Reggie Benn and Carl Anderson, have been working out at that spot just in case.

On the plus side, however, Ronayne likes the idea of having his biggest line ever ready to face Everett. Although, that isn't too much consolation — Everett annually boasts of behemoths in the line. Ronayne's query is: "Where does Everett get them?"

But if Coach Ronayne thinks he's got injury trouble, pity poor George Winkler over at Newton South. Casualties have been the rule rather than the exception in South's training camp, and last week Winkler termed the situation "frightening."

He was looking at the injury list at the time and it included no less than five prospective starters. "It's gotten to a point now," the coach commented, "where our trainer, Warren Bechtold, looks like he's running a hospital unit."

Since that time some of the boys have recovered enough to go against Fitchburg in the opener Friday but they're still a little "tender," and can't be expected to go at top speed.

Halfback Steve Cooper, a 6-1, 175-pound senior, pulled a hamstring muscle and was on the sidelines until the pass-scrimmage with Waltham last week. But, even then, he could only go at half-speed. Unless his injury disappears entirely, South's offense will be slowed considerably.

South is still without a Thanksgiving Day opponent, having lost Hingham as a Turkey Day foe when the South Shore school entered the Old Colony League.

The Lions play eight games and only against Lexington, Rindge Tech and Melrose will they be at Dickinson Stadium. They're scheduled to play Oct. 1 at Cambridge Latin; Oct. 8 at Stoughton; Oct. 15 at Amesbury; Oct. 22 with Lexington; Oct. 29 at Leominster; Nov. 5 with Rindge Tech; Nov. 11 with Melrose and Nov. 24 is open.

Castro Escapee To Be Speaker Here On Sunday

David Chajmowicz, a businessman who spent 40 years in Cuba, the last five years under the Castro regime, before escaping to the U.S.A., will be the guest speaker at a Temple Beth Avodah Brotherhood Breakfast meeting, on Sunday morning, September 25 at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. Chajmowicz, the first president and founder of the Havana B'nai B'rith, had been a hosiery importer for many years in Cuba. He left nearly all his personal and business possessions in Cuba in order to ecape from the Communits there.

As a Cuban resident and businessman, he had organized the Hillel Foundation at Havana University, had been the first president and organizer of ORT in Havana, was a member of the Board of Education of the Havana Jewish Schools, and was Secretary of the Central Committee of the Jewish organization in Cuba.

A popular speaker, who has spoken before many leading groups in New England, Mr. Chajmowicz' topic for the Brotherhood Breakfast, according to Temple Beth Avodah Brotherhood President Arthur Hersh, will be "The Status of the Jewish Community in Cuba Before and After Castro."

The September 25th Breakfast meeting of the Brotherhood is the first in a series of monthly meetings which will be held by the Brotherhood.

All members of the community are invited to attend the meeting which will be held at Temple Beth Avodah, 45 Puddingstone Lane, Oak Hill section of Newton. Reservations may be made by calling Mr. Jay Tomkonogy at 527-9028.

Clay Gets Police Car Contract

Clay Chevrolet, 431 Washington St., Newton, will deliver 14 new cars, including four station wagons, to the Newton Police Department. The 1967 models will be on the road sometime next month.

Two bids were submitted to Purchasing Agent Harold T. Pilsbury. The Clay bid was $18,579. West Ford Sales, Inc., 733 Washington St., Newtonville, was the other bidder.

Clay also submitted the low bid for the 1966 contract.

800 Girls Start Studies At Sacred Heart College

Eight hundred students—including 244 freshmen — begin or resume their studies at Newton College of the Sacred Heart this week as the women's liberal arts college marks the start of its 21st academic year.

The record enrollment of freshmen were selected from nearly 1100 applicants for thre year's entering class.

Although among them the class of 1970 represents a total of 23 states and the District of Columbia, the great majority come from half a dozen states—Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Illinois, and Maryland.

In addition, there are freshmen from Belgium, Canada, Colombia, Mexico, Philippines, Puerto Rico, Spain, and Venezuela.

The newcomers came to Newton from 165 public schools and 49 independent schools. Representing Hartford (Conn.) High School are twin sisters, the Misses Charleen and Maureen Soucy, of that city.

The new girls on campus include a number of former high school class and student officers and student newspaper and yearbook editors.

There are also in the group two National Merit Scholarship recipients — the Misses Nancy Bernstein, Chevy Chase, and Lizbeth Fischer, Ellicott City, both in Maryland. And the class of 1970 boasts a women's badminton champion—Miss Colleen Hill, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada.

"The College has awarded more than $35,000 in scholarship aid to approximately twenty percent of the entering class.

Eleven freshmen are sisters of Newton alumnae. Nine others have sisters on campus in the sophomore, junior or senior class.

4 Injured Here In Series Of Week-end Auto Crashes

Auto accidents continued to take a toll in Newton during the past week, sending four to the hospital, including two children.

Odette Boudreau, 6, of 160 Lexington street, Auburndale, was reported in "good" condition at Newton-Wellesley Hospital with head injuries received after she was in collision with a car police said was driven by Camille A. Donelle, of 20 Howard street, Waltham.

Clifford Slade, 14, of 204 California street, Newton, suffered abrasions when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with an auto. Mrs. Ellen F. Smith, of 49 Edward road, West Newton, identified by police as the driver of the car, said the youth veered off the sidewalk onto the street and she came to a stop before the collision.

A Winchester man, Thomas E. Johns, was treated for cuts of the forehead at Newton-Wellesley Hospital after his car struck a pole at 435 Highland avenue, Newtonville. Also treated at the hospital was John J. Killoran after his car struck a pole on Winchester street, Newton Highlands.

Minor cuts and bruises were sustained by three Auburndale children when the car in which they were riding was in collision with another car at Moody and Robbins streets, Waltham.

The operator of the car was Mrs. Mary L. Herbert, of 2057 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, who was unhurt. Her children, Catherine, 7, William, 6, and Eillene, 3, suffered the cuts and bruises.

Police said the Herbert car was stopped in the northbound lane of Moody street and about to turn into Robbins, when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Mrs. Olga N. Mekkellsen, of 64 Sawyer road, Waltham. She was uninjured.

Arnold Golav, 51, of 458 Chestnut street, West Newton, suffered an injured left arm when the funeral sedan he was driving was in collision with a taxi at Beacon street and Beaconwood road, Newton Highlands. The cab driver, Arthur J. Cogan, of 73 Pine street, Auburndale, was not injured.

Only property damage was reported in a two-car crash at Temple street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton. Police identified the drivers as Isadore Levine of 91 Oldham road, West Newton, and William Gabovitch of 178 Beethoven avenue, Waban.

A three-car pileup occurred at Beacon street and Tudor road, Chestnut Hill, with all drivers escaping injuries. The drivers were identified by police as Frank Kinlen of 427 East street, Wrentham; Dr. Saul Polins of 109 Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, and Shelley S Erlich, of 48 Oxford road, Newton Centre.

Two cars collided at Beacon and Irvington streets, Waban. Police reported the drivers were Jerome Lipon of 19 Nehoiden road, Waban, and William R .Wislon, Jr. of 26 Laws Brook road, West Concord.

Drivers of two vehicles which collided on Beacon street, near Chesley road, Newton Centre, was identified by police as Arthur J. Freeman of 8 Pinecrest road, Newton Centre and Paul J. Lynch of 12 Marine road, South Boston.

Guild Begins Its 31st Year

Guild of St. Francis of Assisi, Sacred Heart parish, Newton Centre, began its 31st year with a tea-tasting program followed by a demonstration in Oriental flower design on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Benediction preceded the meeting in the liturgically renovated upper church.

The Guild has prepared a most interesting and inspirational year.

Gurry Promoted To Lieutenant In Viet Nam

John G. Gurry, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gurry, 57 Hunnewell ave., Newton, was promoted to first lieutenant Sept. 1 in Vietnam.

Lt. Gurry, officer in charge of the repair parts warehouse, 221st Supply and Service Company of the 96th Supply and Service Battalion, stationed near Cam Ranh Bay, entered on active duty in June 1965. He was last stationed at Fort Riley, Kan., and arrived overseas in June this year.

The lieutenant graduated in 1961 from Newton High School and the University of Maine in 1965.

MOLOTOV BOMBS RIP SAN FRANCISCO AREA

GANGS OF YOUTHS Wednesday night began firing pistols and throwing Molotov cocktail bombs in the heart of San Francisco's Hunters Point area where rioting erupted Tuesday night after the killing of a Negro youth by a policeman.

Earlier, National Guardsman set up headquarters in Candlesitck Park Stadium Wednesday night to help police quell further outbreaks of racial violence. Rock throwing and other disturbances erupted in midafternoon when high schoolers poured from their classrooms onto 90 degree streets of the Mission district.

AMERICAN AIRLINES STRIKE AVERTED

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT was reached Wednesday night between the Transport Union and American Airlines on a new work contract, minutes before the strike deadline.

The TWU said the agreement was subject to ratification by union members and that union leaders had made "a unanimous reommendation for acceptance." Details were withheld, pending ratification.

U. S. PRESSES PEACE PROGRAM IN UN

THE UNITED STATES Wednesday offered to back up its Viet Nam peace proposals in the United Nations with action "to break out of the tragic impasse in Viet Nam."

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg took the rostrum in the General Assembly to declare that U. S. proposals to negotiate a settlement are "even-handed, genuine and sincere," and should be tested "by exploring our willingness to take action to match our words."

Goldberg was replying to French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville who, earlier, had stated that the United States "alone . . . is in a position to make the new move that will render everything possible, and first of all, peace."

U. S. OFFICER TOLL IN VIET TOPS KOREA

A PENTAGON report said Wednesday that American officers are being killed at a 30 per cent higher rate than they were in Korea. One explanation given is that earlier the U.S. had mainly officers as advisers in Viet Nam. Another explanation is that there is a greater percentage of pilots involved in action, with correspondingly greater losses.

SHOTGUN CLUE IN NEW GANG KILLING

THE SECOND key prosecution witness in a murder case was shot to death Wednesday in eastern Massachusetts' 33rd gangland execution in 42 months.

Police found a shotgun—possibly the murder weapon—in a nearby churchyard, as police predicted the new series of gang killings would continue.

The body of John W. Jackson, 47, a bartender, was found sprawled face down in a pool of blood between two cars behind his Back Bay apartment. Seven slugs had ripped into him.

Police found a single barrel, 12-gauge shotgun out of a flower bed at a Greek Orthodox church adjoining the killing site.

Police said Jackson was to have been a witness next month in a trial stemming from the stabbing death of a waitress, 24, whose body was found Nov. 10, 1964, in a loft above Luigi's Restaurant.

She had been dating Robert A. Palladino, 34, of Winchester, an ex-convict who became gangland victim No. 26. He also was to have been a witness at the trial.

MASS. TRAVELER SEIZED AT LOGAN AS ROBBER

KEVIN MURPHY, 25, of Worcester, was arrested at Logan Airport Wednesday night on a secret indictment charging him with two armed robberies when he got off a plane from England.

Police said Murphy had $13,000 on his person when he was arrested. They said he had been vacationing in Leeds, England. They said he allegedly was involved in a holdup at the People's Savings Bank in West Boylston.

DICK WILLIAMS NEW RED SOX MANAGER

DICK WILLIAMS, manager of the champion Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, Wednesday was named manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Williams, 37, succeeds Billy Herman, who was fired Sept. 9. Toronto is a Red Sox farm team. He is Boston's third manager in five years.

SEVEN-MAN STADIUM COMMISSION NAMED

GOV. VOLPE named prominent businessmen to a special commission Wednesday to investigate the feasibility of erecting a multi-purpose sports stadium in Massachusetts.

Selected for the seven-member commission were Ephron Catlin, Jr., of Natick, senior vice president of the First National Bank of Boston; George Page of Topsfield, hotel owner and sportsman; Bruce Crane of Dalton, president of Crane Paper Co., and Robert Nordblom of Boston, president of Nordblom Management Co.

Also named were William Sullivan, president of the Boston Patriots and chairman of the Greater Boston Stadium Authority; House Speaker John F. X. Davoren or someone named by him; and Senate President Maurice A. Donahue or someone selected by him.

INEZ AIMS AT DOMINICA; SECOND STORM BREWS

HURRICANE INEZ rammed toward the Dominican Republic Wednesday, packing a 120-miles-per-hour punch that already had killed at least three persons, injured "scores," and left up to 10,000 persons homeless on Guadaloupe island.

Another tropical storm, Judith, was born in the same area that spawned Inez. Judith, building up its 45 m.p.h. winds, began moving westward on Inez' track almost exactly 1,0000 miles behind.

Puerto Rico was spared the main force of the storm. Inez' eye passed about 70 miles south of Ponce, Puerto Rico, at noon. Four hours later its center was reported 75 miles south-southwest of Ponce, moving due west at 16 m.p.h.

PLANE HIJACKERS TRY TO SEIZE FALKLANDS

EIGHTEEN MEMBERS of an ultra-nationalist Argentine youth group Wednesday hijacked a plane from Buenos Aires with 44 persons aboard and used it to stage an invasion of the British Falkland Islands.

The youths, 17 men and a woman identified as well-known theatrical writer Maria Cristiana Verrier, 27, forced an Aerolineas Argentina pilot to fly his DC4 into the airport at Port Stanley, the tiny island chain's main city, to stage what they said would be a "symbolic" takeover. There the members of "Condor Commando," moved into the city and occupied the British government house, taking the police chief captive.

RED GUNNERS BLAMED IN SHIP ATTACK

NORTH VITNAMESE antiaircraft guns firing at low-flying American jet planes apparently damaged a foreign freighter that got into the line of fire, a U. S. military spokesman said Wednesday. Extent of damage to the unidentified foreign ship was not immediately determined. It said the incident took place Tuesday while U. S. jets swooped down almost to water level to sink two Communist torpedo boats and damage two others east of Haiphong. In a more tragic accident in South Viet Nam, U. S. Marine planes dropped 500-pound bombs on a friendly South Vietnamese village, killing 35 residents, wounding 17 more and destroying 116 homes.

Urban Beautification Program Of Mayor May Be Aired Monday

A tentative, $232,933 urban beautification and improvement program for Newton — of which the federal government will pay $78,966 — is under consideration by the Board of Aldermen. The program was submitted by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

In a communication to the Board, Mayor Basbas pointed out that a new federal program was established lished to assist communities in carrying out plans for "the greater use and enjoyment of open spaces and other public land in urban areas." The program was established under the provisions of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965.

The Mayor said: "The Urban Beautification program is designed to help communities to become more pleasant and desirable places in which to live, work, play and raise a family.

"It seeks to provide the basic street, park and other improvements so important to a sense of community spirit and to improve the attractiveness of streets and public places to encourage the kind of neighborhood and community pride that is the best defense against blight and decay."

The Mayor's message and program is on the docket and is expected to be discussed at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen next Monday night in City Hall.

Mayor Basbas told the Aldermen the city has been planning for a five-year program by adopting all relevant features "of the Capital Improvement Program for 1966 to 1971" and by projecting budgetary expenditures for that period. The fiscal basis, Basbas said, is recommended to be May 1, 1967, to April 30, 1968, and every year after that.

He emphasized that all the projects are part of improvements already programmed and that the federal money will reduce the cost of the city significantly.

Basbas said, "the law requires that the beautification program must be officially adopted by the governing body of the locality. Such adoption does not authorize or appropriate money for any specific project, but rather is a general commitment to a general program, similar to the adoption of the Capital Improvement Program."

Code Hearing Sets Inspections Query

The Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association and residents of the village Monday night challenged whether state inspectors should be allowed into private homes to check on ordinance violations.

The question was brought up at a meeting called by Mayor Monte Basbas for the purpose of outlining his proposed program for a concentrated code enforcement program.

The project is entitled to two-thirds support by the federal government, and is designed to aid areas that are at least 80 percent residential, but have not reached the stage required for urban renewal.

Under the program, residents with an income of less than $3000 annually can borrow up to $1500 from the federal government at three percent interest to improve their homes.

Chairman of the meeting was Ward 5 Alderman-at-large, Franklin N. Flaschner. Other members of the Mayor's group were, Thomas Hargadon, executive assistant in charge of federal programs, James A. Miller,

Dedicate 3 Buildings For Theology School Tomorrow

More than 200 delegates representing major educational institutions throughout the United States, learned societies and the church will participate in the inaugural convocation at Andover Newton Theological School tomorrow, Friday, September 30.

Dr. Roy Pearson, internationally known preacher, author and lecturer, will be inaugurated as Andover Newton Theological School president, and the Rev. George W. Peck, a native of Australia who recently served as dean and principal of Eastern Theological College in Jorhat, India, will be installed as dean.

Dedication of a new $1,300,000 three-building academic complex is also scheduled as part of the convocation.

Dr. Pearson has served as a member of the Andover Newton faculty and administration since 1954 when he was appointed dean and Bartlett professor of sacred rhetoric. He was selected by the seminarys board of trustees in May, 1965, to succeed retiring President Herbert Gezork.

The formal inaugural ceremonies will be held on the seminary's campus beginning at 10 a.m. Dr. Frederick M. Meek, minister of the Old South Church, Boston, and chairman of the Andover Newton Board of Trustees executive committee, will preside at the morning program.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Comedy of Political Errors As Spending Ceiling Argued

Governor Volpe set a political booby trap for the Democrats. Ex-Governor Endicott Peabody blundered into it. Then Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, who is battling Peabody for a seat in the U.S. Senate, opened the trap and allowed Peabody to get out of it.

That's the way things have been happening recently along the Massachusetts political front.

It all started when Senator Edward M. Kennedy proposed that the Democratic and Republican State tickets agree to a ceiling of $1.3 million on the expenditures by each slate. Teds suggestion touched off a weird chain reaction.

Republican State Committee Chairman John F. Parker immediately vetoed the idea. However, he apparently spoke out without consulting his boss.

Governor Volpe, the head man in the Republican party, accepted Ted Kennedy's proposal, leaving Parker in an awkward position. Volpe said he hadn't planned to spend more than $500,000 anyway, the limit Ted had listed for gubernatorial candidates.

Homes Looted; Varied Items Taken Locally

A Newton Highlands home was burglarized last Friday night while its occupant was attending Yom Kippur services.

The entire home of Murray Klein of 308 Woodcliff Rd., was ransacked in his absence. No report yet has been made as to what was taken. The burglars got into the dwelling by jimmying open a rear door.

Also looted on the same street was the neighboring dwelling of Hyman H. Silver at 301 Woodcliff Rd.

The robbers carried seven cases of liquor, a mink stole worth $700 and a silver service for 12 out of the Silver home. They got into the house by ripping a screen off a rear patio window and forcing open a den door.

An automobile also was stolen from Silver's garage.

A strong box, containing $39 in cash, the deed to the house, two passports and social security cards, was taken from the home of Sumner Rodman at 94 Vine St., Newton Centre, by intruders who got in through an unlocked overhead garage door and then slipped the lock on a door leading into the den.

A box containing $200 in cash was taken in a break at Quinn's News Service at 1377 Washington St., West Newton. The box was kept in an old refrigerator.

The weekly payroll of the Hubbard Drug Co., Inc., at 425 Centre St., Newton, amounting to $1003, was reported missing last Friday morning by Wilfred Chagnon, owner of the concern.

Chagnon said the money had been in a safe which was unlocked during business hours.

Four men were arrested in Newton early Monday morning by Newton and Wellesley police after a chase along Route 9 following a $778 holdup at Giovanni's Restaurant in Framingham.

At the home of Robert Katz, 100 Andrew St., Newton, a pair of alert teen-agers on Tuesday foiled an attempt to gain entrance to the house and prevented a possible robbery.

Christian Doctrine Program To Be Conducted Here Again

The Rt. Rev. Russell R. Novello, director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in the Archdiocese of Boston, has announced that a C.C.D. program for gifted students will be conducted again this year at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The program, first of its kind in the Greater Boston area last year, has been expanded to include freshmen from non-Catholic colleges and universities, as well as public high school sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

The purpose of the program is to provide an opportunity for academically talented Catholic students to receive religious instruction at a level which is both stimulating and challenging for them.

The program will run from October to May, with two-hour sessions at the College scheduled for every other Monday evening.

Registration will be held at Stuart House, main administration building on Newton's 885 Centre St. campus, Monday evening, Oct. 3, at 7 o'clock. Each enrolling student must have achieved final grades of not less than "B" in their high school studies last year, and must bring to registration a copy of his or her high school transcript or other official statement of qualification.

The expanded 1966-67 program will be divided into two sections. The one section — under the leadership of Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.-C.J., Newton College president and professor of theology—will conduct "a critical study of the methods and course of studies proposed in religious textbook series."

The other section — under the leadership of Frank D. Maguire, assistant professor of theology at Newton — will explore "the historico-biblical character of God's revelation of the good news of salvation and its continuing expression in the Church."

Teaching in the program will be handled on a voluntary basis by a panel of "'resource persons" — prominent men and women from various professional fields, in addition to competently trained philosophers and theologians from the Newton College faculty.

At each session, there will be a lecture, thirty to forty minutes in length. This will be followed by a formal discussion period and an informal discussion over refreshments with the lecturer and two or three other "resource persons."

Attendance at the semi-monthly sessions will fulfill the student's religious education obligation.

Classes For Parents-To-Be Start Tonight

Free classes for expectant parents begin tonight (Thursday, September 29) at 7 p.m. in Usen Auditorium of Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Over five Thursday evenings, the classes will focus upon prenatal growth, a mother's nutritional needs,, mother and baby supplies, birth, infant feeding and formula preparation, daily baby care, bathing, and an infant's first year of development.

Instruction will be given by Mrs. Genevieve Fitzpatrick, R.N., B.S. An author of a textbook about gynecological nursing and numerous articles for nursing journals, she earned her nursing diploma at Massachusetts General Hospital and a bachelor's degree at Boston College, where she also has completed studies at the master's level.

Open to parents regardless of the hospital they may use ultimately, each program lasts for two hours. Refreshments are served and door prizes are awarded. In addition, parents attending the series receive a diploma.

Similar classes held at the hospital during May and June attracted more than 100 registrants. They came from Newton and 27 other communities.

with their musical ability, with the hope that the money would be found to finance their trip to Flushing Meadows for a concert in the New England Pavilion.

They sang and played, and the money was found.

This year, no such audition was necessary. At Monday night's School Committee meeting, Dr. Charles E. Brown told the members that he had received a letter from the management of the Montreal fair stating that the Troubadors had been chosen to represent the United States there. That was sufficient. A vote indicated that it was the sense of the meeting that the transportation money should be forthcoming.

Prior to the vote, Ward 7 committee member Hugh M. Tomb remarked that he had visited the fair site last week, and had found that the round-trip air fare from Boston was only $45, information that may or may not have had an effect on the unanimous vote.

Dr. Brown explained Tomb's visit to the Canadian city, saying that Tomb's firm was manufacturing materials for one of the fair buildings.

School System Shows Concern Over Enrollment Up and Down

Enrollment figures compiled soon after this year's start of school showed that the situation in the two high schools had remained virtually static, with Newton High having a slight decrease of 12 pupils, and Newton South High an increase of 36, Dr. Charles E. Brown, school superintendent, reported at Monday night's School Committee meeting.

His office is somewhat concerned about an increase of 39 pupils at Day Junior High, where the population is now up to 712, the superintendent said. He attributed the increase to a change in Our Lady's High School's tuition policy, which caused parents to transfer their children to the public school system. Also, he said, transfers from Our Lady's boosted the enrollment in the Underwood elementary school from 465 to 498.

Other increases Dr. Brown pointed to were at Warren, the city's largest junior high, which now has full capacity of 1185 pupils, and at Weeks Junior High, which has 62 more than a year ago.

Enrollment has dropped, however, he said at Bigelow, where there are 42 fewer pupils, and at Meadowbrook Junior High, which has 983, 35 fewer than a year ago.

The superintendent declared that the 26-pupil drop in city-wide elementary school enrollment takes into account 50 METCO pupils in seven schools. The decrease, he said, would be even greater were it not for these children.

Fourteen out of 25 elementary schools had a decline in enrollment, ranging from 3 at Murray Road to 27 at Mason-Rice, 28 at Franklin and 22 at Memorial.

An increase of 68 pupils at Horace Mann School was the result of redistricting, Dr. Brown said, and for 32 more pupils at the expanded Lincoln-Eliot School. Also, for a drop at Carr from 426 to 348.

Other figures showed that the population of Newton High, Newton South High and Technical High this year totaled 4276, compared with 4255 last year, an increase of 21; the junior high population had risen from 4266 to 5322, up 56, and the elementary school population had dropped from 9375 to 9349, down 26.

All the changes had been anticipated, Dr. Brown said.

Urge Citizens Register Soon For Elections

Municipal leaders, as well as Republican and Democratic party officials, issued a special appeal this week to hundreds of Newton citizens, who are not enrolled as voters, to have their names added to the city's voting lists before the Oct. 8 deadline.

Registration of voters is held daily each business day at the election commission offices in City Hall. On the last day, Oct. 8, the offices in City Hall will be open from noon to 10 p.m.

For the convenience of area residents, outside registration will be held at three locations for two hours, from 7 to 9 p.m., next Wednesday, Oct. 5. They will be:

Ward 2—the High School drill shed on Elm Rd., Newton.

Ward 3—the Pierce School at 88 Chestnut St., West Newton.

Ward 5—the Angier School at 1697 Beacon St., Waban.

It is important to note that young men and women not yet 21 years of age but who will celebrate their 21st birthday on or before Nov. 8 may register now as voters.

He also announced that Frank E. McElroy of NCCJ, Mother Husson and himself have agreed to conduct the Second Institute at the College, which will commence April 9, 1967.

The Institute features teams of community leaders and police in an effort to recognize and provide solutions to the many problems besetting our communities, and to provide greater cooperation between communities and their police.

Taking part in the ceremonies were, Charles E. Feeley, Newton Police Department — Institute Co-ordinator; Jeremiah Brickman, Editor, New England Police and Fire Examiner; Chief Purcell, Newton Police Dept., and President, IACP — Co-Chairman of Institute; Frank J. Marr, Associate Editor, New England Police and Fire Examiner; Mother Gabrielle Husson; James E. McCarthy, Newton Police Department; Capt. William F. Quinn, Newton Police Dept. — Staff; Francis E. McElroy, Executive Director, MCCJ.

Hearing

planning director, Alderman Harry L. Walen, Ulderico M. Schiavone, city engineer and Charles H. Morang, assistant city solicitor for code enforcement.

Morang spelled out the program and its procedures and answered most of the audience's questions.

If the program is adopted, he said, owners or tenants will be notified by letter when inspection is to take place.

Then a Code Enforcement inspector will inspect and will notify the owner or tenant by letter of violations. A reinspection will follow.

A compliance order will next be given if the corrections are not made voluntarily.

"If all these fail," he emphasized, "then prosecution will take place."

Morang said however, that the aim of the program is to secure voluntary compliance, if at all possible, and not to impose penalties or collect fines.

John M. Mullin, president of the Improvement Assoc., read a statement of the Association's Code Enforcement Study Committee that specially asked why Newton Upper Falls needed a "Concentrated Code Enforcement," while the rest of Newton had only a "Comprehensive Code Enforcement" program.

Morang said the Falls area was "ripe" for such a program, with 80 percent of the area being residential. He said the condition of some of the streets in the area could be improved with 67 percent federal money.

The citywide Comprehensive program is financed by the city with no help in borrowing money for homes needing rehabilitation, and full betterment fees, if any, being paid by the home owner. Under the Concentrated program, home owners are not charged any betterment fees.

Speeking for the Association, Mullen said that some members, those with fairly new homes without code violations, who could gain from betterment-free road repairs, would surely be in favor of the program, while those with older homes having violations would be against it.

Mullen said, "the Association is interested in the program if we can get it without violations to our freedoms, if the codes don't infringe upon our liberties as home owners."

With that, he raised the question of whether "a man's home is his castle." The question was not resolved.

Author - Minister Heads Unitarian Lecture Series

The first of four visiting lecturers presented by the Adults' Program Committee of the First Unitarian Society in Newton will be Rev. Jack Mendelsohn, D.D., minister of Arlington Street Church, Boston.

Dr. Mendelsohn will speak on "Why I am a Unitarian" at the Wednesday evening session, October 5, at 8 o'clock.

Author of numerous magazine articles, denominational pamphlets and five books, the most recent of which is "The Martyrs, 1966," he is both a church and community leader and has served the historic Boston church since 1959.

Dr. Leslie T. Pennington, minister of the Newton church, said that the Fall series of four evening lectures is designed to shed further light on the present day aspects of Unitarianism.

Program

He said the law establishes and defines four different "beautification" categories. To be eligible for consideration under the federal program, Basbas said, a community should anticipate improvement in at least three out of four activities. "Our improvements includes activities in all four."

A rather complex formula determines the size of the federal grant. The applying community is required to determine a base cost — the average for "beautification and improvement" over a two year period. Based on 1964 and 1965, that amount to about $75,000 in Newton, Basbas said.

The federal government will pay one-half of the increase of the new program, over the original "base cost." Thus, Mayor Basbas said, if Newton's beautification program is $232,933, the government will pay one-half of the $157,933 or $78,966.

The Mayor recommended that $112,100 be spent in Category One: Upgrading and rehabilitation of parks, including construction, renovation or provision of basic water and sanitary facilities, interior paths, walks, roadways, landscaping, shelters, and other similar items normally associated with park and open-space areas.

He recommended $15,000 be spent in Category two: Design and construction, substantial upgrading or other improvement of public places such as malls, squares, plazas, and waterfront areas, including construction or installation of fountains, decorative pavement and lighting, planters, street furniture, kiosks, and similar improvements. Activities in behalf of the arts, such as construction of facilities for outdoor exhibits, may also be included.

Basbas recommended spending $90,833 in Category three: Community-wide activities to upgrade and improve the appearance of streets, greenways, parkways, waterfronts, stream valleys, rights-of-way, and other non-recreational public places.

Some $15,000 was recommended in Category four: Activities to beautify and improve historic and other public building sites, including installation of special lighting or paving, landscaping special fencing and related work.

Specific Category one projects are: play apparatus development, $10,000 landscaping, $2000; Burr school, $20,000; tennis practice courts, $3000; Hawthorne, $10,000; Burr turf renovation, $6000; hand ball courts, $5000; Edmands park, $15,000; ball diamond renovation, $10,000; tennis courts, $15,000 and Cabot playground walks, $1500.

Also in Category one, continuing minor programs: sandboxes, $500; new signs, $50; new barrels, $50; Crystal Lake, $1500; grass improvement, $500; school playground construction, $2000, and basketball courts, $10,000.

Category two specific projects include: parking lot landscaping in Auburndale and Upper Falls, $6000, and a five-year program to landscape the 14 municipal lots plus new Newtonville lot, $9000.

Category three projects are: clean Bullough's Pond, $50,000; standardize signs, $10,000; construction of new green borders, $9813, and tree planting, $21,650.

The Category four projects are expenditure of $2000 for the Smith Home; a five-year program to improve the public libraries (two libraries a year) $6000; schools, $4000, and fire stations, $2000.

The largest single item is $50,000 to clean Bullough's Pond.

Court Clears McCallion On Charge Of Arson

"The value of International Student Weekend are threefold,' reports Mrs. Scheff. "First, it enables students from abroad to learn about America at the grass-roots level. Second, the host families gain first-hand information on the countries and cultures of their guests. Third, one learns a tremendous amount about America simply by interpreting it to a visitor, by seeing it through another's eyes."

Activities, varying with individual families and guests, will include football games, country drives, dinner parties, political meetings and religious services. On Saturday, October 8, a square dance at Meadowbrook Junior High School, will climax the weekend for hosts and guests.

Mrs. Scheff reports that additional students can be placed for a full or half weekend. Interested families can call Mrs. Scheff, 332-5406, or the Peace Center, 332-9110.

The Newton Community Peace Center worked closely with the International Students Association of Greater Boston in planning the weekend in Newton. ISA, at 33 Garden st., Cambridge, serves as a cultural and social center for students, foreign and American, in the greater Boston area.

In addition to arranging home visits, ISA acquaints students from abroad with American business, industry, agriculture and government through special programs.

information about their achievements and interests. All Merit Scholarship Scholars for 1967 will then be selected from the finalist group.

High school grades creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship of the the students are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholars.

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award covering the undergraduate years of college. Each stipend is individually determind after the winner's need is assessed. For the student already financially able to attend the college of his choice, the stipend may be as little as $400 for four years.

Those with high need may receive the normal maximum of $6000, or $1500 per year. Winners choose their own colleges and courses of study.

More than 13,000 students won Merit Scholarships in the first 11 years of the Merit Program, which was founded in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Over $48 million in financial assistance to Merit Scholars and their colleges has been expended or committed through the program to date.

Letters To Editor

A Loser - But Happy

On Tuesday, Sept. 13, 1966 I lost an election but that day was the greatest day of my life. A candidate never went down in defeat so beautifully as I did that day.

Please give me the opportunity of thanking the 1557 people who believed in me enough to try and give me a chance. These people had no printed material to read about me, they got no letters, no cards, no chance to meet me. No political machine was behind me. No one gave me any financial help because I refused to let people send me contributions. Word of mouth, neighbor telling neighbor, that's how we reached the people. The little people, not important politicians but little people, great people.

Never was there a group of more wonderful workers. Women with their children marched at the polls for me. Law students and college girls, lawyers and lawyers' wives, nurses and physical therapists, Harvard professors and school teachers, firemen's wives and policemen's wives and a mayor's wife. Women made telephone calls and they talked to people, telling them who I was and why I wanted to get to the House of Representatives.

My wonderful parents and in-laws, my twin sister and her husband who risked his own political career to help me. My Father is a Grandfather, and he stayed from 7:00 A.M. to night. He walked in front of the Spaulding School and every step meant pain because of his recent back operation. My children who helped me campaign through the hot summer. My niece and nephew who also learned how to be a good loser. My children whose classmates bet them that their Mother would lose. They all learnt it's not who wins or loses but how you play the game. We all played fair and we lost.

I was called a 'crackpot' and many unkind names. My beautiful signs were ripped up, and the sticks attached to these signs were broken. Stickers were ripped off cars and doors. They laughed at me, and they laughed at my poll workers with their homemade signs and babies in their arms. I pray that these fine workers will have good health and happiness all the days of their lives, and may they never forget how grateful I am.

All the coffee parties I was not invited to, all the meetings I was not included let those who shunned me know that every heart ache and every laugh only made me stronger. Now my voice is gone, my eyes are bloodshot from lack of sleep, but there is such a smile on my face, such happiness in my heart that it's very hard to explain. God finally answered my question why my son was not like his twin brother and sisters. I will never stop fighting for this son and the 155,000 like him in Massachusetts. Yes, Representatives, be careful when you cut our budget, I will be there always with you, not physically but spiritually. Remember that Mother in Newton is starting to campaign again — and getting stronger every day. More and more people are calling me to join the bandwagon. Yes, gentlemen, you are the victors but I was also victorious because Tuesday was the greatest day of my life and for this reason I say THANK YOU.

Single Session Advocate

Editor of The Graphic:

I am a busy mother who does not usually take the time to respond to every printed letter that does not agree with my own opinion. However, I feel compelled to discuss the last letter to the editor that was printed in your paper last week.

Although I am not actively involved in the workings of the single session committee, I am well acquainted with what this group is trying to do. These sincere parents want no contest with the school administration. They simply want a workable solution to a difficult problem. So far, it seems that their proposal is the only one worthy of discussion.I haven't yet heard any other suggestion except the one that deducts 15 minutes from my child's mornings and lunch times.

I signed a single session petition, knowing full well what I was doing. I signed it, not because I want to use my children as "pawns" for my own purposes, but because I want the best for them. They have a long walk to school. Why should they have to take this walk four times? Why should they have to struggle with intricate winter clothing six times in one day? Why should they get home exhausted at four o'clock when they have waisted over an hour at lunch? Why should they have two barren afternoons every week? And why should their day be interrupted by all this travel when a recess would give them the needed change without the disruption?

The change to a single session is not impossible. It does take careful planning. For example, the children need not spend the afternoon amid the "aroma of ham, tuna, and chicken soup." I'm sure a system could be worked out whereby it is a privilege for one of the older children to wheel a barrel downt he corridors at the end of the lunch period to collect the refuse that has been placed outside the classrooms. There are also many other places to eat lunch besides the classrooms. Most children will eat just as well without parental supervision and thousands can study with a house full of the aromas of supper being prepared. If the children must eat in the classroom, there is a very simple solution to the "aroma" problem — Open the windows.

From all that I have learned, the single session committee is composed, not only of parents, but also of educators, psychologists, and doctors. If this schedule problem could be resolved, I'm sure these capable people would be more than willing to turn their efforts towards another cause that would benefit the entire community. And I will be more than willing to join with them.

Lee Loumos Says:

The best source of information for a businessman to improve his business is to listen attentively to his customers. Not all comments are just critical — in fact many are very constructive.

Recently someone who had been accustomed to giving us his orders by telephone and hadn't been into my store for years had occasion to come in and was surprised to see that we also sold washers and dryers and refrigerators among many other items and would have purchased his needs elsewhere. Perhaps our reputation as a brown goods dealer is so strong that we are not thought of as a white goods dealer. So, at his suggestion, I herewith remind you that our hometown service and downtown prices are equally available on white goods.

Newton Art Association Season Opens

Newton Art Association, Inc., announces the opening of its 1966-67 season with a meeting on Thursday evening, Oct. 6, at 7:30 o'clock in the Beethoven School, Waban.

There will be constructive criticism from Harold Lindergren, noted Wellesley art critic and artist.

The newly elected president, John B. G. Palen of Auburndale and Stephen York of Waban, program chairman, have planned a year of interesting activities.

Members and prospective members are invited to attend the meeting.

Judith Beane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Beane, Dudley rd., Newton Centre, and Aline Feinstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Macy Feinstein, Brackett rd., Newton, are enrolled as freshmen at Colby Junior College, New London, N. H., where both will major in Liberal Arts.

Wom. Voters' Committee Is Ready To Discuss Referenda

The Referenda committee of the Newton League of Women Voters met recently at the home of Mrs. Jay Orlin to discuss the best ways of apprising the public of the issues in Questions 1, 2 & 4 which will appear on the ballot in the coming election.

Said Mrs. Jay Orlin, committee chairman, "We are ready to swing into action. The members of our committee will be happy to speak to any group wishing to become better informed on these questions. We hope to share our months of study with the citizenry of Newton interested in why their "Yes" vote on Questions 1, 2 & 4 would help to bring about better government in Massachusetts."

Any group or organization which would like to have an informed speaker or panel address one of their meetings during the month of October may arrange it by calling Mrs. Edward Stoler, vice chairman, at 969-6938.

The other members of the Referenda committee are: Mrs. Ira Dyer, Mrs. Luis Fernandez, Mrs. Eugene Bronstein, Mrs. Theodore Singer, and Mrs. Ernest Picard.

Bank To Declare Stock Dividend

The board of directors of the City Bank & Trust Co. has recommended a 5% stock dividend to stockholders of record as of Oct. 5, 1966 and the issuance of fractional rights to holders of less than 20 shares, according to an announcement by Rubin Epstein, president.

Each fractional right will be redeemable at $2.25. The shares and rights will be issued after approval of the stockholders at a meeting to be held in Nov.

The bank is planning the erection of its own six-story building on Court street.

Circle Players Open Membeship Plan New Season

The Circle players this wek announce their affiliation with the Newton Community Center. This group has been in existence for 12 years and has to its credit many illustrious performances ranging from Chekhov's farces to Hellman's dramas and Barrie's comedy.

Present plans are to begin this season with a satirical revue. Following the review will be selections of one act plays, and, they will wind up their season with a three act performance.

The group selects its own material by reading committee and will rehearse twice a week. An exciting season is anticipated and everyone is invited to join with them.

Joel Dorfman of Wollaston is the director. He is a graduate of B. U. School of Fine and Applied Arts; was technical director at the University of Utah; director of Front Street Theatre, Memphis, Tennessee, technical director for one year and dramatic director for one year at the Arena Fair, Worcester, Ohio.

For further information, contact Mrs. B. Berman, 244-2943, or call the Community Center, 244-2260.

Thespians Give Casting Call

Church Women Plan Village Fair

The steering committee and table chairmen of the biennial fair at the First Unitarian Church in Newton were invited last week for morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, 79 Chestnut st., West Newton.

This year The Village Green Fair will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 1 from 3 to 10 p.m. and Wednesday, Nov. 2 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Among the attractive shops which will surround the green from which the fair takes its name, will be a Boutique, featuring smart outfits from a well-known manufacturer.

The restaurant will serve dinner on Tuesday at 5:45 and 7:15 and there will be a luncheon on Wednesday from 11:45 to 1:30.

Dinner reservations should be made early as space is limited.

The steering committee consists of Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, Newton Highlands, chairman, Mrs. Morris H. Adler, Newton, Mrs. L. Fabian Bachrach, Mrs. Warren G. Hill and Mrs. Charles A. Levy.

There will be a room full of attic treasures; Mrs. Matthew B. Peppard, Wellesley, and Mrs. Belton M. Westhaver, Newtonville, co-chairmen. A Book Shop with Mrs. Joseph G. Pittman as chairman, a shop for children's clothes and toys, Mrs. Michael Michaels, Auburndale, and Mrs. Dutton Van Alstine, also from Auburndale, co-chairmen, a Gift Shop, Miss Margaret Jewett and Miss Dorothy Simpson, both of West Newton in charge, a shop for household gadgets and aprons, Mrs. Robert Butterworth, Newton, and the Boutique will front on The Village Green which will contain a Garden Shop..

At one will be the stage where there will be a Silent Auction where anyone may bid secretly on a number of choice articles. Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr., West Newton, will have charge of this.

Around the Corner on the next "street," will be a food shop where homemade food will be sold and morning coffee and afternoon tea will be served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Norman Buck of Newtonville and Mrs. Peter Baldwin, Newton Lower Falls.

Mrs. Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., and Mrs. Morris H. Adler are planning the decorations.

Charles River Medical Wives Meet October 5

Initiating the 1966-67 season of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Charles River District Medical Society will be a Membership Tea to be held on Wednesday, October 5, at 1:00 P.M. to be held at the lovely Lyman Estate "The Vale," 85 Lyman Street, Waltham.

This estate, now being restored by the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, was built in the grand manner of 1793. It is the last house in existence built by the renowned architect, Samuel McIntyre.

The Auxiliary's guest for the afternoon will be Mrs. Ronald T. Lyman, Jr. Hostesses for the tea will be Mrs. John Meeker of Wellesley, membership chairman and Mrs. Ralph Mankowich of Weston, program chairman.

All members are urged to attend and to invite, as their guests, any prospective new members. For reservations, please call Mrs. Meeker at 235-2395 or Mrs. Mankowich at 894-5005.

St. Demetrio's Women's Guild Has Garden Tea

The home and garden in Waban of Rev. and Mrs. George Gallos was the setting Saturday of the first gathering of the women of the St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church, Newton-Wellesley. This tea was the initial meeting for the season of the community's Ladies Auxiliary and plans were made for its full upcoming program — with especial emphasis to the Holiday Bazaar set for November 19 at the church hall in Newton Lower Falls.

Mrs. Nicholas Rabiecki is chairman of the bazaar with Mrs. John Lucas and Mrs. Arthur Georgaklis as her co-chairmen.

Members and newcomers enjoyed coffee and dainty Greek pastries with Mrs. Charles Gavrilles, Mrs. George Tremos, Mrs. Sophie Athanasiou and Mrs. Peter Harris, former president, sharing pouring honors.

Recipients of the gifts awarded were Mrs. Lewis Bennett, Mrs. John George, Mrs. George Meimaris, Mrs. Lee Loumos, Bess Ladoulis, Mrs. Nicholas Papadonis, Mrs. Basil Kaloyanides, Mrs. Peter Agris, Mrs. John Condakes, Mrs. Spiros Malakos, Mrs. Arthur Pandos and Mrs. George Tremos.

President of the organization is Mrs. William Pavloglou and chairman of the tea was Mrs. John Athans.

Kiwanis Club Marks Dr. F.H. Paul's Passing

The Newton Kiwanis Club has unanimously passed a resolution expressing sorrow upon the recent death of Dr. Frederick H. Paul, who served for 45 years as the school physician for Newton High School and Day Junior High.

Dr. Paul, who was a member of the Newton Kiwanis Club since 1926 and a past president, was recently awarded a 40 years perfect attendance pin.

Club President Robert L. Tennant stated: "Dr Paul was dedicated to his profession and subordinated his own time and health to the performance of his sworn duty. Much of his time for many years was unselfishly devoted to youth in his capacity of physician administering to the school athletic teams, as well as other community and civic assignments which he conscientiously fulfilled. His esteemed memory will long abide with his fellow club members and other friends."

In addition to his membership in the Newton Kiwanis Club, Dr. Paul was also a member of the Isaac Parker Lodge of Masons, the Royal Arch Chapter, the Commandary and Aleppo Temple Shrine.

SALLY SMITH

June Bridal For Sally Smith, Mr. Caroline

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan H. Cutler of Wenham make known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sally Jean Smith, to Peter Harold Caroline. He is the son of Mrs. Leo Caroline of Newton Centre and the late Mr. Caroline.

Daughter of the late Commander John Eldredge Smith Jr., CEC, USN, expects to be graduated from Wheaton College in June.

Mr. Caroline was graduated from Columbia College, where he was a member of the Delta Phi fraternity. Having served with the Army Corps of Engineers, he is an alumnus of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

A June wedding is planned.

MRS. DONALD ROSENTHAL

Miss Roberta Lavien Bride Of Donald James Rosenthal

In a setting of topiary trees covered with white and pink rubrum lilies at the Ritz-Carleton Hotel in Boston, recently, Miss Roberta Carol Lavien became the bride of Donald James Rosenthal.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lavien of Newton. Mr. and Mrs. David Rosenthal of Boston are the groom's parents.

Rabbi Beryl D. Cohen of Temple Sinai officiated at the pretty early fall wedding.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered organza with a matching embroidered mantilla. She carried a cascade of pale pink orchids and ivy.

Miss Patricia Ann Lavien of Newton was her sister's maid of honor, while Mrs. Robert A. Greenblatt of Philadelphia, the bride's cousin, was matron of honor. Both attendants were dressed alike in mint green and white brocaded gowns. They carried cascade arrangements of white and ivory lilies.

Robert Rosenthal of Boston served as best man for his brother, whose ushers were Marc Gordon of Boston, Franklin Levy and Steven White, both of Newton.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lavien wore a celery green velvet flocked satin gown, and the mother of the groom, Mrs. Rosenthal, chose a multi-colored gold brocaded lamee full-length dress.

Following a trip to San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Rosenthal will make their home in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Mrs. Rosenthal, a graduate of Tenacre Country Day School, attended Dana Hall School, and was graduated from Manter Hall School. She has completed two years at the Boston University College of Liberal Arts.

The groom was graduated from Newton South High School and Transylvania College in Lexington, Kentucky. He is now serving with the Air Force, stationed in Oregon.

Martha Mary Chapel Scene Of Nixon - Foster Wedding

The Martha-Mary Chapel in South Sudbury was the scene of the recent marriage of Miss Linda Kroeger Foster to David Saundres Nixon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hean Foster of Riiera Beach, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. John Parcher Nixon of 36 Emerald drive, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

(Bradford Bachrach)
MRS. DAVID S. NIXON

In a setting of white roses and chrysanthemums, the Rev. Arnold W. Tozer of the Union Congregational Church, Richmond Hill, New York, performed the 4 o'clock nuptials service. A reception was held at the Wayside Inn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made of ivory peau de soie. Wide beaded Alencon lace bands accented the high neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The paneled train was court-length.

A matching peau bow held in place her bouffant illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Ellen Sweeney of West Palm Beach, Fla. was maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Joan Brignano of West Hartford, Ct., Miss Pamela Porter of Essex, Ct., Miss Beverly Duberg of North Palm Beach, Fla., and Miss Barbara Cremonese of Portland, Me.

John Parcher Nixon of West Newton served as best man. The ushers included John Nixon Jr., of Sudbury, Robert Foster of East Orange, N.J., Thomas Burgess and Joseph Leary, both of West Newton.

After a trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the couple plan to live in Boston.

The bride is a graduate of Lasell Junior College, where she was president of her senior class.

Mr. Nixon, a graduate of Babson Institute, is an insurance underwriter for Kemper Insurance Co.

Arson Suspected

Arson is suspected, and an investigation is being made of a fire early Monday morning that damaged a loft over a garage and storage office in the building at 35 Paul St., Newton Centre.

Promotion Eligibility

Linda A. Ciarlone, 207 Cherry st., West Newton, passed an examination for promotion to senior clerk-typist in the State Division of Employment Security, and her name appears on a State House list of women eligible for advancement.

Faculty Changes Given School Board Approval

Approval was voted at Monday night's School Committee meeting to four faculty appointments, a retirement, two resignations and a leave of absence without compensation.

The faculty appointments were:

Robert B. Clipner of Clayton, Mo., as guidance counselor in Weeks Junior High School. He has done graduate work at the University of Chicago, Vanderbilt University and Harvard.

Shirley R. Herman of Marblehead, formerly of Roxbury, assigned to Davis School Grade 6. She has traveled extensively and lived in Israel for two years, teaching without pay in service similar to the present Peace Corps.

Elaine Joncas of Cambridge, formerly of Syracuse, N.Y., assigned to remedial reading in the Division of Pupil Personnel and Special Education.

Elaine Kornblith of Cambridge and Elmhurst, N.Y., as a guidance counselor at Weeks Junior High School. As a volunteer, she worked on case aid at Boston State Hospital, and for six months as a teacher to the retarded.

The retirement of Elizabeth R. Sanderson, Hyde School secretary, becomes effective Oct. 31. She will receive a letter expressing the regret of the School Committee.

Resignations accepted were those of Mrs. Vivian Burtman ir. the Division of Pupil Personnel Services, and Joanne E. Graham of Davis School.

A leave of absence without compensation was granted to Margaret M. Otto of the Peabody School, where she is supervisor of special education, for the school year 1966-67.

Cohen Named '67 Chairman Dimes March

Harry M. Cohen of 5 Maryellen Rd., Newton, has been appointed chairman for the 1967 March of Dimes campaign in this city.

Announcement of his appointment was made by John V. Harvey, Middlesex County Register of Probate and 1967 campaign chairman for the Massachusetts Bay Chapter of the National Foundation—March of Dimes.

"We are proud to have Mr. Cohen on our team this year," said Mr. Harvey, "for in heading-up the team of the people of Newton Mr. Cohen will be joining tens of thousands of volunteers across the Massachusetts Bay Chapter area with one aim in mind "Beat Birth Defects."

"We are coming closer and closer to this goal every year through the generosity of the people of Newton and of the people of the other sixty towns in the Massachusetts Bay Chapter area. Two birth defects centers are being maintained in Boston whereby doctors from all over New England are being taught how to deal with this tragedy.

"Research grants are being given to our finest scientists thanks to the help of the people of Newton and patients are being cares for." he said.

"We know now that 80% of all birth defects can be treated. We must rely on Mr. Cohen and the people of Newton to help us treat these poor victims. We know we can count on their generosity." Mr. Harvey said.

Charles River Art Center To Mark Birthday

A one-man show by Davis Carrol, of Natick, will mark the observance of its third anniversary and opening of the third year of the Charles River Art Center, 1361 South street, Needham, on Sunday, Oct. 2nd, from 3 to 6 p.m.

Mr. Carroll's water colors are well known throughout New England. A native of Boston, he graduated from the Massachusetts College of Art. He has ben associated with the Center as a teacher since 1964 and became the Art Director in 1965. He is a member of the Copley Society of Boston, the Cambridge Art Association and was recently chosen as a candidate for membership in the Boston Water Color Society.

Exhibited widely, he has won many top prizes. Among the most recent was the Wm. H. Drury Award for first prize in aqua-media which he won at the Newport Art Festival for the second year in succession. At the Cambridge Art Association's Spring Festival he won first prize for painting, and the New Bedford Art Festival's top prize for mixed media painting. He also won first prize for water color at the first annual Natick Mall Show, and has just won the 2nd prize for water color at the Eastern States Exposition Art Festival.

The public is most cordially invited to visit the show which will continue daily from 3 to 5 p.m. through October 15th. On display, upstairs, there will be a limited show of work by the other teachers at the Art Center.

The center offers instruction for everyone, young and adult, beginning and advanced in small classes in a related and congenial atmosphere. This fall's session starts October 10th and will run fifteen weeks.

Newtonville Women to Begin Their 83rd Year of Activity

The Newtonville Woman's Club begins its 83d year of civic and philanthropic work on Tuesday, Oct. 4. The meeting will, as usual, be at St. John's Parish House on Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, the club president, will have as her special guest Mrs. Clarence F. Clark, 1st vice president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Harry W. Abells and Mrs. Henry W. Webster, as co-hostesses, have arranged an unusual coffee hour at 1:30 p.m., a time for renewing old friendships and welcoming new members.

The 2 p.m. meeting will open with the invocation by the Rev. Ronald P. Prinn, the new rector of St. John's Church.

Mrs. Charles W. Tenney, program chairman, has planned a delightful afternoon of music by Phyllis Howes, soprano, and Bob Phillips, at the electric organ. These performers have enjoyed an enviable reputation for the diversity of their programs and the quality of their performances, with selections ranging from musical comedy to the semi-classics. This makes for an enjoyable way of welcomeing special guests and prospective members.

Silver has always been a subject of interest to most women, so the club's American Home Committee's proa popular one. Through the courtesy of the Thomas Long Company, jewelers, Richard gram on Oct. 18 should prove Tucker will speak on The Romance of Silver, and both members and guests are invited.

Miss Anna Kingham, chairman of the day, will have as her special guest Mrs. G. Edward Wilkins, chairman of the American Home Day Committee of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs. Assisting Miss Kingman will be Mrs. Walter F. Burt, Mrs. John R. Clark, Mrs. Harry Kinsel, Mrs. Edmund Miller, Mrs. Harold S. Rice and Mrs. Eaton Webber.

The meeting will begin with the usual coffee hour at 1:30 p.m. followed by the program at 2 o'clock. St. John's Parish House on Lowell avenue is the place.

Army Promotes P.R. Cokely

Peter R. Cokely, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cokely, 18 Tudor terrace, Auburndale, was promoted to Army specialist fifth class in Atlanta, Ga., where he is assigned as a clerk-typist in Headquarters, XII U. S. Army Corps.

For pay purposes, his new grade is equivalent to sergeant.

Spec. Cokely entered the Army in January 1965.

He is a 1964 graduate of Newton High School.

Political Highlights

Volpe, who can come up with an idea or two of his own, added the provision that the rival candidates for state-wide offices spend no money for newspaper advertising or for radio or television time.

He presumably was talking with his tongue in cheek, knowing the reaction it would meet in the Democratic camp.

Most Democratic leaders — Peabody apparently wasn't one of them — realized at once that Volpe was deftly trying to drop a political time bomb in their laws.

They recognized that Volpe as Governor automatically gets a vast amount of free publicity in the newspaper and on television and radio.

If Volpe could have hoodwinked former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack into accepting his condition, the fight for the Governorship would have been just about over.

McCormack is considered to be trailing Volpe in the gubernatorial race and would have virtually no chance of winning without the exposure he would get through newspaper, radio and television advertising during the closing weeks of the campaign.

While Democratic chieftains were huddling at State Commitee headquarters to determine how best to denounce and expose the rider Volpe had attached to the spending agreement, Peabody announced loudly and cheerfully in Washington that he was accepting Volpe's plan and that he hoped Attorney General Brooke would do the same.

This threw the Democratic leaders back home in Boston into a welter of confusion and dismay, to say nothing of causing a chorus of moans and groans.

"That's an illustration of how Peabody manages to lose elections," exclaimed one irate Democratic chieftain.

Nobody had though it necessary to phone Peabody in Washington and explain that Volpe was trying to boobytrap McCormack, especially since Peabody originally had resisted the idea of being limited to an expenditure of $350,000 for his senatorial campaign and had yielded only after a heart-to-heart talk with Ted Kennedy even though it was highly improbable that Peabody on his own would be able to raise anywhere near $350,000 to finance his drive for a Senate seat.

Now the Democratic high command was confronted with the problem of how to ridicule a provision by Volpe which Peabody, the Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator, had accepted and had said was fine with him.

Attorney General Brooke, Peabody's opponent, rescued them from their dilemma.

Brooke said he would accept the ceiling on campaign expenditures, which would limit him to spending $350,000, but that he would not consent to any ban on newspaper, radio and television advertising.

He went on to explain that he had to devote much of his time to running the Attorney General's office, that Peabody had nothing to do but run around and campaign, and that he was forced to depend to an extent on mass media advertising.

The Democratic leaders heaved a loud sigh of relief and gratitude that Brooke had got them off the hook on which Peabody had placed them.

Then the entire proposition got bogged down in a muddy morass when McCormack argued that Volpe was missing the point and that all contributions should be made to the Democratic and Republican state Committees and not to the individual candidates, with the State Committees doling out the funds to the various office-seekers.

Volpe replied that this was somewhat silly since many people, who are not enrolled in either the Democratic or Republican party, might want to contribute to an individual candidate but not to a party organization.

That, of course, is right, and if Volpe, for example, received more than $500,000 he presumably would turn some of his money over to the Republican State Committee which usually is not only broke but also in debt.

So many side arguments have developed over Ted Kennedy's original proposal that many persons by now are uncertain and confused as to Ted's original objective.

Kennedy Brothers Vital To McCormack Campaign

President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey and Senator Robert F. Kennedy all are planning to come into Massachusetts to join Senator Ted Kennedy in campaigning for the Democratic State ticket.

This has provoked both queries and speculation as to how many votes that imposing array of political talent will be able to swing to Messrs. McCormack, Peabody, Bellotti and company.

The answer is that the visits of President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey will mean little in terms of votes in the ballot boxes.

Johnson and Humphrey are not likely to cause many people to change their minds. about how they'll vote, and they're just as likely to influence people to vote against the Democratic candidates as for them.

What their visits will do is generate public interest and excitement, produce newspaper headlines and attract attention to the Democratic campaign in the Bay State. That helps the Democratic cause and the Democratic candidates.

Some astute students of politics believe the Democratic leaders are making a mistake in bringing Johnson and Humphrey here, pointing out that it creates the impression that the Democratic candidates can't win without outside help and that LBJ's popularity today is far lower than it was two years ago.

If the Democrats are committing a blunder in persuading Johnson and Humphrey to stump in the State, the Republicans are making an offsetting one by bringing in Richard M. Nixon so the mistakes may wash each other out.

It's an entirely different story with the Kennedy brothers — Ted and Bobby — who will provide a big lift for the entire Democratic ticket and especially for former Attorney General McCormack.

If Ted and Bobby Kennedy were not going to stump vigorously in the Bay State, McCormack's hopes of sitting in the Governor's chair next year would be extremely dim.

But this is a very special case.

The two Kennedy brothers will be trying to influence people who might be voting against McCormack because of them.

Senator Robert Kennedy will be endeavoring to undo some of the harm he did to McCormack in the recent primary campaign when he publicly embraced the candidacy of former Presidential Aide Kenneth P. O'Donnell, swung thousands of votes to O'Donnell and made what seemed to be an easy contest for McCormack into a hard fight.

McCormack must get the big bulk of O'Donnell's primary vote if he is to have a real chance of winning, and he must depend on help from Bobby Kennedy and O'Donnell to get it.

Ted Kennedy will be striving to eliminate any feeling against McCormack which still exists as a result of the convention and primary battles he and McCormack waged in 1962 and especially the widely publicized television debate in which they engaged.

This probably was partly responsible for the primary vote Kenny O'Donnell rolled up.

So it will be vital for McCormack to have the Kennedy brothers on the hustings for him and beating the drums in his behalf to wipe out any impression that a Kennedy-McCormack feud still lives on from 1962.

President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey are far less important to McCormack's campaign than are Ted and Bobby Kennedy.

Ted Kennedy is going all out to produce an air of Democratic unity in Massachusetts.

Mayor John F. Collins held a press conference in his City Hall office at Ted's request, reiterated his support of the entire Democratic ticket and posed for newspaper and television cameramen with all the members of the slate, including Endicott Peabody who defeated him in the primary.

Kenneth O'Donnell also appeared at the press conference, sat with Ted Kennedy and Collins and made a pronouncement similar to that of the Boston Mayor.

Ted's efforts in behalf of the Democratic State ticket probably will be the big story of the campaign during the coming weeks.

Collins Uncertain As To Future Plans

Whether Mayor Collins will remain in politics and seek another term as Boston's chief municipal executive or retire from office at the close of his present term is a question which will not be answered for some time to come.

Collins' present disposition is to retire from public office and return to the practice of law.

But there will be tremendous pressure on him to persuade him to change his mind.

A great many people are suddenly waking up to the kind of job Collins has done as Mayor of Boston and the fact that while Collins' decisions weren't always popular or expedient they are producing a New Boston which is much better than the old one.

There is also a growing realization that it will be a sad day for the city if a Mayor considers each decision against the harsh background of political expediency rather than risk building up opposition and hostility to himself.

RENOIR OILS

No other artist has captured more enchantingly the mood of Paris at the turn of the century and each of these original canvases illustrates techniques of color, brush-work, and form that earned Renoir the title of "the last of the Old Masters."

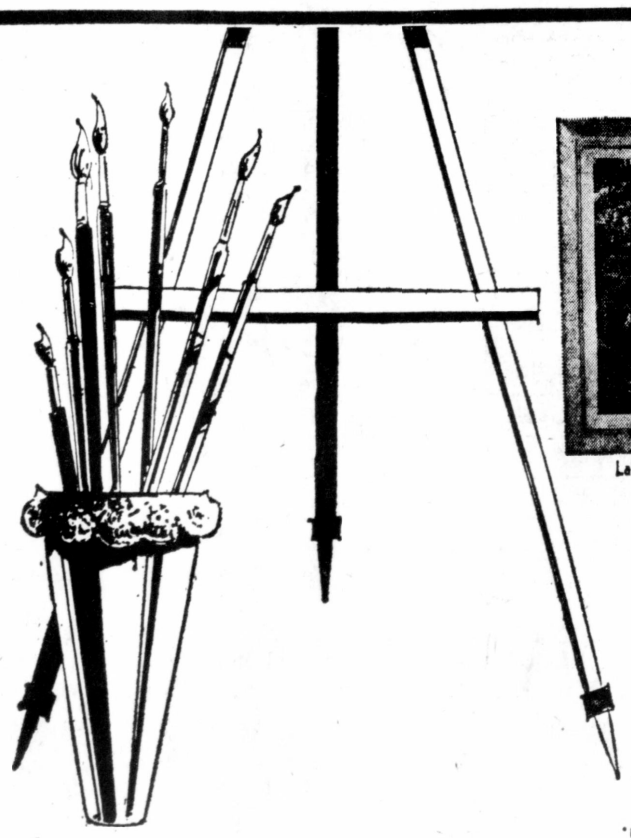

Both paintings will be displayed at the Dedham store Tuesday through Friday from 3 P.M. to 9 P.M. and Saturday from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M.

Director Of Jackson Home Ends Service

It is with real regret that the trustees of the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington St., Newton, announce that Mrs. H. L. Sears, director and curator, will retire as of October 1st.

Under her skillful and friendly guidance the Homestead has become as important Newton historical landmark and "working" Museum.

Visitors average 6,000 yearly, nearly half of them children who come to learn about early New England customs and skills or to enjoy the house itself.

During her thirteen years as director she has kept the house, the office, the programs and the many volunteer committees running smoothly and has worked closely with the various departments at City Hall, as well as with four different mayors.

Visitors who enjoyed the friendly hospitality and charm of the Homestead over the years, particularly on Open House Sundays, can thank Mrs. Sears and her famous cat, Mr. Tuxedo, for their large part in everything.

Her many friends wish her happiness in the more leisurely years ahead. As a small token of their feelings, the trustees, directors and others presented a gift to her on September 24th, when the directors of The Friends of the Jackson Homestead met for a picnic luncheon at the summer home of Mrs. Edward J. Sawyer in South Duxbury.

St. Paul's Holds International Fair Oct. 22

St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, will hold its International Fair on Saturday, Oct. 22, in the Parish Hall from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Parishioners have been working through the summer on various projects and a progress report meeting was held last week at the church.

With Mrs. Dino DiCarlo as chairman, and Mrs. A. B. Evans Sr. and Mrs. Francis Laurie as co-chairman, the committee announced the appointment of Mrs. Nicholas Zessoules as head of decorations.

The fair will offer food, white elephant, gifts, Christmas table, afternoon tea, International post office, a beef dinner in the evening followed by "Dorothy and Her Hats" a well known South Shore comedy monologist.

Proceeds of the fair will go to the church general fund.

Women Voters Seek Support Of Citizens In Fund Drive

"Searching for the best in government" is what the Newton League of Women Voters is constantly doing. Now in the midst of its annual Finance Drive, which will continue through October 3, the League is counting on the cooperation of the citizens of the community to enable the continuance of the services which are offered to them.

Said Mrs. Proctor Houghton, president, "For many years the League has given this community valuable service. As a non-partisan organization working to promote political responsibility, it has aimed to get out the vote and to make each vote a more informed and discerning one."

Approximately one-third of the total budget is used to serve directly the community of Newton. The League is now looking forward to a season of activity in which all citizens will be able to participate:

A Voters Service Guide on all the candidates; support of Referenda questions 1, 2 and 4, discussion groups concerning issues in the coming elections; Candidates Meeting: Wednesday, Nov. 2 at 8 p.m. at Newton South High School.

Among the other services offered are Registration and Voting information for new residents and young adults reaching voting age; Publications: "Newton, a Guide to its Government," "The Great and General Court: a study of the Massachusetts Legislature; League publications distributed to libraries and schools in Newton; Open meetings; Speakers Bureau; Areas of Study and Action; Charter of the City of Newton; Fiscal Policy in Newton; Equality of Opportunity; Public Health Library; Recreation; Regional Planning; Zoning; and Improved Election Procedures.

"If the League is to continue to provide increased service to the citizens of our city, our state, and our nation, it must find more support from those who recognize its contribution to the American political system," said Mrs. Houghton.

"We feel that all Newtonites should welcome the privilege of sharing with the League of Women Voters the responsibility of assuring better government for all of us," she stated.

Golf Lessons At Community Center Oct. 19

The Newton Community Center announces the start of its new series of golf lessons. Popular Dan Meany returns as the teaching professional. This is the sixth year that this activity has been offered at the Center under his direction.

Classes are scheduled for seven successive Wednesday evenings beginning on October 19th, each class for a one-hour period with a maximum of six students per class. There are openings in the 6:30, 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. classes.

For those unable to make the Wednesday classes, the Center is offering additional classes to be held on Tuesday mornings, starting October 18.

Lessons are planned for Stance (grip, hip turn, footwork, hand action), driver, fairway woods, long irons, middle irons, short irons, and chipping and putting. It is suggested that students wear sneakers or a comfortable shoe. Private clubs are optional as equipment is available at the school. All classes will be held at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry St., West Newton.

Carroll Reed Sale Oct. 6, 7, To Benefit Walnut Hill Fund

The Christmas Shop will be held Thursday, October 6 and Friday, October 7, at the Walnut Hill School in Natick. The hours are 10:00 to 8:00 Thursday and 10:00 to 5:00 Friday. Sponsored by the Alumnae Association, the shop is an annual affair held for the benefit of the school's development fund. It is open to the public and attracts shoppers from all over New England.

Enlarged this year, the Carroll Reed Ski Shops will have their display in the Playhouse. Shoppers have an opportunity to see samples, try on sizes, and discuss the merchandise with salespeople from Carroll Reeds North Conway, N.H. store. All types of distinctive sportswear for the entire family are featured.

Walnut Hill's Christmas Shop will also feature "Showcase Americana," a unique group of craftsmen dedicated to preserving and recreating regional American folk art. Although quite new as a group, "Showcase" attracts a large following and has been selected to exhibit at Winterfest in Boston in 1967. The world of dolls of a bygone era will include both an exhibit and sale of valuable antique dolls.

Driftwood decoys, replicas in cedar and pine of shore and marsh birds, stained glass window medallions, heirloom jewelry, candlesticks created out of bobbins from New England's old textile mills, carved eagles and half ship models, creative stitchery, and silhouette cutting and weaving are but a few of the crafts and folk art to be presented.

Coming from South Deerfield, N.H., the Cordwainers will make shoes right before your eyes! All the colorful leathers which the Cordwainers have at their disposal will be on hand for selection.

Walnut Hill also presents cleverly designed play equipment from Child Life Play Specialties. The unique "space trolley" is sure to make your child's yard a neighborhood gathering place. Popular "Leapin' Lena" is good for hours of activity for children.

Centerpieces for Thanksgiving and Christmas, fruit arrangements, wreaths both natural and stylized, and other highly original items will come from the Sprucewood Studio of talented Nancy Brown Stevenson '34. Mrs. Stevenson is the first winner of the Marie Hancock Cook Award at the New England Flower Show.

Colorful and inexpensive gifts from India, hand smocked dresses for little girls, early American reproductions from Cornwall Crafts of Vermont, striking handmade earrings of contemporary design, materials for do-it-yourself Christmas decorating, and a selection of imaginative tree trims, wrappings, and cards will all be for sale.

Heading the list of over fifty alumnae salesladies returning to Walnut Hill to assist with your shopping is the president of the Alumnae Aossociation, Mrs. Hilton Jayne (Nancy Parker '40) of Wellesley Hills. Coming from Needham will be alumnae salesladies Mrs. John C. Hatch (Mary Sherrard Howell '52), Mrs. Wallace F. Hamilton (Eleanor Rindge '19), and Mrs. Charles T. Smith (Phyllis A. Dimick '23).

Newton salesladies will be Mrs. Rawson R. Cowen (Mabel S. Thompson'14), Mrs. Guillermo C. Sanchez (Sylvia Burleigh '46), and Miss Joan M. Armstrong '45.

Mrs. L. Karl Stuntzner, Jr. (Mary B. Wilcox '43), formerly of Needham and now of Westwood, is in charge of refreshments. Prepared and donated by alumnae. sandwiches, brownies and cookies will be available on a "silver tea" basis.

Teen-Agers And College Students Served As Hospital Volunteers

William S. Brines, director of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, today commended 85 suburban teen-agers and college students who served as volunteers at the 260-bed community hospital during the summer.

The group of candy-stripers, a name derived from peppermint striped smocks worn by teen-aged girls when helping in the hospital, furnished 2,084 hours of service.

In all, a total of 3908 hours were directed to the teaching hospital during the summer by adult and teen-aged volunteers. All will be honored at an annual volunteer award party to be held next April, spnsored jointly by the hospital and the Hospital Aid Association.

According to Mrs. M. D. Roggeveen of West Newton, director of volunteer service at the hospital, the following Newton area youths participated in the summer candy-stripe program: From Auburndale, Martha Porter; from Chestnut Hill, Patricia Benedict; from Newton, Paula Boudreau, Susan Graham and Irene Stiller; from Newton Centre, Ellen Blustein, Harriet Fox, Lee Madsen, Robin Meyers, Cecilia Pink, Jane Sachs, Elizabeth Tyler and Deborah Williams.

From Newton Highlands, Jacqueline Calnan, Maureen Duffy, Lindsey Fletcher, Marilyn James, Mary Langevin, Nancy Mandile, Barbara Marcy and Elaine Rivers. From Newton Lower Falls, Debra Steele. From Newtonville, Mary Ellen Ball, Carolyn DeSimone, Gail Giampapa, Ann Gilliard, Jill Leonard, Lynne Raum and Cornelia Stokes.

From Waban, Sandra Rohsenow. From West Newton, Barbara Butt, Karen Ford, Karen Pugliese, Lucy Rosenberg, Patricia Stefaniak and Mary Sweeney.

Newton college students who volunteered were: Leslie Kirshner, Ronee Skornik and Meredith Thompson.

The 85 youthful volunteers served during the 85th year since the hospital was founded and during the 80th year since the first patient was admitted. The hospital is a formal teaching affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine.

Upper Falls Club Opens Season Next Monday

The first meeting of the season for the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will be held Monday evening, Oct. 3, at 7:45 o'clock, in the all-purpose room of the Emerson School.

Mrs. Thomas Lane, the new club president, will preside, and Mrs. George Eames, past president, will give a report on the annual meeting at Swampscott.

New members will be introduced by Mrs. Edward Roberts, membership chairman.

Mrs. Richard Coughlin, program chairman, will introduce N. Marshall of Pepperidge Farms, who will supply the narration for a film showing how Pepperidge products are made.

Pass Promotion Test

The names of two out of three women who passed a civil service examination for promotion to principal clerk-typist in the Newton public schools appear on an eligible list at the State House. They are Eva F. Freedman, 200 Upland Rd., Newton Highlands, and Dorothy M. Flynn, 340 Linwood Ave., Newtonville.

GEORGE W. PECK

Dedicate

Scripture will be read by Dr. Herbert Gezork, president emeritus, and Dr. Vaughan Dabney, dean emeritus. Mayor Monte G. Basbas will speak for the city of Newton. Dr. Samuel H. Miller, dean of Harvard Divinity School, will give the benediction.

The inaugural address, "The Critical Role of the Church in the Modern Age," will be given by Dr. John S. Badeau, director of the Middle East Institute of Columbia University and former United States ambassador to United Arab Republic.

Following luncheon for academic delegates and other friends of the school, an address, "Contemporary Ministry and the Frontiers of Meaning," will be delivered at 2 p.m. by Dean Peck.

The 3-building academic complex will be dedicated in ceremonies immediately following Dean Peck's address. The new buildings include Worcester Hall for faculty offices and seminar rooms; Stoddard Hall, major lecture hall and temporary chapel; and a classroom unit.

Dr. Pearson has provided leadership for various national agencies of the United Church of Christ including serving as vice chairman of the Council of Higher Edcation as well as chairman of the seminary section of the council. Active in the American Association of Theological Schools, the Andover Newton president has been a member of the executive committee of that national association.

Educated at Somerville, Mass., High School, Dr. Pearson was graduated from Harvard College, Phi Beta Kappa, magma cum laude, in 1935, and from Andover Newton Theological School, cum laude, in 1938. He has also been awarded the doctor of divinity degree by Amherst College.

Dr. Pearson has traveled widely in England, Scotland, Wales and Europe, engaged both in preaching and in visiting centers of theological education. Twice he has served as leader at the United Church of Christ Retreat for Military Personnel in Berchtesgaden, Germany. In 1964, Dr. Pearson went to France as technical adviser to the chief of Air Force chaplains.

Dean Peck is an author of articles and book reviews for publications in Asia, Australia and the United States. He was the only student in the five-year ordination course at Queensland Baptist College, Queensland, Australia, to earn first-class honors.

In 1956 he received a bachelors degree at the University of Queensland, also with first-class honors, and was one of seven students to be awarded the university's medal of merit.

The Rev. Mr. Peck received a masters degree at the University of Queensland in 1958; a bachelor of divinity degree in 1959 as an external student of the University of London; and an honors bachelor of divinity degree in theology in 1961 from the Melbourne College of Divinity.

Following five years service as dean and principal of Eastern Theological College in India, the Rev. Mr. Peck came to the United States in 1963 for study at Harvard University where he is currently completing requirements for the doctor of theology degree.

While in India Dean Peck held numerous leadership positions in various religious bodies. He is currently a member of the Board of Managers of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Societies and a member of the newly organized Commission on Christian Unity of the American Baptist Convention.

Designed by the Boston architectural firm of Perry, Dean, Hepburn and Stewart, the new three-building academic complex at Andover Newton includes 38,120 square feet. The design is modern Georgian which is in keeping with the design of the other newer structures on the Andover Newton campus.

Worcester Hall, named in recognition of the special interest of many Worcester residents through the years in theological education at Andover Newton includes a faculty lounge, four seminar rooms, two small classrooms, a conference room, faculty secretary facilities and offices for 22 faculty members.

Stoddard Hall is the central building of the 3-unit complex. The structure houses a theatre-type auditorium seeting 200 that will also be used as a temporary chapel, an audio visual center, and facilities for a learning laboratory.

The third unit of the complex is a classroom building that houses three lecture rooms seating 90 students each, three others accommodating 55 students each, and three especially designed seminar rooms which can serve from 12 to 36 students.

Honored For Service

Miss Helen Vinton of Newton, for two years Supreme Chaplain of the Companions of the Forest of America, was honored at a testimonial dinner last Sunday in Brookline's 1200 Beacon Street Hotel.

She will soon attend the national convention of the organization.

First Baptist Woman's Union Meets Monday

The Woman's Union of the First Baptist Church in Newton will hold the first meeting of the fall season on Monday, Oct. 3.

Members of Priscilla Circle will greet the guests before the one o'clock luncheon, served by the members of Martha Circle.

Mrs. John B. Richmond, president of the Union will conduct the business meeting following the luncheon.

The worship service and program to follow will be in charge of Mrs. Vincent deGregoris. The program "Wealth and Want In One World," our world, presents two distinct societies, one society of wealth and plenty, the other of poverty and want. The film, "Christmas in Appalachia" is the poignant story of people caught in "the other world." Music will be provided by the Madrigal Singers.

Book Talk For Local Women

The following Newton residents are expected to attend the meeting of Harvard Woman's Club of Boston. Inc., in Hotel Vendome, Boston, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 6 at 1 o'clock:

Mrs. Joseph A. Ahern, Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. Walter O. Blanchard, Mrs. Carl S. Ell, Mrs. John D. Hodges, Mrs. James H. Lewis, Mrs. Samuel L. Lowe Jr., Mrs. John E. Milles, Mrs. Neal O'Hara, Mrs. Louis C. Stein, Mrs. Arthur E. Wicklund and Mrs. Frank S. Taft.

The program will feature "Spotlight on Books," by Marion Radkin.

Open 9th Year Of Christian Culture Series

The Rev. Adrian L. van Kaam, C.S.Sp., internationally known psychologist, of Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, will be the opening speaker in the 1966-1967 Christian Culture Lecture Series, on Thursday, Sept. 29, at 8:15 p.m. at John Hancock Hall. Father van Kaam will discuss "Religion and Personality Fulfillment." The Rt. Rev. Joseph T. Alves, director of the Family Counseling Service for the Boston Archdiocese, will be the program chairman.

The Christian Culture Lecture Series is observing its 9th season. According to Father Robert F. Quinn, C.S.P., Lecture Moderator, this year's expanded program of 18 lectures, with 24 nationally known theologians, authors, religious and social leaders as guest speakers, will be the most informative and impressive in the history of the Series. The theme of the lectures is God and His relationship to Man and the City. An added feature in this year's program will be five ecumenical "dialogues" in which Catholic and non-Roman Catholic experts will discuss contemporary religious and social problems.

All of the lectures will be held at John Hancock Hall, 180 Berkeley St., Boston. Tickets and information available by contacting Christian Culture Lectures, 5 Park Street, Boston, telephone 742-4460.

Among the distinguished patrons of this outstanding lecture series are Mrs. John T. Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. White of Newton and J. Joseph Callaghan of Chestnut Hill.

Newton Teenagers Honored As Children's Hospital Volunteers

Members of a group of Newton teen-agers, who gave time that others might live at the Children's Hospital Medical Centre, were honored at a party held for them at the hospital.

Aged 16 and up, the volunteers entertained the children, pushed wheel chairs, served in the patients' library and the admission office, and helped out in any area where help was needed.

Dr. Leonard W. Cronkhite Jr., the hospital's general director, thanked the volunteers for their time and said, "The winter will be much more bleak without you."

Pins for four years of summer service were presented by Dr. Cronkhite to the following: Holli Daytz of Newton, and Laura Ginsburg and Wendy Nessel, both of Newton Centre.

Receiving three-year pins were Debbi Sandler and Diane Speare, both of Newton.

Volunteers receiving pins for two years of summer service were: Susan Benedict of Chestnut Hill, Dinah Daniels of Newton, Sara Green of West Newton, Melinda Malkin of Newton Centre, Marjorie Meyer of Newton, Victoria Opper of West Newton and Anne E. Vershbow of Newton Centre.

JAMES JIMOULIS

Lions Governor Feted at Local Club's Meeting

The Newton Lions Club was honored by a visitation from James Jimoulis, district governor of Lions International, District 33-K, at a meeting held last night at The Highlands, Beacon St., Newton Highlands at 6:30 p.m.

Following Governor Jimoulis' visitation, the Newton Lions Club under the leadership of President Alfred Mouser, 30 Wedgewood Rd., West Newton, were hosts at a zone meeting attended by five other clubs in the district, namely Brookline, Dedham, Dorchester, Parkway, and Westwood. The zone meeting was presided over by Zone Chairman Elliot Beverly, 24 Turner Terrace, Newtonville.

Mr. Jimoulis, who has been active in Lions activities for many years, served this past year on the District Governor's Cabinet as chairman of Eye Research for District 33-K. He was directly responsible for the vast amount that the Massachusetts Lions contribtued to the Eye Research Program. The figure was in excess of $125,000.

Mr. Jimoulis resides at 99 South St., Randolph, with his wife, Helen, and their two children.

Everett Conquerors Face Brockton Next

Newton high schools football squads are one up and one down as they head into Saturday and grid tilts with Brockton and Cambridge Latin School.

Buoyed by their 14 to 0 shutout victory over once mighty Everett last week—the first Newton High shutout in 36 years!—the Tigers take on Brockton at Dickinson Stadium at 1 p.m., while Newton South, who were edged 7-0 by Fitchburg last Friday, treks across the Charles River to Russell Field for a 10:30 a.m. game.

The inexperienced, injury-ridden Lions will have the sweet scent of victory in their nostrils as they move onto Russell field against the Cantabs who ecked out a win last Saturday against Maynard, 8-6.

Newton South Coach George Winkler said Saturday, "Inexperience and injuries hurt the club but give u a couple of games and we will be all right." He thinks his boys are in better condition (with injuries) than the Cambridge group and, if the Lions can hold them in the first half, they'll go on to victory in the second.

Big-man-on-the campus at Newton High School this week was left line-backer Eliot Nierman, the boy who called the shots on defense Saturday against Everett and keep its mighty line from running rampant.

Nierman was given the assignment of directing the defense by Coach Jim Ronayne and the delighted coach had high praise for his performance.

"He was the key," Ronayne said. "He called every play on defense. It was his job to direct 12 different defenses and he did it like an old pro.

"We knew that in order to win we would have to stop their line and get into their backfield, and Nierman led the charge."

On offense, quarterback Dick Dezotell had a field day, scoring on a keeper and passing to sub-end George Gershman. The sub-end was a pleasant surprise to Coach Ronayne. The youngster is a newcomer to the Newton squad. He didn't play last year, reported for Spring practice and was told by Coach Ronayne to work out during the summer. He did, and it paid off big Saturday.

Ronayne heaped praise on his defense. "They were great. Just great, every one of them. They had the stuff and they used it all the way."

Of course, he had equal praise for the offense, especially his quarterback who exectued Ronayne's offensive plays flawlessly.

It was obvious from the start that the Everett team Saturday wasn't an Everett team of old. Its line was still big, but they didn't have the fluid, flexible moves of the lines that bucked for a Bobby Leo, Jerry Grasso or a Frank Champi.

The problem next Saturday for the Tigers will be to contain Fullback Dennis Perry of Brockton. He scored twice last week against Quincy; once on a 69-yard run and again on a 10-yard sweep.

Newton South rallied in the last quarter of their game with Fitchburg and might have had a chance to tie the score or slip into the lead if it wasn't for a fumble on the 15-yard line.

A Megrian-to-Frank Rezzuti pass covering 25 yards had given South a hope of racking up a score.

Coach Winkler praises sophomore Tom Rezzuti, who did a fine job as cornerback, and Dan Mendelson, who filled in for ailing halfback Steve Cooper, who dressed for the game but didn't see action.

Renee L. Kagan, 4 June la., Newton Centre; Ellen F. Marks, 94 Redwood rd., Newton Centre; and Denis R. Slawsby, 38 Hartman rd., Newton Centre, have entered the freshman class at the American University, Washington, D.C.

Title 3 Arts Program Is Revealing Progress Made in the Title 3 Arts program, in which six communities, of which Newton is one, are sharing in a $113,000 federal grant, it was stated at Monday night's School Committee meeting by Schools Superintendent Charles E. Brown.

The other communities participating in the program of cultural enrichment are Belmont, Brookline, Lexington, Waltham and Watertown.

Under the program, public, private and parochial schools will have the advantage of curriculum developed in cooperation with cultural centers such as the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The $113,000 already provided, Dr. Brown explained, is to cover the cost of program planning. "We are to submit a second proposal for an operating grant," he added.

The operating money, he said, will pay the salaries of a director and one person representing each of the six communities involved.

Dr. Brown expressed the opinion that the ultimate goal would be establishment of an Art Council for Greater Boston, with a rich variety of participating cultural organizations in addition to the two aforementioned. Teachers, he said, would be alert to the opportunities available, and it was possible that the Boston Symphony would send out small groups for school appearances.

Jimmy Fund Gets A Boost

A miniature carnival, with proceeds from all games and rides turned over to the Jimmy Fund, was held recently on the beautiful green lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Rubin, 960 Dedham St., Newton Centre.

In charge of the affair were Mark Rubin, 10, his sister Linda, 8, and Julie Feldman.

The youngsters did an excellent job, and the Jimmy Fund fared very well indeed.

Copper Tooling Classes Resume

The fall session of copper tooling classes will again be offered by the Newton Recreation Department, beginning Oct. 18. Classes are to be held at the Burr Playground building, Waverley Ave., Newton, on Tuesday mornings from 9:15 to 11:15.

The course consists of 12 lessons and provides an interesting opportunity to design and make attractive waste baskets, planters, lamps and other articles for the home and gifts for friends.

A small charge is made and application should be made to the Recreation Department at Newton City Hall.

Two Are Bound For West Point

Army Specialist 4/Cl Michael Deegan, 18, of 322 Adams St., Newton, and Pvt. William R. Jonah, 19, 353 Linwood Ave., Newtonville, have begun 10 months of study at the U.S. Military Academy Preparatory School at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Their schooling will consist of rigid academic and physical training designed to prepare them for entrance into the military academy at West Point, N. Y.

They are among more than 250 West Point candidates enrolled in this year's class. Graduation is scheduled for May 26, 1967.

New Program For Children Planned at Newton Church

"Christian education is an important part of our lives, and needs more than one class session on Sunday morning to give it impact," states the Rev. Ronald Prinn, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church on Lowell ave., Newtonville. This is one of the reasons for beginning the new two-pronged program for the children of St. John's parish, and any other children who would like to join the classes.

The weekday classes began on the past Thursday, Sept. 22, but registration is still open to all children. Grades 1-6 meet from 1:30 to 3 p.m., each Thursday. The program includes informal learning activities until 1:45, grade-level classes of one hour's length, and a closing assembly bringing all the children together with Mr. Prinn.

Classes are taught by members of St. John's parish, under the supervision of the Director of Christian Education, Mrs. Warren G. Hunt. She is available for conference with any parents interested in enrolling their children in the school.

Class is held for Junior High grades from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

This weekday program is in addition to the Sunday morning service of Family worship and a specially planned program of Learning Experiences, held for all children grades 1-9, during sermon time on most Sundays. Once a month, on the third Sundays, children attend the entire service of Holy Communion, coming to the Altar rail at Communion time to receive a blessing.

Kindergarten and Nursery classes are held weekly during the ten o'clock service.

Myrtle Baptist Church Plans Member Drive

On Sunday, October 2, Myrtle Baptist Church of West Newton is holding its Every Member Stewardship Canvass.

Classes are being conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Eddie S. O'Neal, for the canvassers, on Tuesday and Thursday evening.

Chairman of the canvass is Matthew Jefferson.

There will be a dinner for the canvassers and their families before they go out to work. Henry Evans is chairman, and will be assisted by the Youth Group of the Church.

Sunday, October 9, will be Dedication Sunday for those who pledge and renew their intentions to the church.

Things Unseen Eternal, Science Church Topic

"The things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal." This well-known verse from II Corinthians will be the Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon titled "Unreality," to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

From the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the following correlative passage will be quoted:

"Befogged in error (the error of believing that matter can be intelligent for good or evil), we can catch clear glimpses of God only as the mists disperse, or as they melt into such thinness that we perceive the divine image in some word or deed which indicates the true idea,—the supremacy and reality of good, the nothingness and unreality of evil."

Area Resident Korea Bound In Peace Corps

David R. McCann, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. McCann, 9 Billings pk., Newton, has been named a Peace Corps volunteer after completing 12 weeks of training at the center in Hilo, Hawaii.

He is one of 100 volunteers who were trained this past summer for Peace Corps works in Korea, where they will teach science, English, and physical education in secondary schools throughout Korea's nine provinces.

During their training in Hawaii, the new volunteers received intensive study of the Korean language, Korean history and culture, U.S. history and world affairs. Technical studies included teaching methods and skills and practice teaching.

Starting today
you can enjoy the Continental life
'67 style.

Today people enjoy life more than ever. They can do more things than ever before, if they want to. Teach their children to ride. Enjoy boating. Own a good home—and even a second home.
And own a Lincoln Continental.
Continental is the luxury car that belongs in today's good life. Designed for the uncluttered taste of our times, it is engineered to be the best car America has to offer.
Inside the 1967 Continental you'll find a new design instrument panel. A new warning light cluster. A new lane-changing signal that operates at a touch. A new ventilation system that can change the air inside your Continental with the windows up.
Luxury options? Certainly. A power seat with a power adjustable headrest and new reclining feature. An improved automatic temperature control system. A new automatic speed control operated by a push button at the end of the turn-signal lever. And many more.
For 1967, Continental has also redesigned the configuration of the taillights and restyled the grille. But the basic contemporary design remains unchanged. We don't believe in change for the sake of change. A Continental idea that gives you lasting investment value.
It's a good car; built to the world's highest standards. Your Continental dealer invites you to see and drive the 1967 Continental. To discover how close you may be to owning a Continental. And to add the model of your choice to the good things in your life this year.

Airman Ronne To Be Trained As Specialist

Airman Francis A. Ronne, whose guardians, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ronne, live at 16 Fairmont ave., Newton, has been selected for technical training at Lowry AFB, Colo., as a U.S. Air Force aircraft weapons systems specialist.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nations aerospace force.

Airman Ronne was graduated from Newton High School in 1966.

Building's 50th Anniversary Celebrated At Second Church

On Sunday, Oct. 2, at its morning worship service at 10 o'clock, The Second Church in Newton (United Church of Christ), West Newton, will celebrate the 15th anniversary of the dedication of its present building on Highland St.

Dr. Ross Cannon, the present minister, will lead this special service of celebration, and Dr. Boynton Merrill, who served as minister from 1927 to 1943, will preach the anniversary sermon. Those who were members of the church in 1916 will be honored, and at the coffee hour following the service, there will be an exhibit of historical interest in the Assembly Hall.

As part of the service, the new Bates Memorial Organ console in the church gallery will be dedicated. This console was installed this summer as a memorial to William Lester Bates, who was organist of the church from 1916 to 1945. There will be special music by the church choirs under the leadership of Ivar Sjostrom, organist and choir director since 1945.

The Second Church in Newton, which first gathered as a worshipping unit in 1764, occupied two different meeting houses on Washington St., West Newton, until 1916. That year, in October, under the leadership of Dr. John Edgar Park, the church dedicated its present beautiful structure on Highland St.

In the past 50 years, the church has been served by four ministers: Dr. Park, who left in 1926 to become president of Wheaton College; Dr. Boynton Merrill, under whose leadership the educational building, bordering on Chestnut St., was added to the original structure; Dr. R. Clyde Yarbrough, minister from 1944-1953, now teaching at the University of Dubuque, Iowa; and Dr. Ross Cannon, who has been minister of the church since 1954.

In addition to serving its congregation as a place of worship, The Second Church also houses a weekday nursery school with an enrollment of more than 70 children, and serves as a meeting place for many local civic organizations.

As a part of this 50th anniversary celebration, a long-playing record has been made, recording a full service of worship in the church, with the voices of the four ministers who have served since 1916, and the music of the present organist and choir.

Chairman of the anniversary celebration is Senior Deacon Robert G. Fisher.

Mothers Of New Hyde School Pupils Guests

A tea for the mothers of new pupils at the Hyde School will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 2:30 p.m. in the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus St.

This annual event, sponsored by Hyde School PTA, gives the new mothers an opportunity to meet the faculty on an informal basis. Mr. Laughland, principal of the Hyde School, will also be on hand to welcome the mothers and to talk about some of the school activities.

Refreshments for the tea will be provided by the Hospitality Committee, headed by Mrs. Richard McClellan. The chairman of the Room Mothers Committee, Mrs. Robert Schapiro, announced that the following room mothers will act as hostesses: Mrs. Joseph Alexander, Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. David Cheler, Mrs. Francis Daly, Mrs. Russell Davis Mrs. Thomas Finucane, Mrs Lester Goldston, Mrs. Leon Green.

Also Mrs. Bernard Kramer, Mrs. Edwin Kroeker, Mrs. Larry Margolis, Mrs. Stephen Plank, Mrs. Frank Propp, Mrs. Robert Quinan, Mrs. Paul Revey, Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs Henry Shepard, Mrs. Sumner Shir, Mrs. John Tedeschi, Mrs. Harlon Willis, and Mrs. Gardner Wood.

YMCA Camping Reports Show Successful Year

The Newton YMCA Board of Directors heard reports from camp chairmen and directors of each of the four camping programs at the meeting Wednesday evening.

Paul B. Dinkel, chairman of the Camp Massasoit committee, reported that 134 different boys attended the popular day camp at the "Y" in Newton. Robert G. Rowe, camp director, introduced Randy Hoff, a camper, who presented Ralm Emery, chairman of the Newton World Service Committee, a check for $55.00 for money raised at the Massasoit Carnival this summer.

Charles E. Smith, chairman of the Camp Frank A. Day committee, presented Edward Poskitt, camp director, for a report of summer activities. Mr. Poskitt reported that 210 different boys attended Camp Day throughout the summer.

Highlights of the summer included re-establishment of a counselor-in-training program; trips by the Senior unit to Mt Washington, the Junior trip to Mt. Graylock, and Midgets' visit to the Mendon Animal Farm.

Mr. Poskitt introduced Douglas Nee, a 1966 camper, who presented $227.10 to the World Service Fund, raised by contributions from the Chapel Fund at camp.

Mr. Sidney A. Marston, acting for the combined Camp Chickami programs, introduced Paul S. Mercer, program director at Camp Chickami. Mr. Mercer explained that the three programs conducted around the Camp Chickami recreation grounds this year were: The Chickami day camp; The Chickami Trail Camps; and the Family Outing Club.

Mr. Mercer said 277 different boys from Newton and surrounding towns bussed out to the Wayland site during the summer and that many varied programs and good weather made this the finest camping season ever.

Expanding into its second year of operation, the Chickami Trail Camp took extensive trips in New England and New York. Two were canoeing trips and two were mountain climbing. This group was very ably led by William Robinson, an experienced mountain climber, and his assistant, Wayne Davis.

Sixty-one families were enrolled at the Family Outing Club in Wayland. These facilities of an Olympic-sized swimming pool, tennis courts, and play areas were heavily used during late afternoons and week-ends. A new shower building was completed early in the summer, which added to the facilities.

Mr. Mercer introduced Henry "Buddy" Sheehan, who was elected president of the Chickami campers this summer.

Judo-Karate Demonstration Is Free To All

The Bay State Judo Club announces that it will hold its second annual open house and demonstration of the Japanese Martial Arts on Friday, Sept. 30, at the Club house, Tyler Terrace, Newton Centre Playground.

To be featured will be a demonstration of Karate, Judo, Jujitsu, and Aikido.

The Karate demonstration will be led by Dong Pil Kim, 3rd degree black belt. Oliver Bochem, 3rd degree black belt, and Sol Sidman, 1st degree black belt will lead the Judo demonstration. Jujitsu will be performed by Oliver Bochem and Joseph Richardson. Aikido, which is the newest of the Japanese martial arts will be demonstrated by native Japanese instructors.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. there will be no admission charge.

The Bay State Judo Club is sponsored by the City of Newton Recreation Commission, and conducts classes in Judo and Karate for men, women, and children. Those interested may contact the club at DE 2-6047.

Carol McPhee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McPhee, 35 Wiswall rd., Newton Centre, has been enrolled as a freshman at Ottawa University, Kans.

Elizabeth and James Oshry, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Oshry, 126 Beethoven ave., Waban, are graduates of Newton South High School, and Elizabeth is a third-year student at Cornell University-New York Hospital, while her brother James is a freshman at the University of Massachusetts.

Mortars And Pestles Shown At Free Library

A collection of mortars and pestles, time-honored symbols of the pharmacist, is on display at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, Newton, in recognition of National Pharmacy Week (Oct. 2-9).

All the wooden mortars are early American, and were used to grind spices and herbs before commercially ground spices were available.

A Spanish mortar, dating back to the Middle Ages, is one of the prizes of the collection. Others are from all parts of the world and made of various materials from marble and bell metal to brass and copper.

The library staff has assembled a book collection featuring "Medicine and Mankind," to be displayed with the mortars and pestles, with a selection of prints depicting highlights of medical history.

Touch-Tone Typ Phone Coming

Installation of the new push-button telephone service has been slated for next February in Newton.

Getting a number will require less time than at present, the telephone company says.

The push-button or touch-tone instrument is simpler of operation than the presently used dial telephone. The figures read from left to right, with three rows of buttons, 1, 2, 3, etc., rather than 0 to 1, right to left as on the rotary dial.

The new method, it is said, will cut the time of obtaining a number in half.

Local Men Give To Bellotti Campaign

Two Newton residents were listed as contributors to the Francis X. Bellotti for Attorney General Committee for the period from Sept. 7 through Sept. 15 in a report filed with the Secretary of State's office.

Stanley Lampert of 132 Farlow Rd., Newton, was listed as contributing $100 to the Bellotti campaign and Milton B. Lewis of 53 Andrew St., Newton Highlands, was recorded as donating $200.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
LAND COURT
In Equity
No. 49127
(SEAL)
To Henry J. O'Meara, formerly of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives:
GREETING:
Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court, by George Berfield and Lois Berfield, of said Newton;
WE COMMAND YOU, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of November next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and receive what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.
Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.
The plaintiffs represent that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land in said Newton, being Lot No. 19 on a plan by Charles A. McManus, Civil Engineer, dated July 1, 1916, revised December 12, 1916, recorded in Middlesex South Registry of Deeds, Plan Book 256, Page 13; and further represent that on November 5, 1940, the Gardner Savings Bank made an entry to foreclose a mortgage, the same being duly recorded on December 4, 1940, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure deed being dated February 18, 1941, duly recorded on February 20, 1941, in Book 6453, Page 330, foreclosure and foreclosure deed having been made without first obtaining permission from any Court to foreclose under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended; and further represent that at the time of said foreclosure, no owner of record was in the military service and entitled to the benefits of said Act. And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiffs that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be give by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said Newton, the last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of November next.
Witness, ELWOOD H. HETTRICK, Judge of our Land Court, the eighth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty six.

Chestnut Hill Woman To Head This Year's Jewish Book Fair

Mrs. Harold Silverstein of 27 Travis Dr., Chestnut Hill, has been named chairman of the Jewish Book Fair sponsored annually by the Suburban Region, American Jewish Congress Women's Division.

This year's event will be held at the Hebrew Teachers College in Brookline all day Sunday, December 4, beginning at 10:00 a.m. and continuing into the evening. Announcement of the appointment was made this week by Mrs. Robert Berns of Newton, president of the Suburban Region.

Mrs. Silverstein was a graduate of State Teachers College at Salem and received a masters degree in education at Harvard and a M.A. at Brandeis in contemporary Jewish studies as a Phillip Lown fellow. She was the first to graduate from this new program.

She is a life member of Hadassah and the Brandeis Women's Committee and holds membership in the Newton League of Women Voters, Harvard Women's Club and Auburndale Women's Club where she is now recording secretary.

She has been active in the PTA'S of the John Ward School and Temple Israel. She is a faculty member of Temple Israel and currently is teaching the confirmation class. She previously taught in the high school program of Temple Kehillath Israel, Brookline, and Temple Reyim, West Newton.

The Book Fair will be aimed this year at arousing an interest in books of Jewish content so that there will be encouragement to start Jewish home libraries and buy Jewish books for gifts and for personal pleasure.

MRS. H. SILVERSTEIN

VA Has Advice For Veterans On New GI Bill

Veterans must first obtain their certificate of eligibility from the VA if they plan to attend schools and colleges this year under the provisions of the new G.I. Bill.

Each veteran must apply for his certificate as his proof of eligibility to present to his college upon enrollment. Each veteran is also assigned a claim number which he will use in all correspondence with the VA concerning his rights and benefits under the law.

The VA pointed out that with the opening of schools flood of applications is occurring. Veterans may attend college, high school, trade schools, or take correspondence courses, and receive a monthly check from the VA under the new bill's provisions.

Applications and information may be obtained by writing, telephoning or visiting the VA Contact Division, Room E-116, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Boston, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. — 5:00 p.m. and Saturdays from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Telephone number: 223-3080.

Exchange Needs Girl Scout And Other Uniforms

The Newton Girl Scout Exchange, under the direction of Mrs. Douglas McIntyre of Waban, will be open this Fall at the Newton Lower Falls Library in Grove St., just off Washington St. The Exchange will operate on Tuesdays from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. from October 4 through November 1.

The purpose of the exchange is to give all active and prospective Newton Girl Scouts the opportunity to sell and purchase uniforms and official equipment at minimum cost.

Any Newton resident may bring in Girl Scout uniforms and official equipment that is clean and in good condition. 80% of the selling price will be returned to the seller and 20% to the Quinobequin Neighborhood Troops.

Acceptable items for sale are uniforms or parts of uniforms for Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes, Seniors and adults including belts, hats, ties, books for all levels; flags (American and Troop), poles and stands: emblems and numerals; equipment for camping and cook-outs; and books, games records, craft materials etc. which would help with program.

Newton residents are urged to bring in their used uniforms in order that the Exchange may have a wide selection to offer prospective buyers. For further information call Mrs. Douglas McIntyre at 527-6942.

Hypnosis Easier Among Healthy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The healthier and more intelligent you are, the better subject you'll make for hypnosis.

This is the opinion of Dr. William A. Bellamy, associate psychiatry professor at the University of California Medical Center.

"Healthy and intelligent patients are more susceptible because hypnotism depends upon the ability to relax their hold on reality, slip into a different relationship with their unconscious and still retain essential sanity," he told a conference on hypnosis.

"The patient will do what he thinks the therapist wants him to do," said Dr. Bellamy. "He cannot do anything he would not normally do."

FREEDOM'S FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK OCT. 9-16

Innovations Planned By Top U.S. Designer

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — France has its Pierre Cardin, London has its Hardy Amies and its John Stephens of Carnaby Street and Rome has its Litrico and Brioni. The United States has John Weitz, who not only has emerged as the top American designer of men's wear but is becoming big business as well.

His latest venture was creation of the L.W.L. Corporation, which involved Weitz, Lebow Brothers and Esquire Sportswear Mfg. Co. Lebow will manufacture jackets designed by Weitz and Esquire will manufacture the trousers and slacks. The other L. in L.W.L. is for Mac and Dave Lewis, who own Esquire.

Weitz, a sportsman-playboy type who is married to actress Susan Kohner, was a racing driver and yachtsman and became a top designer of women's sports clothes. He moved easily into the field of men's sports wear.

Last winter he was so firmly entrenched in the men's wear field he opened his first boutique in a New York department store, Lord & Taylor's, where his first contour clothes were sprung upon the public, mostly well-dressed businessmen from the Hamptons, the racy part of Long Island.

He now is in the process of forming John Weitz Clubs in some of the more distinguished stores throughout the country to exploit the experimental ideas Weitz introduces each season on Fifth Avenue and in London at Austin Reed's. Membership is the affluent, well-dressed 30 to 60 age group, who will see Weitz' latest creations in advance.

The Contour Line is called that because it is made without any padding whatsoever and drapes itself to the male figure without darting or the usual canvas shaping. Armholes are high for better fitting sleeves, pockets are cut at new angles and trousers follow the natural curving waistline.

"I'm reintroducing bow ties in the boutique in October," Weitz said of some of his latest efforts. "The tie is the only place where a man can wink his eye at you. The bow tie is a whimsical way of saying a man feels light hearted.

"I'm introducing city suits in flannels, but in new colors — camel, rust brown, cream-beige. Not all flannel has to be blue or gray. They'll be worn with brown boots or shoes. I like them and they are not played enough.

"There will be plain broadcloth shirts but in colors you've never seen — bright yellow, surf blue, mauve, grass green. All in plain colors so I can introduce some wild patterns in the bow ties. There'll also be instant cufflinks — gold ones — two sewed on a long barrel cuff."

Some other innovations include a country felt hat "which looks like a dress Stetson" with a wide brim, flannel pantsy ellow, bright red and jade green for wear around the house, patchwork corduroy and velveteen pants for informal hosting, silk shirts in strong colors for dress and for entertaining, jersey jackets bonded to nylon for feather lightness.

Weitz jackets, to be manufactured in the Lebow Baltimore plants, are distinctive for several reasons. They have the most natural shoulder imaginable, are silk lined to give shape, are fastened with one large button and have slanting pockets into which it is easy to thrust your hands. The business suits are ultra conservative. The sports clothes are not — polka dot and big paisley silks and wild plaids and checks. Plain double breasted blazers have two buttons.

The trousers, to be manufactured in Esquire's Hammonton, N. J. plants (suit assembly is in Baltimore), are cut without waistbands, a style Weitz introduced nearly a year ago. They fit naturally over or around waistline bulges, in almost a low-cut hipster fashion. Pant legs are slim but not tight.

Miss Teske And Mr. Lee Married In Connecticut

In a setting of pink gladioli and white pompons, Kathleen Ann Teske became the bride of Alan Duncan Lee, son of Mr. and Mr. Thomas F. Lee of Norwood on August 6. The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Teske of New Milford, Conn., was given in marriage by her father. Rev. William Duffy, S. J., cousin of the bridegroom, officiated at the ceremony at St. Peters Catholic Church in Danbury, Conn. Rev. Charles Duffy, S. J. was honorary lector.

The bride was gowned in silk-faced peau de soie with an empire bodice, semi-scoop necklines and Kabuki sleeves. The sleeves and the gown's straight skirt were trimmed in Alencon lace and seed pearls. Her chapel length Camelot train was centered with organza and Alencon lace appliques done by the bride. Her shoulder-length illusion veil fell from a tiara of lace and silk-faced peau flowers and she carried a cascade of pink and white carnations.

Miss Mary Francis Stumpf of New Milford, Conn., was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Olga Karmitas of Leonia, N. J., Miss Mary Brooks of Meriden, Conn., and Miss Carol Jewell of Norwood. Miss Susan Pumroy of Iron Mountain, Mich., was junior bridesmaid. Attendants wore raspberry floor-length linen A-line gowns with white lace appliques. The dresses were sleeveless with flat bows on the shoulders. Headpieces were flat bows with raspberry illusion veils. They carried pink and white carnation cascades.

The bride's mother wore an aqua A-line ensemble and a white cymbidium corsage. The bridegroom"s mother wore a white and gold metalic brocade sheath coat ensemble and gold cymbidium corsage.

The best man was Lorin Maloney of Norwood. Ushers were Paul Bergin, Norwood; Paul Cashion, West Roxbury; Thomas Dowd, Somerville, and Paul Farley, Brockton.

Following the wedding reception at the Candlewood Marina, the couple went on a wedding trip to Cape Cod. They are now living in Baltimore, Maryland.

The bride is a graduate of Goucher College in Baltimore and is an assistant buyer for Huttler's department store in Baltimore.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Holy Cross College with the class of 1964 and is attending Maryland Dental School.

Father Duffy, who officiated, also baptized the bridegroom and married the bridegroom's parents. Guests attending from around the country included the bride's grandparents from Appleton, Wisconsin, who will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in October.

Re-Using Urged To Avoid Acute Water Shortage

HARRISON, N.J. (UPI) — The United States must learn to re-use its available allotment of water to avoid a severe shortage by the beginning of the next century, according to a report titled "The Facts of Water."

The report, by the Worthington Corporation, says some forecasters predict the nation will need 1 trillion gallons of water a day by the yearl 2000, but there are estimated to be only 560 billion gallons a day of available streamflow that eventually can be tapped out of the average daily rainfall of 4.3 trillion gallons.

This allows for 2,000 gallons a day per person. Today, every person in the United States uses about 60 gallons of water a day in the home. The amount used by offices, stores, factories, farms and municipalities brings the daily total per person to 1,850 gallons. But the projected need for 1980 is 2,250 gallons per person and, by the turn of the century, it is figured the need will reach 3,000 gallons.

Where will the extra water come from? Through continual circulation rather than total consumption of available supply, the Worthington report says. The same water will run through many digestive tracts, cool the same factories many times before being passed on to the next customer, irrigate several farms before being demineralized for further use. Billions of dollars must be spent on the decontamination of industrial waste, control of pollution, desalting of sea water and tapping of new underground sources. All water users will be strictly metered, and one-time use of water will be a wasteful luxury, the report concludes.

Church Women To See Slides

The Lutheran Church Women of Emmanuel Church, Norwood, will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, October 5, at 8 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

The evening will begin with a pot-luck supper followed by a brief business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Daniel Sparrow. Mrs. Harold Enberg will lead devotions.

Pastor Raymond Kask will present slides showing the Gaspe Peninsula and various events of the church through the years, including Family Night of 1965.

There are two other events for the Lutheran Church Women to keep in mind for October. One is the New England Synod LCW convention on Oct. 21 and 22 in Hartford, the local delegate being Mrs. Douglas Adair. The other is a rummage sale to be held in the church parish hall on Friday, Otcober 28, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The chairman is Mrs. George Matthews.

Teacher Advice

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—Put the teacher into the classroom as a decision maker, for better learning among students, advises one educator.

Dr. David W. Darling, director of professional growth of the Inter-American Center, San Antonio, Tex., told an educator's conference here that schools have had little effect on students' personal involvement in learning.

"We as teachers ought to let our emotions judge more of what is going on in the classroom," Darling said. "The teacher must be put back into the classroom as a decision maker."

"Have more security in what you select and use your own personal criteria," he said. "If you depend on external criteria, there are too many conflicts."

Philippines Benefits As First Lady Whirls

By DON C. BECKER
United Press International

MANILA (UPI)—The best description of Imelda ("Melday") Marcos, first lady of the Philippines is "wow!"

Twelve years ago when then Congressman Ferdinand E. Marcos, 37, first saw the 24-year-old Imelda, member of a prominent Philippine family, he promptly told her he intended to marry her.

Imelda's Spanish-inherited sensibilities were stunned but not for long. Eleven days later they were wed.

Marcos' decision obviously was as right as it was fast. When he won the presidency last year, the losing Liberal party claimed it was not war hero Marcos who won, but his wife.

"It was Imelda, she won a million votes for Ferdie," the Liberals lamented. Large as this assertion is, few Filipinos will argue the point.

Mrs. Marcos is an untiring hostess, has a fantastic memory for names and a keen political sense. Now a poised 36-year-old mother of three (Imelda, 11, Ferdinand, Jr., 9, and Irene, 6), she is as attractive as in 1953 when she was a beauty queen and being offered movie contracts. Her 36-23-35 figure of those days is virtually unchanged.

The "I" in Imelda is apparently for indefatigable. She can dance the "jerk" or "frug" until 3 a.m. and be bright eyed for a breakfast meeting on social welfare four hours later.

As first lady of a land of 32 million people which is deeply infused with traditions from both the Spanish and American cultures, Imelda (as she is known throughout the Philippines), attacks her job with the same ferocity and vitality she generated during the 18 months campaign that led to her husband's election.

In an interview, she can be bubblingly talkative and disarmingly candid about herself.

"If anything, being First Lady has made me more humble, more aware of my responsibilities," she said. "I don't want to be set up on a pedestal. After all, I'm a human being with both feet on the ground."

"I cannot be talking all the time of integrated social welfare or beautification, I have to have some kind of release," she went on. "I don't play golf, I don't do so many things (drink or smoke among them). I can have exercise with the jerk or frug."

Only time will put the Marcos administration in the proper perspective but right now Imelda Marcos seems to be the most beloved of Filipino first ladies. As to what husband Ferdinand thinks of her, his photograph in her music room bears this inscription:

"To Imelda my love:
"No matter how dark the night, how dreary the day, however heavy the burdens of state and depressing the ways of friends, my soul lifts, my heart soars, and my face lights up at just a glimpse of you. Ferdinand."

The Time Between The War, by Jonathan Daniels (Doubleday $6.50): An informal history of the events that took place between the false Armistice on Nov. 7, 1918, and America's entry into World War II on Dec. 7, 1941.

Daniels had a first-hand acqaintance with a good many of those events, as the son of Woodrow Wilson's Secretary of the Navy, as a newsman covering Washington in 20s and as an administrative assistant to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A good deal of research was necessary, of course, to supplement his own experience. He lists an extensive bibliography on which he drew in preparing the book.

This is, of course, the book that started the recent buzz about Roosevelt's frustrated romance with Lucy Mercer. Daniels doesn't really have much to say on the subject here, but there are reports that he is considering a separate book about it.

The years between the was were eventful one for America, with flappers and gangsters in the 20s, breadline riots in 30s building up to the holocaust of World War II.

"The Time Between the Wars" is an engrossing book, nostalgic for the older reader and informative for millions of Americans who have grown up since World War II.

Everything But Money, by Sam Levenson (Simon & Schuster $4.95): Levenson once told his television audience that when he was a child his mother would raise her eyes to heaven as if asking for guidance on how to handle him. "Evidently she got it, he said, "for she immediately slapped me."

Levenson who was a curious apprenticeship for a humorist—he taught Spanish in high schools for 15 years—recalls the world of his boyhood with warmth and affection.

Home was a cramped New York tenement which he shared with his parents, his six older brothers and his sister. It was, he says, "a life of plenty" — plenty of relatives, neighbors, boarders, hugs, slaps, books, music, weddings illnesses, cats, dogs, cockroaches.

This appealing book is more than a memoir. Levenson has learned a lot from life and his wisdom has relevance to present problems. He points out, for example, that the weapon of liberation from the ghetto then and now is education. He regrets one change: children used to strive to make their parents happy — now it is the parents who strive to make their children happy. Mama Levenson ("When I need your opinion I'll give it to you!") would never have approved of that.

A Jest of God, by Margaret Laurence (Knopf $4.95): A novel which reveals the inner life of a woman whom circumstances plus a possessive mother have forced into frustrating spinsterhood. Hounded by her teaching job with young children, the stifling round of small-town life, the petty tyranny of her mother, and her sexual longing, Rachel Cameron builds up under her calm exterior an explosive head of desperation.

A strong ray of hope breaks through when Nick, a childhood acquaintance, now a 38-year-old high school teacher, returns to town for summer vacation. Their all-too-brief romance starts Rachel on the road to a certain freedom which turns sour and which she can view cynically as only another jest of God.

The story is simply and sympathetically told with a magnetism that holds the reader's attention.

The Best Jokes of all Time and How to Tell Them, by George Q. Lewis and Mark Wachs, with illustrations by Art Pottier (Hawthorn $6.95): This book purports to be "2,500 of the world's best, time-tested jokes, plus authoritative instruction in the joke-telling methods used by the top pros." They are arranged handily in categories like "animals," college," "drinking," "girls," etc.

If you need a thigh-slapper for an occasion, chances are you can find a ready-made one here. A sampling of the quickies: "She's a home-loving girl: she wants a home in Paris, and a home in Bermuda." "The big problem with money is not making it first but making it last."

Teen Musicians Will Meet Each Other At Party

Teenage musicians who are members of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra will attend a get-acquainted party Tuesday evening, October 11, in the Sherman Union Ballroom at Boston University.

The party, for members of both the Junior and the Senior Youth Orchestras, is being sponsored by the Women's Committee for GBYSO, headed by Mrs. Harry Brenner of Walpole. The young musicians are all members of high school orchestras in their home towns, as well.

Parents of the Youth Orchestra members will be greeted at a "Meet the Conductors" coffee hour and reception on Saturday morning, October 22, at 9:30 a.m., in the Hearst Lounge, Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts. Dr. Artin Arslanian, conductor of the Senior group, and Robert Gerley, Junior Orchestra conductor, will be guests of honor. Others will include Spencer Dermitzer, chairman of the Community Board of Directors for GBYSO, Dr. Wendell Yee, vice-president for Student Affairs at Boston University, and Dr. Willbur Fullbright, chairman of the Boston University Music Department.

Jaded Britons Seek Lost Pep At New Centre

BY DEXTER COLE
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — What claims to be England's most distinctive private health center opened this summer to the symphonic sounds of Britain's world famous Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, and the sharp clangs of a cash register.

Buxted Park, a stately home set deep in the rolling Sussex countryside 40 miles south of London, is no mere farm for the fatties.

From the gala open air concert to mark its opening to the kennels where clients' pets are fed on health foods, Buxted Park is bulging with those extras and touches of luxury which make it "an establishment without equal on either side of the Atlantic."

This olympus of the vitamin world is the work, home and dream of Art Buff and businessman Kenneth Shipman and his wife Heather.

"We have been planning this for three years," said Shipman, looking across the 325 acres of health - giving grounds. "It cost 600,000 pounds, ($1.68 million), of which two-thirds was our own money."

Shipman said they opened Buxted Park "because we felt there were too many sick people in the world — I don't mean physically sick but jaded and perverted."

Sick and jaded or not, you have to be pretty well-heeled to walk through the door of the magnificent Georgian mansion. It costs forty pounds ($112) a week to stay at Buxted Park, or 90 pounds ($252) if you insist on having the grand suite.

But once installed, you can try to get healthy with the finest home-grown vegetarian food and an extraordinary range of treatment.

There's a West German underwater massage machine, something called the Kneipp water treatment which is good for the feet, and swimming in an Italian glass mosaic swimming pool with oxygenated water permanently heated to 75 degrees F.

The Shipmans' most fascinating addition to the fitness industry is "music and color therapy." If a guest is depressed, run - down, or just "sick," he can sit in a special room while a projector in the ceiling bathes him in changing colors and music oozes out of loudspeakers in the walls.

If that doesn't do the trick there's a studio for sculpture and painting, or the movies at a wide screen cinema.

The 55 guest suites at Buxted Park have been individually decorated by Mrs. Shipman. Each is named after a famous composer, philosopher or artist and each contains some relic or reproduction of his work.

Butter Machine Turns Out Tons; It's Day's Work

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — It's a far cry from the way grandma used to churn butter.

A St. Louis plant (Aro-Dressel Dairy) boasts a new style churning machine which produces a constant flow of butter at the rate of some 2,500 pounds per hour.

A plant spokesman said it took two of the old-style churns at the plant one hour to produce 1,500 pounds.

The churning action is much the same as that of the old-fashioned churn, said Clarence Benitz, plant production manager. After being churned the buttermilk is drained off, and the butter is fed by double augers into a chamber where salt is injected into the product.

The "salter" is a seperate unit where the salt solution (under constant agitation) is pumped into the churn.

After salting, butter passes into a blending section of the churn. The butter is forced through four different plates with various size openings. Between each plate are propeller type blades which blend and mix the moisture, salt, and butterfat into a smooth and tasteful product.

"The butter is then nozzle extruded in a continous ribbon with a cross-section measuring approximately two inches by four inches," Benitz said.

"From the continuous churn the butter is fed into butter boats for printing into quarters or one pound prints. It is wrapped and cartoned by machine and then packed in boxes ready for market."

Jewish Agencies In United Fund For First Time

"This fall's Massachusetts Bay United Fund Campaign will include local agencies of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston for the first time," it was stated at the recent Newton United Fund Kickoff meeting by John F. Taplin, Community Chairman.

The following Jewish agencies will join the 332 Massachusetts Bay United Fund Agencies: Associated Jewish Community Centers, the Brookline - Brighton - Newton Jewish Community Center, Chelsea Jewish Community Center, Revere Jewish Community Center, Cambridge Jewish Community Center, Boston YMHA Hecht House, Camp Kingswood, Jewish Community Council, Jewish Big Brother Association, Jewish Family and Children's Service, Jewish Vocational Service, Ledgewood Home for Jewish Children, Beth Israel Hospital, and Jewish Memorial Hospital.

In addition, the Quincy Jewish Community Center which participated in the Massachusetts Bay United Fund Drive last year will continue to be included.

Massachusetts Bay United Fund President Richard R. Higgins and Combined Jewish Philanthropies President Sidney Stoneman have termed this "a massive step forward in voluntary giving."

Lt. Hastings On Combat Duty In Viet Nam

The 4th Infantry Division's organic tank battalion arrived in Vietnam Sept. 12. Second Lieutenant Hugh W. Hastings, 27, son of Mrs. Miriam I. Hastings, 34 Eliot Memorial Rd., Newton, was scheduled to accompany the unit, the 2d Battalion, 34th Armor, on its departure from Ft. Irwin, Calif., to the combat area.

Lt. Hastings is a platoon leader in the battalion's Company B.

Although the 4th Division was based at Ft. Lewis, Wash., the tank battalion was stationed at the California post because of the better terrain for the unit's M-48 tanks.

United Democrats Local Headquarters Is Opened

A Newton headquarters for the members of the Democratic State ticket has been opened at 1383 Washington St., West Newton, it was announced yesterday by Newton Democratic City Committee Chairman Herbert F. Regal.

In keeping with Senator Edward M. Kennedy's proposal that all the Democratic candidates campaign as a group the Newton headquarters will contain individual suites for Endicott Peabody, Democratic nominee for U.S. Senator; Edward J. McCormack, candidate for Governor; Francis X. Bellotti, candidate for Attorney General and Patrick H. Harrington, candidate for Congress, as well as a large suite for all the other Democratic office-seekers, Regal stated.

Alderman William P. Matthews is serving as Newton Coordinator for former Governor Peabody. Dr. Burton D. Levine is managing the Newton campaign for former Attorney General, Edward J. McCormack and Steven Mandile is coordinating the Newton campaign for Francis X. Bellotti.

Alderman Paul J. Burke will serve as general Newton Coordinator for the entire Democratic slate, Regal declared. Burke will build an organization drawn from the Democratic Ward Committees, Young Democrats of Newton, Teen Dems of Newton and Democratic Women on Wheels.

Regal emphasized the dramatic growth of the Democratic party in Newton. Within the past decade, Democrats have moved from a position where they were outnumbered three to one to their present position as the majority party in Newton," he said. "In the most recent registration period, spurred by a strong united Democratic party effort, the registration of over 1,000 voters resulted in a four to one majority for the Democratic Party among new voters," he added.

LAM HUU DUC

Waban Woman "Adopts" Little Vietnam Boy

Mrs. Darthea T. Wells, 16 Pilgrim road, Waban, has financially "adopted" Lam Huu Duc, a 9-year-old Vietnamese boy, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park avenue South, New York, N. Y.

The "adoption" is financial not legal and costs $15 a month for a minimum of one year. Upon receipt of the first payment the Foster Parent receives a photograph and case history of his child. Every month the child writes to his "Dear Foster Parent" and the Foster Parent writes to the child. PLAN transmits original and translation. Before long there is a warm personal relationship. The child wants to know all about the Foster Parent — his family, his community and his country. In turn he tries to describe his own family and way of life.

Duc is a sad little fellow living amid poverty and want, privitation and dispair. His father, a coolie, earns 69 cents a day. His mother adds 13 cents a day to the budget by doing housework and by selling and carrying water to neighbors.

The boy has two sisters and three brothers. The oldest sister, 8, cares for the younger children while her mother works.

The money from Newton means a lot to this family.

Merrill Takes Post As Newton Legion Head

At the annual Installation of Officers, Carleton P. Merrill was installed as Commander of Newton Post 48, American Legion.

Merrill, who is Director of Veterans' Services for the City of Newton, previously served for eight years on the Board of Aldermen. He has been active in many of Newton's civic and charitable organizations.

The installation ceremony was held at Elks Hall in Newton with Department Commander Edward J. Norcutt of Hanover as the installing officer. The guest speaker for the occasion was Department Vice-Commander Leo F. Malloy.

The greetings of the City were extended by Mayor Monte G. Basbas, a Past Commander of Newton Post 48. Other invited guests were representatives of Newton Women's Post 410, Chaplin Wm. Farrell Post No. 23, D.A.R. and Sgt. Eugene Daley Post No. 2348, V.F.W.

Other post officers installed were Francis Daley, senior vice commander; Robert Tennant, junior vice commander; Edward Edmunds, chaplin; Malcolm McVarish, adjutant; Franic Howley, finance officer; Thomas Peterson, historian; James Bergantino, Sgt.-at-Arms; building fund trustee, Harvey Preble, scholarship fund trustees James Walker and Thomas Peterson.

Members of the executive committee installed were Joseph Fitzsimmons, John Foran, Robert Hanlon, Henry Hurley, Ben Malone, Samuel Melick, Paul O'Donnell, John Sloboda, Dr. David Stearns, Joseph Welch.

The Post Colors were posted by members of the Newton Veterans Honor Guard who also acted as the Guard of Honor for the officers installed.

Junior College Lists Additions To Faculty

The addition of eight new members to the full-time faculty of Newton Junior College has been announced by president Charles W. Dudley. These significant additions bring the total number of full-time faculty to thirty-five, the largest in the history of the college.

Joining the faculty are: Gerald Bazer, member of the Counseling Services of the College, who received a B.S. from State College at Bridgewater, and Ed.M. from Northeastern, and is now a Doctoral Candidate at Boston University. Mr. Bazer has had teaching experience in Connecticut and New York.

Mrs. Beverly A. Brown, assistant librarian, returns to the college after a year in England. She received a B.S. from Bethel College and M.S. from Peabody College.

Alan R. Curtis, instructor in Accounting and Economics, comes to the college with a B.S. and an Ed.M. from Boston University. He was formerly a part-time instructor at Newton Junior College.

Mrs. Excina Daignault has been appointed instructor in Nursing. She hold a B.S. and M.A. from Columbia University.

Mrs. Cynthia Lawton, former instructor in the Searing Schools, received a B.S. from Emerson College and an M.S. from Hunter College. She will teach English Composition and Speech.

Mrs. Mary L. Turner, former instructor at Sargent College and Boston University Medical School, has been appointed instructor in Anatomy and Physiology. She holds an A.M. from Boston University, and an M.A. and an Ed.M. from Northeastern.

Angus Whyte, appointed instructor in French and Music, has taught in France, at UCLA and at Chabot College in California. He holds an A.B. from the University of California at Berkley, and an M.A. from the University of Washington at Seattle, and he has studied at Amsterdam Conservatory and the Salzburg Mozarteum Academy.

Richard F. Yasi received a B.S. from State College at Boston and an Ed.M. from Boston College where he is a candidate for the M.A. degree.

Recently appointed part-time instructors are: Mrs. Phyllis Burrows in English, Mrs. Esther Grunwald in Biology Laboratory, Mrs. Ruth G. Newman in English, Dr. Nellie Wilson in Psychology and Miss Cheryl Patten in Physical Education.

Of particular interest is the appointment of David Pierce, part-time instructor in Social Science. Mr. Pierce has the distinction of being the first alumnus of Newton Junior College to become an instructor at the college. In addition to an A.A. degree, Mr. Pierce received an A.B. and M.A. degrees from Boston University, where he is a Ph.D. candidate.

In welcoming the new members to the Newton Junior College faculty, president Dudley remarked that "the college takes great pride in the calibre of its new instructors and the improved teacher-student ratio. They represent not only the growth of the college as an institution of higher learning, but its continuing pursuit of excellence."

Newton 'Y' Foresters Club Sets Plans For New Season

"The Foresters" father-son club of the Newton YMCA held their first meeting of the season September 9.

New officers were elected and plans for the coming year discussed. After one successful season, the enthusiasm for the outing and club projects was so great that the members felt many others might want to form similar groups. To these ends, the boys and their fathers will be contacting Newton "Y" members with pre-teen sons during the next two weeks.

A special get-together will be held at the next regular meeting of the Foresters at the YMCA on Church street in Newton September 30th. Prospective father-son members will have an opportunity to talk with the group and join in games and refreshments.

Patterned after YMCA clubs in other parts of the country, the primiary goal of the Foresters is to develop closer relationships between 10, 11 and 12-year-old boys and their fathers. A key difference from other "Y" groups is that no boy may attend meetings or field trips without his father.

The boys elect club officers, plan activities and field trips, work on handicrafts and collect dues (from the fathers, of course). The fathers participate in all activities, lend assistance and give advise when needed, encouraging leadership and creativity at all times.

Individual Forester groups, limited to six or seven families because of space, meet every third Friday night after supper at one of the member's homes. Field trips are planned between regular meetings. Last year these included visits to a newspaper plant, three museums, dinner at a Greek restaurant and an overnight camping trip . . . yes, it rained!

No girls are allowed at meetings or on field trips. The only exception was the family swim and supper party at the "Y" towards the end of the year when mothers and sisters were invited.

Interested parents should contact Mr. Robert Campbell, YMCA, 276 Church street, Newton Corners. Phone 244-6050.

"College Bound" Project Resumes At Sacred Heart

"Operation: College Bound," a program geared to increase higher education opportunities for economically and culturally disadvantaged high school girls with strong college potential, begins its second year at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, Wednesday Sept. 28.

The program is being backed by a $15,000 grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, an organization established by the Ford Foundation.

Some 32 seniors and 29 juniors from seven parochial and six public high schools in the Greater Boston area will participate in the project this year, according to Mother Loretta Santen, R.S.C.J., Newton's "College Bound" coordinator. Each girl's selection was based largely on the recommendation of her high school principal or guidance counselor.

The senior group includes the majority of last year's junior enrollees. All 32 of last year's seniors are now attending liberal arts colleges or nursing schools — many with generous scholarship grants. Eleven of the girls are enrolled as freshmen at Newton College.

Under the terms of the program, the "College Bound" students spend every Wednesday afternoon and evening on Newton's 50-acre campus, seven miles from downtown Boston. The College charters a dozen taxicabs to transport the girls from their schools to the campus at 3 o'clock, and from the campus to their homes at 9 that night.

Twenty members of Newton's religious and lay faculty have volunteered their services in support of this year's program. Each will conduct two intensive tutoring periods between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

Until January, these classes will be mainly directed toward improving the girls' verbal and mathematical skills in preparation for their College Entrance Examination Board aptitude and achievement tests. During these months last year, many of the "College Bound" students realized increases of 150 to 175 points in their test scores.

From January to May, the girls will give special attention to fields of study wherein they are deficient or wherein they are especially eager to make progress.

After the tutoring sessions, the girls will have dinner with the College students and the opportunity to discuss college life.

Most evening sessions will be devoted to cultural activies—an art film or music appreciation program followed by discussion or critique. Other evenings will be set aside for speech classes, or counseling sessions in which the students can discuss their own opinions or personal insights with their tutors.

In announcing the second year of "Operation: College Bound", Mother Gabrielle Husson, R.S.C.J., Newton College president, said: "The members of the Administration and the faculty who were involved in the program last year are grateful to the Fund for the Advancement of Education for financing what we all believe has been a worthwhile project."

"The expressions of appreciation from teachers and parents for both the academic and cultural parts of the program, and for the interest taken in each girl have been most heartening and encouraging. We have learned much from the first year of the program which we believe will enhance and enrich the program this year."

Schools represented by students in the 1966-67 program include Cambridge High and Latin School and St. Mary of the Annunciation High, both in Cambridge; Girls' Latin, Jeremiah E. Burke High, Monsignor Ryan Memorial High and St. Gregory High, all in Dorchester; Hyde Park High; Roslindale High; Mission Church High, St. Joseph Academy and St. Patrick High, all in Roxbury; St. Augustine High, South Boston; and Watertown High.

The "College Bound" girls will not be, in any way, committed to attending Newton College after their graduation from high school. Through its Commuting Student Scholarship Program, however, the College does provide whatever financial help is required to enable any girl who meets the entrance requirements to attend Newton as a day student.

Girl Scout Troops In Readiness For Season

Mrs. Hilmi Arslan, neighborhood chairman of the Quinobequin Girl Scout Troops, held a meeting recently of the Service Team members at her home in Waban.

Mrs. Arslan announced the following Service Team members who will serve Brownies, Juniors and Cadettes within the Neighborhood this year. Troop Organizers are: Mrs. Donald Rolf (Emerson School), Mrs. William Mannix and Mrs. Lawrence Miller (Peirce School), Mrs. Kenneth Spilman (Hamilton School), Mrs. Martin Kress (Beethoven School) and Mrs. Henry Lambert (Angier School).

Troop consultants are: Mrs. Elvin Semard (Angier and Beethoven Schools), Mrs. Donald Dolf (Emerson School), Mrs. Robert Clinton (Hamilton School) and Mrs. J. H. Laning (Peirce School). Mrs. Douglas I. McIntyre is in charge of the Girl Scout Exchange.

Mrs. Nathan Ribock will act as secretary and Mrs. Lee Spelk will handle publicity. The official field director from the Baypath Colonial Council serving this Neighborhood is Miss Laurajean Rood.

Any girls interested in joining a Cadette Troop should contact Mrs. Joe B. Leighton at 527-4018. Troop leaders and assistants for Brownies, Juniors and Cadette Troops from the Neighborhood are in the process of being selected. Any adults interested in serving in these capacities should contact the organizer for her school.

Miss Rood announced that there will be a Baypath Colonial Council meeting on November 16th at 7:45 p.m. at the Wayland High School. All persons interested in scouting may attend.

The dates for the Fall Training Course Schedule for Leaders and Assistant Leaders were announced through Troop Consultants and the newspapers.

There will be a meeting of the Quinobequin Neighborhood adults on Tuesday, October 27th at St. Philip Neri Auditorium in Waban.
